Two Break Jail One Asks Police Ride

SMITHS FALLS, April 11 (CP)—Two men broke out of jail here early today by forcing a lock, but within a few hours one of them was captured when he made the mistake of trying to hitch a ride in a police car.

Robert Banting of Perth, an Ontario Provincial Police constable, picked up 31-year-old Francis Lalonde of Ottawa. He was patrolling the highway and had just received a message by radio about the escape when a man waved at him asking for a lift.

Bolivia Outlaws Communist Party

LA PAZ, Bolivia, April 11 (AP)—Bolivia today outlawed the Communist party.

A decree signed by president Mamerto Urriolavoitia declared illegal the party "and all its activities and subsidiary organizations."

An official statement said the move was necessary to prevent events "which could cause irreparable harm."

Last month the government announced it had smashed a Communist revolutionary plot directed by a high-ranking Russian army officer sent to Bolivia by the Cominform. Six days ago a police official announced the capture of a Soviet agent but gave no additional details.

Thinks Dead Man Mutiliated Self

SUPERIOR, Wis., April 11 (AP) The death of a 46-year-old farmer in his two-room shack came after "what appears to be self-mutilation," District Attorney Andy Borg said Monday night.

Earlier, a neighbor followed bloody tracks in the snow and found the body of Benjamin Renquist in bed with his toes and finger tips amputated. A butcher knife lay on the kitchen floor.

Renquist lived alone on a farm 12 miles from here.

J. P. McGill, assistant district attorney, said a pathologist's preliminary report indicated Renquist had died from loss of blood.

City Pays Insurance On Swimming Pool

"My impression was that the swimming pool wasn't going to cost the city a red cent," remarked Ald. J. E. Gillespie when the finance committee of the council was informed that, by agreement the city was responsible for the property and public liability insurance.

A letter from J. D. Anderson of the Lions Club who are building and financing the swimming pool at Riverside Park advised the council that with the progress of the work toward completion the nominal insurance coverage should be adequately increased. The Lions' agreement with the council provided that the item of insurance was to be borne by the city.

Present insurance was obtained through Stan Darling, a member of the Lions Club, and Mr. Anderson suggested that the council should place the additional amount through Mr. Darling.

Finance committee decided to get insurance quotations.

CCL Director

These projects had been earmarked in advance so the labor force of jobless could be used.

"The federal government has lagged," Mr. Mackenzie repeated. "The Prime Minister won't move on a national basis until he sees what free enterprise can do during the summer months. I'm quite sure there will be a drop in the figures during the summer months—some of the jobs are seasonal—but the drop won't be as much as expected."

To date the domestic market has not been sufficiently exploited, said Mr. Mackenzie. If the federal government develop the market here in Canada every family would have a motor car and refrigerator.

At a recent meeting of agriculturists it was pointed out that the loss of the British egg market could be absorbed if every laboring person ate two more eggs a week. Similarly the surplus cheese could be consumed if one more cheese sandwich a week were eaten.

"Canada used to depend largely on exports for existence....but the export market is no longer the necessary feature," he said. "The domestic market is much more important."

Form Branch Here?

After outlining the organization of an unemployed union he advocated that the Peterborough and District Labor Council consider setting up a committee to investigate unemployment in Peterborough and possibly form an unemployed local.

Another reason for setting up of the unemployed unions was to eliminate the communist leadership which had given the unemployed "a bad name" in the '30s.

Mr. Mackenzie was introduced by Alfred Barber and thanked by William Whibbs, interim president and vice-president.

The election of officers for the new CCL labor council will be May 2. The charter from A. R. Mosher, president of the CCL, has not yet arrived.

Greek Students Ask To Study Canada Teaching

TORONTO, April 11 (CP) — Alexander E. Pappas, of Athens, Greece, in an address to the technical section of the Ontario Education Association urged the delegates to aid the rehabilitation of Greece by making it possible for Greek students to visit Canada to study teaching methods.

Mr. Pappas, an electrical engineer studying in Canada on a Unesco Fellowship, said he did not think the Greek government "has the possibilities" to help Greek students study in Canada but said he believed "ways will be found to assist us (Greece) at this critical period in our history."

Entrance Exams

The discontinuance of the high school entrance examinations came in for support from J. R. H. Morgan, superintendent of Toronto secondary schools, who said it was a "long overdue step in education."

Speaking before a luncheon meeting of the Modern Language Teachers' Section, he said there will always be a long casualty list at the age of 16 years or at the termination of Grade 10.

"Since the Adolescent Act forces children to go to school until they have reached age 16, Mr. Morgan said, "it is incumbent upon the school to furnish a type of education that will be as useful as possible to the young people who leave us at that age."

Berry Schnar scored the lone tally for Breslau in the second. Young Sid Davies of Haliburton collected the only goal in the third.

Al Widmar, 25-year-old St. Louis Browns righthander, threatened Monday to sue baseball under the Sherman Anti-trust Act. He said "the Browns are preventing me from earning a decent living in baseball." The big pitcher quit the Browns recently and came to his home at suburban Dunmore to sit out his bid for a higher salary. And, said Young, "If I don't get at least $10,000 this year, I'll sue baseball in the courts the way Danny Gardella did."

Gardella brought a $300,000 damage suit against organized baseball after he was banned from baseball for jumping to the rival Mexican League.

Philadelphia Phillies Monday lost one of their prized bonus pitchers, Charley Bicknell, to Boston Braves. It was the second time in less than a year that the Phils had to give up one of their highly-regarded youngsters. The other, Hugh Radcliffe, was grabbed by New York Yankees.

Bicknell went to the Braves for the $10,000 waiver price. He cost the Phils $20,000 when he was signed out of Plainfield, N.J., High School.

Shirt Makers Organize Against Japan

TORONTO, April 11. (CP) — The Canadian shirt and pyjama industry plans to do something about the price of Japanese-made shirts, recently put on sale in some cities at about $1.19.

The newly-formed Shirt and Pyjama Institute of Canada, representing about 80 per cent of the trade, is preparing a brief for submission to federal authorities. It will urge that minimum values be set for charging duty on imported shirts, thereby raising retail prices.

"We realize that, if Canada is to export to Japan, she must buy goods from Japan," F. J. Bryan, secretary-manager of the institute, said today in an interview. "But we feel that the present handling of the importing of these low-priced shirts creates unfair competition for Canadian garments manufactured at union wage scales."

Canadian shirt prices range upward from about 2.95.

Weight-Lifters Champ Show

Peterborough's weight-lifters will hold their annual city championships Thursday night in the YMCA gym. He is better known in Canada as Gus Sassafras, water-front diver at the Canadian National Exhibition. Magee is the popular veteran lacrosse player for the Peterborough Senior A entry.

Also on the program will be an exhibition of the progress of the Junior Leaders of the YMCA in tumbling. These boys have been receiving instruction from Al Clark, physical director of the YMCA.

The weight-lifters will model in bronze and will present a skit called, "Muscle Beach".

Girl Runs Into Side Of Car

A five-year-old girl was knocked down and two cars slightly damaged in two accidents in the city last night.

Gloria Tobin, 5, of 75 Parkhill Rd., was knocked down but not injured when she ran into the side of a car driven by Stanley Parker of Burleigh. Parker told police he was driving east on Parkhill Rd., and saw a girl standing at the side of the road.

He said he was only a few feet from her when she ran out in front of the car, and when he swerved to avoid her, she ran into the side of his car. Dr. R. M. Matthews examined the girl, but found no injuries.

In the other accident, a panel truck driven by Henry Smith, RR 9, and a car driven by Edward Courneyea, 63 Olive Ave., collided at George and Sherbrooke streets.

Smith told police he was driving west on Sherbrooke St., stopped at George St., and had started across the street, when the vehicles collided. Courneyea was driving south on George St.

The front bumper, left headlight and grill of the truck were damaged, and the front and rear doors on the left side of Courneyea's car were damaged.

Easter Cantata Presented By Park St. Choir

Much of the music in churches at Easter is performed annually and the familiarity of the more frequently sung hymns and anthems is, perhaps, one of the reasons why music is a medium of expression in which all enjoy taking part.

Park St. Baptist choir presented a performance on Monday of a lesser known cantata, "The Resurrection" by Charles Forteyn Manney, as part of a program of Easter music.

The cantata was a happy choice and the performance was a triumph for the choir. The choruses do not overtax the strength of a small choir as do some of the more spectacular works often attempted by groups of 30 voices or less.

Solo parts were sung by Mrs. Clarence Corbett and Mrs. Paul Wicks, soprano; Mrs. George Batley, contralto; Mr. George Batley, tenor and Mr. Clarence Corbett, baritone.

Preceding the cantata were several of the more familiar choruses such as Mozart's Gloria In Excelsis, Carol's This Joyful Easter-tide, Bless the Lord O My Soul and Blessing, Honor, Glory.

Adam Hawley, choirmaster, sang "Why Do The Nations," from The Messiah and Morris's arrangement of "Alleluia" to the accompaniment of Charles Allen at the organ.

Gwen Craw and Mr. Allen in their usual able style performed Clifford Demarest's Fantasie and Boccharini's Minuet as organ and piano duets, Mrs. Craw playing the piano. On two pianos they delighted their audience in the Keel Row and Saint Saen's well known Gavotte.

Remember?

When you ask for a loan at the B of M...

you do not ask a FAVOUR*

WHEN the housewife calls at the grocery store and orders a supply of provisions, she is not asking a favour . . . she is buying goods for which she will pay on delivery . . . purely a matter of business.

So with your bank. It is a business proposition just as much as the grocery store.

The grocer deals in groceries . . . the banker deals in credit. And as the making of loans is one of the principal ways by which his bank derives its revenue, he is as anxious to sell his credit as the grocer is to sell his groceries. And like the grocer, the banker naturally wants to know that he is going to be paid for his goods . . . that his loans will be met when they fall due. That, too, is only good business.

When you have occasion to ask for a loan, look at it this way. Come to the Bank, not feeling that you have to ask a favour, but to offer the manager a sound business proposition which will be of profit both to you and to his institution.

Rescue 3 Youths From Snowstorm

LLANDUDNO, Wales, April 11 (Reuters)—Three young climbers trapped by a gale and snowstorm on a 3,000-foot-high spur of Mount Snowdon, highest peak in Wales, were rescued Monday after a night on the mountain.

They were Ian Campbell Blair, 20, and his brother, Niall, aged 18, both on leave from the army, and Ian Simpson, a medical student.

By flashing torches and blowing a whistle, they drew attention to their plight. Cyril Briggs a 36-year-old local hotel keeper, led a rescue party, which, finding it impossible to climb to the spur in the dark, had to wait until dawn to carry out the rescue.

The three young men had had to rope themselves together during the night to avoid being blown over the edge of the spur.

Ask Conciliator To Help Settle York Twp. Fight

TORONTO, April 11 (CP) — Charles Garland, secretary of the York Township Civic Employees Union, said Monday night that Louis Fine, Chief Conciliation Officer for the Ontario Government, would be called in to help bring about settlement of a dispute between the township and its 230 workers. Civic employees went on strike Monday.

Mr. Garland said the union had not been notified whether council was willing to bargain with them. He said he would ask the executive to call the men back to work should council agree to meet and consider the matter at Monday's council meeting. Employees of the waterworks, sewage disposal plant and six work's department yards are asking for a 4½-cent-an-hour raise for laborers and comparative increases for other classifications to bring the wage scale on a par with that of Toronto.

Reeve William Beech said the matter would come before Monday's council meeting but he did not know if union representatives would be in attendance. He said earlier that tenders would be called Friday for garbage collection if settlement of the strike is not made. Only one truckload of garbage was collected Monday.

Dublin Bus Strike Ends More Trouble Expected

By MICHAEL O'MARA

DUBLIN, April 11 —(CP)— A compromise solution has ended a five-week bus strike here which affected nearly 60,000 travellers—but the peace along Dublin's transport front is a troubled one.

The dispute arose from an inter-union quarrel; but it had international ramifications which some expect will bring disagreement again in the not-distant future.

Drivers Transferred

It all started when two drivers transferred from the British National Union of Railwaymen—dominant among rail workers in the Republic of Ireland—to the Irish Transport and General Workers Union—dominant among Irish road transport men—and then decided to switch to the NUR.

Their mates of 310 buses serving 10 routes in the Clontarf and Dollymount sections of Northern Dublin refused to work alongside the "turncoats" and the ITGWU sanctioned a protest strike when the company insisted that the men remain on duty.

Many more bicycles—always plentiful in Dublin streets—came out of storage as thousands pedalled their way to work. Other thousands walked. Aged and infirm just had to stay at home.

Indefinite Leave

The government - controlled monopolist central authority finally thought of a way out. At the suggestion of Commerce Minister Morrissey, the two men were given "indefinite leave" at full pay.

The ITGWU found this solution "not wholly acceptable" but agreed to send its drivers and conductors back to work as a public convenience. But, under no circumstances were the two drivers to be permitted to work on any Dublin route.

Meetings are going forward to try to iron out the dispute; but the central problem is a knotty one.

It boils down to this: is it advisable to permit British unions to operate at all in the Republic of Ireland? Some union members like to belong to a British union; they value the strength drawn from the wealthy, powerful bodies across the Irish Sea.

Others resent "British interference in Irish labor affairs.

Government Dependence

The strike brought out another problem in Irish public life—the difficulties which face the Costell coalition administration in time of labor crisis.

When a similar bus strike threatened to tie up Dublin a few years ago, the De Valera single-party government put army trucks on strickbound routes.

But Prime Minister Costello's government, resting partly on labor support, did not apparently feel it could use such high-handed methods without endangering its own position.

6 Children Buried

TORONTO, April 11 (CP). — Six little white caskets Monday bore the remains of the Harding children, burned to death in their small frame home in suburban Scarboro last Thursday. Covered with red roses and yellow daffodils, the caskets were carried by 34 school boys to nearby Prospect Cemetery.

Harwood Society Elects Mrs. Drope

HARWOOD, April 11 (ENS)—Mrs. R. E. Drope was elected president of the Women's Institute at the annual meeting Thursday. Other officers were elected as follows:

Vice-president, Mrs. Garnet Isaac; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. C. Burrison; secretary - treasurer, Mrs. Wm. Baker; assistant secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Stevens; district director, Mrs. A. Lawton; branch directors, Mrs. E. Isaac, Mrs. A. Crick, and Mrs. F. Shearer; pianist, Mrs. J. Minifie; assistant, Mrs. C. Burrison; auditors, Mrs. A. Sandercock and Mrs. W. Johnston. The fruit committee will be named at the May meeting.

The sum of $10 was voted towards the Easter Seal campaign for crippled children, sponsored by the Cobourg Rotary Club.

The Institute agreed to put a low ornamental fence around the trees and shrubs to be planted in the park.

There will be a sale of shrubs and plants at the May meeting. Mrs. Glenn E. Hogg was convener of the program and a paper was given by Mrs. Ellis Isaac entitled How to Improve Our Institute. The birthday gift was won by Mrs. Milne.

The next meeting of the Institute will be held May 4 at the home of Mrs. Alfred Crick.

Edinburgh Drama Festival Will Close With A Bang

By WILLIAM BOSS

EDINBURG, April 11 (CP). — This year's Edinburgh Festival is going to close with a bang.

Directors said the city's third annual international festival of music and drama, scheduled for three weeks in August and September, needed "an artistic event, yet an out-of-the-way attraction, for bringing it to a close."

They seem to have found the answer.

The closing presentation will be Handel's "Music For The Royal Fireworks," conducted by dynamic Sir Thomas Beecham.

Sir Thomas' customary resources of the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra will be swelled by two military brass bands, a regiment of artillery and batteries of fireworks discharged from the esplanade of Edinburgh Castle as backdrop.

1,900 Artists

Altogether 1,900 artists will participate in the Festival. Tickets went on sale throughout the world last week.

Largest contingent of performers comes from Milan's La Scala Opera House, whose complete orchestra and choir — 300 musicians and singers — are coming to do both Verdi's and Mozart's Requiem Masses and a Magnificat by Monteverdi.

On the dramatic side two new plays are to be given, along with another that has not been performed publicly for 200 years. The companies are the Glasgow's Citizens' Theatre and London's Old Vic.

The Scots are to introduce James Bridie's latest and biggest work "The Queen's Comedy" with thriller-specialist Sonia Dresdel in the lead. Their other premier will be Ernest Linklater's "The Atom Doctor," a modern work based on a theme of Ben Jonson.

Dame Sybil Thorndike and her husband, Sir Lewis Casson, are to appear in a revival of the old Scots classic, Rev. John Home's "Douglas." Dame Sybil's role of Lady Randolph was first played by Peg Woffington in the 18th century, and the equally famous Mrs. Siddons later did it in London.

220 Years Old

The Old Vic's revival will be Ben Jonson's "Bartholomew Fair" first produced in 1614 and not presented anywhere — as far as is know — for 220 years.

Altogether there will be 156 performances, ranging from solo and chamber music recitals to full-scale orchestral, opera and theatre program. The management has distributed more than 250,000 tickets to agents throughout the world.

Festival committees exist in Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Winnipeg, Edmonton, Calgary and Vancouver.

U.S. Aircraft Likely Shot By Red Planes

Will Send Note Back To Russia, Relations Worsen

WASHINGTON, April 12 — (CP)—A "hot war" with Russia as a result of an airplane shooting scrape or any other single incident is regarded by American diplomatic and military authorities as highly unlikely.

At the State Department and defence headquarters, there is no inclination to treat lightly an official protest from Moscow that an American B-29 type bomber had violated Soviet territory in the Baltic area, fired on Russian fighter planes and been fired upon in return.

But neither was there as much as a suggestion that either country might want to go on from there to knock chips off shoulders.

United States officials indicated Tuesday that the truth of the matter may be that an unarmed American navy patrol plane missing since Saturday, was shot down by Russian fighters.

The next steps appear to be:

A tartly-worded rejection of the Russian protest. A complaint by the United States that the Russians evidently shot down an unarmed American plane. A sharpening of tension and a further deterioration of relations.

No Fight Now

Yet officials here say the US certainly doesn't want to pick a fight with anyone, and they have an idea that the Russians want to avoid one within the foreseeable future.

They reason that since the war the Reds have pushed the frontiers of Communism forward here and there without using military force, and probably will want to see how far they can go with the process.

Urge Limit to UK Red Purge

LONDON, April 12—(AP)—Britain's atomic scientists today urged "strong opposition" to any extension of this country's purge of Communists. The council of the Atomic Scientists Association said it would "view an extension of the Civil Service purge to other institutions with grave concern . . "

Prime Minister Attlee announced 13 months ago that Communists would be removed from government jobs which gave them access to important secret information. Several persons have been fired or transferred since then.

The council of the Association in a 600-word statement, said members of the council were divided in their views on this part of the purge.

"Some members regard it as an unpleasant necessity forced on the authorities by a situation which could not have been dealt with in any other way," the statement said.

This group called for "additional safeguards" against political persecution and a "clearer delimitation between establishments conducting secret and non-secret work."

At present, ministers in charge of departments are given wide discretion over transfers of firings for Communist associations.

Another group said it believed the purge powers were unnecessary, but that betrayal of secrets could be dealt with adequately under the Official Secrets Act. This law prohibits the disclosure of state secrets under a maximum penalty of 14 years in prison. Dr. Klaus Fuchs recently was sentenced under it after he pleaded guilty to giving atomic secrets to Russia.

The scientists appeared to be divided about equally in these views and "no general statement . . . of the view of the majority . . can be made . . ." said the council.

Fact and Theory United In New Teaching Program

TORONTO, April 12—(CP)—Ontario's new school curriculum is seen by Education Minister Porter as a welding of fact and theory. He told the Ontario Educational Association's annual convention Tuesday that gradual rather than abrupt changes will feature the program. Certain school boards already have agreed to experiment on a modified timetable this year.

He said the curriculum will seek to integrate practical matters like map reading and conservation of resources with more standard aspects of the program.

The over-all plan was for the Department of Education to provide a framework, with goals and suggestions. This would be filled in on the local level by teachers' committees who are familiar with each community's situation. This summer it was planned to offer courses at summer schools to aid in fitting teachers into the new curriculum.

"In the final analysis," said Mr. Porter, "great responsibility will rest on the shoulders of the teachers. Only teachers who favor the new scheme will be asked to undertake it."

Along with the teachers the whole community would play a significant part in designing this more flexible program.

He told the county council section of the ratepayers and trustees earlier that "the young people must be impressed with the imminent need of a conservation program and with its future benefits."

S. R. Ross, of Windsor, president of the Ontario Educational Association, said that the modern education system should put more stress on teaching youngsters how to make their way in the world.

He told a general meeting that details of the school curriculum should matter less and less so long as the program is a challenge to the student's capabilities.

Police Deny Ill-treat Lodgers

MONTREAL, April 12—(CP)—Police Lieut. Gabriel Piche yesterday answered accusations made by veteran city councillor Victor Levesque that indigents here were brutally treated by police.

In a letter to L. A. LaPointe, Montreal's director of services, Mr. Levesque voiced his indignation at the way indigents were sheltered in police cells for the night.

Stating that his station housed between 25 and 35 indigents per night who slept on the floors and on benches, Lieut. Piche remarked "I am wholeheartedly in agreement with Mr. Levesque that the situation is appalling, but what can we do unless we leave those people in the cold?"

He said the indigents, from as far away as Vancouver, came to the police station from their own will and were never treated "in a brutal manner" by police.

He also said that nine out of 10 homeless were orderly persons out of work and eager to work and drew attention to the fact that they were not "night birds" or drunken tramps.

Angry Students Snatch Coffin

ISTANBUL, Turkey, April 12—(Reuters) — A crowd of angry students snatched the coffin containing the body of Marshal Fevzi Cakmak from the hands of Turkish army pallbearers when the national funeral was due to begin today.

The incident occurred outside the Beyzait Mosque. The students rushed the coffin towards Eyoub cemetery leaving generals, admirals, government leaders and diplomatic representatives standing astonished behind the gun carriage.

Demonstrators were reported Tuesday to have considered that insufficient official notice had been taken of the death Monday of Cakmak, one of Turkey's greatest heroes and former chief of the general staff.

Cakmak was 78. He was among the closest collaborators of Kemal Ataturk in founding the new Turkey and creating her modern army.

Six Irish, Two Others Arrested For Fight

TORONTO, April 12 (CP) — Eight men were arrested early today following a wild fight in a Yonge Street restaurant.

Police said six of the men recently arrived from Ireland. The other two men are from Hamilton.

Held on charges of malicious damage and creating a disturbance are Patrick Doneghy, 26, Michael Birmingham, 30, Patrick Tarpay, 23, Michael Costello 21, Harry Scott 21, and James McCabe 22, all of Toronto; and Coleman Joyce, 27, and Eugene Gaffney, 23, of Hamilton.

The owner of the restaurant said the men had been molesting the waitresses and he had ordered them not to be served. One of the men threw a cup of coffee in his face, and the group started to smash dishes, glass and cups and overturn tables.

Gov't Set Quota 40

Canada Losing Ocean Fleet

OTTAWA, April 12.—(CP).—Canada's deep-sea shipping fleet is rapidly getting pared to the 40-ship nucleus laid down by the Federal government.

The stream-lining program has reached the point where more than half the Canadian-owned fleet has been approved for United Kingdom registry under the government's plan of having the ships operated at low cost out of the old country.

Only about 30 remain to be designated for UK registry to fill out the quota which the British government has accepted in a move to save the Canadian vessels from being laid up or disposed of because of tough ocean competition.

Of the remaining 51 of the 174 ship fleet, 40 are to be subsidized to the extent of $3,000,000 for a single year by the Federal government under the plan it announced last December for salvaging a portion of the big post-war merchant navy.

The plan was worked out between the Canadian Maritime Commission and the United Kingdom government when Canada's ships, whose operating costs are second highest in the world, found themselves beset by competitive difficulties.

Under the scheme, Britain is accepting 123 Canadian vessels for registry in that country. Operating costs will be sliced to British standards—saving some $300 a day—and the Canadian-owned ships also will be able to pick up sterling cargoes.

Ownership will remain in Canada, with the operators getting their net profits out of the UK in dollars.

Of the 93 ships already approved for registry in the UK, 35 had been sailing out of Canadian ports.

'Wrong Idea Of God' From Commandments

IPSWICH, Suffolk, England, April 12 — (AP). — A Church of England clergyman says the Ten Commandments should not be shown to children because they might get the wrong idea about God.

The East Suffolk Education Committee was considering a proposal to post the Commandments in nearby Wickham Market School to fight a "decline in moral standards" among the pupils.

Rev. W. G. Hargrae-Thomas, vicar of Needham Market, objected that this would be "misleading and wrong."

He quoted the Second Commandment about a "jealous God" who visits the father's sins upon their children.

"No decent father," he said, "would do such a thing."

Microphones Said Found In Town Hall

Hold Next Meetings Outside Trenton —Union Organizer

TRENTON, April 12—(CP)—George Beckett, organizer for the United Textile Workers (A.F.L.), said today that two microphones with wires leading to the police station were found in a hall in which striking members of the union met Tuesday night.

He said one microphone was found accidentally just as more than 100 persons were about to start discussion of the strike called by the union 15 weeks ago at at the Downs Coulter textile plant here. As a result of the discovery, no policy was discussed and it was decided to hold future important meetings outside Trenton.

The meeting was held in the town hall. The room directly adjoined the police station.

Chief of Police Jack Taylor of Trenton today disclaimed any knowledge of dictaphones being placed in the meeting room. "The Trenton police department have no equipment of that nature. I know nothing about it, he said.

The Downs Coulter plant was re-opened Monday after being strikebound since December 28. The company said a majority of employees returned to work.

The strike was called to enforce demands for a general wage increase of 15 cents an hour. The raise, if granted, would bring women's starting wages to 45 cents an hour and men's to 60 cents.

In Toronto, Deputy Attorney-General Clifford Magone said: "I would just as soon have nothing to say about it all. They have a Board of Police Commissioners in Trenton and it is up to them to investigate the matter."

Mr. Magone added that he knew of no case in which Provincial Police had used microphones to eavesdrop on meetings or conversations.

CLEVELAND, April 12 (AP)—Clement Bargel, 42, was found guilty Tuesday of whipping his wife and child with a home-made cat-o'-nine-tails. Sentence was deferred. His wife, Virginia, 33, told the court he whipped their son, Clement, Jr., 11, for going to a movie without permission. She said she was thrashed when she tried to protect her son.

Train Smashes Car Family Of 4 Unhurt

LONDON, Ont., April 12—(CP)—Carried more than 50 feet along the tracks when the car in which they were riding was buckled by a Canadian National Railways shunting train late Tuesday night, a London family of four escaped without a scratch.

James H. Cavanaugh, 33, his wife, Rhoda and their two children, James Jr. 7, and Michael 12 months, crawled from the wreckage of their car. Cavanaugh told police he failed to see the train.

Well Naturally!

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., April 12 — (AP) — Vance Phillips found a 15-pound baby seal abandoned on the beach, took it home and tried to feed it with a baby's bottle. But the flippered infant didn't get the idea and began losing weight. Phillips took the animal to the Museum of Natural History. Miss June Hopkins, museum aide, wrapped the bottle in fur and gave it to the seal. The youngster is growing plump again.

Fifty Rescued After Explosion Rips Freighter

NEW YORK, April 12—(AP)—One person was feared lost but 50 others were reported saved Tuesday night from a terrific explosion and fire which ravaged a Norwegian ship in mid-Atlantic.

The United States Coast Guard said radio messages from an Italian rescue ship reported 40 crew members and 10 passengers of the blast-racked freighter Geisha had been picked up from lifeboats. The first mate of the 5,113-ton Geisha was reported missing. Earlier it was believed all hands were saved.

Nitrate Cargo

The rescue ship, the Maria Paolina G., radioed that the Geisha was carrying a cargo of nitrates, a high explosive, when the first in series of blasts rocked the ship about noon Tuesday.

"Following the explosions," the radio reports said, "the whole ship burst into fire."

It was first thought that the Norwegian vessel would sink immediately, but the ship today was described as "drifting" and "still on fire."

The burning ship was some 1,442 miles east of New York and 400 miles west of the Azores.

The Geisha, operated by the Knutsen Lines, was bound for Belgium from Chile and Peru. Chilean nitrates are one of the world's greatest sources of gunpowder and high explosives.

Identify Man Victim's Friend

HULL, Que., April 12 (CP). — Alfred Gachet, rooming house proprietor, today identified John Ralph Hooper, 25, as the man who checked into his establishment with Gertrude Marion Davis on the night the Ottawa girl was killed.

At a preliminary hearing before Judge Roland Millar, Gachet testified that Hooper registered with the girl about 1 a.m. March 29 and left about an hour later. Miss Davis was found in the room about 12 hours later, a hand towel knotted tightly about her neck. Officials said she had been dead for at least 10 hours.

A crowded courtroom was on hand for the preliminary hearing of Hooper, charged with murder of the girl.

Dr. Jean-Marie Roussel of Montreal, medico-legal expert, testified that while death resulted from strangulations, a bruise over the girl's left eye indicated a blow which could have knocked her unconscious.

300 Villagers Battle Fire As Gale-Force Winds Whip Flames Along Street

Fire Threatened To Wipe Out Village 40 Miles Northwest of Owen Sound Bucket Brigade Formed By Natives

OWEN SOUND, April 12—(CP)—Charlie Sit Sing, a restaurant proprietor at Lions Head, 40 miles northwest of here, saved his life by leaping from a second storey bedroom window when fire swept through the building early today. Sing was uninjured in the leap, but is being treated for shock. The restaurant and Sing's apartment above were gutted by the blaze, which also wiped out a newly built electrical appliance and hardware store operated by Jerry Bell. Mr. and Mrs. Bell and their 18-year-old son, Kenneth, recent arrivals from Toronto, made their way to safety through dense smoke, escaping from the flaming building just before it was engulfed by the blaze. They saved only a few personal belongings which they grabbed as they ran outdoors.

For more than an hour the fire threatened the Lions Head post office, Kirkland's Bakery and the home of Mrs. William Gillis. It was prevented from spreading to a garage at the rear of the Bell store, where a car and truck belonging to the Bell's were stored.

Damage is estimated at $20,000. Cause of the fire is unknown but it is believed to have started in the woodshed at the rear of Sing's restaurant.

A bucket brigade of 300 persons helped Wiarton firemen to bring the blaze under control. The Wiarton volunteer firemen ran a hose to a creek and soaked homes across the street from Sing's 60-year-old building.

Gale-force winds whipped the flames. Several hours after the outbreak, bursts of flames still kept shooting up from the ruins and members of the bucket brigade stood guard.

The Owen Sound Fire Brigade was called but did not respond. Fire Chief Angus McArthur said a local by-law prevents the department from going outside the immediate area of the city.

Union Found Guilty Of Striking Illegally

OTTAWA, April 12—(CP)—The Ottawa local of the Plumbers and Pipefitters Union today was found guilty of calling an illegal strike of its 400 members in the capital.

Magistrate Glenn Strike, announcing his decision, said he was reserving for one week a decision on whether the union will be fined. The plumbers were called off all construction work in the district Jan. 3 and under the regulations the Union can be fined $150 for every day the plumbers have been on strike.

The case, first of its kind in Ontario under revisions to the Ontario Labor Relations legislation, followed four charges laid under the Ontario Labor Code by the Master Plumbers' Association of Ottawa, the employers.

Harry D. Mullin, president of Local 71 of the union, will appear in court next Wednesday to accept any penalty imposed on the Local.

British Groups Plan Attack On Wage Freeze

By ALAN HARVEY,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, April 12 (CP) — A growing pressure for higher wages by industrial and professional groups may have an impact on Britain's budget.

Political observers generally regard the budget address, scheduled for next Tuesday, as the government's last chance to put a few props under a tottering wage freezing policy.

Some newspapers contend the glamor for more money is greater than it ever has been since the treasury first battened down the hatches on wage claims in March, 1948.

"The future of British trade unions is in the balance," the Conservative Daily Mail said today in a front page editorial.

Sir Stafford Cripps now is working on the budget in his Gloucestershire home. The Chancellor of the Exchequer already has indicated that the government considers that the wage freeze must stay, thus apparently leaving only one loophole—some budgetary tax reliefs.

In a letter made public last night, Sir Stafford told civil service doctors that he considers

Reds Call Strike As Arms Arrive

NAPLES, April 12 — (AP) — Communist-led trade unionists, prevented by a heavy guard of police and soldiers from hampering the unloading of Italy's first shipment of American arms, called a general strike here today in protest.

But the scheduled eight-hour walkout appeared this morning to have had little effect on the normal life of this historic port in the shadow of Mt. Vesuvius.

The city's streetcars were exempted from the strike order and functioned normally. Stores opened on schedule.

The freighter Exilona, which brought some 300 tons of American-donated Atlantic Pact defence arms to Italy Tuesday, sailed at dawn for the Allied-controlled port of Trieste.

Screened off by a strong cordon of troops, riot police and carabinieri, non-Communist dockhands unloaded the arms, mostly Howitzers and other mountain equipment.

Communists had threatened mass demonstrations against the arrival of the arms, and urged the populace to turn out. But the demonstrations failed to materialize. The Communist-dominated chamber of labor then issued the strike call.

50 Indians Killed As Train Jumps Track

NEW DELHI, India, April 12 (AP)—Fifty persons were reported killed today when a passenger train jumped the track and crashed into a stream in Uttarpradesh Province.

Seventy-three were said to have been injured.

A Railway Ministry official said the possibility of sabotage was being investigated. He said it appeared that spikes had been removed from the rails.

Human Sacrifice Revived

Tribes War On Each Other For Victims

By DOUGLAS LACKERSTEEN

RANGOON, April 12 (AP) — Human sacrifice is being practised secretly by the naked Nagas, inhabitants of the remote northwestern hills linking Burma with Assam (India), according to a report made to the Burmese government.

The report, made by a Naga chieftain, said that the practice, banned by British authorities when they ruled Burma, is spreading after a recent revival.

The chief said the latest sacrifices took place at the beginning of the rice harvest last November when men and women were ceremoniously killed as thank offerings to the God of Food.

The naked Nagas are described in a government-issued handbook as a semi-primitive people whose territory in the northwest is the wildest in Burma. It was brought under administration only in 1940.

Authorities on the tribe say the Nagas practise head-hunting and human sacrifice to appease the primitive gods who alternately threaten and protect these barbaric people. The status of a Naga warrior is indicated by the number of skulls hanging at the entrance to his home.

Head-hunting and human sacrifice are prevalent especially at the start of the cultivation season and again at harvest time. When victims are needed, one tribal group goes in search of another. But if rival heads cannot be obtained easily, then luckless members among the worshippers must be prepared to part with their own heads.

The Nagas are described as a hostile and suspicious people who do not welcome strangers. The entrance to a Naga village, usually on a hill top, is through a tunnel lined with sun-bleached skulls and booby traps. A branch of a tree is placed at the entrance as a warning not to approach.

Every village has a "love house," restricted to young couples. There is no marriage without pregnancy. The Nagas hunt their enemies, both animal and human, with spears and bows and arrows, often poisoned.

Ford Employees Accept Company Offer $55 Pension, Concessions

11,000 Men Go To Work As Usual Today
New Scheme Starts In September,
Cost To Company $1,000,000 Annually

WINDSOR, April 12—(CP)—Work went ahead on schedule today at the giant Windsor plant of Ford Motor Company of Canada Limited after the company's 11,000 auto workers averted a proposed strike by accepting the company's retirement pensions proposals. The acceptance came late Tuesday during a special meeting of Local 200, United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.). It was approved by 79 per cent of the 9,100 union members who polled secret ballots.

Major term of the new agreement, which ended a year-long pensions dispute, was a $55-a-month company-paid retirement pension for Ford auto workers who retire at age 65 after 30 years service.

Ford, largest automobile manufacturer in Canada, will also finance in full a broader health and social security plan under the new agreement which changes as well 36 points in the union contract.

The settlement on company-paid pensions—main point at issue—followed substantially along the company's original offer of $55 a month which countered a union demand for $100-a-month for workers age 65 after 25 years of service.

Real Changes

Announcements by both union and company Tuesday said the accepted pension plan contained some substantial changes pounded out during Easter week-end contract talks called to avert the strike scheduled for 10 a.m. this morning.

The pensions scheme will go into effect four months after the month in which it is accepted by the union, which will be September 1. It can be negotiated again after five years and will be administered by a joint board with equal company and union trustee representation under a neutral chairman.

Its highlight is company acceptance of part of the union's proposed system of compiling past service. Breaks of less than four years in an employee's service will be counted as continuous service. Longer work breaks will be subtracted from the employee's continuous service record for pensions consideration.

30 Years' Service

Top retirement pension of $55 monthly will be paid to workers with 30-year records retiring at age 65, and pensions will be graduated down to include employees with 10 years' service retiring at 65. Shorter service is not considered under the plan.

Both company and union officials expressed satisfaction with the agreement.

Company officials estimated the cost of the pensions plan at $1,000,000 annually for future pension funds and about $1,450,000 additional year to finance past service on the basis of a 10-year funding scheme.

Health Plan

The new health and social security plan, formerly financed jointly by company and employees, will be fully-paid by the company. Among improved benefits, effective April 15, will be a 20-per-cent increase in life insurance, and an increase in the maximum period of hospitalization benefits from 31 to 70 days.

Minimum weekly benefits for disability care have been increased to $25 and the maximum period of benefits from 13 to 26 weeks.

Saw Quietly Council Orders

Albion Woodyard on Chamberlain Street is being directed by the Council to use the electric motor which they have on the premises for sawing "or close up shop." Residents of the neighborhood protested the nuisance caused by the gasoline engine which has been used on rental basis. The exhaust of that machine all day long, and occasionally at night, according to the petition, finally stirred the objections of neighbors into an appeal to the Council. As to the renewal of the operating licence, it is to be considered when the tenant fuel dealer makes application.

the wage restraint more important than the efficiency of medical staff establishments.

The letter was addressed to an official who had asked Sir Stafford for a meeting to discuss the rejection of a wage claim by civil service medical officers.

Other attacks on the wage freeze were made at trade union conferences during the Easter week-end. Civil servants, railway workers, engineers, teachers and shop clerks are among the groups aligned against the government.

This deadlock—between Sir Stafford on one hand and organized labor on the other—prompted the Conservative Yorkshire Post to speculate that the budget will include "some attack on the cost of living, however modest, if only because the government recognize that nothing else can halt the threat to the wage-restraint policy."

Money Not Needed To Fight Inflation

OTTAWA, April 12 (CP). — With inflation resulting from war at an end, big budgetary surpluses built to fight inflationary effects no longer are needed, Finance Minister Abbott said Tuesday night.

That was one reason why the government was budgeting for only a small surplus—$20,000,000—in the 1950-1951 fiscal year, the minister added.

Mr. Abbott spoke in a free-time political broadcast in the "Nation's Business" series over the CBC's Trans-Canada network.

He said he believed that if any of his listeners had been in his shoes, they would have brought down the same kind of budget he brought down in the House of Commons March 28—a budget in which revenues are expected to be a little more than enough to meet expenditures, "but not much more."

If the Russians did knock down the missing United States patrol plane, the Moscow protest could be viewed as an application of theory that a good offence is the best defence.

Foreign Minister Vishinsky called the United States Ambassador, Allan G. Kirk, to the foreign office in Moscow and personally read him the stiffly-worded protest note.

Raft Sighted

From Wiesbaden Germany, the United States Air Force today announced that a search plane had spotted a life raft in the Baltic Sea 40 to 50 miles northeast of the Island of Bornholm.

The raft was sighted by the crew of a search plane which carries a lifeboat to be dropped by parachute. The first report said the boat was not dropped, but no explanation was given.

Surface vessels were being sent to the scene.

The sighting of the life raft was the first hopeful clue in the search for the United States Navy patrol plane which disappeared last Saturday with a crew of 10 aboard on a flight from Frankfurt to Copenhagen.

But three hours after receipt of the first report there was no confirmation at US Air Force headquarters here that this was a positive clue to the plane.

A Danish pilot who circled the area of Bornholm said the American search pilot might have mistaken a Russian buoy for a life raft.

The plane and its crew of 10 vanished the same day that the Russians named as the date of the territory violation.

Wasp's Nest

Some of the 19 planes taking part in the search today probably came within sight of the Latvian coast, which is reported to be a wasp's nest of radar defences, and where the Russians are said to maintain a heavy concentration of air, navy and rocket-launching bases. Danish fishing vessels approaching this coast have been picked up by Russian patrols and have not been heard of again.

Plane Crashes At Secret Base Think 13 Die

New Mexico Scene Of Tragedy
Reporters Barred

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M., April 12—(AP)—A B-29 bomber carried all airmen aboard — believed to be 13—to fiery deaths in a crash Tuesday night into Sandia secret weapons base.

Thirteen crew members were listed on the loading report. An Air Force official warned however the death toll cannot be determined with absolute accuracy until an actual count of bodies is made.

The Air Force drew a tight secrecy curtain on the tragedy in a remote area of the atomic bomb assembly installation.

Reporters were barred from entering the area, 7,000 feet high in the Manzano Mountains. The scene is some five miles east of Sandia headquarters and 17 miles east of downtown Albuquerque.

Emphasizing secrecy cloaking the locale, one officer observed:

"Not even the President of the United States could get into the place."

The air force said no buildings were involved in the crash. Officials declined to say, however, whether the plane fell in an area about which there have been guarded reports in the past hinting at underground atomic installations.

Industrials Strong Show Wide Advances

TORONTO, April 12 (CP) — Prices climbed slowly higher as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Industrials showed the widest advances, continuing Tuesday's strong gains into new high ground. Volume for the first three hours was 1,499,000 shares.

In the industrial list, Ford Motor of Canada A, gained 2½ at 35. Imperial Oil continued in good demand for a gain of ¾ at 27½.

The market labored under considerable profit-taking pressure of recent advances.

Base metals stole into the limelight. East Sullivan, a feature of recent markets following drilling news from the property in the Val D'Or district, Northern Quebec, boomed ahead for a 70-cent advance at $7.30. Steep Rock iron mines continued stronger, up 15 cents at $3.20.

Leading gold stocks dipped pennies while a few individual smaller issues traded heavily for gains.

In western oils Calgary and Edmonton absorbed early downward pressure to chalk up an advance of 25 cents at $8.55.

Fire Victims Fund Totals $8,580—Reeve

TORONTO, April 12 — (CP) — Reeve O. E. Crockford of suburban Scarboro township said last night the fund for the Harding family totals $8,580.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Harding last week lost six of their eight children in the worst residential fire in the township's history.

Donations of food and clothing have poured in from various organizations and citizens wanting to help the family. The Hardings have been promised free labor and most of the materials for construction of a new home.

Michael Nichols, vice-president of the Building and Construction Trades ouncil (AFL) said his organization is prepared to serve as co-ordinator in building the home.

UK's Loyal Opposition Walks Its Own Tightrope

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, April 12 — (CP) — Britain's Conservative party can hardly be blamed for wondering what it has to do to win a cheer or two.

After enduring five weary years as second fiddle to the Labor government's overwhelming forces, Winston Churchill and company find that a position of near parity in parliament bears its own special responsibilities.

Slack Or Irresponsible?

Briefly, the Conservative complaint is that they are accused of shirking their duties if they give Labor too much slack, and of irresponsibility if they do try to take a fall out of the government.

The situation is particularly painful for a party which during the 1945-50 parliament was repeatedly reminded by government spokesmen of its inferior position.

Thus, when last February's general election left the two main political groups nearly equal in strength, the Conservatives obviously relished their new status. But they promised not to abuse it:

National considerations were to come first, party politics second.

Anthony Eden, deputy Conservative leader, said there would be no "factious or fractious" opposition.

This brought protests from sections of the Conservative press, which warned against faltering, irresolute policies. A couple of weeks later, Churchill's forces caught labor napping on a minor issue, and defeated the government by 26 votes.

Playful Schoolboys

That didn't please the critics either. The Observer, a weekly newspaper which jealously guards its independence, wrote that in deciding on a snap division, the conservatives cast themselves in the role of schoolboys organizing a practical joke.

"If the Conservatives set out to humiliate the government, they will discredit themselves, while handing the government the sympathy which in this country always goes to the under-dog,' the Observer said in a critical leading editorial.

Correspondence columns of the serious newspapers were filled with angry letters from Conservative members denying that the government defeat had been any kind or organized stunt or ambush, but the Observer stuck to its guns.

"Don't Trust Tories"

Critics of the Conservatives also cropped up in an unexpected quarter. Lord Beaverbrook's evening Standard, always anti-Socialist and usually pro-Conservative, opened its columns to an avowed Liberal, Charles Wintour.

Under the heading "don't trust the Tories," Wintour warned Liberal leaders to watch out for the Conservatives. He said the Tories will treat the Liberals like fish worms—as "bait to catch the big fish in the form of votes."

Union Prosecutes Lindsay Firm

Prosecution of Knitters Ltd, Lindsay, by the Textile Workers' Union of America on a charge of violating labor regulations is scheduled to begin Monday.

The union claims the company last July cut the hourly rates of their production employees from 5 to 11 cents an hour before termination of the agreement. This is contrary to Regulation 15 of Ontario Regulations 279-48, they say.

Leave to prosecute was granted on January 26 by Minister of Labor Charles Daley. It is believed it will be the first case of its kind under the Act written in 1948.

The plaintiff is Albert E. Johnston, director for the Trent Valley area, TWUA, and E. B. Jolliffe will be counsel for the union.

Service Club Attends McIntosh Funeral

Rev. E. C. Moore of St. George's Anglican Church conducted the funeral service of the late William McIntosh on Tuesday from the funeral home of A. Comstock and Sons.

In attendance were many friends and business acquaintances. Mr. McIntosh had made during his 30 years in Peterborough as a tire dealer. The Peterborough Lions' Club attended in a body. The Rev. E. C. Moore paid tribute to Mr. McIntosh's character and sense of civic responsibilities.

Pallbearers were Bert Williamson, Bert Boomhower, James Knight, James Dutton, Arnold Deyell and Bruce Sargent.

Interment was in Little Lake cemetery.

Sloan And Hamblin Moved Resolution

In the report of the Dummer township council meeting concerning the resignation of road superintendent Melville Crowe it was stated that Councillors Oliver and Hamblin moved that the resignation be accepted. This should have read Councillors Sloan and Hamblin.

Fellow Passengers

burning flame shone brightly against the night in honor of the unknown soldiers. In the centre of Paris the roads are extremely wide with a boulevard in the centre. As we passed along the banks of the Seine River, there was a lovely view of the lights of this great city.

The further we got from Paris, the wider the car drivers were, they sped along at full tilt, no one ever thinking to dim lights. Bicycles darted in and out, but no one was injured.

Pontoise (whic hmeans bridge over the river Oise) was heavily damaged by bombs in the 1939-44 war. The banks of the river are lined with debris and some effort has been made at reconstruction. While we passed over the bridge at night, the hollow shells of buildings stood as ghostly sentinels.

The warm welcome of my French friends more than made up for the upset at Le Bourget. They are all charming and we get along beautifully. I have become a third daughter of the Dutruch family.

Three days ago in Canada, I saw plenty of snow. Two days ago in England there was green grass and daffodils. Today in Pontoise, I can look out my window and see the beautiful blossoms on the peach trees. Every garden has at least two and they are a riot of color. In France, as in England, many of the houses are surrounded by walls and high gates.

The French meals are delicious and to date I have adapted myself, as they have to me, quite successfully. If I am here too long, I shall be in danger of becoming so much at home I shall hate to leave.

Another lovely sight on the Trans-Atlantic flight was the first view of Ireland. As the clouds cleared away slowly, the country unfolded like a delicate mosaic in beautiful greens and browns. The farm fields were laid out with such precision that they seemed to have been measured with a ruler and not a blade of grass out of place. The only large city passed over was Londonderry. Scotland too, is attractive from the air, but though similar to Ireland, there is a noticeable difference in the terrain.

How Are You?

NORTHBROOK, April 12 — (CP) — Paul Rosenplat met his brother Willie on the highway near here today—but it was an expensive encounter. Paul's automobile met Willie's truck. The car was destroyed, the truck badly damaged.

$25 Not Enough Ups Fine To $200

BRAMPTON, April 12—(CP)—A fine of $25 for not remaining at the scene of an accident was termed Tuesday "totally inadequate" by Judge A. Cochrane in a written judgment of a Crown appeal for heavier sentence against Norman Laver, of Cooksville.

Judge Cochrane fined Laver $200 or 60 days and ordered his driver's licence suspended for six months.

"My own view is that if more hit-and-run drivers were given prison terms such offences would not be as common as they are today," the judge said in his judgment. "However, the public as a whole is somewhat inclined toward lenient treatment for traffic offenders . . "

Laver was involved in a highway accident Sept. 25 on the Queen Elizabeth highway in which William Sobola, of Lakeview, was killed. Laver gave himself up to police 24 hours later.

Union Officials Swat Trent Valley TWUA

The executive of Local 524 UE has passed a motion protesting the participation of the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO-CCL), in the present strike at Trenton.

They have asked the TWUA to withdraw their organizers and cease "spending the TWUA workers' due money in an attempt to aid a company in breaking a strike." The United Textile Workers (AFL) have been striking for 15 weeks.

Today Local 524 UE issued a leaflet blasting Albert E. Johnston, director of the TWUA in the Trent Valley area, for his participation in the Trenton situation. Johnston's headquarters are in Peterborough and he is also CCL representative here.

Several Injured Jumping From Raging Fire

VANCOUVER, April 12—(CP).—Several were injured, but no lives were lost when fire swept through an 19-room, three-storey rooming house today in the west end. Four men and two women were taken to hospital.

It was first feared five persons had been trapped in a third storey room, but a later check showed all had escaped.

The fire started in the basement when the furnace exploded and within five minutes had mushroomed through the wooden structure.

Fifteen tenants were forced to jump from windows to the roof of an adjoining building or to the ground, a distance of 35 to 40 feet. There were 5 roomers in the house.

The injured are: Clarence Paul, 29; Mrs. Betty Pratt, 22; Robert Pratt, 25; Charles Frame, 38; Cecil Farris, 30, and Miss Hedy Gabanek, 21.

Some of the injured suffered burns to the face, arms and back, while others were hurt in the long jump from third storey windows.

Green Cheese And Typhoid

On April 4 we published a letter from Mr. Braden O. Bullock, in which he criticised the restrictions which now govern the sale of cheese in Canada. Many people, he said, wanted to buy green cheese, but could not do so because the law forbids the sale of any cheese until it is 90 days old. This regulation, he implied, decreased the market for cheese in Canada. Mr. Bullock's letter was in part a comment upon an earlier editorial in which we spoke of the excellence of Canadian cheese and regretted that it was not more widely used.

* * *

We have now some information about the aging of cheese which we hope will be of interest to our readers. The 90-day rule is a provision of the Food and Drugs Act, and it is designed to protect cheese-eaters against a variety of diseases which may be transmitted by cheese, the worst of which is typhoid. Several typhoid epidemics in Canada have been traced directly to green cheese. The worst took place in the St. Maurice Valley, in Quebec, in 1932; there were 627 cases of typhoid, and 57 deaths from it, traceable to green cheese. There were eight typhoid epidemics from this cause in Canada between 1932 and 1946, involving 928 cases of fever, and 86 deaths. In addition to typhoid, a nummer of other diseases, or which botulism is one, may be carried by green cheese; it is also suspected, but not sufficiently proved, that undulant fever may be carried by it. After the 90-day aging period, however, cheese is perfectly safe to eat, for the law prescribes that it must be aged at temperatures which do not permit infection to live.

* * *

There is a solution to this difficulty, which has been put forward by the Laboratory of Hygiene of the Department of National Health and Welfare. It is simply that Canadian cheese be made of pasteurized milk. It has been argued in the past that pasteurized milk does not make good cheese. However, more and more cheese in the U.S.A. is being made from it, and the greater part of New Zealand cheese is made from pasteurized milk. One authority says: "Contrary to the opinion of many cheese makers, pasteurized milk makes a consistently higher scoring and better flavoured Cheddar cheese than cheese made from raw milk. Cheese made from pasteurized milk can be ripened in about half the time required to ripen cheese made from raw milk, since it can be held at a higher temperature. Experiments made by seeding pathogens into milk and making the milk into cheese show that the pathogens die out more rapidly at the higher temperatures." This means that not only would it be possible to ripen cheese in a shorter time, but the chance of the cheese picking up contamination while ripening would be lessened. Apparently both hard and soft cheeses of excellent quality can be made from pasteurized milk.

* * *

It lies in the power of Canadian cheese-makers to alter the laws relating to the holding of cheese before sale. If they were to adopt methods used elsewhere to rule out the danger of typhoid and other infections there would be no point in retaining rules which have been designed to cope with that danger.

Ontario Surveyed Economically

We rarely become excited about statistical surveys, but one which has recently come to hand arouses both our admiration and our praise. It is the Second Annual Economic Survey, 1950 prepared by the Ontario Bureau of Statistics and Research, and appendage of the Treasury Department. It is an X-ray picture of the economic body of Ontario, or rather, a series of pictures. The statisticians' diagnostic camera divides the Province into nineteen "economic zones" (Peterborough, for instance, is in the Kawartha zone, which includes Durham, Ontario, Peterborough, Victoria and Northumberland counties), and the plates—189 pages of tight, packed figures and summaries—show how things go in each of these zones; the rainfall, the farm acreage, hydro, mineral production, industrial output, wages, motor vehicle registration, the number of mothers in receipt of allowances, circulations of newspapers, the estimated purchasing power of each county, and a host of other bones and tissues of the province.

It is the second Survey to be issued; the project which first came to light in 1949 will be continued and through the years will certainly prove to be a most valuable current account of Ontario's economic health and history-in-the-making. The Provincial Statistician, Harold J. Chater under whose signature the work is issued, states that the objectives of the project are "to present statistical information which will be pertinent to local areas; to collate useful information reposing in administrative records; to stress currentness, brevity and comprehensiveness". This three-fold task it seems to achieve excellently, although the "currentness" is a little late, for many of the tables are based on 1948 figures, and some of the figures are taken from unverified reports. The time-lag is understandable and probably unavoidable. The local nature of the survey is one of its best points. Other statistical compilations, for instance, the Canada Year Book do not and cannot bring figures down to such regional levels.

Here is the sort of local figures given. Peterborough county has 40.7 persons to the square mile, Brant county 156.87, and Kenora in the Lakehead Zone, has but a quarter of a person to the square mile. There are 191 persons in the Kawartha Zone engaged in mineral production. In 1948 $506,462 worth of Kawartha nepheline syenite was shipped or used. In this district 147,691 tons of sandstone of a total value of $279,787 were shipped or used. The Peterborough city and district payroll of manufacturing plants amounted in 1948 to $24,-235,197. Such local statistics are interesting, even if not useful to every reader of them.

A Good Season For The Civic Arena

This was the first winter that Peterborough has had an artificial ice hockey rink, and it was certainly a timely installation of the freezing equipment. Outdoor rinks were too much in the mild winter sun and rain to have any ice at all. The Civic Arena has proved a success beyond even what its most enthusiastic supporters augured—both financially and as a sports centre. This can be said with confidence even though the season is not yet ended and financial statements have not been collated. Crowds go to the games; juniors skate and play hockey with the assurance that there is ice for them; figure-skaters make use of the rink twice weekly, and, one of the most popular employments of the ice, hosts of adults don skates and just skate—when the rink is made available for what is now called "free skating".

This popular use of the rink is perhaps an indication that skating rinks are coming back to their own eminence—not as mere hockey arenas where a couple of dozen men use the ice and a couple of thousand people sit and watch a game from the bleachers. It would be ridiculous to suggest that hockey's star is waning; but it may be true that skating's star is again rising, back to the heights of the 1890's. Then hockey was an upstart, and skating enthusiasts vigorously objected if hockey games were allotted too much time at the rink. People went down to the rink to skate. They were tolerant if a previously scheduled game was prolonged for a few minutes, but should it go on after, say, 3:05, then the skaters would be outraged. Skating, in which all at the rink took part, was the thing; hockey was a passive sport—to many skaters, a waste of good ice which should be used by hundreds.

People in these parts still like to skate, even if they have learned to like sitting through a hockey game. Proof of this is the crowded Civic Arena ice when games are off and skating is allowed. A further item to consider in this revival of skating rink interest is that it is profitable to rink managers. Civic Arena officials are, we understand, as happy with the gate receipts from mere skaters as they are with the receipts of spectators at the games.

NOTE AND COMMENT

It's not hard to die with your boots on if you just keep one boot firmly on the accelerator.

The Hon. George Doucett says that drunken drivers would rather go to jail than lose their cars. But why not let them all get drunk, and drive their cars around the jail yard? That would cure them.

From The Critic's Notebook

THE CARDINAL by Henry Morton Robinson (Musson).

THIS novel of 579 pages may be described as an American success story with the Church of Rome as its background. It tells of the life of Stephen Fermoyle from his reception into the priesthood until, about thirty years later, he returns from Rome to the U.S.A. as an American cardinal. Indeed, it is strongly hinted that Fermoyle is likely to be the first American Pope. It seems improbable to the present reviewer that the priests who are likely to see this review have much time for reading novels; however, without reading "The Cardinal" most of them will agree that to rise from curate to cardinal in thirty years is a most unusual proceeding and one which strains even the American cult of success rather badly. A few exceptional men have performed this feat in forty or forty-five years, but we are given to understand that Stephen Fermoyle is much more than exceptional; he combines administrative and spiritual genius with a degree of luck which is unusual even in a success novel.

This book is aimed at the best-seller market, at Hollywood and at Holy Year. It is written with great skill; interest very rarely flags and the author has been deft in giving the life of a celibate priest a romantic interest without overstepping the bounds of taste. He has made lavish use of the rich ceremonial and the handsome appurtenances of the Roman Church in order to give curious interest to his story, and he has managed to create, in Stephen Fermoyle, a man who is equally at ease in aristocratic Roman society and eating stuffed codfish with his streetcar-driver father. It cannot be said that the study of Father Fermoyle's religious life is anything but superficial; the externals of his life, however, are presented in fascinating detail.

Mr. Robinson has courageously introduced into his book several knotty points of Catholic doctrine, and has not avoided the fact that in several vitally important situations Catholics are expected to behave in a manner incomprehensible to their non-Catholic fellow citizens. It would have been easy for him to gloss over these matters, and to present Catholicism to his readers in a sentimentally pleasing light. His courage in rejecting this temptation compells admiration. It must be said on the Protestant side, however, that non-Catholic obstetrical practice is by no means divorced from ethical considerations, and that exponents of birth-control and planned families are not invariably barren and neurotic women, intent upon doing the Devil's work. It might as well be said that "The Cardinal" will make most Protestant readers hot under the collar in many passages, for Mr. Robinson has yielded to the temptation to represent Protestantism as a harmless but shallow ethical entertainment—a solace for the well-to-do and the mentally brittle. The Protestant reader will find himself talking back to this book with a good deal of vigour, and the exercise will do him no harm.

I recommend this book strongly to readers of all shades of faith. Catholics will like it, though as I suggested above, those who know the priesthood best may smile wryly at Stephen Fermoyle's facile success. Protestants will probably like most of it, for it is a good story, and it has much to say about Catholicism which Protestants should know. The book will bring about a better understanding on some points; on others it may conceivably widen the gulf; in either case it is honest, which is all to the good.

I must add a rider, however, for those who care less for points of doctrine than for literary values. This is not, as you may be told by its advertisements, the best novel ever written about a priest and about the inner workings of the Church of Rome. That book is, and will doubtless remain for some time, "Hadrian VII" by that strange genius Fr. Rolfe. There, if you seek for one, is a great work of fiction and imagination. "The Cardinal" is a best-seller — competent, honest, showy and too eager to be popular to be good on the level upon which "Hadrian VII" is good.

FROM CLAUDIA TO DAVID by Rose Franken (Harper Bros.).

TO anyone who has read the previous five books on Claudia and David Naughton this is a must-be-read as it seems to be the last of the series. After all, what else could happen to Claudia? Apparently Rose Franken is in solid agreement with the supposed villains of theatrical casting offices who decree "You must have emotional experience to act maturely". Poor Claudia has certainly worked overtime for the maturity which she has achieved in this novel. In "From Claudia to David" the Naughton family move up to the mountains to nurse David through the attack of tuberculosis to which he succumbed in an earlier book. There is an excellent description of life in a T.B. centre and the effect of the appearance of the disease on the life of the average family. Since David has none of the optimism usually associated with sufferers of this complaint, Claudia's life is further complicated, but he does eventually recover sufficiently to return to New York: though the price they have to pay for this trip to health is so great, and their loss so irrevocable that it hardly seems worth it. I shall not add more to this for fear of spoiling the suspense for those who want to read it. If you have not read the other books of this series you will probably find it hard to pick up the threads of the story but if you enjoy a good cry you should find it here. The family dialogue in this book will have a very authentic, and if you have a family, familiar ring; but so much that is tragic happens to Claudia that there is a stronger resemblance to one of the fearful harrowing radio serials to which we are continually being 'Mis'-treated than to real life.

Shakespearean Tour

A well-known group of Shakespearean players from Stratford plan an extended tour of British Commonwealth countries this year. They have been encouraged to embark on this project by the remarkable success of a recent visit to Australia. Immediately after the close of the Festival of Britain, next Autumn, the company plans to leave for Canada, New Zealand, Australia and possibly South Africa.

SORCERER'S APPRENTICE

Letter To The Editor

COMPLAINS OF UNEQUAL DISTRIBUTION

Sir: Re your column "Pessimism vs. The Facts", many thanks for the facts. It was interesting to note that 33 per cent. of the retail food business went to the chain stores last year, most of which was redistributed elsewhere. The percentage must be very large in the urban centres since the smaller towns are not generally blessed with such advantages. Is the total sale of milk, bread and farm produce purchased outside any retail store included in the remaining 67 per cent. of the retail trade? However, I chose to attack the "food" chains because I am more familiar with that angle of it, and it does reflect an attitude which is prevalent both in good times and bad.

I am afraid I disagree with you as to the reason the public has become pernickety. The merchant has not forgotten the art of pleasing, but the public can no longer afford to be pleased. My idea of discriminate buying is not to have to take the best you can get for your money, but to have enough money to be able to buy what you want—and the Canadian dollar has lost its purchase power. Therefore, the majority of people are forced to get the most from their spendings in an attempt to maintain a half-way decent standard of living with the scale at the level it is. Money is still being spent to the limit of the income but it has to cover more and more each year, without becoming more plentiful. What an economic system!

Would it be possible now to have a few facts and figures on the balance of the retail chain business in small variety goods etc., with a further breakdown in relative statistics on the imported and Canadian goods sold? There is much newspaper talk lately as to cheaper Japanese shirts, fishing tackle, and so forth jeopardizing Canadian industry, and one has only to walk up the aisles of any variety store to realize where most of such cheaper imported articles eventually find their outlet to the public. Bulk buying power, greater turnover and larger profits. Charity begins at home, and the individual cannot be blamed too severely for purchasing same, when with the present wage scale and high taxation he has no other choice than to select the cheapest, or go without.

One does not think so much in terms of a depression, as unequal distribution. To ask where our money goes, and why? Are we to boycott these goods, or not? Perhaps you will favour us with an editorial explaining the ultimate advantages to be gained by allowing such items into the country in the first place?

If Canadians can buy their requirements cheaper from other countries, and to the detriment of their own industries, then how can we hope to export our products and compete with world trade? How can we keep up a thriving internal trade when production threatens to diminish because we cannot afford to prefer our own goods, yet there is still much demand within the country? Are we to be exploited merely for our natural resources? It doesn't add up and make sense to me!

To my fevered imagination, it takes on the startling aspect of capitalism at its worst. In my ignorance I must add another "ism" to the list which has already grown considerably since I first read it several years ago. "Defeatism"—If you have two cows you kill both of them, because you can't afford to keep them, and there is no market. Just who, and what, is behind all this? I am quite willing to be educated.

Yours truly,
HOUSEWIFE.

ED. NOTE: There is usually a direct relationship between goods exported from Canada and goods imported here. Maintaining a balance and giving reasonable protection to Canadian goods has always been one of the Government's most difficult problems, and no perfect solution for it has yet been found.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the Lord spake unto Moses and Aaron in the land of Egypt, saying . . . Speak ye unto all the congregation of Israel, saying, In the tenth day of this month they shall take to them every man a lamb, according to the house of their fathers, a lamb for an house . . . And they shall take of the blood, and strike it on the two side posts and on the upper door post of the houses, wherein they shall eat it . . .

And thus shall ye eat it; with your loins girded, your shoes on your feet, and your staff in your hand; and ye shall eat it in haste: it is the Lord's passover. For I will pass through the land of Egypt this night, and will smite all the firstborn in the land of Egypt, both man and beast; and against all the gods of Egypt I will execute judgement: I am the Lord. And the blood shall be to you for a token upon the houses where ye are: and when I see the blood, I will pass over you, and the plague shall not be upon you to destroy you, when I smite the land of Egypt. (Ex. 12: 1, 3, 7, 11-13.)

Making History

For the first time in history, a British newspaper will be hawked on the streets of New York and other American and Canadian cities, hot off the presses with news of the general election. The London Daily Telegraph which already distributes an eight-page air mail edition daily in the United States, will thus make new circulation history.

When it is considered how rapidly news is now transmitted by cable, radio and telephone, the fact that there was a big demand for newspapers with election news, 36 hours after the event—that is, on Saturday morning—illustrates as much as anything could the power of the printed word. People will want to read everything written on this historic clash of parties and political ideologies. The mere skeleton news, who won and who lost, is not sufficient to satisfy the intellectual demand for cause and effect.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

A soccer mention first, ere we get into hockey again. The Eastern Ontario Football League held its first annual meeting the other day in Kingston, and these teams entered: Ottawa Army, Belleville Navy, Kingston United, Kingston Vimy, Belleville United, Brockville United and Peterborough UEW. Ottawa agreed to play its home games with Peterborough at Trenton. Schedule will be drawn within a few weeks. This league will have no bearing on the Ontario intermediate cup, but will have an individual trophy and medals. Further info will continue to be sent here to Stroyan Leith.

Annual meeting of the Peterborough Hockey Club will be held next Monday night at 7.30 in the YMCA. It is open to everyone, players, officials and fans. Reason for such an early session—shortly after the finish of the Petes' puck season—is that the OHA annual this year will be on April 29, instead of in the fall. Hence, entries, nominations, amendments, etc., should be decided upon right away and word sent in to the OHA in advance of the main meeting. It is hoped to have a good turnout at the Petes' annual huddle.

An OHA Final Tonight

All hockey roads of the city and district tonight lead to Civic Arena for the big 8.30 clash. The second of the best-of-seven OHA senior "B" finals betwixt Brantford Nats and the local Legionnaires. Latter are one up after a nifty 6-5 win Monday in Brantford, and the Brants will be going all out tonight to try to sew up the serial right here. Third game is here, too, on Friday, and then the scene shifts back the first of next week to the Western Ontario centre. Don't pass up these few remaining important playoffs, folks; tonight's tilt should be a sweet one.

* * * * * *

If you want our opinion—it's free with the price of the paper—Legion should take this series. But then we've only seen these teams tangle once, and that was too close for comfort. We should say Legion can take the Nats if the Ellis outfit play their very best hockey from start to finish, and if the Nats don't show improvement o'er their Monday form. Then, they proved big, fast and scrappy to roar from behind and outplay Legion the last two frames. So, it could be mighty close here on a somewhat similar ice surface, though the Brants don't flood between periods. Yes, it ought to be a dandy before a full house this e'en.

Says Brants Will Win

Al Rose of the Brantford sheet predicts that the series will be evened tonight and that Nats will take it all. Figures they didn't play Legion right, ganging up too much and letting loose forwards free from the goalie out, and good both defensively and when in scoring position. Closer checking will beat Legionnaires, he claims. It might be, who knows? Al also didn't think much of his photographer's camera being busted, saying: "The Expositor photographer was careful not to shoot until the puck was stopped or in the net." That's not what Goalie Ross Nicholls says, and a goalie today has a tough enough job without flashes blinding him momentarily just when he's expecting an in-close shot.

Coach Charlie Rees and Ron Menzies took six of their local boxers over to Lindsay for a show last night, Ron Emery, Louis Carveth, Len Titus, Larry Howran, Jerry Tyler and Bobby Lagana. And they showed much improvement over a previous show with Lindsay to win four of their bouts handily. Lagana, Tyler, Carveth and Emery all brought home decisions. Howran put up a fine show against a tough opponent in Mike Hurlihey and rates a return crack. Titus was over-matched and the referee wisely halted it in the second. Nice going by these mitt-slingers, and they'll probably run inter-city cards every couple of weeks or so till hot weather.

Dealing 'Em Off Cuff

Sorry to hear of the death of Alex Kempt of Norwood, formerly prominent in East Peterborough hockey and in lacrosse . . . Weight-lifting show at the "Y" is tomorrow eve and should be interesting . . . Steve Stanlee will oppose Bob Wagner in the prelim bout of the pro mat card here tomorrow evening . . . The Petes-IOOF game will be next Tuesday night at 8.30 . . . Girls' annual softball meeting is tonight at 7.30 in the YM with everyone welcome . . . Prexy Bill Gunn announced the annual open meeting of the Industrial Softball League for Thursday at 7.30 p.m. in the Quaker clubhouse . . . Closing date for entries in the City Softball League will be April 25 . . . There are 14 chaps after the five executive offices in the OLA . . . About 200 cagers, including the champ PCVS team, open a three-day interscholastic tourney at Queen's today . . . Sundridge will meet Georgetown (who rubbed out Lakefield) in OHA intermediate "B" finals . . . Toronto Carwils ousted Oshawa Bees 7-5 in the seventh . . . With a 4-1 win for Wings last night, second Stanley Cup final will be tomorrow in Toronto; third is there Saturday and then back to Detroit to finish it up . . . And, as Wm. Gunn remarked: "From hockey to ball, there is no rest for the wicked or sports editors."

City Softball League Sets A Closing Date

The closing date for entries in the men's City Softball League was set at April 25 at last night's executive meeting in the YMCA. Johnny Russelle will have a team in, the UEW is considering an entry, and several more require more time to make a definite entry. President Pat Calladine was in the chair for the session.

Various reports were presented, including that on the OASA convention in Owen Sound by Bert Bailey, who is local league secretary and a member of the OASA executive. Several umpire applications have been received to date.

Among changes noted in rules for this year was one pointing out that a runner hit by an infield fly while standing on base is not out, but he is out if off his base and hit. Also, in OASA playdowns, a typewritten copy of ground rules must be supplied to the umpire-in-chief before a game. No hesitation or bobbing back and forth is allowed between bases. If a runner starts for a base he must continue or come right back. The next local league meeting will be on April 25.

Local Boxers Take Four Over Lindsay

The Peterborough Boxing Club evened its score with Lindsay in the latter's ring last night by taking four victories in six bouts. Coach Charlie Rees of the Peterborough Club had his boxers in fine shape and they surprised many of the 40 fans with their improved work. Future bouts in either town are planned for the near future.

Lloyd Burrows of Lindsay arranged a good card in the Legion Hall there, the show opening with five peewee bouts among Lindsay lads of 55 to 75 pounds, and they went over good. In the first inter-city bouts, Ron Emery of PBC decisively defeated Bill Ford, Ron being 147 to Bill's 145 pounds. It was his second straight win. Louis Carveth of PBC emerged the winner over Ron Hutten in a hot scrap with plenty of blows thrown, both being 109 pounds.

A Good Show

Len Titus, 137-pound Peterborough boy, put up a good show in his first start against Ernie Wilkinson, 133, an experienced fighter. Capable refereeing decided Titus was over-matched and it was stopped in the second for a TKO by the Lindsay lad. Larry Howran, given little chance against hard-hitting Mike Hurlihey, 156 pounds, from Lindsay—Larry going but 148 — surprised everyone by going the distance as he bobbed and weaved to confuse Mike. The latter got the nod but a rematch was indicated.

The semi-final saw Jerry Tyler, local veteran at 125, outpoint Jerry Ferguson of Lindsay, 126, with an effective straight left and change-over. The main bout was nip-and-tuck between Bobby Lagana of Peterborough and Bill Baker, 131 to Bob's 129. Baker had a slight edge till Lagana dropped him in the last round with a hard punch that earned him the decision on points.

Brantford Writer Likes L's Defence

Following are a few of the comments in yesterday's sports column by Alan Rose of the Brantford Expositor, concerning the first Legion-Nationals' game in Brantford:

The thing that defeated the Nats last night was that the Peterborough defence and backcheckers cluttered up the ice, in front of their goal, like fallen bicycles on a busy sidewalk. Al Burns and that veteran John Godfrey, No. 2 and 3 respectively, were adept at lying on the ice to stop passes. They pulled this stunt off all through the many minutes the Nats ganged up on goal. Rarely did the Nats get in free to pester Nicholls. You can say this much for the Peterborough defence pairs, they played defence. It took a smart effort to get them out of position.

The Peterborough forwards played it canny, waiting for the breaks. They have a small arena at the Lift Lock City and evidently known how to play the shorter ice surface. They got the lead, 3-0, then checked back, and with men in the centre ice zone, usually Coombs or Hill, they took what breaks were theirs by getting away to Goalie McGrattan free. Both Brantford defence pairs were up the ice trying hard to reduce a lead that had been secured by over-anxious players who all desired to score. The Nats had the best of the territorial play by a mile but their attacks were somewhat frenzied and the Petes goalie, Nicholls, too cool.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Curling Rink Company is set for Monday, May 1, at 8 p.m., in the club's parlors. All shareholders are requested to keep this date open.

The curling for this season is past and we have no more curling news, but we have several stories we could use to fill in the time from now until May 1.

Over the great number of years that we have belonged to the curling club, we have seen many humorous incidents and have heard many funny stories. We have been on both ends of the jokes and think nothing of it.

This little yarn happened some years before the advent of artificial ice. The rink had been opened up around the last week in November, and the boys were getting anxious; the cold weather was slow coming. We were working on No. 8 one mornnig, when in walks our good friend Ross Frederick Downey. We talked about the prospects of early curling, etc., when all of a sudden in blows another good friend, James Gilbert Harkness; just came down from the north the night before and was in fine fettle. He shook hands with R. F. and myself, asked a few questions and said, "R. F., I understand that THEY are all after you this winter." As quick as a flash and without batting an eyelid, R. J. said, "Jim, wouldn't it be more appropriate if you changed the "they" to "we?"

It was a smart come-back and timely.

In about two or three days' time we'll have another story for the column—this one is on us, and it's worth repeating.

All Pitch In To Renovate Town Hall At Millbrook

MILLBROOK, April 12. (ENS). —The entire community is wholeheartedly behind the Lions Club project to renovate the interior of the town hall, and there is a great deal of activity in the hall this week.

The balcony which, although a delight to the youngsters who sit there at amateur performances and the weekly movies, has been unsafe for some time. It has been pulled down and the old kitchen underneath the balcony has also been removed.

A small army of boys has been busy carrying out old lumber and the benches and chairs to make room for the workers.

The carpentry work is under the direction of Tom Campbell. New, up-to-date cupboards are being built to hold the dishes and a new hardwood floor is to be laid.

The stage and dressing rooms are also to be completely renovated. In place of the stage curtain which rolls up and down, the lady Lions are donating new curtains.

Charles Sanderson's spray paint outfit is being used to paint walls and ceiling. Laurence Winslow is chairman of the works committee in charge of the project.

Radio Bingo Inventor?

OTTAWA, April 12 — (CP) — The man who claims to have invented radio bingo Tuesday withdrew a suit against the Ottawa Lions Club for allegedly using the game without permission. Julian Riopelle, of Montreal, who says he holds patents on radio bingo, withdrew the charge before the Exchequer Court. Costs of the case were awarded to the defendant. The club produced one radio bingo game in Ottawa before the CBC banned it recently.

Yukon Eric Tops All-Star Card

Thursday night's mat card at the Brock will feature the sensational and powerful Yukon Eric pitted against Hi Lee. This bout should be a rugged contest with two giants in action. Yukon's record is well known and experts claim he has improved a lot since his last appearance here. This looks bad for Lee, but he will be no pushover.

W. Bockwinkle

In the semi-final Lord Albert Mills, a newcomer but highly rated, will take on Warren Bockwinkle, the St. Louis star. The opener brings together Steve Stanlee and Strangler Wagner. Both these bouts will produce plenty of action.

All six men on Thursday's card are headliners and the best show of the present season will likely result before a sell-out crowd.

Haliburton Defeats Breslau To Win Title

LINDSAY, April 12 — Firing four goals in the first period, Haliburton Huskies went on to a 5-1 victory over Breslau Red Shirts to even their ORHA best-of-five senior championship series at two each.

Led by veteran Glen Dart, with two goals and an assist, the Huskies tallied four times in the first 20 minutes without a reply. Young, Curry Bishop, and Harry Brohm scored the other goals. Gerry Schnar scored the only goal of the second period for the Red Shirts, and Sinc Davies got that one back in the rugged third period.

Wings Take Opener 4-1 Without Lindsay, Howe

By CHARLES C. CAIN.

DETROIT, April 12 (AP). — Detroit Red Wings are off to a flying start in the final Stanley Cup hockey playoffs, and it appears that New York Rangers will have a hard time catching them.

The Red Wings playing without their two star forwards—Ted Lindsay and Gordie Howe who are out with injuries—whipped the New Yorkers 4-1 Tuesday night.

The victory put the Wings one up in the best-of-seven championship series which shifts to Toronto for games No. 2 and 3 Thursday and Saturday nights. New York must play its "home" games in Toronto because a circus has moved into New York's Madison Square Garden.

The fast New Yorkers Tuesday night grabbed a one-goal lead in the first period, during which they skated rings around the Detroiters.

But the National Hockey League champions surged back with a four-goal blitz in the second period to tuck the game away. After that, the Detroiters played defensive hockey against the Rangers' futile efforts for a tally.

The game lacked the blood and thunder atmosphere that marked Detroit's bruising semi-final series against Toronto Maple Leafs. In fact, a goodly number of the 13,415 fans filed out of the rink midway in the final period.

New York, which surprised everyone by slapping down Montreal in the semi-finals, had a lot of tough luck.

The Rangers picked up a first period goal on Buddy O'Connor's six-foot poke, and just missed connecting on two other shots that bounced off the Detroit goal posts behind goalie Harry Lumley.

Coaches Lynn Patrick of New York and Tommy Ivan of Detroit agreed in post-game discussions that those near-misses cost the Rangers the game.

"The breaks certainly went against us on a couple of those shots," Patrick said.

The tying goal was scored by Joe Carveth as two Ranger players looked on from the penalty box. That came at 4:43, and within the next 10 minutes Jim McFadden, George Gee and Jerry Couture slapped in goals to make it a 4-1 game.

Rayner chalked up 22 saves during the evening, two less than Lumley, but most of the New Yorkers' saves were on difficult shots that kept him hopping around.

Patrick blamed the loss on over-confidence.

Baseball, Golf Step On Heels Of Hockey Finals

By The Canadian Press

Baseball, softball, golf and tennis are restlessly nudging hockey to the sidelines again as canadian sportsmen prepare for another summer.

These four, together with yachting, bowling, racing, soccer and swimming will be in full swing within a few weeks.

There's still life, though, in Canada's traditional winter sports. Although Toronto and Montreal have been eliminated from the Stanley Cup playoffs, New York plays two games against Detroit in Toronto this week to keep big-time hockey fans happy.

Winter Sports

Amateur hockey, including competition for the Allan and Memorial Cups, is still going strong. Some Basketball titles are still to be decided. They're still curling at Kirkland Lake, Ont., where a schoolboy bonspiel was held this week.

Canada's top professional baseball teams—Toronto and Montreal of the class AAA International League—start their home seasons May 3. Crowds of 20,000 are expected in both cities, providing the weather is good.

Four days later there'll be a big innovation in Toronto sport. It will be the city's first Sunday game. Recent Ontario legislation permits Sunday sport in cities where a majority of taxpayers favor it. Toronto and Windsor voters have okayed the idea.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Elections of 1950 officers will be a feature of the annual meeting of the Ontario Lacrosse Association annual meeting at Toronto Saturday.

Three persons have been nominated for president including last year's top man, J. C. McLeod, Owen Sound. Others nominated are: A. E. Brown, St. Catharines; and G. Hipkin, Brampton.

Secretary-treasurer Charles Rowan and his assistant, E. C. McDermott, both of Mimico, were returned by acclamation.

Montreal YMHA Juvenile Blues Tuesday night at Montreal trounced a weaker Toronto YMHA squad 62-41 to take a two-game, total point semi-final series 92-76 for the Eastern Canada Juvenile Basketball crown. Toronto took the opener 35-30 on Monday night.

At Buffalo, N. Y., Richard C McCabe, one-time pitcher for Boston Braves and Chicago White Sox, died Tuesday night. He was 53. McCabe had been associated with a brewery for the last 19 years. During his baseball career McCabe also played with Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League Fort Worth of the Texas League, and Jersey City and Buffalo of the International League.

At Toronto, Vancouver Eilers took the Canadian Senior Girls' Basketball championship Tuesday night with their third straight victory over Toronto Montgomery Maids, 61-37. Eilers captured the lead from the opening whistle and increased it in every quarter for the highest score of the best-of-five series.

Windsor's AKO Junior Basketball team won entry into the Dominion finals Tuesday night when it defeated Montreal YMHA Juniors 68-47 to win the second of a two-game total-points series for the Eastern Canada Junior Basketball championship. Windsor swept the series with a 129-75 score and will leave Thursday for Winnipeg to play Winnipeg Stellars in a best-of-five final series opening Saturday night.

Appoint McLean To Racing Board For Ontario

TORONTO, April 12 — (CP) — The Ontario Racing Commission, to cover all horse racing in the province, will be composed of four members, it was learned Tuesday.

In addition to the previously-announced chairman, Magistrate Tupper Bigelow, appointment of George C. Hendrie and Donald A. Macintosh, both of Toronto, and Burton L. McLean, of Lindsay, is expected to be confirmed at an Ontario cabinet meeting later this week.

While the number on the commission will not exceed four, it is possible that that body will have the assistance of an additional staff, including a secretary-treasurer. These appointments will be made later.

Set Meet Dates

The incorporated Canadian racing associations will continue to function, primarily to set dates for the various track meets. However, it will be subordinate to the commission at all times.

Mr. Hendrie is president and managing director of Hendrie and Co., Ltd., and a director of the Ontario Jockey Club. Mr. Macintosh has been interested in racing for many years and possesses much practical experience in the industry. He is a past representative on the ICRA.

Mr. McLean, former mayor of Lindsay, has been prominently identified with fall fairs for some years and has acted as agriculture department representative at these exhibitions.

Montreal Jrs. Knock Off Guelph; Take Series Lead

MONTREAL, April 12—(CP)—Montreal's Junior Canadiens today are a step further along the Memorial Cup trail following a 4-2 decision Tuesday night over Guelph Biltmores in the opening game of their best-of-seven Eastern Canada final series.

The more experienced Montrealers, bolstered by a home-town crowd of 8,000 fans, displayed a smooth-skating and slick-passing attack that the visitors were unable to cope with.

Dickie Moore paced the winners with a pair of tallies, the other markers coming from the sticks of Art Rose and Bob Dawson. For the losers, it was the brother combination of Andy and Frank Bathgate.

Held Edge

The edge in play sported by the Junior Habs was backed up by shots on goal—30 for the Montrealers, 21 for the Ontario champions.

But the game also was a rough, hard-fought affair. A total of 20 penalties were handed out, Montreal drawing 11.

Although six Canadiens were forced to retire temporarily for repairs after suffering cuts and bruises, only one penalty was called against Guelph. This went to Frank Bathgate who was handed a major and a minor penalty for cross-checking Montreal's Bill Sinnett.

Following a scoreless opening period, Dawson sent the Montrealers ahead near the halfway mark of the middle session. Eight minutes later, Rose brought the count to 2-0 to round out second-period scoring.

Pull Goalie

In the finale, Moore brought the count to 3-0 before Andy Bathgate got the Guelph team back in the game, beating Montreal goalie Roger Morrissette with a short drive from close in. Then, with one minute and 55 seconds remaining, Frank Bathgate beat Morrissette on a neat passing play with brother Andy.

Coach Alf Pike pulled his goalie and put on six forwards but the move backfired when Moore sent a long shot into the empty cage with 13 seconds of play left.

The teams go at it again tomorrow night.

Port Arthur Wins 6-2 Over Brandon

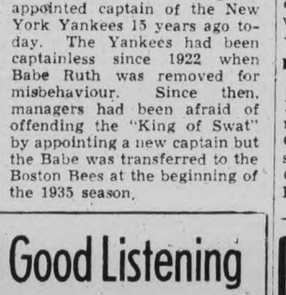
PORT ARTHUR, April 12 (CP) —Port Arthur Bruins Tuesday night won the Western Canada Memorial Cup semi-final, defeating Brandon Wheat Kings 6-2. They took the best-of-seven hockey series 4-3.

The western final with Regina Pats will open with games here Thursday and Saturday.

Bruins, with three wins and one loss on home ice in the series left no doubt of the outcome. They took a 2-0 lead in the first period, added one in the second, and outgunned the Manitoba champs 3-2 in the finale.

Leo Boivin and Maurice Levesque led the home-towners with two apiece. Gil Carlson and Bobby Wrightsell got the others.

Bob Chrystal and Reg Abbott scored Brandon's goal.



HOCKEY CZAR—Clarence S. Campbell, 44, was named president of the National Hockey League in September, 1946. The Saskatchewan-born hockey czar was an NHL referee as well as a successful lawyer prior to the war. He served with distinction in the second world war and was assistant prosecutor in the war crimes trial of Maj.-Gen. Kurt Meyer, of the German army.

Court Convicts After Man's Suit Stolen From Store

Vincent Dineen, 22, of River Rd., who threatened to throw himself into Jackson Park Creek when PC Donald Mackay tried to arrest him April 1, was today convicted of receiving stolen goods by Magistrate W. R. Philp KC.

His worship remanded Dineen for sentence to April 13.

Dineen was charged with having in his possession a blue suit said to have been stolen from Bond's clothing store.

Constable Mackay told court he found a locker key when he searched Dineen. "I went to the CPR station and the key fitted a locker there. The suit was inside," the officer testified.

Later, Constable Mackay said he went to the Bond clothing store, where he found the rear window broken and two bars removed.

Defence counsel John Corkery argued that possession of the key did not prove Dineen was the only one who could gain entry to the locker. Magistrate Philp said he thought it did.

Had Been Drinking

Dineen testified he spent all the afternoon and part of the evening of March 31 in beverage rooms, and that he knew nothing about the suit or the locker key.

Dineen testified he met a man who had two bottles of wine that evening. He said they drank one, and the man gave him the other. He said he was standing behind a building on Charlotte St., and climbed up on a ledge. "I lost my balance on the ledge and my arm went through a window," he claimed.

"When the officer came why didn't you get down when he asked?" qutried Crown Attorney John Bradshaw. "I couldn't get my arm free."

Threatend To Jump

"Didn't you threaten to jump into the creek?"—Yes. That was the only way I could get down."

"Would it surprise you if I told you the window you say you broke was also one in a clothing store?" asked Mr. Bradshaw. "It must have been a coincidence," said Dineen.

Sgt. Leo Murphy testified; "The accused asked to see me alone after Constable Mackay and I questioned him in the guardroom. We went to a room, where he told me he thought the suit came from Bond's clothing store. I didn't ask him if he had taken it."

Dineen denied he told Sgt. Murphy he thought the suit came from Bond's.

On Thursday, Dineen will face a charge of attempted breaking and entering, after he is sentenced on the receiving count.

U.S. Making Rockets Improve German V2s

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., April 12 (AP)—The United States is producing rocket motors 10 per cent more efficient than the German V2S of the Second World War, an army ordnance expert said Tuesday.

If produced in a size equal to that of the V-2, the United States rocket motors—or, more exactly, power plants—could carry pay loads 40 or 50 per cent greater, Lt.-Col. James G. Bain told reporters.

Bain talked with newspaper men on a limited tour of a rocket testing station near Malta, N. Y.

The secluded test station is operated by the General Electric Company as a part of its program of rocket research and development for the ordnance department.

Five Men, One Woman Win Top Newspaper Awards

TORONTO, April 12. — Five Canadian newspapermen and one woman were named yesterday as winners of the 1949 national newspaper awards, sponsored by the Toronto Men's Press Club.

Four others, whose entries came close to winning in various categories, were cited for merit. To the winner in each of six categories goes $400 and a medal. Those cited for merit receive an engraved memento.

Award winners:

Editorial writing—Edgar A. Collard, The Montreal Gazette.

Spot news reporting—Edmond Chasse, Quebec reporter for Montreal Le Canada.

Feature writing — Dorothy Howarth, The Toronto Telegram.

Staff corresponding — Stuart Underhill, The Canadian Press.

News photography — Jack DeLorme, The Calgary Herald.

Cartooning—Jack Boothe The Toronto Globe and Mail.

Cited for merit:

Ray Munro and Don McLean, The Vancouver Province, for spot news reporting.

James Y. Nicol, The Toronto Telegram, for feature writing.

Ron Smith, The Ottawa Journal, for cartooning.

Collard won the award for distinguished editorial writing with an entry of 12 editorials on various subjects of national and community interest. Clearness of style, sound reasoning and power to influence opinion in the public interest were tests of excellence in this category.

Chasse is the veteran reporter who, on Sept. 13, sent to his paper first news of the mystery woman who put a parcel—later proved to be a time bomb — aboard the airliner which exploded and killed 23. His reporting initiative marked an important break in the case which eventually saw jeweller J. Albert Guay sentenced to death.

Chasse got extremely close competition from photographer Ray Munro and reporter Don McLean of the Vancouver Province. Last August, carrying out a plan conceived by Munro, with McLean dressed as a girl, the two captured a Stanley Park prowler. The captive proved to have been implicated in a series of assaults and robberies and was sentenced to 15 years for rape.

The feature award went to Miss Howarth for a series of stories published last March and April on Newfoundland. This series also won a prize given by the Canadian Women's Press Club.

Nicol was runner-up with his story of Johnny, the 10-year-old Tskimo boy who, after three years of treatment for tuberculosis, didn't want to go home to the ice and snow of James Bay.

Underhill, now chief of bureau for CP at New York, won the award for staff corresponding with a story written while he headed CP's London bureau. This was an interview with Sir Stafford Cripps, Feb. 22, 1949, in which Cripps talked frankly about the prospects for British-Canadian trade.

De Lorme won the news photography award with a striking shot of a fireman carrying a child from a burning home last Dec. 23.

Booth's prize-winning cartoon, entitled Futility, appeared in The Globe and Mail June 28. A model of simplicity, it shows a massive cross lettered Christianity, with a tiny figure of Stalin hacking futilely at a corner of the base.

Smith's citation-winning effort appeared in the Journal last April 5. An ormored Mars, in the guise of Gulliver, is being immobilized by bonds labelled North Atlantic Treaty in the hands of the Lilliputians—John Bull, Uncle Sam and their companions.

The awards, offered for the first time for work done in 1949, will be repeated this year. Eighteen judges in various parts of Canada, most of them with long experience as working newspapermen, shared the job of picking winners.

Internal Trouble

HONG KONG, April 12 (AP).—Two Hong Kong Chinese newspapers today carried reports of serious clashes between Russian technicians and Chinese Communist soldiers in the Shanghai area. The dispatches came from Taipei, Chinese Nationalist capital on Formosa. The Independent Kung Sheung News' dispatch asserted 60 Russian technicians and more than 80 Chinese Red troops were killed and injured in a clash at Kiangwan Airfield on Shanghai's northern outskirts.

Worst Erosion

TORONTO, April 12 — (CP) — An unprecedented run-off of streams has resulted in the greatest soil erosion in Ontario's history, Department of Agriculture officials said Tuesday. Much valuable topsoil has been washed away. In addition the department said alfalfa fields have been "heaved" by alternate thawing and freezing. Seeding in Southern Ontario is said to be two or three weeks behind schedule.

Breed Herefords Fix Up Ranch Windsors Plan

CALGARY, April 12. (CP)— A Florida-tanned Duke of Windsor talked ranching and the duchess expressed an interest in housekeep in interviews on their arrival here Tuesday.

Some of the welcomers at the station noted that the 55-year-old duke's hair is still the straw color it was when, as the Prince of Wales, he made his first visit to Canada in 1919.

That was the year he bought the 4,000-acre EP Ranch in the foothills southwest of Calgary. He last visited the ranch with the duchess in 1941.

"We plan to develop the ranch by switching from shorthorn to Hereford cattle," he said. "We are going to approach it in a business-like manner. There's not much interest in shorthorns now, you know."

The duchess said they had no thought of selling the ranch, they planned to "Fix it up so we can come here from time to time."

The duke, smoking a pipe and wearing a chocolate-brown porkpie hat and fawn camel-hair overcoat over a wide-check beige lounge suit, was interested in road conditions to the ranch.

"We should be able to get through all right though perhaps we will need chains. I know the road well." He expects to make the trip tomorrow and either stay there or commute daily. Plans for the balance of the week visit are not definite.

The duchess, wearing a trim navy-blue-and-red checked wool suit with a fitted jacket and slim skirt, talked of homes, housekeeping and hobbies.

"We've been married for 13 years — think of that," she said. "Yes, we are indeed very happy."

"I like housekeeping and I do it all (except) I don't do the cooking," she said, "but I can if I have to. The duke is very fond of vegetables—he eats a light lunch and quite a big dinner."

Seretse Khama Unable To See White Wife

LOBATSI, Bechuanaland, April 12 (Reuters)—Seretse Khama, whom the British government has refused to confirm as chief of the Bamangwato tribe, has been refused permission to see his white wife at the tribal capital of Serowe, Seretse's lawyer said here Tuesday night.

Lawyer P. Fraenkel added that the original understanding when Seretse returned from London consultations with the government was that he would be allowed to visit the Bamangwato reserve for his wife's confinement, expected in June. His request to go there now had been refused.

In Johannesburg, the British information office said Seretse must furnish "precise information" on his intended movements before he is allowed to visit the Bamangwato tribal area.

PEMBROKE, April 12 (CP) — The Pembroke District Fish and Game Association Tuesday night called on the Federal and Ontario governments for additional help in feeding thousands of Canada geese now northward bound in their annual migration.

Association officials said at least $2,000 worth of feed would be required to feed the 8,000-odd geese flocking into this district. The geese normally stay here about a month during their northward flight. Officials said each government had agreed to provide $275 worth of feed.

More than 2,000 birds now are in the district, the majority at the farm of Harry Berry in the nearby Cobden, Ont., district.

Measles, Famine Threaten Indians, Eskimos

By SHAUN McQUILLAN

WINNIPEG, April 11 (CP)—A measles epidemic and threats of famine are adding to the normal burden of hardy Indians and nomad Eskimos who scratch a bare livelihood from the barren northwest territories and northern Manitoba.

Starvation threatens hundreds of Eskimos in the Lake Ennadai and Padlei districts, 300 to 400 miles northwest of Churchill in the Northwest Territories.

Dropped Rations

An RCAF plane has dropped emergency rations in the Ennadai district, and an RCMP constable is investigating the possibility of moving northern nomads about 125 miles south of Neultin Lake where they may be employed in a fish products plant.

Eskimos at Padlei will have more trouble if the spring migration of caribou should bypass the district.

Eskimos in the Point-Chesterfield Inlet district on the west coast of Hudson Bay were the centre of a poliomyelitis epidemic last year. Thirteen died before the quarantine was lifted in January.

Measles cases rose from 51 to 73 during the week-end in the latest outbreak reported from the north. Twenty-two new cases were discovered in the Duck Lake community, bringing to 39 the number in the area.

Two Churchill hospitals are tending 34 natives from surrounding districts.

Real Thinking On Way Out -Queen's Head

TORONTO, April 12 — (CP) — Original hard thought may fall into discard as a result of the present trend toward a liberal education, Dr. Robert C. Wallace, principal of Queen's University, said Tuesday. He told the college and secondary school section of the Ontario Education Association that "we may be reduced to reading snippets from literary digests and avoiding hard books—finding it difficult to form any thoughts of our own."

Dr. Wallace said he could see the good side of the trend as well as the bad. "I hope that our children will be conscious that they are an integral part of the world at large. I also hope that our young people will go out in the world as reasonably good citizens."

In reviewing the trends in education during the last 50 years, Dr. Wallace said that the days of hard discipline and deep classical study in secondary schools was natural half a century ago when most high school graduates went on to university, compared to a much smaller number now.

Classical education was too limited for a modern world.

Ship's Chandlers Using Radio Supply Steamers

WINDSOR, Ont., April 12 (CP) — There's a bustling grocery business in suburban Sandwich that few Windsor housewives have heard about. Yet it is known throughout the length of the Great Lakes, wherever freighters touch at Canadian ports.

The business is run by the Appel brothers, Ben and William, whose trade is as old as Greece and Carthage. They are ship's chandlers.

Great Lakes freighters, plying the busiest inland water route in the world, can't be kept waiting when they dock anywhere from Port Arthur to Montreal. The Appel brothers have trucks waiting with provisions, meats and staples. Skippers allow just 10 minutes for provisioning and the chandler can't afford to "miss the boat."

The ships order an average of $300 worth of supplies and the Sandwich chandlers, who are in radio contact with the big freighters, operate trucks 24 hours a day to have the goods on hand where and when they are needed.

Mail for the lakes sailors is often addressed to the Appel brothers, who forward it on to the ships they service. Bundles of laundry are taken ashore, and returned when the vessel docks again at Windsor. Even shipping instructions from boat owners are relayed to the skippers

TORONTO, April 12 (CP) — The granddaddy of Ontario educationists checked in Tuesday at the 90th annual convention of the Ontario Educational Association.

He is Dr. John Dearness of London, Ont., here to attend his 77th OEA meeting. The internationally-known educationist, historian and botanist, his goatee neatly trimmed, looked in fine fettle. He will be 98 next month.

Dr. Dearness, now retired, has missed but one OEA convention since 1872 and that through illness. In those days, he recalled, the average salary for teachers was $275 a year.

OTTAWA, April 12 (CP) — The Ottawa Journal in a front-page story Tuesday said it had learned the Hope Royal Commission on Education plans to recommend a two-year reduction in the Ontario primary school course.

The newspaper said the "most important (recommendation) will be that the primary school course be completed in six years instead of eight."

The commission's report now is being edited and the final draft is not expected to be approved for some months.

At Toronto, Mr. Justice Hope declined to comment on the Journal's story.

TORONTO, April 12 — (CP) — Nels Thibeault, president of Sudbury Local, International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, charged Tuesday night that the United Steel Workers of America (CCL) is ignoring organized plants and "raiding" plants under union contract.

He spoke at a Labor Unity conference sponsored by the United Electrical Workers. Both the Mine, Mill and Electrical unions, accused of being Communist-dominated, have been expelled from the Canadian Congress of Labor.

The conference, in a resolution, asked an immediate end to raiding of the UEW and the Smelter Workers.

Delay Belgian Gov't Favorable To King

BRUSSELS, April 12 (AP) — Regent Prince Charles has postponed the formation of a government intended to get his brother, King Leopold, back on Belgium's throne, Premier-designate Paul Van Zeeland indicated Tuesday night.

"I have informed the Prince Regent of my recent conversations and submitted a proposition to him," Van Zeeland told reporters. "The Prince has considered he had to consult further before accepting my proposition."

Van Zeeland, a social Christian leader strong for Leopold's return, started negotiations last week-end. He saw Charles twice after getting a last-minute truce from Belgium's Liberals, intended to avoid disturbances if the exiled King resumes his throne.

Ex-RCAF Persons Form Local Wing To Maintain Link

Peterborough's former members of the Royal Canadian Air Force followed in the footsteps of their comrades across Canada Tuesday night by organizing a Peterborough wing of the RCAF Association.

W. Ross Thompson, ranking RCAF officer from this district, was unanimously elected president of the association, with E. A Adams, first vice-president, and Gordon H. T. Farquharson, second vice-president. Directors of the association elected at the meeting in the Legion Hall Tuesday night were: Douglas Delaney, Miss Grace Simpson, Russ Baer, Marlowe Banks, Eldon Purvis and Frank Montgomery. The positions of secretary and treasurer will be filled by appointments.

Douglas Vaisey, a member of provisionary committee, told the members that the theme of the association is, "Let's Keep Together As Before." He explained briefly th origin of the association.

Objectives

The aims and objects of such an association, he said, were: (1) to unite retired, reserve, auxiliary and former members of the RCAF and so preserve and foster the spirit of fellowship among all who have served in the RCAF; (2) to support the active RCAF, the auxiliary air force, the reserve, the air cadets and other components of the air force which may be formed; (3) to perpetuate the traditions of the RCAF (4) to cooperate with the RCAF benevolent fund, the Canadian Legion and other organizations devoted to or assisting in the welfare of former air force persons (5) to sponsor and encourage aeronautics in all its branches, and to provide a means by which ex-air force personnel and the public may be kept abreast of the changes in aviation; (6) to support the maintenance of an adequate and efficient air force in Canada for the defence of the country; (7) to strive for peace, goodwill and friendship among all nations.

Air Cadets

One of the proposed projects of the wing in the city will be the formation of an Air Cadet squadron. H. L. Garner, vice-president of the Air Cadet League of Canada, spoke to the wingf on the difference between the air cadet organization of 1942 and at present.

Present day cadets enjoy more privileges than the cadets of 1942-43, said Mr. Garner. Cadets now receive flying instruction and scholarships to Royal Roads and the Royal Military College. Air cadets are exchanged with the English and American cadet corps during the summer months.

Mayor M. J. Swanston told the members that Peterborough can easily have one of the finest organizations in the country. Besides many of the city's young men who are former RCAF members, Mr. Swanston said there are many others who have come into the city during the past five years.

The next meeting of the association will be the charter meeting in May.

7 Freight Cars Of Waste Paper Filled By Scouts

Though it was typical Boy Scout paper drive weather, wind, rain, sleet, and snow, the Peterborough Scouts, Cubs and Rovers filled seven freight-cars with waste paper Tuesday night. Total weight of the collected paper is estimated at over 100 tons by P. A. Moore, chairman of the drive.

Despite the weather over 250 boys, fathers and group committeemen turned out to help with the drive. The Cubs (boys up to 12 years old) carried the paper from the houses to the sidewalks where the Scouts loaded the trucks. The Rovers, members of the local association, and group committeemen were at the CNR station to fill the freight-cars.

The drive was started by the boys shortly before 6:30 p.m. and was finished close to 11 p.m. This drive took slightly longer than the November drive which was cleaned up by 10 p.m., setting a record for the Scout drives.

More Than $1,000

The Boy Scouts will receive between $1,000 and $1,200 for the paper. Mr. Moore said it would fetch at least $10 a ton and possibly $12. This money will be divided equally between the Boy Scout Association and the 15 Scout groups. The association will put the money into the Headquarter's Fund while the Scout groups will use the money to carry on with their work amongst the boys.

Mr. Moore told the Examiner today that the success of the drive depended upon the response from the people and that the drive was a success. He apologized for some loose paper which was blowing about the streets today explaining that the gusts of wind about 9:30 played havoc with the loaded trucks. Thirty trucks were lent by merchants who have backed all the collections.

In November the Boy Scouts collected enough waste paper to fill six freight cars. They realized $650 from that drive.

Truck Driver Held On Drunk Charge

Leo Lynch, 99 Russell St., Lindsay, was arrested last night on a charge of being drunk in control of his truck.

Following the trail of his truck from Holloway Dr. to Gordon Ave. and Gilmour St., PC's Robert Menzies and W. G. Scott found Lynch had driven his truck backwards for about 250 feet.

He had crossed two ditches, gone through one hedge, and wound up in the middle of a lawn. A bottle of whiskey was found in the cab of his truck.

Community Fund Final $76,309

Subscriptions to the 1950 Red Cross and Community Fund campaign total $76,309.18, the final report of the campaign committee reveals.

When the campaign week, March 3-10 ended, the figure was more than $5,000 below the objective of $75,000.

The Retail section, which was able to raise little more than half its objective during the week, has since pulled up to $14,351, $2,149 short of their target.

With an objective set at $22,500 the special names section subscribed $22,650; the industrial division subscribed $32,734 against an objective of $32,000; the women's section, with an objective of $4,000 raised $6,406 and the penny collection in the city schools amounted to $526.

REMANDED

Leo Lynch, of Lindsay, charged with being drunk in control of his truck, was today remanded to April 13 by James Fleming, J.P., in the absence of Magistrate W. R. Philp. Bail was set at $500.

Five Years Ago

FIVE years ago today, trees were in leaf, lawns and fields were green, and the lilt of spring was in the air. That was the day President Franklin D. Roosevelt died, and the English-speaking world was shocked by the loss of the great wartime leader of the American people, a personality destined for history.

The long vista of Water St. from the Examiner Office was restoring its arch of the leafage beginning at Victoria Park. They were not yet full, but had emerged from their buds.

By contrast, swirling snow on Tuesday night looked like a tantrum of January. This morning the ground was frozen, and trees are only beginning to show some filling of their buds. Evidently this rates a backward spring in the present reckoning.

Wiseacres who asserted in mild January and February that "We'll pay for it later", have been proved right this spring. The only reliable signs that spring is actually here are a few sprouting daffodils.

Complaints by the Rockland Airways have held up Chamber of Commerce's endorsation of Central Airlines petition to bring chartered air line service to the Kawartha area. Central Airlines is applying to the Air Transport Board, Ottawa, for licence to establish the service and is seeking civic endorsation.

Rockland Airways resented the second clause of the resolution, "that travel by air at the present time is unsatisfactory and is practically non-existent between this tourist area and Toronto."

The Chamber's executive amended the endorsed resolution on Tuesday night by deleting the clause. The resolution now to be submitted by the Chambers notes that since the Peterborough district has thousands of visitors each year arriving and departing, the tourist business could be substantially increased with better air transportation facilities, and gives its approval to the chartered air service between Toronto and the Peterborough district.

To Use Amphibians

The Central Airlines Limited of Malton plans to have a Class 3 charter with the airlines connecting at Malton airport. They will be using twin-engined amphibian aircraft, smaller float, and land-based aircraft of four or five passenger type to fill the needs of the traveller, fishermen and businessman in this area.

Working with Trans-Canada Airlines and the American Airlines the company plans to offer the flying service of airline standards. The passengers will be able to make connections from points of departure direct to their destination.

Two Cars Collide

Two cars were damaged last night when they collided at Hunter and Aylmer Sts.

Police say Dr. Robert Young was driving west on Hunter St., stopped at Aylmer St. to let one car past, and started out. He told police he did not see the car driven by William Donevan of Oshawa until the two cars met.

Damage to the doctor's car consisted of a bent right front fender, grill, hood and bumper. The left door and left rear fender of Donovan's car were damaged.

'CAYGEON CAUSEWAY

The Peterborough Chamber of Commerce endorsed Tuesday requests to the County Council from Bobcaygeon regarding the building of a causeway across Pigeon Lake, just south of King's Wharf. The suggested causeway has met with opposition from the Lindsay district.

Optimists Boys Present Songs, Comedy and Skits

Boys' Town, sponsored by the Peterborough Optimist Club, staged its second annual show Tuesday night and captured the hearts of the first nighters. Although there wasn't a capacity house, the audience made up in keenness for the empty seats.

Perhaps the most impressive side to the whole show was the nonchalance displayed by the boys, who ranged in age from six to 16. Most of them showed little nervousness, and those who did were the soloists.

The junior boys' choir, directed by Walter Bent, presented a variety of energetically sung popular songs, and background music for the soloists.

The senior boys developed the comedy angle with skits, and pantomime accompaniments to records by Al Jolson, Bing Crosby and the Andrews Sisters.

First on the program was "Under the Lilacs," the sad tale of two lovers who married and eventually died. Halfway through one little fellow in the front row of the choir found his shirt tail hanging out and made repairs.

One of the solo acts which drew much applause and two encores, was done by Jerry Frizzelle, who mimicked Al Jolson while records played "Rockabye Your Baby With a Dixie Melody," and "Rosie."

Gain Assurance

During the first act, the boys found a little more assurance, which showed them to better advantage following intermission. Also during the first act, the little fellow discovered the elastic on his bow tie.

Best spots in the first act were: "The Peanut Song," by the Real brothers, Bob, Jimmy and Morton; Barry Wells' piano solo, "Music, Music, Music"; and Howard Alton, who acted a coy Clementine while Billy Whitton (the miner) and the choir sang.

Of the collection of good female impersonators, Carl Collins' work in the senior boys' skits was done well, with a very slinky sort of assurance. Carl did his best work in "The Glow Worm" and "Quicksilver."

There was a cowboy singer too —Jack Bailey, who sang with his own guitar accompaniment, "The Story of Kathy Fiscus," which told of the death, almost a year ago, of a little California girl.

It was just about here that the little fellow remembered he had put something important in one of his pockets, but he wasn't quite sure which one.

Where's That Flea?

The audience was brought unexpectedly into one of the acts, when two senior boys, demonstrating the double flip done by Oscar, their pet flea, lost the insect. A search through the audience finally returned Oscar; if not the original one, at least one who had nine legs. The boys claimed it wasn't the one they owned.

By the time the two-hour show neared curtain time, the junior boys of the choir were rubbing their eyes and yawning. It was long past their bed time, and even the little fellow in the front row had run out of interesting things to find.

Appropriately enough, after Michael Tunicliffe sang the final solo "Bless This House," the boys sang a lullaby, "Sweet and Low." And they were ready for it.

The show will continue tonight and Thursday night.

DAFFODILS BUD

Daffodils are budding in the garden of Mrs. A. P. Roper, 665 Rubidge St. She told The Examiner today the buds are well advanced, some of them showing color.

Zoning Bylaw Awaits Official Action

Mayor Swanston is calling a special committee meeting of the whole council to give city planning and zoning statutory sanction and authority. This has been delayed by difficulties of publicizing the plan and zoning bylaw.

Town planning committee has been marking time to avoid cost of publication of the entire bylaw, but the preliminaries have gradually been simplified, and the prospective printing bill has been largely reduced.

Members of town planning committee discussed with the finance committee of the council Monday night the long deferred acceptance of the master plan as an effective instrument.

The members attending were James Hamilton, Mrs. W. H. Morton, James S. Craig, William Tinker, Hubert Sills and James Dutton, chairman.

Must Approve Plan

"Until the plan is made official nothing can be done by way of implementing it," said Mr. Dutton. "While the zoning bylaw is complementary to the master plan, the procedure is that the plan must be approved first.

"I should like to say that your planning board appreciates the confidence and the courtesy of the city council in submitting to us problem cases that have come before you."

Mr. Dutton said it was evident that town planning had met with the approval of many citizens. It was to be expected that some might feel that the idea had been a disadvantage to them, but in such cases there was ample provision made for appeal.

"Your committee has been trying to plan so that mistakes of the past will not be repeated in the future."

Mr. Dutton spoke of the need of some engineering help.

"Two members of the planning board are capable of preparing plans and estimates and such matters. They are Mr. Sills, an electrical engineer at Canadian General Electric Co., and Mr. Craig, who is an architect. But, we think it would not be fair to ask them.

"So, any of that kind of work that would be required to be done, would have to be done in your engineering department. But, it would need somebody who would have to give special attention to the engineering details of planning.

"An ideal condition would be the creation of a planning department, but we feel that we have not yet arrived at that stage. But, we have thought that some arrangement might be made with Mr. R. H. Parsons, our former city engineer, or Mr. A. L. Killaly, to be available when their services would be needed, but not employed on full time basis."

Mr. Dutton suggested that "it would be a good thing if the plan was considered again by the council, and if they are satisfied with it as it stands, that would be the end of it. If not, it would have to be altered."

Involved in the adoption of the plan and its application were: publicity of the plan and bylaw; adoption of the master plan; passing of the zoning bylaw; provision of engineering assistance.

Neighbors Cooperate

Mr. Dutton told the council that Peterborough's neighboring townships were heartily co-operative with the planning board. He also mentioned the city's major railway problem of which the community could see no easy solution.

"There is some misconception about the operation of the plan. It should be borne in mind that the plan envisages a period of 30 years. Some things will take all of that time before they come to fruition."

Mr. Hamilton said the planning board was hoping the council would pass the bylaw. One of the first results would be to give definite encouragement to co-operation with the townships, and also to their plans for adopting building and zoning bylaws.

At the close of the discussion Mayor Swanston said: "We'll have a special meeting of the committee of the whole within a week and go into the plan as it is now before us."

These are open to anyone who would like to become a member of the club.

Fellow Passenger Big Help To Travelling Reporter

By JEAN E. STENTON.

PARIS. — The staff of la gare des Invalides will not soon forget the arirval of one Canadian from Peterborough. At the end of one hour of frantic shouting, hand waving and dashing back and forth, everyone rested happily in the knowledge that la Canadienne had been fixed up.

Because it was Sunday, I was unable to send a telegram from London, notifying my French friends of my arrival time at le Bourget. We arrived in a rainstorm and all French officials were busily running hither and yon with so many passengers to clear.

Jean Stenton

My French friend, Mme. France Elys, who was on the plane with me, took over. She grabbed my baggage and sent it flying one way. I was sent flying in the other direction to get some French francs. After a few minutes of her rapid fire discourse, the customs officer threw in the sponge. He opened the lid of my bag, saw the amount of goods, read my declaration, and closed it quickly. Mme. Elys hustled me on the bus, refused the porter a tip (brave woman) and we were off to telephone my friends at des Invalides terminal.

After a long hunt and payment of 20 francs, a public telephone was located. Then it was discovered that the phone was for city calls only and the rush was on again. After hectic chattering back and forth, the clerk at the Air France desk was finally persuaded to place the call. It took 15 minutes of shouting between the clerk and the perator before I got my friends. Then we learned the sad news. Pontoise is 25 miles from Paris and it would take one hour for them to pick me up. Madame said that would be fine. She rushed across the terminal once more, collected my bags, instructed the porter explicitly where to settle both the bags and me and then ran off to look after a second of our plane passengers a man from Haiti, who was in difficulties.

View of Great City

My French friends met me on the dot and we headed down past le Petit Palais, drove down part of the Champs Elysees, past the Arc de Triomphe where the ever-

Dumping of Jap Fish Tackle Protested By Union Local Wires Sent Howe and Fraser

Local 524 UE have protested to the Minister of Trade and Commerce the "dumping" of Japanese fishing tackle in Canada. The Lucky Strike Bait Co. of Peterborough will likely have to lay off 50 per cent of its employees and the situation in Cobourg is even worse. Telegrams of protest were sent Tuesday to the Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Trade, and Gordon K. Fraser, MP (Peterborough West) after Monday's regular executive meeting of the Local.

Japanese companies that a few years ago were turning out war supplies to kill Canadian servicemen have now switched to producing cheap peacetime goods and undercutting the market, union members declare.

"Cause of Unemployment"

"We strongly protest the export of Japanese products to Canada and demand the federal government put a halt to this cause of unemployment to Peterborough workers," the telegram says.

The union also raps the United States claiming that country's trading practices are indicative of a determination "to monopolize world markets for many of the products we grow in Canada."

A recent survey shows that 18 of 40 employees of the Lucky Strike Bait Co. face layoff in Peterborough due to Japanese competition, and 20 of 28 in Cobourg.

Chamber Intervenes

The Chamber of Commerce is also taking action on the fishing tackle situation. On its request, Frank Edgar, owner of the Lucky Strike Bait Company, addressed its executive meeting Tuesday night, and presented the Canadian situation resulting from the flooding of the market by Japanese and other countries' tackle.

The Peterborough Chamber decided to bring the matter to the attention of the Foreign Trade Committee of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

Council Awards J-C $100 Grant

The public spirit manifested by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in trying to stimulate the interest of the people in municipal elections, and also in their tourist information bureau, earned a grant of $100 from the Council on Monday night.

The Jaycees had asked for a contribution to help pay the cost of a dinner during the Junior Chamber convention here May 5-6-7. Doug Vaisey, Norman Chate, and F. W. Edworthy supported their letter at the Finance Committee meeting Monday.

For this convention nine Junior Chambers will be represented: Ottawa, Pembroke, Renfrew, Kingston, Prescott, Cornwall, Gananoque, Carleton Place and Peterborough.

Semi-finals of the national oratorical contest are included in the program. The finalists go on to Vancouver.

The legal and reception committee, following finance, recommended that a grant of $100 be made, not directly for the purpose of the convention, but in recognition of the civic interest and action displayed by the Junior Chamber since it came into being here.

Houses Go Down Picton Firm Has Contract

Buildings bought by the Council for the new city hall site are to be demolished by Murney Howe of Picton. His bid of $2,000 was accepted by the Finance Committee Monday night for salvage value in the houses that are to be torn down.

It is understood that local wreckers were not interested in the job at the city's terms.

Mr. Howe began Monday on the former Mark Fisher home on Water Street, and will proceed to the Murray Street Baptist Church manse and the Imperial Oil Co. gasoline station.

The Morgan house at the corner of George and Murray Streets has also been purchased and is in line for razing.

City Clerk Outram said today he did not know whether purchase of any of the individual properties would have to be referred to arbitration.

Old School Bell Rings No More

The old school bell at Immaculate Conception School won't ring any more for the students. In the past two days, workmen have removed the 200-pound bell and belfry from the 70-year-old building.

The school was built in 1880 by the late William Wand, who operated a mill on the Otonabee river north of what is now the site of Hunter St. bridge. Edmund Wand, 80-year-old son of the school's builder, told The Examiner today he remembered the building of the school, but could not remember a bell being put in it.

Originally, the school was built as a public school for Ashburnham students, but on the erection of King George school, it became a separate school.

12,000 Licence Plates Issued By Chamber

More than 12,000 car, truck and trailer licence plates have been issued by the Chamber of Commerce for 1950, James Fraser, manager, said today. The approximate figures are: car plates, 10,000; truck plates, 1,700; trailer plates, 375. Drivers' licences now total more than 13,000.

The suggestion was made at the Board of Directors meeting Tuesday that the mail order service be promoted in 1951 to a greater extent than this year. This system would ease the rush on licence sales during March. From January 2 to March 18 this year 20,127 licences including drivers, plates, transfers etc., were issued while during the week of March 20-25 the office issued 4,456 licences.

New Vocational Course To Fit Students For Jobs Planned By Education Dept.

A new two-year technical course for boys who plan leaving vocational school when they become 16, has been outlined by the [illegible]rtment of Education. It has been drawn up with an [illegible] getting the student a job directly. The outline of the course was presented Tuesday by A. M. Moon, assistant director of vocational education, addressing the Technical Section of the OEA. At 16 years compulsory education ends and and about 50 per cent of student body does not go further. And the Department frankly accepts its share of the responsibility for this high percentage of dropouts, said Mr. Moon.

He described it as "a decided weakness" in our system of education.

"Of one thing we can be certain . . . that 'dropouts' constitute a very complex problem, involving such factors as dissatisfaction with curriculum, broken homes, financial insecurity, clashing personalities, adolescent characteristics and, not least in importance, 'lack of success' in school, which require adjustment and understanding."

Some of these "dropout factors" are beyond the control of educational authorities; but, said Mr Moon, those related to curriculum and to some "reasonable degree of success for all students" are within their control.

Some four-year courses are apparently spurned by students. These include foundry practice, welding, sheet metal practice and plumbing.

Again, there are trade subjects offering excellent opportunities for employment that are not included in the present day-school program. Among these are the trowel trades, painting and decorating, needle trades, cleaning and pressing, barbering and others.

"Boards and Advisory Vocational committees may offer, with the approval of the Minister, what are now called Terminal Courses, especially designed to serve 'drop-out' students," Mr. Moon explained. "These courses are planned basically to consist of 50 per cent trade work and 50 per cent of the new and revised academic curriculum."

Details are to be found in a mimeographed pamphlet available to school principals upon request.

These courses will not be brought in all at once but will form part of a developing program. This qualification does not mean a long delay, however, stated Mr. Moon.

"We cannot continue to force our students to attend school until 16 years of age and at the same time fail to recognize weaknesses in organization, curriculum, and methods of instruction . . ."

Where possible the two-year terminal courses will parallel the four-year courses up to the end of Grade X. There is no intention of altering present four-year courses where they are at present successful.

Transfers between the two may be arranged. And guidance personnel will give assistance if needed.

Another innovation touched on by Mr. Moon was making the vocational courses — industrial (or technical), art, and commercial— more flexible. At present boys taking any one of these three courses have few options once the course is chosen.

It is now proposed to permit students in Grades IX and X (exploratory grades in the four-year course) to have the option of exploring combined courses by studying some subjects from each.

There will be a Grade XIII course in shop work to be known as "Industrial Technology." Details are not yet completed on this course but it is expected to be useful to boys taking industrial and technical boys taking Grade XIII studies in their own Vocational or High School.

38 Vocational Schools

There are now 38 Vocational schools operating across the province with an approximate capital investment of $25,000,000 in buildings and equipment, Mr. Moon estimated.

"The last foreseeable new separate vocational school is in blueprint stage, and the last-but-one large addition to be built to an existing school has been approved . . . Vocational schools can be afforded only in dense areas of population and present dense areas of population in Ontario are now all served by such schools."

Recently smaller centres have wanted area schools and these are equipped to do much of the exploratory work now carried on in Grade IX of the vocational schools.

The next step might be that vocational schools serving the area might accept students into its Grade IX instruction in the area schools.

"Vocational education .... has developed on a pattern of freedom and responsibility, and the results have surely vindicated the good judgment of the early pioneers in this field," said Mr. Moon.

Orangemen Ask PM Not To Send Envoy To Vatican

COBOURG, April 12 (ENS)— Members of the Grand Black Chapter of East Ontario, meeting yesterday at Cobourg for their 71st annual convention, passed a resolution, to be forwarded to the Prime Minister of Canada, protesting any appointment of a Canadian envoy to the Vatican. The Chapter also went on record as opposed to Communism.

The session was presided over by Cecil Palmer, of Frankford, Grand Master, and assisting him were Cecil Beckett, DGM, of Kempville; associate - deputy, Richard Sanderson, of Havelock; John Robertson, of Ottawa grand chaplain; W. A. Chambers, Manotick, grand registrar; Allan E. Swerdfeger, of Morwood, deputy-registrar; George Reid, grand treasurer, Corbyville, and A. Smith, deputy-treasurer, Ottawa. Attendance at the sessions was very good, officials said.

The report of the Grand Master revealed that he had visited more than 95 per cent of the large area comprising Ontario East, during his term of office, and that he found all the preceptories in very good shape. This was borne out by the reports of other Chapter dignatories. There was more lodge work done and membership was up 10 per cent. One preceptory at Campbellford was re-organized and a new one at Monkford was instituted. The following officers were elected and installed:

Appoint Officers

Grand master, Cecil Palmer, Frankford; deputy grand master, C. Beckett, Kempville; associate grand master, R. C. Darling, Lakefield; grand chaplain, J. M. Robertson, of Ottawa; grand registrar, W. A. Chambers, Monatick; deputy grand registrar, A. E. Swerdfeger, Norwood; grand treasurer, G. F. Reid, Belleville; deputy grand treasurer, A. H. Smith, Ottawa; grand lecturers, E. Mills, of Smiths Falls, and A. Caldwell, of North Gower; grand censors, W. Fallis, of Millbrook, and George Smith, of Ottawa; grand standard bearers, Mel Holden, of Peterborough, and H. Wallace, of Mountain; grand pursuivants, W. J. Nickle, of Belleville, and A. E. Nixon, of Osgoode; grand marshall, H. Deyell, of Millbrook; grand auditors, H. P. Leslie of Ottawa, and A. C. Farquharson, of Aylmer East; grand committee, J. Diamond, of Queensboro; J. Stevenson, Havelock; J. L. Boyd, Winchester; P. Chase, Lindsay; E. Post, Wellman; J. Barnhill, Perth, and J. W. Rose, Frankford.

Sent To Reformatory For Molesting Child

COBOURG, April 12 (ENS)— Sam Allender of Port Hope, charged with contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile, was sentenced to six months definite and three months indefinite in reformatory when he appeared before Magistrate R. B. Baxter.

Crown Attorney Harry Deyman said it was obvious that the accused knew right from wrong. He probably needed psychiatric treatment but until it could be provided through special channels available to the court by the government, the court could only deal with it in the customary manner.

"You told me you had been drinking," the magistrate said to the accused, "but I find you said the same thing when you were before me on a previous occasion. You apparently think you can fall back on this excuse and leave matters to the mercy of the court.

Lieutenant Raie of the Salvation Army looked into it and he cannot find anything to recommend as a solution of your trouble. I can realize the effect it will have on your family but the parents of some girls would deal with you quite roughly if they had right to do so. The court would be criticized if it left people like you free to molest girls ten years and under," said the magistrate.

Mrs. C. Baker Hostess To WA At Hastings

HASTINGS, April 12 (ENS) — Mrs. C. M. Baker was hostess to St. George's WA at this month's meeting. There were 17 members present.

The president, Mrs. Baker, was in the chair. Mrs. Horwell was made responsible for collecting items and sending the next overseas parcel.

It was decided to invite a missionary to speak to the WA on April 26.

The scripture was read by Mrs. Ellery Smullin and Mrs. Baker read an Easter poem. Mrs. F. C. Foster gave a talk on her recent trip to Nassau in the Bahamas. She showed baskets and jewelry made there.

The hostess served refreshments.

Suffers Broken Bones In Fall From Ladder

CAMPBELLFORD, April 12— (ENS)—Gordon Thomas Berrie, 53, of Campbellford, suffered a broken right arm and wrist, broken ribs and cuts and bruises to his face, as well as a severe shaking up when he fell from a ladder while painting a building in town.

Mr. Berrie was attended by Dr. W. M. Grant and taken to Belleville Hospital for observation. The accident happened on Monday afternoon.

Victim Of Robbery To Testify In Hospital

COBOURG, April 12 (ENS)— Charles and Joe Ellis, of Campbellford, charged with robbery with violence of George Stollery, of Seymour township, were remanded until next Monday when they appeared in police court Tuesday. They will receive a later remand at which time evidence of Mr. Stollery will be taken in Belleville hospital, the court was told.

Vic[illegible] Vennell, of Cobourg, charged with theft of a car on April 1, owned by Mrs. Lillian Stevenson, of Baltimore, was remanded for a week.

Donald M. McKinnon, Cartwright township youth, charged with possession of a revolver without a permit, was remanded for a week. Crown Attorney Harry Deyman said other charges were pending.

N.Y. Sex Criminals May Get Life Terms

ALBANY, N.Y., April 12—(AP) —Sex offenders may be sentenced to prison for any period up to life, under terms of a bill Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York State signed Tuesday. The law also sets up a broad program for combatting sex crime through psychiatric treatment of offenders. It bars their release on parole unless they are considered "good risks" by state authorities.

Indonesian Revolt Leader Gives Up

By KENNETH LIKES

JAKARTA, Indonesia, April 12 —(AP)—The week-old military revolt in the Celebese Island port of Makassar has ended, the Indonesian defense minister, Sultan Hamengku Buwono, announced on Tuesday night.

Buwono said in a broadcast that Capt. Andi Abdul Aziz has called off the rebellion, confined dissident troops to barracks, released prisoners and returned seized arms.

Secret Landing

Other officials of the United States of Indonesia said the capitulation came after a battalion of federal troops, held at sea five days by the revolt, landed secretly in the night and stood ready to attack Makassar. A 3,000-ton Indonesian corvette, the Harg Tua, was to have supported the attack from the sea.

A scheduled broadcast by President Soekarno was to have been the signal for the attack. Word of the rebel leader's decision to end the uprising came from Makassar half an hour before the time for the broadcast.

Cease Fire

The defense minister, speaking in place of the president, said Aziz had been asked to remain in Makassar one day to see that his cease-fire orders were carried out. A plane would be sent Thursday to pick up Aziz and bring him to Jakarta.

A government spokesman said the rebel leader, a 26-year-old former parachute trooper, has not been given any safe-conduct guarantees. He added that Aziz understood he would be sent before a military tribunal to answer for his actions.

Do Not Neglect Bright Student Educator Warns

TORONTO, April 12. — The tendency of teachers to help dullards and leave the gifted child to himself is a bad one, according to Dr. John Long, of the Ontario College of Education.

"We give great deal more study and help to the dull than to the gifted," he told the urban principals' section of the Ontario Educational Association.

As a result of this discrimination he said, the gifted child may become withdrawn and lax in his work habits. Or the child may become boastful. "When the gifted child," Dr. Long said, "is neglected by teachers, he may develop a sense of futility."

One solution, suggested Dr. Long, is skipping a grade in school to join a more advanced group. This method should not be overdone, he warned. "Two years acceleration from grade one to grade 13, is enough. Otherwise there are bricks missing in the final structure," he stated.

Bright Teachers

Another aid to the gifted child, said Dr. Long, is giving the youngster a course of study outside his regular lessons. "This might be in a study of the progress of civilization, or a course in music, or art or biography," he said.

"Bright pupils need bright teachers," emphasized Dr. Long. "In some schools a grade eight youngster is brighter than his teacher. And the average intelligence of a grade 13 student," he stated, "is equal to the average intelligence of teachers in secondary schools." Dr. Long said slowly and carefully: "We must not underestimate the intelligence of our students."

Vision Of Virgin Searchlight Beam

GRANBY, Que., April 12 (CP) —Church authorities announced Tuesday they have solved the mystery of the alleged appearance of the Virgin, which two weeks ago attracted hundreds of curious to a field on the outskirts of this Eastern Townships centre.

Rev. Edouard Besilets, Curate of St. Eugene Parish, said what three children thought was the Virgin appearing against an elm tree has been identified as the beam of a searchlight.

The children, Christian Germain, 11, Jerome Sicotte, 12, and Pierre Charron, 13, first reported seeing the Virgin around the middle of March and made nightly visits to the field for nearly two weeks.

People in the district, hearing of the "miracle," began to make pilgrimages each night hoping to get a look at the apparition.

Church authorities advised parishioners to discontinue their visits until the matter had been thoroughly investigated.

U.K. Journalists Not Scruffy Get Saville Row Approval

By DON GILBERT

LONDON, April 12 — (CP) — Tailor and Cutter, the house organ of Saville Row, seldom minces words in criticizing the clothes worn by people in the public eye.

Even sartorial delinquencies of male members of Royal Family do not escape an occasional critical barb from the tailoring pulication's editor.

In its current issue, Tailor and Cutter has turned its censorious gaze on Fleet Street. Surprisingly, the editors of London newspapers get off lightly.

The Fashion Arbiter admits his first-hand appraisal of the situation had forced him to revise a notion that "journalists, particularly editors, were a bunch of scruffs."

It was all wrong, he said, to think of newspaper men as presenting "a collective vision of unfastened buttons, unstudded collars, tweedy slacks, stringy neckties, green eyeshades and bagginess."

The New Order

This led a London correspondent of the Yorkshire Post to observe that the findings of Tailor and Cutter would seem to indicate that the old order of Fleet Street journalist has passed away almost unnoticed. He added:

"Certainly in the hurly-burly of going to press some of the niceties of dress are liable to be overlooked, but for the most part eccentricity has vanished."

But it was to an editor still nursing sartorial eccentricities of an Edwardian flavor that tailor and cutter gave its highest praise. After describing this gentleman's spats, pants without cuffs, and straight-cut jacket front, the publication said admiringly:

"If the jacket could have been slightly longer he would have been very close to full marks."

Special Issue

Along with its tempered praise, Tailor and Cutter handed out some advice to offenders.

It advised one portly editor — "well built in a roundabout way" —to wear a lower-lying collar and a longer jacket with more shoulder width to neutralize the impression of a bulky special anniversary edition.

The editor of a society paper received an orchid for boldness in his attire. But he went too far to please Tailor and Cutter when he appeared in large Glen checks, striped shirt, paisley tie and an odd vest. Quipped the writer:

"The collar peaks look like a couple of column galley pulls."

Thorne-Watts Wedding

Easter lilies and fern formed the setting in St. James United Church Saturday afternoon when the wedding took place of Helena Gertrude Watts, Reg. N., and Alexander Taylor Thorne, the Rev. F. W. Craik officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. James Watts of Kingston and the groom son of Mrs. Janet Thorne, Peterborough, and the late Mr. George Thorne.

The bride's gown was a filmy creation with slimly molded basque and long tight sleeves of gardenia white lace over satin, net yoke, embroidered with ivory pearls and edged with epaulettes, and bouffant skirt of frosted net offset by a long gathered peplum, deeply edged with matching lace. Her veil was of silk tulle illusion edged with wide Chantilly lace and caught to a Juliet cap of net, trimmed with rosettes, and she carried a cascade of Easter lilies.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by the groom's sister, Mrs. Donald Trude as matron of honor, and Miss Joyce Cavano as bridesmaid.

The attendants wore graceful gowns of rustling taffeta in light mauve and apple green shades. They were fashioned with a scalloped neckline of taffeta petals and had very full gathered skirts with shirred roll trim at the hipline. Each wore a braided halo of matching taffeta, entwined with seed pearls, and a shoulder veil and carried a nosegay of mauve sweet peas and yellow daffodils with streamers to match her dress.

Mr. Gerald Carpenter was the groomsman and the ushers were Adam Sands, Jr., and Ronald Watts, brother of the bride.

Before the ceremony "O Perfect Love" was sung by the groom's cousin, Mrs. Helen Sands, and at the signing of the register she sang "O Promise Me."

The reception was held in Hooper's Palm Room with the bride's mother receiving in a two piece navy sheer dress with lace trim and wearing a navy straw hat and corsage of Talisman roses. Also receiving was the groom's mother who wore a black printed silk jacket dress, black accessories and a corsage of Joanna Hill roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Thorne left later for Montreal to catch a plane to New York city where they will spend a honeymoon. The bride travelled in a navy dressmaker suit and wore navy accessories and a white shortie coat. Her going-away corsage was of rose-pink carnations and sweet peas.

They will live in Peterborough.

Deering-Lummiss

MARMORA, April 12.—(ENS).—The wedding took place at St. George's Anglican church rectory, Peterborough, on April 6, of Audrey Frances Marion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lummiss, of Marmora, and William Richard Deering, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Deering of Cape Breton, Nova Scotia. The Rev. E. C. Moore officiated.

The bride wore a suit of grey gabardine with navy accessories and corsage of American Beauty roses. Miss Josephine Kouri, of Marmora, as bridesmaid, was in a turquoise suit and wine accessories and wore cream roses.

Thomas Neal of Marmora township, was groomsman.

The couple will live in Marmora, where on Monday evening friends gave them a shower of gifts in the town hall.

What's Right

He has never given you a gift, but now he has a birthday coming up and you wonder what to do about, it since you have had a number of dates with him.

Wrong way: Buy him as nice a gift as you can afford.

Right way: If you give him a gift make it something inexpensive enough so that he won't feel obligated to you. The man is the one who is supposed to start the gift giving.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Wandering Husband Clings To Wife He Does Not Love

DEAR MISS DIX: The man is handsome, popular and successful. His wife is dowdy, plain, uninteresting, and utter failure as a wife. Her husband gives her a generous allowance, provides everything for her comfort and gives her first consideration over all others but he comes to me for companionship, understanding and diversion. He has had my youth, my vitality and my love. Yet he gives me the remnants of his time and goes home nightly to the woman who bears his name. Why is it that these married parasities, the women who do absolutely nothing to hold their husbands, have a power to keep their men until the end of the world?

LOUISA D

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Every woman who has ever met a philandering married man, whether she encountered him in his office or in society knows that hisapproach is via the sympathy route. He is always unhappily married to a woman who is not his real mate, who does not attempt to enter into his life and inspire him, and so on.

Won't Get Divorce

But after the girls has thrown her cap over the windmill and wrecked her life for him, he doesn't even consider breaking his old ties and putting her in his wife's place. He has got what he wants and as for the girl—well, it is just too bad, but there is nothing on earth she can do about it. She can't make a married man marry her if he doesn't want to.

Why men still stick to wives whom they have ceased to care for is generally regarded as one of the unsolvable mysteries of life. Yet really the explanation is very simple.

It is, first, because marriage is not the dommant thing in a man's life that it is in a woman's. If a man's married life is a disappointment, he has a thousand outside interests and distractions to take his mind off his disillusion. Another reason is that business has taught a man to regard a contract as more binding than it ever is to a woman, and so he is a better sport about sticking to his bargain than she is. Then, too, a man recognize that in case of divorce the father loses the children who may be the very core of his heart. And, finally, thousands upon thousands of men cling to their old wives as they do to their old shoes and their old coats because they are easy and comfortable, and don't require and primping up or making a fuss over.

All of which is a warning to sympathetic or avaricious young women who think it is as easy to take a husband away from an old wife as i. is to take a stick of candy from a blind baby.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young woman 22 years old. Have been happily married for nearly two years to a wonderful husband and am the proud mother of a 5-month-old daughter. I do not wish to complain, but since the baby has arrived my life is growing less interesting day by day. My whole time is occupied with washing, mending, darning, taking care of the baby. My husband refuses to take me out. He thinks no one else can watch over the baby but us. Am I being selfish in wanting to get away from the routine of housework and baby-tending once in a while?

KIT

ANSWER: You are not being selfish. You are simply being rational in trying to save yourself from becoming a nervous wreck. For that is what will happen to you if you don't have something to break the monotony of your life, some change and diversion that would give you something new to think about.

If your husband knows what is good for him he will make it a rule to step out with you one or two evenings every week just as a matter of self-protection, even if he isn't interested in keeping you happy and contented.

Men seem to have the idea that the more a woman stays at home and the more she never takes her eyes off her baby, the better housekeeper and mother she is, but the reverse is the truth. The more variety she has in her life, the more fitted she is to grapple with her home problems because she comes to them refreshed and stimulated by her little contacts with the world.

DEAR MISS DIX: A says she knows at least a dozen men of about the same intelligence and position in life with any one of whom she could experience as much happiness and affection in mariage as she could with any of the others. B thinks that she could only love and be happy with some one particular man, and that she would always be indifferent to the others. Which is right?

X. Y. Z.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If A's ideal of marriage is merely to possess a husband and a home, then any man who would escort her to the altar and give her a house would suffice. But the girl who is capable of a deep love would single out some particular man from the group and set her affections on him. Why she chose him from among others just as good-looking, just as intelligent, just as desirable she could not tell. And that is the mystery of love.

MOVIE COLUMN

More Dignity Says Hollywood Finding Out How

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 12 (AP) —The movie industry is launching its biggest drive to better its public relations.

In the last year, Hollywood has become acutely aware of the effect of public opinion. High echelon confabs are plotting means to put the film industry in higher esteem and give it more dignity.

All the important elements of labor and management in Hollywood banded last year to form the motion picture industry council. The guilds and producers agreed to use the council to coordinate matters of common interest. One of the major items is public relations and the council has answered some of the industry's critics.

The idea of such an industry-wide group now is being established nationally. Theatre men joined the producers in the council of motion picture organizations.

Constructive Side

The latest group formed to improve public relations is the Screen Producers' Guild, which held its first meeting last week.

How are these organizations going to sway opinion to Hollywood's side? That's what they're trying to figure out.

One thing they hope to do is show the constructive side of the industry. They point out that a great many Hollywood people stay happily married for life, although the divorces get more news space.

They are citing the record of the war when Hollywood took on —without pay—a large part of entertaining the fighting forces. They point with pride to the town's unstinting effort for worthy charities.

But Hollywood realizes that all this constructive talk can be overshadowed by one juicy scandal. Offhand it would seem that the playful stars cannot be curbed.

Morals Clause

The standard contract between studios and players contains a morals clause—but if a studio ever has invoked it to discipline a star, the fact remains a deep dark secret.

Hollywood seems destined to lose some of its circus elements in an effort to achieve more dignity. I mentioned to a public relations-minded official that the town has been built on glamor and make-believe.

"Yes," he replied, "but there's a difference between entertainment and a strip tease."

MAKE THIS TODAY...

apple Lushus!

Delicious, easy, economical. Dissolve Lushus Jelly (any flavour) in 1 cup boiling water. Add 1 cup cold apple juice. Pour into mould and chill. Unmould and garnish with apple slices dipped in lemon juice to prevent discolouration.

Remember—only Lushus has the flavour "Bud" to keep the flavour liquid-fresh till you make the jelly. That's why only Lushus has that extra lively fruity freshness. Yet Lushus now costs no more than ordinary jelly powders.

6—In Memoriams

EASTABROOK—In loving memory of my dear mother, Maude Isabell Eastabrook, who passed away April 12, 1949.
She always watched for each one of us
Anxious if were late
In winter by the window
In summer by the gate
And though we mocked her lovingly
Who took such tender care
The long road home would seem more safe
Because she waited there
Her thoughts were all so full of us
She never could forget
And so we know that where she is
She is watching yet.
Watching till we come home to her
Anxious if we are late
Watching from heaven's window
Leaning from heaven's gate.
—Always remembered by daughter Jean, son-in-law Charles and grandchildren.

EASTABROOK—In loving memory of Maude Eastabrook who passed away April 12th, 1949.
Sweet memories will linger forever;
Time cannot change them, it's true;
Years that may come cannot sever,
Our loving remembrance of you.
—Always remembered by her loving son Ralph, daughter-in-law Marion and grandchild Jerry.

EASTABROOK—In loving memory of our dear mother, Maude Isabel Eastabrook, who passed away April 12, 1949.
Her thoughts were all so full of us
She never could forget,
And so we think that where she is
She must be watching yet.
As angels keep their watch up there
Please God just let her know
That we down here do not forget,
We love and miss her so.
—Ever remembered by her daughter Dorothy and sons Bill, Sim, Reg, and their families.

EASTABROOK—In loving memory of a dear mother and granny, Mrs. Maude Eastabrook, who passed away April 12, 1949.
One year has passed since that sad day
When one we loved was called away
God took her home, it was His will,
Forget her, no we never will.
—Always remembered by Isabell and Verne and three grandchildren.

EASTABROOK—In loving memory of a dear sister, Maude Eastabrook, who passed away April 12, 1949:
A sacred leaf in our book of memory
Is sadly turned today.
—Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by her sister, Mrs. C. Horsfield and Mrs. May Wells.

EASTABROOK—In loving memory of my dear wife, Maude Isabell Eastabrook, who passed away April 12, 1949.
Since you've gone first and I remain
To walk through life alone,
I'll live in memory's garden
With happy days we've known.
The tears I shed will be forgot and when
The duties that must perform, recall
Me and you whisper adieu,
I'll think of God's gift, remembering
And feel refreshed because I've walked with you.
—Sadly missed and always remembered by husband Harold.

Indian Brought Smallpox, Ward Favorite

By TOM CHALMERS

GLASGOW, April 12. (Reuters) — Behind the sombre "out of bounds" notice and whitewashed wall of the isolation compound at Glasgow's Robroyston Hospital where smallpox patients and suspects are cut off from the outside world, a young man is brightening the tedium for the small quarantined community.

He is Mussa Ali, a young Indian seaman who carried from Bombay the deadly smallpox germ to Scotland. The outbreak has so far killed five Clydeside women and a baby girl and scared almost 1,000,000 people into vaccination queues.

Ali no longer shows any sign of the disease, but it will be at least another two weeks before he returns to his seafaring life.

Learning English

Meanwhile, the monotony of life in the sealed-off fever compound is forgotten as Ali struggles to find expression in English, which is a long way removed from his native Hindustani. Already he is able to carry on a halting conversation with the other patients.

Popular with both patients and medical staff, scarcely an evening goes by without his entertaining nurses and patients with card tricks.

Ali travelled with 49 other Asiatic seamen from India on board the SS. Chitral to man a ship which was lying in the Clyde basin.

Docking at Tilbury, near London, he travelled here to join his ship, but fell sick before he could board her.

Despite the tragedy which he involuntarily brought to Clydeside, there will be many at Robroyston who will wish him luck when he leaves the hospital.

Four Days Required To Clear Garbage

TORONTO, April 12 (CP) — It will take four days for trucks to clear suburban York Township streets of uncollected garbage following a 36-hour strike of civic employees which ended Tuesday.

Works Commissioner O. M. Falls said garbage collectors who returned to work Tuesday afternoon will work all day Saturday to catch up.

Township council agreed Tuesday to pay the 230 strikers statutory holiday wages for Good Friday. The union asked for wage increases up to the Toronto wage scale. This would mean a raise of from 4½ cents to 17 cents an hour.

Blonde Teller's Catch $1,000,000 Bank Thief

ST. LOUIS, April 12 —(AP) — A 62-year-old man captured by a woman bank teller has been involved in bank thefts amounting to more than $1,000,000, the Federal Bureau of Investigation said today. William R. Evans was charged Tuesday with larceny of a bank. Miss Audrey Lorenzen, a teller, captured Evans with the help of a passer-by Monday. She chased Evans through downtown streets and stores after more than $1,500 was taken from her bank.

Stole While Employed As Plant Policeman

WHITBY, Ont., April 12—(CP) —Richard Mahon, a former policeman at the Oshawa plant of General Motors, pleaded guilty Tuesday to theft of a quantity of auto parts and was sentenced to three months. Mahon admitted taking the parts while working at General Motors.

Diamond Smugglers

LONDON, April 12—(Reuters) —International diamond makers today offered a £10,000 ($31,000) reward for information about three highly-organized smuggling gangs they say are flooding the United States with illicit gems. The International Diamond Manufacturers Association is offering the reward.

US Rocket Fired

WHITE SANDS, N.M., April —(APP)—The firing of a United States army rocket at White Sands proving ground was announced Tuesday, but other than that, authorities said information is secret. The missile contained instruments for upper-air research.

Margaret Puffs Again Public Remains Calm

LONDON, April 12 (AP)—A young man took Princess Margaret to the theatre and she smoked another cigaret in public.

It happened last night at the Victoria Palace, where the crazy gang, a pack of zany comedians, is performing in "Knights of Madness."

The 19-year-old Princess' escort was the Marquess of Blandford, who will be 24 tomorrow.

At intermission she took advantage of the British custom that permits smoking in auditoriums. She stayed in her seat and had a cigaret in a holder.

Lately she has smoked on other occasions when the public was on hand to watch.

The public has taken it rather calmly.

Made-in-Canada Marks Most MerchandiseSold

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Those who are not so old, yet not so young, will remember when the words "Made in Canada" were relatively rare on the things they bought. And when an import label seemed to add an air of distinction.

How complete a change has come about was illustrated Tuesday in a statement at the annual meeting of Simpson's, Ltd., by E. G. Burton, president. Said he:

"By far the largest proportion of goods sold in Simpson's is made in Canada—in fact, more than 90 per cent."

Probably about the same could be said by other retail outlets.

Consider this fact—that Canadians are making most of the things they use, and the fact that population has nearly doubled in 30 years, and you have a large part of the explanation for the country's industrial growth.

It points up, however, why this is not too easy a market for other countries to enter, so far as consumer goods are concerned.

However, Mr. Burton stated that following devaluation of the sterling and associated currencies in September "we were able to increase our overseas purchases during the last year and the trend has continued into the spring."

Miscellaneous

The Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy at its convention in Toronto April 17-19 will devote one full day to discussing the problems of finding uranium, the mineral from which atom bombs are made.

Monsanto Chemical Company of St. Louis, Mo., says plywood adhesive the size and thickness of a postage stamp can suspend the weight of a large automobile. It adds: "What gives such an adhesive its remarkable strength is not fully understood."

A Wall Street Journal survey says United States advertising outlays in 1950 will at least hold up to record 1948-1949 levels of nearly $5,000,000,000 annually and may be even bigger.

FLEW OVER POLE

The first aerial trip over the North Pole was made in 1926 by Commander Richard E. Byrd, an American flying explorer.

Windsor Inquiry To End Soon NoMoreEvidence

WINDSOR, April 12 (CP). — The Windsor Police Commission's public inquiry into allegations of corruption in law enforcement resumes Thursday, with indications that the investigation may soon be ended.

Commission Counsel A. Douglas Bell of Chatham said Tuesday he expects the commission will make a finding on the evidence to date and issue a public report. Mr. Bell will make a summary of evidence and present recommendations to the commission.

After three afternoon hearings, the three-man commission probe was adjourned March 18, to seek possible evidence from Detroit police.

Mayor Arthur J. Reaume, a member of the commission, said Tuesday, "I haven't heard of any witness who will be called Thursday."

He said he expected Mr. Bell would make an independent report to the Provincial Attorney-General's Department. Provincial Police from Toronto who investigated here would likely make a private report to Toronto, the Mayor said.

A report on findings from Detroit police files by Mr. Bell and Sgt. George Browne, head of Windsor's morality squad, in relation to an alleged international racing wire service, would likely be made Thursday, Mayor Reaume added.

The inquiry was touched off four weeks ago by newspaper reports, and by earlier evidence from County Magistrate J. A. Hanrahan. In a judgment against Joseph Assef, a convicted bootlegger, Magistrate Hanrahan hinted at police laxity in Windsor.

Commission chairman is Magistrate Angus W. MacMillan and the other two members are Mayor Reaume and County Judge Albert J. Gordon.

Build Labor Temple

OSHAWA, April 12—(CP)—Some 6,000 members of General Motors Local 222 of the United Automobile Workers (CCL-CIO) will be asked to purchase shares totalling $200,000 for construction of a labor temple. It is hoped to start construction next month.

Education Dangerous Minus Criticism—Educator

TORONTO, April 12 (CP) — The school trustees and ratepayers were told by Chancellor G. P. Gilmour of McMaster University, Hamilton, at Ontario Education Association meeting Tuesday, that education became dangerous when "amateurs become frightened of professionals and allow themselves to be bullied by us so that we can have our fling without risk of criticism."

He said teachers should be free of destructive criticism, of misunderstanding "and free of the degradation that somehow has touched the profession."

An Ottawa teacher, P. J. Kennedy, told the Catholic Education Conference that 600,000 Canadians over the age of five are illiterate. He said he felt no one "can seriously contend that we are affording Canadian youth education democracy."

Federal Grants

Federal grants to education in Canada would go a long way toward alleviating the inequalities existing in educational systems. Mr. Kennedy told the separate schools section. He said the grants should be given on the basis of need and school population—"the same fair basis as family allowances."

Mr. Kennedy said the poorest provinces are those with the greatest birth rate and the greatest number of children to educate. He said federal grants, distributed according to the number of children, would help guarantee all Canadian children equal rights to educational opportunities.

John J. Connelly of Ottawa, told the Catholic Education Conference that 3,400 of Ontario's 18,000 teachers work in separate schools. Of the province's 6,849 elementary schools, 847 are separate schools.

However, he said, the percentage of Catholic private schools is higher. Of 44 girls' schools, 34 are Catholic, and 17 of the 26 boys' schools.

The Ontario Federation of Catholic Parent-Teachers' Associations, formed last year, will ask federal aid on the same grounds as the Home and School Association, said Mrs. Ross Van Zubin, vice-president.

Sex Comic Books

The Federation registered its continued opposition to sex comic books and also to what it called the increase of nude and almost-nude figures on magazine covers displayed on news stands.

J. T. Kerr, Oshawa, was elected president of the Federation.

Henry Bowers, principal of Stratford's Normal school, was elected O. E. A. president.

Ask Jamblyn's

MOTHER-IN-LAW GUEST: "Next month I'm marrying a widower with two young sons. His first wife's mother is still alive and naturally very much interested in the boys. Should I invite her to the wedding? It is a very small affair."
What a happy woman your new sons' grandmother would be if you would include her in the wedding party. I should think it would make your position happier also.

QUICK FACIALS: "I'm a stranger from New York state coming into Toronto for a holiday. I've heard your Tamblyn Stores give quick, effective facials. I would like to get spruced up as soon as I arrive in Toronto. Where shall I go?"
The new Tamblyn store at 18 Bloor Street West has three small cosmetic salons in which quick facials are given. Three expert cosmetic girls are in attendance at all times. Facials take half an hour and cost a dollar. It's a very popular service with Toronto women.

CROSS-EYED BABY: "Our baby, eight months old, is definitely cross-eyed. Is she too young for an operation?"
Baby doctors claim that many young children appear to be cross-eyed and that this condition adjusts itself as the child becomes older. But if you're worried, take your baby to a good doctor. That sets your mind at rest.

WILD MOB WRECK SECT MEETING PLACE

Face Crisis On China, UN Impasse

Lie Goes To Europe Takes Top Russian In UN Secretariat

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., April 13—(CP)—A trip to Moscow of Secretary-General Trygve Lie may be in his next move in attempts to settle the United Nations deadlock, brought on by the China impasse.

This was disclosed Wednesday when Lie told reporters he has not eliminated a journey to Moscow on his planned trip to Europe starting April 22.

Pointing up the possibility he may go to the Russian capital is the fact he will take along to Europe the top Russian National in the U.N. Secretariat.

He is Konstantin E. Zinchenko, a former top assistant of V. M. Molotov, Russian Deputy Prime Minister. Zinchenko now is U. N. Assistant Secretary-General in charge of Security Council affairs.

Lie said if he goes to Moscow he will talk over the "general situation" in the U. N.—indicating the discussion will centre on the Chinese representation issue which has plunged the world organization into its gravest crisis.

Boycott 19 Organs

The Russians have boycotted 19 U. N. organs since Jan. 13, protesting presence of Chinese Nationalist delegates.

The Security Council, where the walkouts started, met Wednesday and almost simultaneously with Lie's disclosure, Egypt called on the big powers to redouble efforts towards establishment of a workable peace.

Mahmoud Fawzi Bey, Security Council President, for April, told council members the U. N is "practically as helpless as the League of Nations."

The council later voted 8 to 0 to appoint Sir Owen Dixon of Australia as mediator of the India-Pakistan dispute over possession of Kashmir.

Sir Owen, 62, a justice of Australia's Supreme Court, is directed to work out a plan for withdrawal of Indian and Pakistani troops from Kashmir within four months. The demilitarization is to be followed by a plebiscite to determine whether Kashmir will be part of India or Pakistan.

WINDSORS IN CANADA—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor are shown on their arrival in Calgary to visit their 4,000-acre EP ranch at Pekisko, Alta, about 65 miles southwest of Calgary. The Duke and Duchess last visited Canada and their ranch in 1941. They said they have no intention of selling the property which nestles in the Rocky Mountain foothills.

Russians Stream Into Shanghai, None In Uniform

HONG KONG, April 13 (AP)—Russians are streaming into Shanghai, 88 foreigners just arrived from Communist China said today. "You don't see them so much as you feel them." That was the comment of one of the arrivals, the first large group to get out of Shanghai since the Reds eased their ban on train travel by foreigners.

Best estimate of these foreigners is that about 5,000 Russians are in Shanghai—mostly civilian technicians and political workers. Not a one saw a Russian in military uniform.

This was in contrast to many reports that have filtered into Hong Kong. These within recent weeks have had Russians soldiers patrolling Shanghai streets, manning anti-aircraft defences and doing other active military duties.

The 88 arrivals were among 154 foreigners jam-packed on the little coastal vessel Heinrich Jessen, built to accommodate 36 passengers. The ship took them aboard at Tientsin, North China port, where they had gone by rail from Shanghai.

Palestine Bound

Sixty-eight other passengers were evacuees from North China brought out by the International Refugee Organization. They left immediately for Palestine.

There was no enthusiasm for Shanghai under the Communists They said about 2,000 more foreigners want to leave Shanghai.

State Secretary Dean Archeson of the United States said in Washington Wednesday the U.S. is giving up efforts to get the 2,000 out by sea. The Communists balked an attempt to ferry them out to the liner Gen. W. H. Gordon. Acheson said the U.S will ask the Reds to permit the foreigners to get out by rail to Hong Kong or Tientsin.

A Briton who was among the arrivals here, said conditions in Shanghai are intolerable "not only for foreigners but for Chinese as well."

The Chinese, he added, are developing underground resistance and the Reds are replying with more rigid discipline.

Windsors Visit EP Ranch Trip Said For Business

By EDWIN FRICKE

PEKISKO, Alta., April 13—(CP)—The Duke of Windsor, who made news by falling off horses when he was Prince of Wales, isn't doing any riding this week. "We're on a business, not a pleasure trip," said the Duke Wednesday, standing in melting snow under tall leafless cottonwoods in front of his ranchhouse. A warm Chinook wind ruffled his sandy hair.

"We're here to do business, not to play," confirmed the smiling Duchess, wraped in a blond muskrat coat, and wearing a jersey wool skirt.

Good-naturedly but firmly they summoned press photographers, reporters and newsreel cameramen who had come 65 miles from Calgary to report on the Windsor's first day at their 4,000 acre foothills ranch.

They consented to pose briefly for photographers with the proviso that they then be allowed privacy. "After all this is private property," said the Duke, smiling.

While cameras clicked with the Duke and Duchess against a backdrop of the Rocky Mountains and their 12-room red-roofed ranchhouse with the Pekisko Creek gently flowing nearby, they chatted pleasantly.

"We don't like closeups," the Duchess warned photographers.

They intended to "see everything here"—the red barns, and 95 purebred shorthorn cattle, 160 Suffolk sheep and a score of Yorkshire pigs. It was calving time on the EP (for Edward Prince) ranch and foreman Bill Elliot reported eight calves had been added to the herd.

The Duke did not elaborate on the business angle. Tuesday he said, "We plan to develop the ranch by switching from Shorthorn to Hereford cattle." This was taken in some quarters to mean that he intends to stock the ranch, which with its present small herd is far from a full-scale proposition. Its grazing ranges are rated with the best in Southern Alberta.

The Duke, who had tried for oil in 1943 and 1944 but didn't get anything, also said earlier that he will not try alone again. Both denied the ranch will be sold.

Ten minutes after the Windsor's arrival the Duchess, with the Duke nodding agreement, said: "Well, we've got business to attend to. Have a nice ride back... don't get stuck."

A few miles from the ranch, a big Union Jack flew from a flagpole in front of the South Fork trading post.

Old Tom Baines, manager of the log-cabin store who knew the Duke when he made his first visit here in 1919, said: "The Duke used to always drop in here on his other visits. Last time (in 1941) he bought the Duchess a jacket."

Murder Charge Laid In Stabbing

OTTAWA, April 13 (CP) — Simon Normand, a 59-year-old Negro, today was charged with murder in the lower town slaying of Robert Donaldson, 23, of Saint John, N. B., in an early-morning stabbing incident.

Normand was remanded for one week without plea.

Police arrived at the lower town rooming house shortly after the incident, which occurred about 3 a.m. EST. They found Donaldson lying on the floor in a pool of blood, surrounded by five men, one of whom was Normand.

All five were taken into custody as material witnesses, while Donaldson was rushed to hospital with a deep knife wound in his chest. He was given a blood transfusion but died about an hour after the stabbing.

Police said the incident did not arise from a drinking party but that both the accused and the victim had been drinking earlier. It was reported the stabbing followed an argument over the price of a bottle of wine.

Drop Baby Into Snow To Escape House Fire

HEARST, April 13 (CP) — A small baby was dropped to a snowbank and her parents jumped after her as fire destroyed a three-storey frame house today in this northern Ontario town. Three families were left homeless in sub-zero weather.

Firemen were forced to make four trips to a nearby river to fill their pumpers when hydrants were frozen in the severe cold.

Southern Women Eat Dirt, Starch During Pregnancy

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 13 (AP)—A doctor and a nutritionist today reported that dirt eating by pregnant women in rural Mississippi is quite common.

Dr. James Ferguson of New Orleans and nutritionist Alice Glenn Keaten of Jackson, Miss., said the practice is so widespread and "so little known that it merits a report."

Besides dirt, the two wrote in the New Orleans Medical and Surgical Journal, some of the women have an unaccountable craving for plain laundry starch.

All of those who admitted dirt and starch eating, the specialists observed, "were from an economically and medically underprivileged group and 92 per cent were Negroes."

Just why the women eat the dirt and starch, said the medical team, is unknown.

Their article, based on a 1948 dietary study of 361 pregnant women in 11 rural countries, said "25 per cent included clay in the dirt and 39 per cent starch."

Many of the women interviewed, the two concluded, were reluctant to admit the practice and "hence we feel that the true incidence is much higher."

The interviews contained many direct quotes from the women on why they followed the dietary practice. These included:

"I craves it."

"I know it is not good for me, but I likes the taste."

"I eat dirt just the same way you smoke a cigaret."

"It seems to settle my stomach."

"Some people say it has a lot of germs in it so if it does I try to kill it and bake it in my oven."

"It sure is good."

Find Negligence Fire Killed 10

NORRISTOWN, Pa., April 13—(AP)—A coroner's jury has found that "negligence" existed at the Belle Vista sanatorium where a fire killed 10 patients March 29.

The jury reached its verdict Wednesday after hearing these disclosures:

Four of the 10 who died were strapped to beds, powerless to save themselves. Fifteen of the 82 patients who survived also were strapped to beds.

Doctors signed "restraint" orders giving a nurse authority to decide when some patients were to be tied down.

A previously convicted firebug, who set the blaze, had keys to the rooms and a closet, handled matches and was allowed to go home week-ends.

It took firemen 20 to 25 minutes to chop their way through meshbarred windows to reach patients trapped in four small cubicles.

The jury recommended that the arsonist, Nicholas A. Verna, 26, be committed to an asylum. Earlier in the day, Verna was sent to the state hospital for the criminally insane.

Community Centre Wrecked By Boys

LINDSAY, April 15—(CP)—Boys are believed responsible for $200 damage to a building erected with the object of preventing juvenile delinquency.

Town council was told Wednesday night the boys ran riot Tuesday night. Mrs. L. Wynn, secretary of the kindergarten room in the Kiwanis Recreation Centre, said one boy damaged piano keys with a hockey stick. Others poked holes in the ceiling and walls, tore panels off electric light switches, broke panes of glass and pulled down paper decorations.

Council instructed Police Chief Arthur Webster to round up the gang.

Gift Lumber Stolen

TORONTO, April 13 (CP) — Thieves Wednesday stole a load of new lumber which was donated to build a home for Mrs. George Boothroyd and her four children. The lumber was part of a fund set up by local residents to look after the Boothroyd family after Mr. Boothroyd died in January. The lumber was valued at $80.

Hurl Stones, 27 People Hide In Fear

Crowd 200 to 1,500 Some Enter Chapel Smash Pulpit, Glass

SHAWINIGAN FALLS, Que., April 13—(CP)—An angry mob, said to have ranged in size at various times from 200 to 1,500, Wednesday night smashed the meeting place of a Christian Brethren group. Twenty-seven persons huddled in fear in an upstairs flat while the mob, made up of men, women and children, hurled stones, empty bottles, chunks of ice and even eggs.

The plate glass window of the building, which also houses a store, were smashed. After an hour-long demonstration, a part of the crowd entered the store, used as a chapel, and wrecked the furniture, including the pulpit.

An evangelistic sect, the Christian Brethren are said to have 20 small congregations scattered throughout Quebec Province. They have no ordained ministers but are led by "evangelists" — laymen who are called to the work. They are paid no salary.

Benoit Mongrain, a wheelchair paralytic who owns the building, said about 20 Brethren were in the store chapel when the stoning began Several were women.

Mongrain said he is not a member of the sect. He allowed the group to take shelter in his home above the store. There, he said, they held their services. Men, women and children were held virtual prisoners for about two hours during the demonstration.

A detachment of 10 Shawinigan Falls police escorted the Brethren from the Mongrain flat.

The police are said to have made no arrests although they were reported to have been on the scene early in the outbreak.

Mayor Francois Roy said he was at a theatre and heard nothing of the assault until after he left the theatre about 11 p.m. He said he reached the scene about 11.30 when "everything was quiet."

He said apparently the police found they "could do nothing" to stop the stoning of the building but "protected those who were inside the flat."

The mayor said none of the Brethren suffered bodily harm.

Shy 65,000 Teachers Face Shocking Apathy

HALIFAX, April 13 —(CP)— Canada needs 65,000 new teachers in the next five years but there is "shocking apathy" to the problem of finding them, George Croskery of Ottawa, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Teachers Federation, said Wednesday night.

He added that teachers themselves should fight any attempt to end the shortage by lowering teaching standards.

"If teaching standards are not raised and adequate salaries are not forthcoming to match the higher standards, then still more good teachers will leave and we shall be faced with dilution of the quality which is so important to the equality of opportunity we have set as our goal."

Mr. Croskery spoke at opening sessions of the annual convention of the Nova Scotia Teachers Union.

U.S. Coal Mines Cut Production, Out-of-Work Up

PITTSBURGH, April 13 (AP) —The United States soft-coal industry today is suffering from curtailed production while even greater woes are foreseen in the immediate future.

Industry spokesmen predict spreading unemployment and a chain of mine closings as a result of reduced coal output and the inroads of competitive fuels.

The 8,000 bituminous (soft coal) mines in the country produced a record-breaking 631,000,000 tons in 1947. Now they are reverting to a normal market estimated at around 400,000,000 tons. Last year 430,000,000 tons was dug despite several strikes.

Many high cost or low quality mines already are being squeezed out. And thousands of miners are joining the ranks of job hunters.

There are 400,000 soft-coal miners in the United States.

The National Coal Association estimates 50,000 coal miners will be jobless in coming months. Another 50,000 transport workers, who haul coal from mine to market also will be laid off, the NCA predicts, as the result of oil imports alone.

Natural gas and fuel oil continue to creep into fields once dominated by coal. Railroads are changing from coal burning locomotives to Diesel engines.

Indonesian Army To Quell Rebels

JAKARTA, Indonesia, April 13 —(AP)—President Soekarno in a broadcast tonight called on the armed forces of Indonesia to quell a week-old rebellion at Kamassar, Celebes port city.

Soekarno did not reveal military plans but a message from him to the armed forces clearly indicated the government intends to invade the South Celebes.

The president's grave decision was announced after Abdul Aziz, whose rebel forces seized Makassar last week, defied the Federal government's orders to come to Jakarta in a plane it had sent for him.

Dewey Calls On US Parties Unite In Foreign Policy

PRINCETON, NJ, April 13 — (AP). — Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, twice defeated as candidate for the Presidency of the United States, today assumed the role of political conciliator in an attempt to get Democrats and Republicans pulling together for a "genuine bipartisan" US foreign policy.

He called on President Truman to give the Republican Party a real chance to help guide the current cold war, and then chided his fellow Republicans for trying to rock the boat.

Dewey made his proposal on Wednesday night in the third of his series of four Princeton University lectures on the American political system.

Dewey listed strengthened bipartisan planning as the country's No. 1 need in the prosecution of the cold war. He said it required "a radical improvement in the attitude of both the Democratic national administration and sections of the Republican Party."

He said he saw some improvement for bi-partisanship policy in the recent appointment of the Republican, John Foster Dulles, to serve as consultant to State Secretary Dean Acheson.

Dewey said he was "profoundly convinced that American initiative can save our freedom and that of much of the world. But the hour is very late."

He described the situation as "so grave as to require us to concentrate our whole effort as a nation toward its solution.

The major danger, Dewey said, is do-nothingness. He said the US capital now "conveys the impression of fiddling while freedom burns."

Losing Hope For Plane Freighters Report Sighting Aircraft Wreckage

Men Equipped To Survive Cold, Hunger Steamship Saw Airplane Cabin Previous 'Wreckage' Seen Disappointing

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, April 13—(AP)—Search planes were called in tonight after failing for the fifth day to find any trace of a U.S. Navy patrol plane that disappeared in the Baltic Saturday with 10 men aboard. A news report of possible plane wreckage off the Swedish Island of Oeland raised hopes that some clue might be found to the fate of the missing plane. But planes sent to the area saw nothing. The criss-cross search flights will be resumed at dawn tomorrow for the sixth day.

The first officer aboard the German steamer Juno said he saw what looked like an airplane cabin floating in the Baltic at the southern tip of Oeland, which lies off the coast of Sweden across the Baltic from Latvia.

The new clue coincided with the first hint from the Russians that they consider the missing navy plane with 10 men aboard to be the same one fired at by Soviet fighter planes Saturday when Moscow claimed a U. E. B-29 type plane flew over Latvia. Moscow said that incident occurred in the neighborhood of Lepaya. Oeland island is due west of Lapaya, across the Baltic.

American authorities have expressed the fear that Soviet fire caused the navy plane to crash into the Baltic.

Meanwhile the official Communist party newspaper, Pravda, said the missing navy plane violated the Soviet frontier in an attempt at espionage over Russian territory.

The report from the German ship stirred hope in U. S. air force headquarters at Wiesbaden where gloom has been felt at chances of finding any of the plane's survivors. Officers have given up their attempt to find what had been described Wednesday as a life raft off the Danish island of Bornholm.

The first note of pessimism in the five-day search came from Capt. D'Jack Klinger, director of the search.

3 Skeletons Of Babies Found After 25 Years

BALTIMORE, April 13.—(AP). —The skeletons of three babies, apparently dead for more than 25 years, were discovered Wednesday night in the boarded-up fireplace of a home here.

Mrs. Marie Plage dropped her ring through a crack in the mantel. To get it, she ripped up a piece of loose tin and uncovered a bundle of cloth.

She unwrapped the cloth and saw the skeleton of a small baby She jumped back, screaming Police probed into the opening and removed two other small skeletons.

One of them was wrapped in a paper dated Sept. 18, 1921, and the other in a paper dated Jan. 27, 1923.

Mrs. Plage told police she had lived in the house about a year.

Officer Killed Crazed Man Dies In Siege

LANSING, Mich., April 13 — (AP)—Blazing guns at a rural cabin Wednesday took the lives of a Michigan State policeman and the man who killed him.

In the brief interval between the two deaths a cordon of 50 State Troopers, Lansing city police and sheriff's officers had laid siege to the cabin near he e with tear gas and gunfire.

Inside was an evidently crazed man.

The slain trooper was George R. Branny, 26, a bridegroom of four months.

Also shot and killed—either by himself or a police volley—was Clarence Iler, 44, one-armed truck driver.

Troopers Branny and John R. Plants went to the cabin after getting a complaint from a neighbor woman that Iler was creating a disturbance.

Police said that later investigation disclosed that Iler, married and father of a 20-year-old son, had been drinking heavily.

As Branny knocked at the door, a sudden shotgun blast through a window killed him.

Man, Wife, Girl Beaten, Stabbed

HUNTINGDON, W.Va., April 13 (AP)—A couple and their 10-year-old daughter were found brutally beaten and stabbed to death in their burning home early today.

Firemen stumbled into the gory setting when they answered an alarm that the house of William A. Blanks was on fire.

The couple's son, 18-year-old William Blanks, Jr., was picked up by police two hours later and rushed to a hospital with undetermined wounds.

The inside of the box-like house was a shambles.

The body of the girl was sprawled face up, night gown above her knees, on her smouldering bed in the front upstairs room.

Blanks, 40, and his wife, Mildred, were found in the rear bedroom. Mrs. Blanks was on the bed, face down, and Blanks was on the floor near the bed. He lay stretched on his left side, as if he had attempted to escape the killer.

Police found a 1-inch blood-smeared kitchen knife and a ball-peen hammer in the house.

In the kitchen lay the family's pet dog. The animal's skull had been split open.

Union, General Motors Start Negotiations

OSHAWA, April 13 (CP)—Negotiations started Wednesday night toward renewal of a contract between General Motors of Canada Ltd., and Local 222, United Automobile Workers (CIO). The present contract expires June 11.

It was announced that a schedule of meetings for the next few weeks had been drawn up for negotiation of the new contract.

The UAW announced last week it would seek a company-paid $100-a-month pension for each of General Motors' 9,000 workers at age 60 and after 25 years' service.

Other union proposals include: 40-hour week; three more paid holidays; a five-cents-an-hour wage boost for certain lower-paid workers, and company-paid life insurance.

Czechs Accused Supplied U.S. State Secrets

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Apr. 13 (AP)—Two Czech employees of the United States information service went on trial before the Prague State Court today on charges of spying and spreading hostile propaganda.

The official Czech News Agency named the defendants as Lubos Elstner and Miss Dagmar Kacerovska, translator for the USIS The agency said Elstner pleaded innocent and Miss Kacerovska pleaded partly guilty.

Both were accused of supplying state secrets to the chief of US embassy's press department and with spreading hostile propaganda against the Communist-led government.

The first notice of the trial was given yesterday when the ministry of information invited accredited western correspondents to cover the trial at Pankrac court building.

(The Associated Press was not invited because, a ministry official said, it has no accredited foreign correspondent in Czechoslovakia. The Associated Press correspondent, Nate Polowetzky, was expelled March 31 on charges of unobjective reporting.)

Passion Play Success Encourages Annual Event

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT

ST. JEAN PORT JOLI, Que., April 13 —(CP)—This attractive village on the St. Lawrence south shore, noted for fine wood-carvers and weavers, is aglow with its recent success in staging a passion play.

An estimated 4,000 visitors came to the little parish (pop. 2,283) to see the sacred play. Now villagers who had a hand in preparing it are seriously thinking of putting it on annually. Parish Priest Rev. Joseph Fleury favors the move. So does one of the spokesmen of the organizers, Marcellin Leclerc.

Lasted Four Hours

The play, a four-hour affair covering the life of Christ from the nativity to the ascension, was conceived by poet Charles E. Harpe, a resident of nearby Saint Aubert.

Although there was little publicity given to the event—the first passion play of its kind in the province—groups from Montreal, Quebec, Chicoutimi, Riviere du Loup, Beauce County and other districts attended the eight performances given this year.

St. Jean Port Joli, a parish founded in 1787, is about 75 miles southeast of Quebec City.

Poet Harpe, whose wife played the role of the Virgin Mary in the play, conceived the drama on the grand scale of a mediaeval French "jeu sacre"—sacred play.

Series Of Tableaux

In a prologue, a "man of the world" expresses disgust with life and is about to commit suicide when St. Theresa of Lisieux, France, appears to him, asks him to think on the life of Christ. As she recalls the main events of the life of Jesus the play itself begins.

The drama is a series of 18 tableaux alternated with on-stage returns of St. Theresa who comments for the man she will save from perdition. There are 60 performers in the play, apart from those participating in crowd effects.

Mr. Leclerc admitted it was the intention of the people of St. Jean to start a tradition such as was begun long ago at Oberammergau in Germany whose passion play is known the world over.

Of supreme value in short season districts. Twelve years in course of development. Extensively tested in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, proving superior to all other varieties of sweet corn. Of special interest too for other areas for first picking, either home or market. Can be planted earlier than other corns due to greater hardiness and resistance to cold weather. Deliciously tender for table use and holds its fine quality over a longer period for canning. Deep, rich, golden yellow; 12 to 16 rows; abut 8 inches long. Remarkably high sugar content, usually 16% and has been recorded as high as 22%. Rated a heavy cropper for the early class. Supply limited. 128 Pay $578 Traffic Fines In Police Court

City coffers gulped up $578 in fines today when 128 persons were fined for traffic violations. Fines were paid on written pleas of guilty.

Speeders were the most numerous offenders, and contributed $210. Parking violations brought in $72, and drivers who failed to stop at stop signs paid up $77.50.

The rest of the fines were paid for inadequate brakes, going through stop lights, driving without a licence, improperly lighted trucks, failing to signal a left turn, making a left turn at George and Charlotte Sts., and having no nameplate on a truck.

Twenty-four charges were withdrawn and four were adjourned to April 20.

Youth Sentenced To Five Months

Vincent Dineen, 22, of River Rd., was today sentenced by Magistrate W. R. Philp to five months definite and two months indefinite on a charge of attempted breaking and entering, and to four months definite and two indefinite on a charge of receiving.

Dineen, convicted Tuesday of receiving a suit stolen from Bond's clothing store, was convicted today of attempting to break and enter Art Bacon's men's store on Charlotte St.

PC Donald Mackay testified that early in the morning of April 1, he heard glass breaking and "a pounding noise" coming from a building at the south side of Charlotte St.

"I went to the building and saw accused standing on a window sill at the rear. I turned my flashlight on him, and saw him kick a panel behind the broken window. I told him to get down and he said he couldn't.

"He threatened to jump into the creek below him and end it all when I started up after him. Finally a passerby helped me get him down," the officer said.

Defence counsel John Corkery argued the crown had not proved intent. Magistrate Philp said he thought the crown had, if the officer's evidence were to be believed, "and I believe it."

Fate Plays Havoc

Troubles never come singly. The County T. B. Association probably set a new record of minor catastrophies at its annual meeting Wednesday in the YWCA.

There was a gratifying number of enthusiasts out but when Charles Ray, acting chairman opened the meeting, his tale of misfortune among the leaders of the organization was so great that it took a sense of humor to overcome resultant obstacles.

"Our president, Dennis Fitzgerald, was called out of town at the last minute," he announced. L. H. Ingram, first vice-president whom the meeting elected 1950 president, was unable to attend because of sickness; James Heffernan, second vice-president, had lost his voice owing to a prolonged attack of laryngitis and the guest speaker, Dr. Bruce Hopkins, president of Ontario Tuberculosis Association, was unable to attend.

MORE ABOUT—Losing Hope

"Our hopes aren't too high," he told headquarters at Wiesbaden.

But he put 15 planes into the air over the sea at noon, with some ranging near Latvia. Klinger said his crews are observing strictly orders to stay at least 20 miles away from Soviet-controlled territory.

One air force spokesman said survivors of sea crashes have been known to live for weeks in emergency equipment carried by the plane.

The Communist paper in Moscow said that the "spies" in the American plane "got a proper lesson." The paper said that the plane had been "engaged in a pursuit of knowledge over Soviet territory."

An American pilot has seen what he thought was a yellow rubber life raft in an oil slick. In the same area a Danish minesweeper later recovered a yellow box, used by fishermen for storing fish.

The aerial sweeps today were to extend nearly as far east as the Latvian coast, where the Russians said they exchanged shots last Saturday with an American plane. The Air Force said the unarmed navy privateer was the only plane that possibly could have been in the area at the time.

A score of Copenhagen police patrolled Denmark's Kastrup airport following reports that Communists planned a demonstration demanding that U.S. planes leave Denmark immediately. Demonstators, however, failed to turn up at the airport.

Wife Poisons Self Following Argument

TORONTO, April 13— (CP)— An overdose of 50 antihistamine tablets caused the death of Mrs. Goldie King, 16-year-old bride of a month, Coroner Dr. Fred W. Tickett said today. This is believed the first death from this cause ever listed in Toronto.

Police said the young woman took the tablets following an argument with her husband in their home in suburban New Toronto. She left a note addressed to her husband:

"I am sorry to do this, and it is not your fault."

Windsor Police Called, Testify In Vice Hearing

WINDSOR, Ont., April 13 (CP) —Members of the Windsor police morality squad were called as witnesses today for fresh hearings of the Police Commission's investigation into allegations of corruption in law enforcement.

The probe, adjourned March 18 after hearing three half-days of evidence, was scheduled to resume this afternoon in the county court building.

A. Douglas Bell, of Chatham, commission counsel, said that Sgt. George Browne and all officers who have been on the morality squad in the last nine months have been ordered to attend.

Mr. Bell said he would present a report on findings made in Detroit by himself and Sgt. Browne. They checked Detroit police files for information on an international racing wire service. Mr. Bell will also present a summary of evidence to the three commission members—Chairman Magistrate Angus W. MacMillan, Mayor Arthur J. Reaume and County Judge Albert J. Gordon.

The probe was called originally by the Windsor Police Commission to investigate "allegations of corruption among our police officers." It was instigated largely by a judgment from Magistrate J. A. Hanrahan. In a decision convicting bootlegger Joseph Assef of bootlegging the magistrate hinted at police laxity.

PT In Bloomers Gets Hot Blast

CAITHNESS, Scotland, April 13 (Reuters) — Schoolgirls of Britain's far north have been barred from doing physical training in their bloomers.

The Caithness education committee decided this yesterday after Louise Kennedy, councillor, had told them: "I have it on the firmest authority that the girls are told to remove their frocks. There they are, standing in their bloomers in front of the boys."

The committee agreed that the girls should only receive gymnastic instruction suitable to the clothes they wore—their over garments.

Miss Kennedy later said:

"It's all right if girls wear navy blue undergarments with elastic. But one day a girl might come to school with these 'new-look' panties on.

"That would be shocking."

Good Public Response Made To X-Ray Survey

CAMPBELLFORD, April 13 — (ENS)—Forrest R. Dennis, chairman of the T. B. chest X-ray survey held in Campbellford early this month, reports his committee is well satisfied with the public's response to the survey. The clinic was held under the auspices of the IODE and 1,935 persons were X-rayed.

In a similar survey held in 1946 there were more X-rays taken, but this was because of the fact that in the 1946 survey, the Percy and Brighton municipalities were included. This time they were not. All high school and grade VIII of the public and separate school pupils were included.

HASTINGS, April 13 (ENS) — A delegation asked the village council Tuesday to open Elizabeth St. from Front St. to the river. J. E. Taylor, Henry Scriver, J. Pickens, William West, E. J. Lynch and O. A truck is to be purchased by the village at a cost of $250.

The constable was given permission to purchase paint required for decorating and the council decided to obtain the price of chairs suitable for the Town Hall.

Education Crossroads

Teachers and other educationists from all parts of the province are meeting this week in Toronto. It is the annual Ontario Educational Association convention, when matters ranging from details of teaching small children to count, to the broadest enquiries on the philosophy of education are considered. The O.E.A. convention is possibly the most serious, hard-working large annual conference held in Toronto, and much good cannot help but come from it. Cynics may point out that education in this province has been in a muddle ever since O.E.A. conventions began ninety years ago and that confusion grows worse as each Convention year passes. We do not blame the conventions for the confusion. They have brought to the surface and public discussion educational problems, which may have been inherent in pre-convention years, but are now being assessed.

* * *

Ontario's schools are in no greater dilemma than the school systems of other countries, and education—who is to be educated, why, how, and to what ends—is itself at crossroads hacked by by the twentieth century. The Germans were among the most highly educated people in Europe, yet they incited two wars. The atomic bomb is the achievement of the greatest men of scientific learning. There are more literate people in the world today than ever before, yet the world does not seem to wag along any better.

* * *

The truth is that educationists are as perplexed about means and ends as other classes of people—social scientists, mathematicians, philosophers and even rulers. The modern world has given birth to problems of society which cannot be solved as quickly as they arose.

* * *

There is a tendency in the United States which has been felt in Canada, to swing violently from one educational approach to another. The Minister of Education's statement to the O.E.A. that "abrupt changes will be avoided" is not too early a reassurance. One danger inherent in educational experimentation is that the results of the change cannot be checked for twenty years—by which time a whole generation has grown up under the experiment. If the change has been in the wrong direction, irreparable damage may have been done.

* * *

The perplexity in which educators find themselves is shown by so many of them veering away from learning; heads of schools are appointed who are themselves not ripely educated. They are technicians, administrators. Teachers can win influence and position not because they know the subject which they teach, but because they profess to know how to teach it; they are learned in the esoteric "science" of pedagogy.

* * *

An indication of basic confusion in the educational world is the battle between "practical" and "theoretical" educationists, and the way the term "liberal education" is contorted. O.E.A. delegates did well to heed Principal Wallace of Queen's who told them that original hard thought may fall into the discard as the result of present educational methods, with their emphasis on ease and practicality. "We may find it difficult to form any thoughts of our own", Dr. Wallace said, "and we may be open to any form of propaganda. I'm afraid this trend will not train our minds. And the mind of man was the instrument with which man raised himself over the level of the beasts."

* * *

If education is training, then beyond the elementary first grades, it is training of the mind, not of the hands.

Chronic Bad Taste

In a letter printed elsewhere on this page today a correspondent accuses us of bad taste, saying that we should not criticise the British Labour Government for its attitude toward the Hon. John Strachey. We admit the charge without offering any excuse. Unfavourable criticism of anything, or anybody, at any time is usually in bad taste—meaning that it offends some people. Newspaper editorials are firmly founded upon bad taste of this kind. It is always bad taste to expose an abuse or point out an error. But quite often matters more important than good taste are at stake.

Mr. Strachey is one of the most erratic of British politicians. Before 1940 he was keenly interested in Communism; after 1940 he declared that Communists were "utterly and finally hopeless and useless people"; when Russia joined the Allies Mr. Strachey suggested that the British Communists should be absorbed into the Labour Party. He is, let us not forget, the architect and only begetter of the great Peanut Fiasco. He is now Secretary for War. Some Americans suggested, tactlessly, that he might not be the best man in a position of that kind, thereby provoking a great British outcry. The Americans were guilty of bad taste, and there are many people who think that bad taste is much worse than stupidity or even treachery.

Our correspondent suggests that Canada and the U.S.A. have much to learn from Britain. True, and Britain also has a few things to learn from us. Recently the British Lord Chancellor, Viscount Jowitt, has admitted that four years ago the Royal Canadian Mounted Police passed information to British authorities which cast strong doubt on the loyalty of Dr. Klaus Fuchs. But Britain declined to learn from Canada. Perhaps it was bad taste on Canada's part to offer assistance which had not been asked for. Common sense, however, occasionally triumphs even over the mighty question of taste.

Apples Should Blush

Apples are as natural to Canadians as potatoes to the Irish. Fifty years ago every Canadian household had its barrel or two of apples to see it through the winter, and to provide the youngsters with snacks. People in smaller towns and villages never thought of buying apples—they picked their own. Now a good many Canadian families think of buying apples in quantity, but do not get beyond a basket or dozen at a time. Apples seem now to be something of a luxury. They are, by bulk, more expensive than this year's pineapples. Do apple growers not want to sell apples? They do—but at prices beyond the apple-a-day practice. As a result, apples are not selling as bountifully as they did, and their uses as a domestic staple is declining.

Last week in the House of Commons, approval was given to special grants totalling $2,500,000 for apple growers in B.C. and Nova Scotia. The apple industry is therefore being subsidized pretty heavily. A chief reason given to justify the subsidy is the decline of the oversea, particularly the British, market. That market has almost disappeared.

The United States Government has landed itself into a most expensive mess because of its subsidies and floor prices on agricultural products. Is Canada going the same way, on its usually more modest scale? There are demands that Ottawa shoulder the burden of the surplus cheese, the surplus butter, the surplus apples. It has taken some of the burden, at a cost of millions of dollars. Undoubtedly the situation is abnormal, because Britain is not buying. But will the British market ever be the sponge it has been? Has the time come to exploit the Canadian domestic market, to attract Canadians to eat their own products, to make these foods available at prices that the households can afford? If Canadians cannot eat their own cheese, apples and butter, then there is something wrong. If the prices are out of line, and must remain so unless the products are subsidized, then the production is uneconomic. Apples are but one instance. Will Ontario people become large users of B.C. apples which sell at five cents each?

NOTE AND COMMENT

Convicts in a Pennsylvania penitentiary have staged a sitdown strike as a protest against creamed chicken every Wednesday. Ah, the dreary monotony of prison life!

If, when you look at a list of government expenditures, you should be inclined to ask "Who's going to pay for all this?" you may receive a partial answer by peeping into your mirror.

An educator is quoted as saying "Wise teachers use the plan of working close to pupils in order to make them smart". In the case of a pretty teacher it has been known to make them too smart.

The Chinese Kremlin

By
O. M. GREEN

MORE and more Peking in Communist hands is becoming a Chinese Kremlin, in which the Central People's Government composed of Mao-Tse-tung and 56 councillors dictates the actions of the smallest provincial administration. The latest phase in this development, of which details have now reached London, is a scheme announced on April 1st, to centralize the control of all revenues and expenditure throughout China. With this news details have also been given of State retail-trading already in operation on a nation-wide scale.

THE omnipotence of Mao and his 56 councillors was clear enough in the common programme, promulgated on the formal creation of the Communist Government last October, which is virtually the Constitution of Communist China. It may be recalled that the Central People's Government, described as the "highest organ of the State", is empowered by the common programme to make war, peace and treaties, enact and interpret laws of state, control finance, determine administrative policy, appoint and dismiss the premier, other ministers and minor dignitaries, control the law courts, appoint and dismiss judges.

THE programme creates a network of local councils throughout China, but each one is subject to the one above it and thus ultimately to the Peking Kremlin. In these local councils, too, "people's supervisory organs"—in plain words, spies—are appointed to keep the provincials well under the thumb of the Red bosses.

ON the basis of these general principles the details are now being worked out. The financial scheme just announced states that the system of taxation, handling of revenue and expenditure, wages and salaries of Government functionaries and state employees, the numbers of those employed, and the framing of the budget, will be worked out by the ministries concerned, but must be approved before adoption by the Central People's Government. The statement goes on:

"All national revenues from public grain, customs duties, salt tax, commodity taxes and business tax will be solely at the disposal of the Ministry of Finance" as also will be "other income, including the turn-over from state enterprises, yield from stock-taking in warehouses, war trophies, confiscation of properties of traitors and war criminals, and state bonds".

ALL administrative payments will be made by the Ministry of Finance. Local governments may impose and utilize certain local taxes—stamp duties, local income tax and taxes on real estate—but both the amount and expenditure will be "strictly defined" by the Central People's Government. It seems fairly obvious that the local governments will merely be rubber stamps.

THe Communists' State bureaux for bulk trading in such things as bristles, hides, tea etc., are already well known. But the extent of their retail trading—described in the Communist report as a "great network of state-owned trading shops"—is new and really surprising.

IN Tientsin and Peking it is stated, the sales of these shops during 20 days in March realized 186 billion People's bank dollars—roughly £3,000,000 at the latest available exchange rates. Even in Chungking in the Far West, which has been under the Communists for some four months only, sales of two billion dollars (say £31,000) are claimed in a single day.

THE justification urged for this state entry into retail trade is to ensure an even distribution of commodities, particularly food; bring down prices; and withdraw some of the vast amount of paper money in circulation. It may be admitted that these are plausible reasons. But it will be interesting to see what are the reactions of the Chinese people.

IT must be remembered that financial control never has been centralized in China. The Viceroys under the old Empire (provincial governors) were required to remit a certain amount of money to the Emperor; otherwise they were entirely free (so long as their exactions did not breed a riot) to impose what taxation they pleased and spend it as they liked.

WHEN the Nationalist Government was set up in Nanking in 1928 the attempt of Dr. T. V. Soong then Finance Minister to monopolize provincial revenues and dole out fixed sums for provincial needs (just as the Communists propose to do) brought on the first of the three civil wars (not counting that with the Communists) which Nanking had to fight before the Japanese invasion. All of them were fundamentally due to the Kuomintang's attempt to centralize all power in its own hands.

AS for the Communist shops, one can imagine the dismay that will run through every class. Napoleon's famous description of the English as "a nation of shopkeepers" is a thousand times more true of the Chinese. From the street hawker, through the countless tiny village shops (with a stock in trade of perhaps £40 value) to the great department stores of Shanghai and Canton, every Chinese will see his liberty and livelihood threatened with destruction.

FOR the moment they can do nothing. They have no arms, no visible leader. The Red Army is all powerful; and though the Communist Party is relatively small, numbering only 3,000,000, the officials of the old administration are eager to save their jobs by proving their devotion to the new rulers.

◇ ◇ ◇

BUT the Chinese people have one weapon which again and again they have used effectively—the weapon of passive resistance and non-co-operation. In that they are unsurpassed. The boldest official in former times caved in when the people used it against his tyranny. Here and there are faint signs of its being used today. Strong as the Communists are, one wonders what they will do if China resolves that she will not co-operate with them.

TWELVE-POINT LANDING

Letters To The Editor

CITIES WASTE ORGANIC FERTILIZER

Sir: Some people associate cows and farmers with dung, detrimentally. But dung, rhapsodically, is a token of life, mentioned parabolically in the Bible of the gardener, who wished to spare the life of the fig tree; and by Paul, — but he apparently was no farmer.

But rapturously, dung is an inspiration to the rose, dug deep around its roots, and causal to scented blooms of marvellous form and size; and as a mulch to lilies to keep soil cool and moist, and nourishment aided by rain is sent to roots invigorates to produce blooms of cream and gold, that breathe into the air perfume; and nectar rare to intoxicate the bees from far and near to make honey fit for king and queen.

So ecstatically, dung, excrement of cow, horse, pig, and fowl, and exuding worms, are pearls (figuratively of course) of untold value; but human (of city) erode to the sea, their intake from the despised source of their existence.

So too does the tractor, and machine deprive the land, throwing off gases and oils to wither and kill, noise to distract, vibrations that shake and torture—in its efficiency is an inefficiency that time only will relate.

Methinks every one should have his garden and bees and—his own fig tree,—for lo —the winter is past, the rain is over and gone —the flowers appear upon the earth, the time of the singing of birds is come, and the voice of the turtle is heard in the land, the fig tree putteth forth her green figs and the vine with the tender grape give a good smell. Arise my love, my fair one and come away—so says Solomon's song, which should be our city and

COUNTRY SONG.

JOHN BULL CHUCKLES

Sir: Your editorial in April 6th issue, entitled, "Bad Psychology" does not, in the writer's opinion, show very good taste. Your remarks were not conducive to what might be termed broadmindedness. It is no concern of yours how the British Government run their affairs. The electors of Britain apparently saw fit to select Mr. Strachey to represent them in Parliament. The Prime Minister, Mr. Attlee must have realized valuable qualities in Mr. Strachey to warrant placing him in so important a position. What if Mr. Strachey has studied Communism, or written on the subject. Under law, all people are free to exercise their opinions in the light as they see fit, so long as no violence is demonstrated.

It does seem difficult for the people in Canada and the U.S.A. to mind their own business. Canadians delight in criticizing other nations, but definitely resent being criticized. If any person from abroad expresses his or her opinion either in good faith or adversely, there is a terrible uproar. Says the Canadian, if you don't like our way of life, go back to the country from where you came, we can get long without you, and yet, Johnny Canuck blares from the housetop his disapproval of foreign politics.

You state the British are stubborn, not to say pig headed. You are mistaken on this score Mr. Editor. The British have centuries of background experience. The lessons learned have been through the trial and error system. John Bull understands the psychology of immature minds, and when certain characters in the United States or in Canada attempt to blurt out their disapproval of Britain's method of government administration, John merely sits back and chuckles to himself. Those young people over in America have a good deal to unlearn and to learn anew.

I think it would be good taste Mr. Editor, if you would exercise a little more tolerance in your attitude towards the sentiments of other people of the world. We are certainly faced with serious problems in this present day and age, and it would be wise to avail ourselves of every means which will help to build a better world. Saith Paul, try all the spirits. So likewise, try all systems. Accept that which is good and discard the rest.

Sincerely yours,
ALBERT J. J. STRANGE.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Jesus said, For judgement I am come into this world, that they which see not might see. (John 9: 39.)

I am the good shepherd, and know my sheep, and am known of mine. As the Father knoweth me, even so know I the Father: and I lay down my life for the sheep. And other sheep I have, which are not of this fold: them also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice; and there shall be one fold, and one shepherd.

And Jesus walked in the temple in Solomon's porch. Then came the Jews round about him, and said unto him, How long dost thou make us to doubt? If thou be the Christ, tell us plainly.

Jesus answered them, I told you, and ye believed not: the works that I do in my Father's name, they bear witness of me.... My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me My Father, which gave them me, is greater than all; and no man is able to pluck them out of my Father's hand.

I and my Father are one. (John 10: 14-16, 23-25, 27, 29, 30.)

The next day John seeth Jesus coming unto him, and saith, Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world. (John 1: 19, 20, 29.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Purge out therefore the old leaven, that ye may be a new lump, as ye are unleavened. For even Christ our passover is sacrificed for us. (I Cor. 5: 7.)

◇ ◇ ◇

The transgressors shall be destroyed together: the end of the wicked shall be cut off. But the salvation of the righteous is of the Lord: he is their strength in the time of trouble. (Ps. 37: 38, 39.)

◇ ◇ ◇

For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world. (Titus 2: 11, 12.)

Indians Honor Memory Of FDR

MANITOULIN ISLAND, April 13 (CP)—Ojibway Indians left their fishing and trap lines Wednesday to honor the memory of Franklin D. Roosevelt, late President of the United States who died five years ago Wednesday.

President Roosevelt vacationed here in August, 1943, just prior to the Quebec conference. After his death a bronze tablet was erected on his camp site by the Ontario government.

Annually since then the residents of the area have held a ceremony on the anniversary of his death.

Chief Gamentogosi, who was the President's guide on the 1943 trip, said worms were used as bait and that the President had good fishing luck. He lost one strike.

What happened then?

"He cuss good," said the Chief.

TAKE-OFF TO WHERE?—In Weisbaden, Germany, a US Navy Privateer takes off on what was to have been a round-trip flight to Copenhagen, Denmark. The plane was last spotted south of Copenhagen and 5½ hours later, the Russian Government said, "an American bomber" fired on a Russian fighter over Latvia. This Privateer could have been over Latvia at the time, but the US denied that any American plane had violated Soviet boundaries.

Penalty Costs Legion Game As Brantford Wins 7-4 To Tie Up OHA Final Series

A rather cheap penalty to Dootch Vitarelli at 9:19 in the third period gave Brantford Nationals two quick goals and the game here last night as they roared through from behind in the third period to take a 7-4 triumph over Legion. It sewed up their best-of-seven OHA senior "B" final series at one win each, with the teams tackling each other again here Friday.

More than 2,000 fans saw a nifty scrap between well-matched clubs, with Legion having a 1-0 lead in the first frame and being in front 3-2 going into the third. They made it 4-2 shortly but the penalty cost them two, and a breakaway later as they ganged up desperately meant another for the Nats. Play was speedy and close all the way, being generally clean but for a bit of rugged checking in the third heat.

Penalty Stuck

Legion argued bitterly on the penalty to Vitarelli at the time, but it stuck. He was scrapping for a puck and got it, too, but Referee Andy Bellemer claimed he hooked his opponent in the process. The Nats, who battled hard all the way and checked closely to hold Legion down, took quick advantage to tear in and slam two past Nicholls, and that was that. Legion appeared to have more of the play over most of the route, but the payoff is in goals, and the Brants finished strong to grab a comfortable margin near the finish.

Leconte led the way with two goals and an assist for the visitors, while Stephen got two markers, and Linn and Campbell were each in on a pair. The Nats' defence was strong and McGrattan was real tough to beat in the net, using his hands well on hot shots. Dootch Vitarelli topped the local snipers with a brace of counters, as Freddy Mortimer and Bert Hill got one each. An assist apiece went to Godfrey, Stewart, Crowley and Greenlaw. They all toiled hard.

Took the Lead

Rochetta came close early in the game, and Nichols had to be good when Doug Mortimer went off for slashing. Messmer got it later for interference, but Legion failed to cash in on it. Play was fast and even for a space, but the homesters got going late in the stanza to hold an edge on play. They battled in close time and again to test Merattan, Vitareli and then Parnell having nice tries. Hill finally hit the twine on forward pass combination with Godfrey and Stewart, finishing off the play smartly at close range. The Brants pressed some near the finish of the frame.

Freddy Mortimer made it 2-0 to open the second on a passout from Greenlaw, both playing it neatly and right inside. Vitarelli was robbed and then Holota scored on a rebound in there from Stemmler and Smith. Holota got the nod for knocking away an opponent's stick, but he was back when Loconte tied it up from Linn and Campbell on classy combination right through. Legion got that back fast when Vitarelli tore in with Crowley's pass to sink the disc and make it 3-2. Stephen and then Watson made Nicholls jump as play was hot and even, with Legion boring in at the last.

Starting Lineups

The visitors insisted on the starting lineups being used to open each period. It was torrid in the third as play swept up and down fast. Vitarelli moved fast to bat his own rebound home to make it 4-2, but then he drew a costly penalty allegedly for hooking. Simpell scored right away from Hnatiuk and Campbell on a screened shot, and Linn got another from Leconte in a scramble before Dootch got back. Campbell went over for interference along with Doug Mortimer for high-sticking. Watson followed for interference, but all were back when Leconte added one to make it 5-4 in a close-in scramble, Campbell aiding. Stephen got another from Watson on poor checking by the home forwards, and as Legion ganged up, Stephen ended it by breaking away to score one more.

Brantford— Goal, McGrattan; defence, Smith and Simpell; centre, Stephen; wings, Hnatiuk and Watson; alternates, Leconte, Campbell, Linn, Pigeon, Holota, Stemmler, Jamieson and Messmer.

Legion—Goal, Nicholls; defence, Godfrey and Burns; centre, Rochetta; wings, Vitarelli and Crowley; alternates, Parnell, F. Mortimer, Greenlaw, Hill, Coombs, Stewart, D. Mortimer, and Montgomery.

Referees—P. Patterson and A. Bellemer.

The summary:

First Period

Legion—Hill (Godfrey, Stewart) 17:24
Penalties—D. Mortimer, Messmer.

Second Period

Legion—F. Mortimer (Greenlaw) 0:37
Brantford—Holota (Stemmler, Smith) 9:22
Brantford—Leconte (Linn, Campbell) 13:20
Legion—Vitarelli (Crowley) 13:31
Penalty—Holota.

St. Peter's High Entered In Conference

A new Ontario Catholic Athletic Conference has been formed, it was officially announced today. It includes St. Michael's College School and De La Salle Oaklands of Toronto, St. Jerome's College of Kitchener, and St. Peter's High School of Peterborough. Its purpose is to foster and promote interscholastic sports among the Catholic secondary schools of the province. Its short title will be the OCAC.

The new conference has the official approval of His Eminence James Charles Cardinal McGuigan, Archbishop of Toronto, Most Rev. B. I. Webster, Auxiliary Bishop of Toronto, Most Rev. Joseph F. Ryan, Bishop of Hamilton, and Most Rev. Joseph G. Berry, Bishop of Peterborough. They have all accepted honorary executive positions.

At a recent meeting of the schools concerned the following executive was elected: President, Rev. Father Ted Flanagan of St. Michael's College; vice-president, Rev. Father P. B. Graf of St. Jerome's College; secretary-treasurer, Rev. Brother Raymond of De La Salle, Oaklands.

Rev. Coughlan

In addition, the following four councillors were appointed, one from each school: Lew Barnes, St. Michael's; Brother Michael, De La Salle; Rev. C. L. Seigfried, St. Jerome's; and Rev. J. F. Coughlan, St. Peter's.

The conference will begin operations in the autumn with interscholastic football. The Senior A division will include St. Michael's, De La Salle, and St. Jerome's. There will be a triple schedule with the two Toronto teams meeting each other three times and visiting Kitchener twice each, while St. Jerome's will come to Toronto twice for one game with each team. The dates of the schedule will be announced later.

The Senior B division will include St. Peter's in addition to the three above-named schools.

Plans are now being laid by all the schools to make the conference a colorful one. Besides the main attraction on the field there will be keen competition among the bands, cheer-leaders, and students of each school.

The same teams will compete in basketball during the winter months. Plans are also being made for competition in boxing and track and field.

Other Catholic high schools in the province have shown interest in this new venture and are expected to join at a later date.

Stratford Lasses Play Towne Togs

Hi Smith's Towne Togs are behind a 22-point black ball in this Saturday's basketball game with the Stratford YWCA quintet for the Ontario girls' intermediate "B" championship. Stratford won the first of the two-game, points-to-count series two weeks ago 41-19. The return game Saturday will be played in the YWCA gym at 7.30.

The Towne Togs have been working for the past two weeks devising some plan to pull this game out of the bag. During the Lakeshore League play, the girls whipped through easily in home and home games with Cobourg, Trenton, Belleville and Port Hope. The test game was the second one of the two-game series with St. Catharines Merry Macs. Although the local lasses lost, they won the round by one point.

That Last Half

In the first Stratford game, the Togs managed to outscore the YWCA'ers in the second quarter, showing they can be edged. Stratford had only one point lead at the half. Led by Rita Butler, Kaye Johnston and Shirley Gladding, the girls from Western Ontario spelt doom for the Togs in the last half.

Coach Smith plans to have a full team on deck Saturday. In the Towne Togs line-up will be: Jean Vass, Jean Castle, Polly Stewart, Joan Dunk, Dotty Callan, Marg Kennedy, Betty Stewart, Dot Saunders, Marg Freeman and Ruth Stewart.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Two important girls' basketball games on tap here this weekend, both in the YWCA gym. Tomorrow eve at eight, it's the deciding playoff between Black's and CGE for the intermediate city championship, each team having taken one victory. And at 7.30 there Saturday p.m., Stratford lasses face the Towne Togs. Second of their home-and-home LOBA intermediate "B" final. Now, the Strats have a 22-point lead from the opener in the Western Ontario city, but they'll find a whole lot of difference on the floor here after the long trip. Jean Vass also is on the mend after an injured finger and will make a lot of difference. Yes, it ought to be a close tussle.

* * * * * *

Santa Claus isn't coming early this year to the Legionnaires, and they're not getting any gifts from Brantford, either. They're going to have to earn this OHA senior "B" final series, and they'd better get in there tomorrow night at Civic Arena and get a game edge to work on ere going back to Brantford. The Nats looked impressive here last eve in their 7-4 win, coming from behind to get it. Of course one goal was a breakaway when Legion had to take chances late in the tilt. Two others came on a cheap penalty to Dootch Vitarelli. One doesn't look for cheap ones to be handed out in final playoffs, and Dootch was startled—as were his teammates—when Andy Bellemer thumbed him off. He was after the puck and he got it, but Andy figured he had hooked. It didn't look that way to us. Anyway, it tied up the tilt, and the Nats went on to win.

* * * * * *

Must Give 'Em Credit

We're not taking anything away from them. Two or their last three goals were well-earned, and they might have won without that penalty. They're a strong squad, and it looks like a tough, tough series all the way through. McGrattan, Leconte, Stephen, Linn and Campbell played a lot of hockey for the Brants, and they were all hustling. Vitarelli led the local attack, and Godfrey was solid on defence. The whole team toiled like troopers and had more of the play, but still lost out. We know they can beat Brantford, but it will be a stiff struggle all the way. Neither team will be giving away anything from here on in.

* * * * * *

The referees checked in Toronto before coming here to see about that business of using flash bulbs. They found that the pros only allow 'em to be used between the blue lines or else back of a net—never close enough in front to bother a goalie. Jim Ellis also saw Panter of the OHA about it and was told that photographers should not flash the light in a goalie's face. That's common sense, though we have never seen any rule actually covering it. Likely, it is up to the referees. The argument arose in Brantford when a photographer kept flashing the light in front of Nicholls on close-in shots—and Godfrey finally smashed his camera. Also, we've never seen a rule where the starting lineup must start each period, as the Brants' coach insists upon. Though he might be right at that. Ah, well, it'll be a torrid tussle ere the 1950 champs are declared.

Bill Flint Heads Girls

Prospects appear bright for a good season for the Girls' Softball League, following a well-attended anuual meeting last gloaming in the "Y". Four strong senior clubs will likely face the barrier late next month, as well as the junior entries. Bill Flint succeeds Bill Bennett as president, though the latter will continue to act in an advisory capacity. The other officers, too, should be capable parties with lots of experience in this popular circuit. Looks like they'll go again thrice weekly under the arcs in twin bills at the Bowl d'Ashburnham. Entries should all be in at the April 26 meeting, and meantime umps are to apply now in writing to Wm. Flint, 47 Park St., south.

* * * * * *

Local Harriers Club opens its outdoor season on April 22—a week from Saturday—with a three-mile road race. Ray Donnelly did it in 16 minutes 49.5 seconds in 1948, while Bill Thistlewaite (who won last year) reeled if off in 18 mins. 17.6 secs. He is favored this year. A full entry of members of the club will see sprinters and middle distance runners in there, too. Coach Bill Morewood invites any interested athlete to get in touch with him (phone 21688) for info regarding the race, it being open to anyone in the city or district. Entries will be taken right up to race time. The run starts and finishes in front of the YMCA.

Lacrosse Boys Coached By Fitzgerald

The crowning point in the career of any Canadian athlete is to be a member of a Dominion championship team.

This dream is old stuff to Gerry Fitzgerald, stocky University of Western sophomore, who will be Peterborough's minor lacrosse coach this summer, filling the shoes of popular Jack Foote. Fitzgerald, who turned 21 only a few weeks ago, has already played on four Canadian championship teams. To make this record more imposing, the honors have come to him in three different sports, lacrosse, football and basketball.

St. Catharine's pride and joy, Fitzgerald started to whip the ball around with the lacrosse gad in the Garden City at a tender age. When he was 13, he played on a city championship minor-bantam team. The next year he stepped up to the bantam group and his team went straight through to the Ontario championship.

Went Senior

The progress of this budding star did not escape the eyes of the senior squad, the Athletics. Fitzgerald made the big jump to the rough, tough senior Ontario Lacrosse Association play when only 16 years old with the famous Athletics. And in that year, 1945, St. Kitts went right through to the Canadian finals against the New Westminster Salmonbellies, only to lose out to the west coast team at Vancouver.

Fitzgerald was at the defence position in 1946 as the Athletics rolled through the Ontario "A" league for the honors, then the Eastern Canada honors. Again they faced the Salmonbellies but this time in Toronto at the Maple Leaf Gardens. The Athletics took the Mann Cup, emblematic of lacrosse supremacy in Canada.

An athlete, Fitzgerald doesn't limit himself to lacrosse alone. His first national honor came to him early in basketball, when he was 15 years old. He was a member of the Hayes Steel basketball team that won the Canadian juvenile title. The Hayes team defeated the strong Montreal YMHA team.

Canadian Title

This year the Western grid star was also a member of the Western Mustangs' basketball squad, winners of the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union. Fitzgerald's solid 182 pounds in his height of 5' 10" filled the guard position for Johnny Metras' title-winning five.

During his first year at university in 1948 Fitzgerald grabbed a berth on the freshman football squad. Last fall he moved up to the senior team. His strong frame made him a "natural" for a plunging back and Coach Metras made full use of his power backs. Thus Fitzgerald plunged his way to another Canadian championship, the Intercollegiate football championship.

A Hard Job

Now Fitzgerald will probably meet one of his toughest assignments, teaching the minors lacrosse and filling in the position of Jack Foote, now a teacher in Owen Sound. Taking over for Foote, who won the admiration not only of the young lacrossers of Peterborough, but the older fans for his clean, fast play, will be a hard chore in itself.

During the past two years, Foote has built minor lacrosse in Peterborough to the point where the teams are considered as strong contenders for Ontario titles. Last year besides operating 21 teams smoothly, Foote taught the extra young fans during the day.

Georgetown Swamps Beavers 12-7 In Final

GEORGETOWN, April 13 (CP)—Georgetown Raiders swamped Sundridge Beavers 12-7 Wednesday night in the first game of a best-of-seven Ontario Hockey Association Intermediate final. Harvey Chappell led the Raiders with four goals and an assist while W. K. (Bucko) McDonald, Liberal Member of Parliament for Parry Sound-Muskoka who is playing-coach of the Beavers, scored two goals and two assists

"EXPORT"
CANADA'S FINEST CIGARETTE

SCORES TWO—Dootch Vitarelli scored two of Legion's four goals here last night, but they weren't enough and Brantford won 7-4. A rather cheap penalty in the third period to Dootch cost the local a brace of markers and probably the game.

Charge Referee Beat Biltmores

MONTREAL, April 13—(CP)—Guelph Biltmores were "beaten by one man" Tuesday night in their Eastern Canada Memorial Cup tussle with Montreal Canadiens, Evan Brill, president of the Guelph club, said Wednesday night.

He said referee Bill Morrison, of Oshawa, "went wild" in sending Biltmores from the ice for rough playing.

"We were accused of being rough," Brill said, "but we didn't start anything."

Guelph coach Alf Pike, onetime member of New York Rangers of the National Hockey League, "has always taught the boys to play clean," Bill added. "And they do."

Of the 11 penalties against Biltmores Tuesday night, seven were called by Morrison. Eight penalties were called against Canadiens who won the game 4-2 and took a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven final series.

Commenting on his team's chances for victory in tonight's second clash, Brill said:

"The kids are well pleased now. They had no rest after the trip here and were plenty tired when they met Canadiens Tuesday night."

Wm. Flint Prexy Softballers Of Girls' Loop

Bill Flint was elected president of the Girls Softball League last night at the annual meeting held in the YMCA. W. Cridland was named vice-president, Mrs. W. C. Bennett secretary, Bev Reynolds treasurer, Betty McMahon assistant treasurer, and Bill Bennett—the retiring president—will act in an advisory capacity.

There was a good turnout with all but one of last year's teams represented. Lindsay sent no word, but Millbrook is a strong possibility. The senior club proposition will be checked into further. Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights will be used again at the Bowl for double-headers, with the consent of the council.

The next meeting will be April 26 when all entries will be considered. Umpires should apply by letter only to W. Flint, 47 Park St. south. Prospects are bright for four good senior clubs as well as the junior entries.

TONIGHT AT THE BROCK—An all-star card has been signed from start to finish for tonight's wrestling at the Brock. The main bout brings together Yukon Eric and Sky-Hi Lee. These are two of the biggest and most colorful grapplers in the game today, but of vastly different styles. Warren Bockwinkle will oppose Lord Albert Mills, the rugged English nobleman, in the semi-final. The opening match will see Steve Stanlee tangling with "Strangler" Bob Wagner. A top-notch card.

Rangers Still Confident Wings Remain Favorites

TORONTO, April 13 (CP) — New York Rangers expect to tie up the Stanley Cup final against Detroit Red Wings here tonight.

Not in the least over-awed by Detroit's great record in league play, nor by Detroit's narrow victory over Toronto Maple Leafs in the cup semi-final, the Rangers figure they are on the march. They blame the loss of the first cup game at Detroit on over-confidence. Wings won the opener 4-1 at Detroit Tuesday.

This is the first time the Rangers have been in the cup final since 1940, when they beat Toronto for their third Stanley Cup triumph. The others were in 1928 and 1933.

We Can Beat Them

Ranger coach Lynn Patrick said flatly: "We can beat them." He put his players through a tough workout here Wednesday and made it plain he was disappointed in the initial defeat. Rangers had a 1-0 lead in the first game and Detroit scored all their goals in the second period. Patrick said "it looked as if they didn't care whether they won or lost. They didn't look hungry. We were too cocky after that first period.

The Rangers have 24 players available, including sub-goalie Emile Francis, up from the New Haven Ramblers and veteran of former seasons in the NHL with Chicago Black Hawks.

Get Day Off

Detroit Red Wings naturally are favorites to take the series on the record this winter. Coach Tommy Ivan gave his players the day off at Hamilton Wednesday. The Wings still show the effects of the gruelling semi-final against Toronto, that was decided only by Leo Reise's goal after more than eight minutes of overtime in the seventh game.

Ivan said that ace left-winger Ted Lindsay will start tonight, after being rested because of a back injury and Detroit lacks only only two players, Gordon Howe and Jimmy Peters. Howe, who suffered a head injury in the first semi-final game against Toronto, left hospital at Detroit on Wednesday, but is through for the season.

Sold Out

Maple Leaf Gardens has been sold out for tonight's game and the same situation is likely for the third game Saturday. The remainder of the best-of-seven series will be decided at Detroit. The crowded Gardens, watching two "foreign" teams in an NHL final for the first time, probably will root for the Rangers since it was Detroit that sent the home-town Leafs packing off for the summer in a bitterly-fought series.

Toronto Marlies Dump Sherbrooke Saints

SHERBROOKE, Que., April 13 (CP)— Toronto Marlboros, Ontario Hockey Association champions, Wednesday night defeated Sherbrooke Saints of the Quebec Senior Hockey League 7-4 in the opening game of the best-of-seven series in the Eastern Canada Allan Cup final.

It was the first and last Allan Cup playoff that residents of this Eastern Townships centre will see this season unless they travel to Toronto or Montreal.

Because the seating capacity of Sherbrooke's arena is only 4,500 all future games will be in Toronto or Montreal. The next two games are slated for Toronto Friday and Monday nights with the fourth and fifth, if necessary, to be played at the Montreal Forum

Lewicki Twice

It was the third period that told the tale in Wednesday night's game as Danny Lewicki fired home two counters to spark the Ontario champions to victory over the heavier, more experienced Sherbrooke sextet.

Bill (Red) Johnson also got a pair of markers for the winners, the other goals being credited to Al Buchanan, Gordie Hannigan and Bobby Hassard.

For the losers, it was Norm McAtee with a pair, Bill Heindl and Ray Barry with a singleton apiece.

Buchanan and Hannigan gave the visitors a two-goal edge in the opening session before McAtee tallied for Sherbrooke at 15.53, Johnson brought the count to 3-1 early in the second period while Sherbrooke had two goals called back.

That held up the game for several minutes while the ice was cleaned of programs and paper showered down by riled fans.

Sherbrooke Outshoot

Heindl put Sherbrooke back in the game midway through the second period and McAtee knotted the count at 3-3 near the 15-minute mark to round out scoring for that session.

Toronto went one up again on Hassard's effort and Lewicki put the game on ice with a pair of tallies within 23 seconds. Barry got one back for Sherbrooke but Johnson scored with 40 seconds left to wind up proceedings.

Sherbrooke outshot Marlboros 41-38.

Paul Scofield London's Leading Actor

By JOHN E. CARLOVA

LONDON — (Reuters) — Another Sir Laurence Olivier is looming on the London theatrical horizon.

As the curtain goes down at the Globe Theatre each night, loud applause is interspersed with calls for "Scofield, Scofield." And calmly — but with no mock modesty—28-year-old Paul Scofield comes forward for his bows sometimes as many as a dozen in a night.

The London matinee idol of the moment, Scofield is in the grand tradition of David Garrick and John Barrymore. Byronic-looking and slightly bombastic, he moves, speaks and gestures with style and authority. His virile thoroughly masculine stage presence appeals to men and women alike.

Although he now is enjoying his first popular success — in Christopher Fry's translation of Jean Anouilh's "Ring Around the Moon"—Scofield has long been acclaimed by critics. At 25, his "Hamlet" at Stratford-on-Avon was lauded as an interpretation of "brilliance and passionate sincerity."

Last year, when he played Alexander the Great in Terrance Rattigan's "Adventure Story," the critics ran out of superlatives. (Despite this the play failed to click with the public and folded after a short run.)

The distinguished manager-producer, Sir Barry Jackson, came across Scofield eight years ago when he was playing bits in London, liked his style and invited him to join the Birmingham Repertory Company.

Young Scofield built up a tremendous personal following in Birmingham, then moved on to Stratford.

Hit At Stratford

"From his very first appearance at Stratford," Sir Barry recalls, "Paul hit the heights. When he appeared as Don Amando in 'Love's Labor Lost' there was positive furore in the theatre.

Scofield was playing Shakespeare at Stratford—six different roles a week—when he had his first Hollywood offer. Flattered but unconvinced, he turned it down. He has since turned down a number of other movie offers, both American and British.

"I want to make a mark in the theatre first," he explains. "Hollywood may come later."

With his classic manner and photogenic features, however, there seems little doubt that Scofield will eventually wind up in that land of celluloid and happy endings.

If he does, he—and his wife, actress Joy Parker—can look back and laugh at all the musty boarding house staircases they had to climb to get to the top.

In his present part, Scofield has to display great physical as well as technical dexterity in the dual role of twins—one shy, the other arrogant. He must several times a night exit at one side of the stage, sprint backstage to the other side and reappear a few seconds later as his own twin.

So great is his art—and his speed — that there is never any doubt about which twin is which.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

The newly-appointed Ontario Racing Commission said Wednesday in Toronto there will be no night harness racing in the province under existing law.

Tupper Bigelow, chairman, announced that racing would not be permitted under the book system of wagering. Wagering by parimutuel at night would require an amendment of the Criminal Code. Therefore there could be no night racing at least until such a change was made.

A syndicate which has a lease on Toronto's Thorncliffe track has been endeavoring to get permission for harness racing under floodlights.

The commission, at its first meeting, also:

1. Approved 1950 running horse dates set last fall by the Incorporated Canadian Racing Association which the commission replaces.

places. The season therefore will start May 3 at Toronto's Dufferin Park.

2. Named W. J. Risewick as supervisor of racing, his duties to include liaison between the commission, the various tracks and racing associations.

3. Appointed R. L. Horrigan, secretary of the ICRA to a similar position on the commission.

4. Announced a $25 fee for each owner's licence.

5. Said other permanent appointments, to be made later, will include commission steward, assistant steward, analyst and veterinary.

The Montreal Gazette said today in a sport page story that Joseph M. Breen, well-known former Canadian athletic coach and official, will be asked to accept the post as the first commissioner of eastern Canada intercollegiate football.

Breen, one time grid star at the University of Toronto and a former coach at the University of Western Ontario, London, and Queen's University, Kingston, was one of three persons considered for the position, the report said. Others were Leslie Blackwell, former Attorney-General of Ontario, and Lt.-Col. Stuart Forbes, former McGill University coach.

London's big-time sports promoters are urging a complete ban of television of current British sport. These promoters, among whom are Sir Arthur Elvin, boss of Wembley Stadium, where the 1948 Olympic games were held, and Frank Gentle, a greyhound-racing boss, called a meeting of sports authorities March 24 to outline plans for bringing the British Broadcasting Corporation into line on payment for television rights.

A one-time member of Toronto Argonauts football champions and of Senior Ontario Hockey Association championship teams, Charles Frederick Hill, 73, died Wednesday at Richmond Hill.

He was an Argo player when the team won the Senior Ontario Football championship in 1901 and of the Wellington Hockey Club that won OHA championships from 1900 to 1903.

Jockey's One Victory "Gracious Gesture"

SYDNEY, Australia, April 13—(AP)—An Australian sports columnist today described as a "gracious gesture" Johnny Longden's victory Wednesday astride Groom, a 12 to 1 shot, in the all aged stakes at Randwick track.

David McNicoll, Daily Telegraph columnist, wrote of Longden's victory "the age of chivalry is not dead. . . Lots of bettors at Randwick thought that rival jockeys rode very casually against Longden."

J. Donohoe, chief steward of the Australian Jockey Club, said "so far as the all aged stakes is concerned I saw nothing that warrants an inquiry." He said he impressed on local jockeys that Longden, international known jockey, was not to be given any advantages.

"I don't need to have any jockey pull any horse for me," said Longden. He will depart for the United States Friday. While here Longden rode in 12 races and won one.

Port Colborne Wins 7-3 Over Tillsonburg

PORT COLBORNE, April 13—(CP)—Port Colborne Merchants took a two-game jump over Gananoque Legionnaires and Tillsonburg Chevwoods in their OHA intermediate A round robin championship series when they topped Tillsonburg 7-3 Wednesday night after trailing in the first period.

It was the Ports' second straight victory in the series.

The rough-contest saw the winners rally from behind a 3-2 first period deficit for four unanswered goals.

Roughness started early in the game and was aggravated by disputes over goals, in the first and second period, that barely made the net corners.

But half way through the game, there was no mistaking who the masters were as Merchants laid on the power plays, bottling Tillsonburg in the end zones.

Spectators traded blows during the game with at least two fights in the galleries.

The Merchants, who are Canadian intermediate A defending champions, would assure themselves of being one of the two finalists of the round robin to meet for the title if they defeat Ganaoque Legionnaires again Thursday night. They whipped Gananoque 6-3 at Kingston Monday to open the series.

SEVEN VIRTUES

The seven cardinal virtues are faith, hope, charity, prudence, justice, fortitude and temperance.

Coach Takes Over During Series, Produces Wins

PORT ARTHUR, April 13 (CP)—Leo Barbini's head does more than support that flashy feathered fedora — as any Port Arthur hockey fan will tell you.

Barbini, 32-year-old mentor of the Bruins, is the man who took over the team on their doleful return from two merciless drubbings by Brandon Wheat Kings at Brandon, Tuesday his charges won the Western Canada Memorial Cup semi-final.

Today his garish trademark — the canary chapeau garnished with screaming multi-colored feathers—is a thing of beauty to his townsmen.

Taking over the coaching reins from Bernard (Bones) McCormack after the debacle in Brandon, Barbini led, coaxed or drove Bruins to take four of the next five games in the best-of-seven series. His team now enters the western final against Regina Pats.

The series opens here tonight, with another game in the best-of-seven encounter scheduled for Saturday.

As coach of Fort William's Canadiens two years ago Barbini was suspended for pulling his team off the ice during the 1947-48 Thunder Bay finals against Bruins.

The following fall his suspension was lifted and he went to Stratford, where he coached until this season.

He returned to coach Fort William Canadiens before joining Bruins. Observers here say his appointment was not an overnight decision.

He attended both Bruins' games at Brandon, where the lakeheaders took 8-2 and 7-1 trouncings, and he mixed freely with the players.

After the second clash he told Bruins' officials:

"You can beat that club. I'm positive you can."

His prophesy came true when Bruins won the next three games, lost one, then clinched the series.

Calgary Win, Score 4 Within Five Minutes

EDMONTON, April 13—(CP)—Calgary's unpredictable Stampeders Wednesday night caught fire long enough in the third period to whip the never-say-die Kamloops Elks 6-3 and advance to the Western Canada Cup finals. They will meet Fort Frances Canadians.

The Cowboys, who have won their last two best-of-seven playoff series by coming from behind to win four straight games, were trailing by one goal when they pumped in four counters within four minutes and 45 seconds.

The Elks, who led 1-0 after the first period and 2-1 at the end of the second session, thus lost the playoff round four games to one.

Connie Mack Has 50th Anniversary

PHILADELPHIA, April 13 — (AP)—Connie Mack began today a week-long whirl of parties and speeches honoring his golden aniversary season—but the ageless baseball veteran wasn't feeling very festive.

Frankly, the 87-year-old owner-manager of Philadelphia Athletics were was downright worried.

A month ago, Mack's Athletics were being boomed as a first-rate flag threat in the American League, and Connie joyously looked forward to "that one more pennant" that has been eluding him for 19 years.

But Mack's joy has turned to gloom. Mostly, what has happened has been to his pitchers, and practically all has been bad.

His two leading right handers, Joe Coleman and Toronto-born Dick Fowler, developed arm trouble and may be out of action indefinitely. Southpaws Lou Brissie and Alex Kellner have been battered in spring training games by minor league opposition. And he hasn't a reliable relief pitcher on his roster.

With these worries on his mind, Mack embarked on the aniversary festivities commemorating his 50th consecutive season as manager of the Athletics, a feat unequalled in history and one which likely never will be matched.

Aces Get Title In Playoff Over Luckies

Aces defeated Lucky Strikes last night to capture the championship of the YMCA Senior Ladies' Bowling League in a playoff at the Y. They took it by 121 pins, after Luckies were up 20 at the end of the second game. Betty Castle's 301 single did the trick for Aces. While none rolled 600, there were some neat singles, including 246 by Beryl Ccumrik and 219 by Joyce Duffus. Aces rolled 1022 single. The results:

LUCKY STRIKES—J. Jiffries 530, D. Woods 520, A. Merrett 462, M. Menzies 136, B. Csumrik 594., M. Johnson 335; total 2577.

YPU At St. James Presents A Farce

St. James' Y.P.U. presented a three-act farce—"False Alarm"—Wednesday in the church auditorium.

It told the story of a young man who suffered from a magnificent inferiority complex, but who finally made the first $50,000 of his first million, and who, by the end of the third act, was ready to marry his lifelong sweetheart and live happily ever after.

Art Dixon did a very good job as the nervous young man, perhaps better than he portrayed the successful young scientist who had just sold a miracle shaving soap to a drug firm for a large pot of money.

Harcourt Frayne, a young man with an immense opinion of himself, was done to a turn by Jack Lewis, and the illiterate maid of the Bogue family, was played well by Ethel Menzies.

Edith Sucee, who was Susan Bogue the lifelong sweetheart, started well, but was unable to maintain the standard. The rest of the Bogue family, Mrs. Northrup and her nasty child, Lotta Lester, and Detective Barker were played by Bill Piercy, Joan Munro, Vera Derrett, Phyllis Manley, Beverly Gibson and Tony Burns.

Mr. Burns directed and produced the play.

COMMISSIONER HONORED — Many prominent citizens attended the recent reception for Commissioner D. C. Lamb of the Salvation Army held at Montreal. Shown here are left to right: Donald Gordon, chairman and president, Canadian National Railways; Commissioner Lamb; Hon. Wilfed Bovey, and Hon. J. A. Mathewson, K.C. Commissioner Lamb is currently making a four-month good-will tour of this continent and following the reception he left Montreal for Detroit. He will return to Britain this summer before starting out on a similar tour of Australia and New Zealand.

Former Normal Grad Dies In Niagara Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., April 13 (CP)—Mrs. Emma Anne Crop, an active welfare worker and former teacher, died Wednesday at her home. She was a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club, the Red Cross Society and the Stamford Chapter of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

She graduated from Peterborough Normal School in 1910.

Seized Money Returned To Man

TORONTO, April 13 (CP) — The Crown will return the $1,250 seized from Stanley Grzelczak, 52-year-old Polish born laborer, who pleaded guilty Wednesday to illegal possession of U. S. funds and was fined $350. A second charge of attempting to export the currency was withdrawn.

Grzelczak worked 23 years to save up a total of $1,450 to bring his wife and sons from Poland and when he sailed for Poland in 1949 he took $200 with him, leaving the rest in a suitcase which was to follow him. The suitcase however, was inspected and the money was seized at the U. S. border at Fort Erie.

At the court appearance Wednesday Ald. Joseph M. Gould, counsel for the Foreign Exchange Department, said that the seized money would be returned to the accused.

Two Companies Bid In BC To Build Aluminum Plant

VANCOUVER, April 13 (CP)—The Aluminum Company of Canada and the Aluminum Company of America are vying for water-power rights in northern British Columbia for development of a proposed $500,000,000 aluminum plant at Tidewater.

The Canadian company is planning an all-Canadian project with a reduction plant capable of producing 300,000 tons of aluminum ingots a year at Kitimat, 400 miles up the coast from Vancouver.

Kitimat is less than 100 miles from Terrance and other points on the Canadian National Railways line. The water power would come from the Nechako river area east of Kitimat.

The American company has plans for a plant near Skagway in Alaska. But this would have to be powered from a dam-site in Canadian territory.

Back Canadian Co.

Lands Minister Kenney of British Columbia said last week: "The government of B. C. is solidly behind the Aluminum Company of Canada in the project, with the reduction plant in B. C. —at Kitimat."

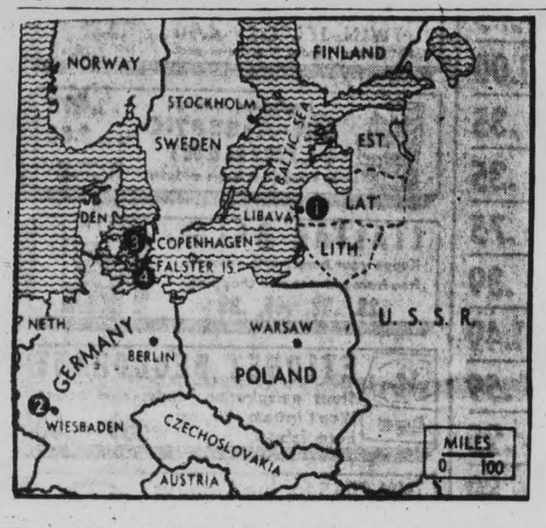
Industrialists here said the B. C. government might have strong objections to export of water power for the benefit of an American manufacturing plant in Alaska.

One of the main difficulties feared by Aluminum Company of Canada is construction of a 50-mile power transmission line between the dam-site and Kitimat.

Studies of the proposed route will be made next winter. The line would have to cross a 6,000-foot mountain range between the powerhead and reduction plant. Heavy icing conditions make line-building and maintenance an unknown hazard.

Cracking St. Lawrence

MONTREAL, April 13 (CP)—The Beaverglen, a Canadian Pacific cargo liner, is expected to tie up at Quebec City tonight on the last lap of the race to open the port of Montreal. Skippered by Capt. T. Soame, the Beaverglen will pick up a cargo of Bacon at Quebec and then, weather permitting, will continue on her way to Montreal.



COLD WAR INCIDENT — A Russian note of protest charged that an American "B-29 Superfortress" flew over Latvian territory near Libava (1) and fired on a Russian fighter. Although the US Air Force and Navy denied that any American plane violated Soviet boundaries, a missing Navy Privateer could have been in Latvia at the time of the attack. The Privateer left Wiesbaden, Germany (2) on a round-trip to Copenhagen, Denmark (3) and was last reported over Falster Island (4).

Suffered Weak Spell

OWEN SOUND, April 13 (CP)—Police said Wednesday night they believe that 53-year-old Frederick A. Cottingham, found unconscious Tuesday night, suffered a weak spell while carrying gasoline to his stalled automobile. Cottingham, found on No. 26 Highway a mile east of Owen Sound, is believed to have struck his head when he fell on the road.

Russia Has 200 Subs, None Said Very Fast

OTTAWA, April 13 (CP) — Lord Eraser of North Cape told a press conference Wednesday that Russia may have as many as 200 submarines but that none of them are "very fast."

However, the Admiral of the British fleet predicted that given time—about five years—the Russians may develop a fleet of underwater craft that may prove of great danger.

But such democracies as the United Kingdom, the United States and Canada were keeping abreast of anti-submarine developments. As long as this development work was kept up, the "submarine anxiety" would be no greater than it has been in the past.

"We've got to keep up the work," Britain's first Sea Lord said. "The danger is not so much now as in the future."

Choir Director Dies

TORONTO, April 13 —(CP)— Cesar Borre, 70, noted choir director and opera conductor, and former staff member of St. Peter's Seminary at London, Ont., died Wednesday at his home here. Prof. Borre suffered a heart attack last Sunday after directing the St. Basil's Church choir at Easter morning high mass.

Paraplegics Dance Quadrille On Wheels

EDMONTON, —(CP)— "Down the centre cutting off six, lady go gee and the gent go haw."

Two gay figures in wheelchairs moved out of a group of eight and circled towards each other, arms pushing rhythmically as they concentrated on their intricate quadrille.

The "dancers" were men and women paraplegics of Mewburn veterans' hospital here.

Their public appearance recently marked the first exhibition of wheel-chair dancing in Canada It didn't last long. The minutes is about the maximum time a paraplegic can exercise his arm and back muscles without risking over-exertion.

It's a scene that may be repeated extensively across Canada in paraplegic hospitals in coming months. Dorothy Thompson, the moving spirit of the Mewburn group, plans to round up city paraplegics and form an Edmonton branch of the national paraplegic association.

They would square dance at regular monthly meetings and inevitably, she feels, their example would be followed at other paraplegic branches across the country.

Once a leading ballet dancer here before she was stricken with paralysis 11 years ago, Miss Thompson brought the square-dancing scheme with her from a California hospital. She suggested the idea to Harold Wright, D. V. A. recreational director in Edmonton.

Only last month the Mewburn paraplegics started their square-dancing with three 10-minute sessions a day. Their public appearance followed two weeks later.

AID POLIO VICTIMS

It is estimated that medical cost for a single polio case today averages $2,000, and that 85 per cent of all new cases are assisted by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Toronto May Stop Sunday Sports

TORONTO, April 13— (CP) — Premier Frost of Ontario said Wednesday the Toronto city council has power under the recently-enacted Sunday sports act to bar sports on any Sunday it deems fit.

He commented on a suggestion made at a Toronto Board of Control meeting that sports be prohibited on Easter Sunday or on Christmas Day when it fell on a Sunday.

"It is entirely up to the city," the Premier said. "They can bar sports on Easter, Christmas or any other Sunday, whenever they want to."

Canadians Have Developed U.S. Appetite But They Must Sell To Europe And U.K. To Satisfy It

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Two important facts concerning Canadian trade and our manner of living are presented graphically by John A. Marsh, general manager of the Canadian Exporters' Association.

First: Our appetite for material things has been whetted by American advertising and selling, and our ability to gratify those tastes has been determined mainly by our success in selling to Europe. And Mr. Marsh adds:

"Chief among those attractive markets is the United Kingdom, and we in Canada, government and trader alike, must not assume that we have explored every avenue and exhausted every effort to have trade resumed between us, because we have not.

Needs Markets

"There can be no wise attitude of disinterested witness on the part of Canada to the problems of either the United Kingdom or Europe. The plain fact is that Canada needs Old Country markets fully as much as they need ours."

The second idea put forward by Mr. Marsh is this:

The achievement of industrialization by countries now under-developed does not mean that they need cease to be our customers. For:

"Industrialization means higher standards of living and the creation of appetites by sub-standard peoples for the same luxuries which we in the new world enjoy.

Nations Interdependent

"We are a great exporting nation but, despite our degree of self-sufficiency, we are also the greatest per capita importing nation in the world. Our industrial resource has not diminished our propensity for buying abroad, it has accentuated it. The raising of standards of living does not make nations self-sufficient. It makes them interdependent."

Mr. Marsh presented these ideas Wednesday in an address to the Electrical Club of Montreal. He also outlined the considerable difficulties which are handicapping countries in the trade which they need to do with one another, but he gave the following favorable factors in Canada's position:

"Barring the atom bomb, bacterial warfare and a third world war, standards of living throughout the world can go only one way: up, not down, and the increased purchasing power will enhance the export position of both primary and secondary products in the 'have nations,' of which Canada is one.

"Our geographical position gives us shipping advantage to both the Orient and Occident with a goodly proportion of our products to be found on both coasts for overseas shipment.

Power The Key

"The manufacturing world of the future will be led by nations possessing electric and atomic power. The workman of the North American continent has more horsepower at his finger tips than any workman in the world and need not be costed or engineered out of the market by the workman of any nation.

"Canada has across her only national boundary the greatest active market in the world and the nation with the greatest buying power. Though not entirely complementary in needed products, there are sufficient geographical differences to make mutual trade a steady and abiding thing."

Fairview Farm Forum Ends Season At Supper

FAIRVIEW, April 13—(ENS)—The farm radio forum concluded the winter series of meetings at a supper this week in the Orange Hall, Nassau. More than 60 forum members and their families attended.

Terry Huffman, of Peterborough, entertained playing chimes, vibraphone and marimba. Harry Lockington was responsible for showing three color films.

George Lockington was appointed secretary for the coming year and Harold Lewis moved a vote of thanks to Leo Allan, the retiring secretary.

The suggestion was put forward by Mrs. Clarence Mann that the forum charter a bus to Guelph during Farmers' Week.

Mirror, Mirror

SILVER SPRING, Md., April 13—(AP)—A bird has been annoying Mrs. Frances Browning for four days, by pecking at her window pane.

Mrs. Browning says the bird won't stop pecking until she raises the window shades. Then it sits on the lawn and glares.

A policeman went around to investigate.

The policeman reported he did not get the bird, but he did have an explanation for its behaviour. He said it was a woodpecker and that it simply was pecking at the reflection of a tree in Mrs. Browning's windows.

Crushed By Truck

OTTAWA, April 13 (CP)—Six-year-old Raymond Baldry was killed almost instantly when crushed under the rear wheels of a truck Wednesday afternoon. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baldry of Ottawa. Police said the boy dashed from between two cars parked in front of St. Anne's Hall on St. Patrick Street right into the path of the truck.

Bevin Has Operation

LONDON, April 13—(AP)—Foreign Secretary Bevin today underwent an operation for the removal of piles. The Foreign Office said he was "quite comfortable". Bevin decided to undergo the operation this week so that he will be recovered before the Big Three foreign ministers and the council of Atlantic foreign ministers meet here next month.

DISCOVERED RIVER

The Mississippi River was discovered by Fernando DeSoto, a Spanish explorer, in 1541.

Yellow-Daubed Stand Doubles Paper Sales

NEW YORK—CP)—A mirror and a coat of yellow paint for his news stand doubled newspaper sales for Natale Costa, 63.

"Yellow's the best for a customer," he said, explaining why he converted the green stand to a vivid canary yellow last year.

"It wakes 'em up, just like the sun in the morning. When they get here, they got to open their eyes, and then they remember to buy a paper."

A conveniently placed mirror is another asset.

"You'd be surprised," said Costa. "Men, women, they pass here, they stop, they holler: 'Oh gee, I got dirt on my nose'. They thank me and most likely buy a paper."

Remember When—

Boxing was legalized in Chicago 24 years ago today after city fathers ballotted in ratification of the state law. Boxing had been prohibited in the Windy City since early in the century.

Bixbys Take Off

HONOLULU, April 13—(AP)—The Flying Bixbys took off from Midway at 1.50 p.m. Honolulu time (6.50 p.m. EST) Wednesday for San Francisco on their thwarted try for a round-the-world flight record. The takeoff was announced here by the Civil Aeronautics Administration which said the Bixbys' flight plan called for them to reach San Francisco, starting point of their record attempt, in 10 hours.

Get Red Water

COOKSVILLE, April 13—(CP)—Residents of this town west of Toronto get red-colored water from their taps. Town Clerk Herbert Pinchin says red clay has entered an intake pipe in the Credit River caused the coloring. A filter system soon to be installed is expected to improve matters.

I WANT 2000 PEOPLE TO TRY SYNTONA FOR ONLY 25 CENTS

SUFFERERS FROM STOMACH TROUBLE, WEAK KIDNEYS, LAZY LIVER, NERVOUSNESS AND GENERAL RUNDOWN CONDITION

WHAT IT IS!

SYNTONA is an advanced medical compound of 12 of the finest medicinal herbs, and not one a habit-forming drug. It is taken before meals and mixes with the food in one's stomach, thus throwing off the poisons that foster stomach troubles. It acts within 10 minutes to stop gas and pains, sourness, bloating and belching. At the same time SYNTONA drives the poison from the kidneys and relieves backaches, bladder irritations and weakness.

WHAT IT DOES!

It acts on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It DRIVES out rheumatic and neuritis pains, puts a stop to boils, pimples and other common blood disorders by ELIMINATING THE CAUSE! It builds strong, healthy nerves. It will free your system of its oversupply of acidity. Those ravaging acids that accumulate and irritate your stomach — fill you with gas — sour your food and cause constipation.

Now, whether SYNTONA will help you as it has thousands of others—whether it will end your sufferings in a day or week — remains to be seen, but in light of what it has done for others, it is surely a mistake not to try it for 25c, only a fraction of its worth. Mrs. H. Challice Re-elected President Of WI

BETHANY, April 13 (ENS — The Women's Institute re-elected Mrs. H. L. Challice president by acclamation at the annual meeting Monday at the home of Mrs. T. S. Gault. Other officers are:

Secretary, Mrs. Harold Sanderson; assistant secretary, Mrs. W. R. Price; first vice-president, Mrs. Clarke Pomeroy; second vice-president, Mrs. Ross Carr; treasurer, Mrs. Mansell Finney; sick and visiting committee, Mrs. T. J. Jackson and Mrs. William Phillips; gift committee, Mrs. H. Ryley and Mrs. F. W. Reynolds; auditors, Miss Lily Thompson and Mrs. H. Ryley; district director, Mrs. T. Jennings.

The members were divided into four groups, leaders of groups one, two, three and four being Mrs. T. Jackson and Mrs. Leonard Driver, Mrs. Clarence Page and Mrs. H. Bristow, Mrs. Mansell Finney and Mrs. T. Jennings, Mrs. T. Malcomson and Mrs. William Phillips.

The appointment of conveners for standing committees was left to the May meeting.

The treasurer reported a bank balance of $55. It was decided to apply for the short course entitled "Let's Cook It Right."

Reports from conveners revealed the past year had been a success.

The district annual meeting will be held in Cavan next month and as many members as possible were requested to attend.

Group singing was led by Mrs. T. Jennings, who also gave an amusing puppet dance. Mrs. T. S. Gault gave an account of the city of Peterborough in England.

Reports Full Program

Mrs. Ross Carr, publicity convener, gave a paper on the work of the Bethany Institute. The Institute had sponsored a junior home-making club known as the Glad I Canners, and the project had been well worth while. An open house meeting was held in November, which the community attended and heard a lecture by Walter Reynolds on farm conservation and the beautifying of homes, demonstrating with pictures a recent project on the Downe's farm at Brooklyn.

Members' babies have been presented with bank books and an initial account of $1. The sick have been visited and boxes of fruit sent to those in hospital.

An English Institute, Bewcastle Bailey, has been "adopted" and parcels of food sent at regular intervals.

The piano, purchased some years ago, was presented to the township council for use in the town hall. Mrs. Clara Armstrong, past treasurer, had been made a life member in recognition of her long membership and faithful services. Interesting papers had been given throughout the year on agriculture and Canadian industries, citizenship, home economics, public relationship, education, historical research, etc.

A social hour was enjoyed during which the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Clarence Page, Mrs. T. Jennings and Mrs. W. R. Price, served lunch.

Mrs. Emma Kellett invited the members to her home for the May meeting, which will be in charge of group four under the leadership of Mrs. T. Malcomson and Mrs. William Phillips.

WITH HIS FAMILY quartered in a "home" fashioned from rubble, Anton Strack conducts a business in scrap iron on the sidewalk outside the dwelling in Frankfurt, Germany. The scrap iron, along with Strack's livelihood, comes from war-ruined buildings. But despite their own plight the residents seem to have been sentimental enough to erect a bird house over their wretched home. In LOWER, members of the Strack household huddle in their "sleeping room." The room contains a stove, petroleum lamp, chair, cupboard and two beds, where all four members of the family sleep.

NOT TOO CLOSE

Carbon tetrachloride, a solvent used in many types of cleaning fluid, is highly poisonous when breathed as a concentrated vapor or taken internally as a fluid.

Free Few Hours

SMITHS FALLS, April 13 (CP) —Two men who made their escape from Smiths Falls jail on Tuesday morning enjoyed only a few hours of borrowed freedom. They were both back in custody Tuesday night. George St. Louis, 28, of Ottawa, was picked up by detectives at Ottawa after he registered at the YMCA. Francis Lalonde, 31, also of Ottawa, was picked up several hours after his escape when he attempted to hitch a ride in a police car.

United Church Would Accept Bishop System

TORONTO, April 13 (CP) — The United Church of Canada Commission on Re-union Wednesday recommended that every member pledge himself "to seek to achieve organic union as a final goal of our endeavors.

The Commission report also indicated that the United church would be willing to accept a system of bishops "in some constitutional form."

Acceptance of the episcopate, which "was for many centuries and by the greater part of Christendom: is still accepted, would not be considered as committing us to any particular doctrine of the episcopate," the report said.

Under the "Anglican system," bishops appoint rectors to particular churches after consultation with the congregation. In the United church the congregation calls the minister of its choice, usually after hearing several candidates preach.

The report said any eventual decision on union would remain with the "rank and file" members of the church. Even if present conversations were successful and a plan agreed upon, it could not be authoritative unless it awakened "an answering response" from the membership.

Trapped Man Freed

BARRIE, Ont., April 13 (CP)—A squad of firemen Wednesday night rescued Harold T. Smith after he was pinned an hour and a half in a narrow trench. A chunk of frozen earth fell in on Smith when he dug down six feet alongside his house to let seepage water out of his basement.

Don't Throw It Away; Give It To The Museum

By VAL SEARS

VANCOUVER, April 13 (CP) —Tomorrow's historian may owe a debt to the man who collects your garbage.

Those cans, comic books, old shoes and left-over foods that go into your ashcan every morning have a story to tell—if you know how to read it.

Dr. Charles E. Borden of the University of British Columbia has been "reading" Indian refuse dumps for years and is slowly piecing together a history of the life, culture, dramatic tragedy and simple heroism of Indians on the coast of the Pacific Northwest some four or five centuries ago.

"If future archeologists, let us say 1,000 years hence, were to investigate our refuse dumps, they could . . learn a great deal about the life and culture of the people who had discarded these ittms," Dr. Borden said in an interview.

These Indian garbage heaps, called mounds or middens, exist all along the Pacific coast, but one of the most significant for historial purpose is at Boundary Bay, about 10 miles south of here on the Canada-United States border.

There, Dr. Borden has just completed excavations that reveal a pattern of invasion and disaster that wiped out an early B. C. culture.

His findings show that northern Indians of the Athabaskan tribes, equipped with superior "secret weapons" of hard stone, and with a culture which in many ways was far superior to that of any other tribes, moved slowly down the B. C. coast and gradually wiped out the older, more domestic tribes.

Our present-day Indians, he says, are a synthesis of these two people, the invaders and the invaded.

Other archeologists, studying the language of the Pacific coast tribes and eastern Indians, have theorized that somewhere in the west was a "super-race" of redmen from which a number of eastern tribes, including the Algonquin, sprang.

The similarity of language, Dr. Borden agrees, may suggest it somewhere in the western part of the continent lies the "cradle" of many of North America's Indian tribes.

A record crowd jammed Edmonton Arena in 1923 to watch the Commercial Graduates play a top American squad. The prize was the first International Women's Basketball title—and a chance at the world championship.

The Grads had fought their way from the high school finals to become Dominion Champs. With the same spirit they chalked up two straight wins over the Americans. Europe was next . . . and without a loss, they became the first World Champion Women's Basketball Team.

Close teamwork and sportsmanship have won many firsts for Canadians. And teamwork, with sportsmanship, helps you, too—in work and play. Together they keep your scope for opportunity in Canada . . . unlimited.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

By DON GRANT

Arrangements have been made by the Department of Lands and Forests and the Peterborough Boy Scout Association to hold an Arbour Day, May 13, Commissioner George Groombridge announced today.

Although plans are only in the preliminary stages, the local association hopes to have between 60 and 80 Scouts accompanied by at least 20 fathers, to plant trees in the Ganaraska valley. They will leave Peterborough at 8 a.m. and spend the day in this important conservation work. Transportation arrangements to and from the valley are still indefinite.

21st Birthday

More than 125 former and present Scouts, Cubs and leaders are expected out to celebrate St John's Anglican Church 21st birthday in Scouting this Friday. The Rev. H. R. Howden, former assistant scoutmaster and at present a minister in Toronto, will be the guest speaker. His speech will be on Peterborough's centennial and the church's birthday in Scouting.

The St. John's troop was a started in 1928 with the first boys training under the present District Commissioner, G. E. Groombridge, then a Scout with the St Luke's Troop. The pack started along its way the same year under the leadership of William Coleman, who died after returning from a leaders' training course at Gilwell. Frank Pammett then took over the position as cubmaster.

In 1938 the Rover Crew was formed. Mr. Groombridge left the troop to take over the leadership of the crew. Fred Ford, the present Scout Commissioner, was promoted to Scouter of the troop.

Cub Leaders' Course

Tonight will see the final round of the Cub Leaders' training course in All Saints' church Parish Hall. The Belleville group, which led the training period at the last meeting, will be here again this week. Akela Bill King holder of the Gilwell Badge, will be in charge of the period with the assistance of Art Jackson, provincial commissioner.

Map Hikes

Scout Commissioner Fred. Ford is forming a committee to lay plans for several hikes for Scouts and leaders. The first expedition is expected to be around May 24. Those taking part in the hikes will be travelling with the aid of maps and compasses over picked broken country.

Plan Ontario Moot

A committee from the Rover Round Table will be guests of the Peterborough association April 30, when the Rovers will be here to discuss the 1950 Rover Moot. They will visit the Kosh Lake district, a possible site of the camp.

At the March meeting in Hamilton, the Rovers accepted the invitation extended by Peterborough to hold the moot here this year. Many of the Rovers remember the rugged site at Bald Lake in 1937 and wish to have such a moot again.

Besides Ontario Rovers, invitations will be sent to United States and Quebec crews. An expected 350 Rovers will go through the program of strenuous and rugged activities.

Hold Investiture

Bridgenorth Scout troop will have its first investiture April 21 in the Orange Hall. Scouts from Curve Lake, Lakefield and Peterborough will attend. The commissioner staff of the city will also be present.

With The Rovers

All Saints Rover Crew has changed its meeting night to Monday. At the last meeting two new candidates were welcomed, Ken White and Bob Webb. Skipper Art Rose was in charge of the meeting and conducted a debate on whether 16-year-olds should be admitted into the crew.

All Saints Pack

After the opening Howl and a game period, the following badges were presented: team players, Scott Morley, Jimmy Parker, Gar White, Bob Hollingsworth, Keith Latchford; house orderly Gar White; swimmers, Ken Aulbrook; gardeners, Paul Foster; artists, Bob Hollingsworth; Red Cross, Scott Morley with honors.

Owing to the promotion of six Cubs into the Scout troop, new sixers and seconders were chosen. They will be announced next week.

Approve Badges

Badge Secretary Charles Johnson announces the approval of the following badge awards: Scout Proficiency Badges, St. Lukes, Darrell Tipsett (marksman), All Saints, Kelvin Johnson (cyclist) and Colin Ray (artists); Cub Proficiency Badges, St. Lukes, Terry Mulcahy (toymakers).

Scouting Around

Edmonton— Awarded a Silver Cross, the lifesaving 13-year-old Scout, Walter Olney of Slave Lake, Alberta, recently visited Edmonton as a guest of the Edmonton Boy Scout Council. During a radio broadcast he was asked to name three things he wished to do while in the city. Like magic his wishes were granted: a plane ride as a guest of the Edmonton flying club; a ride in a police motor cycle side car with the siren wide open; a slide down the big brass pole at the fire station.

Port Hope—Plans for sending as many boys as possible to the American Scout Jamboree in July were under discussion at the Port Hope Boy Scout Association meeting last week. Some money has already been raised by the boys and it was decided that the Association would aid in the expenses by making up the difference between any amount raised by the Scouts over $50 to the requisite $100. Resources will be pooled in order to allow as many as possible to attend.

CHAPEAUX BY DOUGLAS Melville were just whipped together from any pieces of hardware stock that took his fancy. They caused much comment in a George St., store window last week and many people came back for a second look. Funnels, sponges, garbage can lids, sink strainers, paint brushes and dish mops went into the creations. Douglas, Left, explains the secrets of his art to Gordon Freeman. It took them four hours to create this chic collection. Examiner Staff Photo.

New Zealand Abolishes Land Sales Control Rules

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

WELLINGTON, N.Z., (CP) — Fulfilling its election pledge to free private enterprise from many of the controls and restrictions maintained by the Labor adminstration, New Zealand's new government is steadily wiping out long-standing regulations.

Abolition of land sales control regulations, except on farm land, has so far not resulted in any skyrocketing of prices. Buyers and sellers have both shown caution. Deals have mostly been at higher prices than the controlled rates which previously applied officially, but at lower prices than the black market rates at which a large proportion of real estate deals were made in fact.

The government now has abolished price controls on 100 further items, including many professional fees, newspaper advertising, commercial printing, brushware, haberdashery, stationery, and a large range of industrial goods.

Merchants consider that a large number of additional items could be freed without causing any price increases of importance as the supply position has improved considerably.

The National Party government's latest move has been the removal of restrictions on funds and securities held overseas in the sterling area. Hitherto New Zealanders have had to declare and offer to the Reserve Bank all overseas funds wherever held. Though this restriction is maintained for dollar funds, they may now dispose of funds held in sterling area as they wish and sharebrokers can again deal in overseas securities on the local market without reference to the Reserve Bank.

Prime Minister Sidney Holland declared: "This to a great extent restores the freedom formerly enjoyed by New Zealanders to spend their own money in whatever manner they see fit. This is another step in the government's policy of cancelling as far as is immediately practicable restrictions which cut across the rights of the people."

Women Crying Visit Chapel Of Dead Nyinsky

LONDON, April 13 (Reuters)—Weeping women every day this week have made pilgrimages to a sombre little funeral chapel here to kneel in homage to the embalmed body of Vaslav Nijinsky, the genius of the dance.

Nijinsky will be buried Friday at Saint Marylebone's cemetery in the Finchley district of London.

Ballet stars of today—all too young to have seen Nijinsky perform at the start of the century when he was acclaimed the greatest male dancer of all time—will be there to mourn along with many of his own contemporaries.

Public Allowed

The public is allowed to visit the chapel in Baker street where the body lies in state. The scene is almost like the decor of one of the Daighleff ballets which the great dancer graced.

The coffin is draped in blue and gold. On Nijinsky's breast lies a spray of deep red roses and fragile narcissi.

Famous dancers, including Anton Dolin, have come to kneel by the coffin. Madame Nijinsky, the faithful wife who tended her husband through years of mental illness, renews the roses in the chapel every day.

CANADIANS IN NEW YORK — Navy hospitality was extended to two Canadian airmen on leave when the Canadian Navy flotilla of three ships visited New York City during the Easter week-end. The ships, HMCS Magnificent, Micmac and Swansea, left New York April 12 on the return trip to Halifax after Caribbean manoeuvres. Shown in a seamen's mess aboard Magnificent enjoying a cup of tea and examining souvenirs are left to right: OS. Doug Cox, Kingston, Ont.; AC. Andre Smith, Montreal; AB. Glider Crosses English Channel

BRUSSELS, April 13 (Reuters)—Two Britons Wednesday flew across the English Channel in a glider to Belgium—a feat performed only once before.

Lorne Welch, 33-year-old chief instructor to the Surrey Gliding Club, flew from Redhill, Surrey, to Brussels in 6½ hours, a distance of 203 miles.

Flt. Lt. John Miller flew from the RAF glider school at Detling, Kent, to Coxyde on the Belgian coast. His time and distance were not immediately announced.

The Chanel was first crossed by a glider when G. H. Stevenson flew from Dunstable, Bedfordshire, to the beach at Calais in 1939.

Asks Private Stations Be Allowed Have TV

OTTAWA, April 13 (CP)—The Canadian Association of Broadcasters would like to see private radio stations given the major role in the development of television in Canada.

William Guild, chairman of the C.A.B. board of directors, said Wednesday before the Royal Commission on Arts and Science that private stations should be allowed to operate the television stations in this country. The role of the publicly-owned CBC would be the production of programs that would be carried over the private TV stations.

The C.A.B., whose membership includes about 100 of the 120-odd stations in Canada, felt it was a "shame" that the Canadian people have been "denied" the opportunity to have the blessings of television.

Chrysler, Union Near Agreement Observers Say

By GLEN ENGLE

DETROIT, April 13. (AP)—An end to the 78-day Chrysler strike by Monday was foreseen by observers in a position to know how negotiations are progressing.

Sources close to both the United Auto Workers and Chrysler negotiators said they are driving toward a top-level settlement by Saturday, a vote on ratification by local unions Sunday, and a resumption of work Monday. Neither company nor union spokesmen, however, would comment.

Disagreement on financing of $100 monthly pensions caused the walkout Jan. 25.

Chrysler's 89,000 workers are losing about $1,000,000 a day in wages. The company is missing much of the spring bulge of automobile buying in which competitors are setting sales records. There are 50,000 idle in Chrysler supplier plants.

UAW demands for pensions and health insurance received a boost in Washington today. Six Democratic Congressmen and 15 others joined in a call upon Chrysler to end the strike on union terms.

In a statement through the Americans for Democratic Action, an unaffiliated liberal political organization, the group said the union's demands were neither extravagant nor novel.

"The refusal of Chrysler Corp. to make reasonable and acceptable counter-proposals to pension fund and medical insurance requests is unnecessarily prolonging a serious and costly strike," the statement said.

Union and company agree pensions should begin at 65 for workers with 25 years' service.

Chrysler has offered to guarantee by its faith and credit pensions of $100 monthly, including federal social security benefits. It has declined to meet a union demand that all pension money be put into a jointly administered trust fund.

The company has offered to put up $30,000,000 from which a sufficient amount would be taken to guarantee pensions for life for any worker retiring at 65 and after 25 years' service. The union said this lacked $16,020,000 of being adequate.

Canada Developed, Used More Power

OTTAWA, April 13 (CP)—Canada's production of electric power is increasing over last year's output—and so is her consumption. The bureau of statistics reported Wednesday that Canada produced 7,800,000,000 kilowatt hours of electric power during the first two months of 1950, up from 7,100,000,000 in the first two months of 1949. Consumption, in the same period, advanced from 6,500,000,000 kilowatt hours to 7,200,000,000.

Services Go On In Red China Says Missionary

Chinese Communists have yet to curb the spread of the Gospel in the Chungking area, Miss Janet D. Cuthbertson, Christian and Missionary Alliance missionary in China for 33 years, told the Examiner today.

Miss Cuthbertson, who is attending the annual missionary convention at Park St. Alliance Church with the Rev. Paul R. Roffe, 18 years a missionary in Peru and chairman of the field there, said that she received word from one of the Chinese native workers last Saturday. The worker said that not one service has been omitted in any of the churches in the Chungking district with the exception of one church. That church was partly destroyed during the fighting when the Communists took over.

Although the Communists haven't stopped the native pastors from preaching, they have ruled that each preacher must do manual work. Books containing the Communist doctrines have been placed in the mission schools as well as the government schools, said Miss Cuthbertson.

In one Chinese section the Communists under the pretense that they wished to study the Christian religion, collected all the Bibles and destroyed them. In many places, she said, the Communists are occupying church properties.

To China In 1917

Miss Cuthbertson, a graduate of the Christian and Missionary Alliance School in New York, first went to China in 1917. For the first four years she worked in the Changsha area. Then she was moved into the Chungking district in West China. At that time no missionaries were working in the area which is robber-infested to this day. Miss Cuthbertson was one of the five missionaries sent in.

Since then they have developed 40 missionary schools or stations within a 500-mile radius of Chungking where native Chinese workers are taught the Bible. The workers then occupy the stations, conducting the services.

Miss Cuthbertson said that religious interest had advanced to the point three years ago where the Nationalist government invited the missionaries to teach the Bible in government high schools. Young people, she said, were just beginning to make decisions freely.

Among Inca Indians

The Rev. Paul Roffe, chairman of the Alliance Missionary field in Peru, said that their work there is mostly among the Inca Indians. His work takes him throughout the country high into the Andes mountains 12,000 to 16,000 feet high.

Mr. Roffe complimented the Peruvian government in their work with the Incas who represent 60 per cent of the population. The government in the last generation, he said, is beginning to realize that the Incas are the backbone of the country and have the ability to rise to high positions in the country.

Besides extending the hospital services in the last decade, said Mr. Roffe, the government is planning other social services. Electricity now reaches outer regions of the country. The manufacture of glass, textiles, shoes, and canned milk manufacturing is flourishing. The Peruvian government is making a serious attempt to establish a steel industry.

Missionaries' main difficulty is with the native priests. In the outlying districts, said Mr. Roffe, the priests assume an authority that is not legitimate. Mr. Roffe related one clash with the native priests which nearly claimed his life.

If the people are given a chance, he said, they receive the Christian message readily.

Mr. Roffe said that 150 congregations, under native administration, have been assembled. The missionaries teach, guide and encourage the people in evangelistic work.

A graduate of the arts course at McMaster University, Mr. Roffe has two brothers and a sister doing missionary work.

LIFE RAFT'S BURDEN IS DEATH—A rubber life raft with the bodies of four teenage Boy Scouts bobs in the choppy waters of Lake Erie as rescue workers sighted it (left) 25 miles northeast of Cleveland. Later, as boys were brought ashore, Mrs. Ann Cook, aunt of Rollins Riemer, one of the victims, was comforted (right) by a friend. Adrift for 17 hours, the boys died of exposure.

Rats Trap Slowly Ice On Marshes, Sap Runs Well

Muskrat trapping, due to unseasonal weather, is getting away to a very late start this spring. Since ice is still in marshes everywhere and the trapping term is already well advanced, several trappers have decided not to bother with it at all.

Up Curve Lake way, Indians have been out on Chemong and Buckhorn lakes for the past three days. Their catches, always slow at the first attempt, show promise of increasing to a normal take, one reserve spokesman said.

Although no one could be contacted readily at the Rice Lake marshes, it is evident that the same condition exists there. Pelts prices have been quoted at $1.50 to $2 by fur buyers but this is subject to the market which is not brisk this season.

Our type of current late spring weather may not favor rat trapping but farmers with maple syrup programs on the fire find conditions ideal for sap flow and suspect a longer syrup season than usual.

Fire Is Caused By Firecracker

A carelessly thrown firecracker late Wednesday afternoon touched off a $250 fire at the rear of Hamilton's Grocery Store, Stewart St.

The back end of a wooden storage shed and part of the shingle roof were burned but the contents were undamaged.

Two boys were apparently tossing firecrackers about behind the store. By a fluke one of the sputtering firecrackers lodged in a crack between the main building and adjoining storage shed. After smoldering a while it burst into flame.

To get at the heart of the fire the firemen had to rip out part of the plaster ceiling as the flames climbed up between it and the roof. At one time the shed was used as a kitchen but was later abandoned because it was hard to heat.

A booster tank was used by the firemen to extinguish the blaze.

Ratepayers Solid For $42,000 School

BRIDGENORTH, April 13 — (ENS)— Ratepayers voted 46-0 in favor of asking the township council for $42,000 for a new two-roomed school to be built next to the present school, at a meeting in the school this week. The vote followed previous meetings at which the matter had been a controversial issue.

A long discussion took place on the proposal that extra property be acquired for the adjacent school grounds. The vote was taken by Don McKay, chairman of the School Board.

Since the last meeting a well was drilled on the east side of the school and it was confirmed that there is adequate water for the needs of the school. The water has also been tested by the Board of Health and pronounced in the first class category.

St. John Ambulance Seeks To Increase Size of Brigade

A drive to increase the size of the St. John Ambulance Brigade is to be undertaken in the Peterborough district. This was announced Wednesday night at a meeting of the ambulance division, nursing division and representatives of various civic organizations and interested service clubs.

Nearly 50 people attended the dinner meeting, first of its kind locally, to hear an address by V. A. M. Kemp, provincial commissioner, and see him present Dr. Leslie Calvert with a warrant of appointment as divisional surgeon of the local brigade.

Harry Ferguson of Peterborough, divisional superintendent, said it was hoped that sufficient recruits would become qualified so first-aid men could attend every game or civic occasion where a large crowd gathers.

At present there are 15 men in the ambulance division and 25 women in the nursing division.

Commissioner Kemp, a former member of the RCMP, has been in office slightly more than three months. He set himself a rigorous schedule and inspected 60 divisions within the past four weeks. He gave high praise to the Peterborough brigade.

Her Public Service

Although a member of the St. John Association for 20 years he had not fully appreciated the work done by individual men and women in their respective divisions until he assumed his new office.

It was with a sense of "humility" that he found men and women, young and old, "willing to give their time with no other object in sight than public service."

His years of experience as a policeman helped to impress on him the helplessness of many people in an emergency and need for public knowledge of first aid.

"The thing that amazes me is the number of people who don't know what to do when disaster strikes," he said. "The first law of nature is supposed to be self-preservation and, for example, you would think a man or woman would know how to deal with a severed artery. But the fact remains that there are still a large number of people who know nothing of first aid."

In Ontario there are 45,000 people trained by the St. John Association.

"But that is nowhere near enough," commented Commissioner Kemp.

Two Things Required

Col. Charles Ackerman, chairman of the local committee, said two things were required: a central meeting point or location where the St. John Ambulance Brigade could be instantly contacted by the police, and educating the public in the importance of first aid.

"Every young boy and girl should be able to take time out—a half hour a couple of times a week—to receive instruction from qualified St. John people," said Col. Ackerman.

Review Of The Work

Miss Florence Vickers, lady superintendent of the nursing division, gave a brief review of the work of the women during the past year. There was a mothercraft class with 14 attending; two first-aid classes of 20 each; home nursing classes; and two little known classes—30 young people being trained in first aid at Dixon House and another 25 in St. George's Anglican Church; and there was an account of the many hours attending exhibitions, the industrial picnics, sporting events, and other events attracting crowds.

Mrs. Charles Ray told of the participation of the St. John Ambulance Brigade in the "disaster-relief" plan worked out in conjunction wtih the Red Cross. This district includes the counties of Haliburton, Victoria and Peterborough. The local brigade is in charge of the first-aid section.

Other speakers included Mayor M. J. Swanston, Alex Sinclair, recreation director, and Dr. Calvert.

Piano solos by Mrs. Walter Simmons and Miss Margaret Martyn provided the entertainment.

Skiing In Alps Took Honors On 3-Mile Slope

Two firsts and a second were won by a Peterborough Ski Club member in skiing competitions in Switzerland this spring.

George Cook, a designer and manufacturer at the Sailcraft Company in Lakefield and a member of the executive of the local ski club, recently took time off during a business trip to Europe to further his education on skiing. He skied at well-known ski centres in France, Austria, and Switzerland, spending the greater part of his skiing time at Zermatt, Switzerland.

Over the weekend of March 17-19 the annual international three-day ski meet was held at Zermatt. The three main events were the Bleauherd Downhill, Bleauherd Giant Slalom and the Gornergrat Derby, an extra-long downhill. These events were divided into a number of classes including international teams, juniors, senior 1, senior 2, and senior 3.

In the senior class 2, Mr. Cook placed second in the downhill, first in the giant slalom, first in the combined downhill and giant slalom. A bad ankle forced Mr. Cook out of the last event, the Gornergrat Derby.

3,500 Feet Drop

The Bleauherd Downhill is approximately three miles long with a vertical drop of 3,500 meet and the Giant Slalom is slightly shorter with a vertical drop of 3,000 feet. In comparison the vertical drop at Bethany is between 300 and 350 feet.

While at Zermatt, Mr. Cook skied with the British ski team, studying racing technique of the downhill and slalom under two of the top Swiss racing skiers. Mr. Cook received two gold medals for passing the British ski club and the Switzerland ski club tests. These tests consist of running a series of courses in deep, packed snow against time and under the observation of judges. Mr. Cook obtained 23 of the 24 possible points.

The Peterborough Ski Club has the assurance of Mr. Cook that he will help the young skiers in the racing section of the club competition next year.

LAURIE R. MITCHELL, who has been appointed president and general manager of Peterborough Bus Lines Limited. Management and control of the company and its business is now entirely in Peterborough. Mr. Mitchell succeeds in the presidency his brother, the late Frank Mitchell, who built up the transportation system for Peterborough when on one else was interested in it.

Fraser Takes Up Fishing Tackle Issue At Ottawa

Gordon K. Fraser, MP, told the Examiner today that two weeks ago he had consulted the Deputy Minister of Customs regarding the importation of low-priced fishing tackle made in Japan which is affecting the business and employment of Lucky Strike Bait Company of Peterborough and Cobourg.

"I took up the question with that department," Mr. Fraser said, "because it has to do with customs matters and import duties. The Minister was not in at the time, so I interviewed the Deputy, and I had his promise that this question would be thoroughly investigated. I have also arranged for a follow-up on it to see what can be done."

Mr. Fraser said he was referring to an article in Wednesday's Examiner indicating concern of both the Chamber of Commerce and Local 524 UE about the alleged "dumping" of Japanese fishing tackle on to the Canadian market.

Two Cars Collide

Two cars, driven by J. M. Watson, 29 Aberdeen Ave., and J. A. Armstrong, Ida, were damaged slightly Wednesday when they collided at Simcoe and Queen Sts. Watson told police both cars were travelling south on Queen St., and he thought Armstrong was going to turn right onto Simcoe, when the cars collided.

Magistrate Hears Test Case Defence Says City No Right To Legislate—'Prohibitive'

Ruling on the validity of the city's used car bylaw will be given Monday by Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C. Today, crown counsel John Bradshaw presented the city's case in police court against Harry Goodman, used car salesman. Goodman was defended by T. J. Carley, K.C. Goodman was charged under city bylaw 4664 which prohibits anyone from owning or operating a used car lot in the city without first applying for a license.

Mr. Carley objected to two sections of the bylaw, which follow:

Section 1, Paragraph C: "A 'public garage' shall be deemed to include a place where used or second hand motor vehicles are kept for sale and defined as a used car sale lot;"

Section 2: "No person shall in the city of Peterborough own, keep or operate a used car sale lot unless he has first obtained a licence therefor and paid the fee for such licence required by this bylaw."

Mr. Carley attacked the bylaw on two main points, first: "The definition of 'public garage' in the Municipal Act does not include the words 'used car sale lot,' although the city bylaw does. I submit the city council does not have the right to extend the definition"; second, that "the Municipal Act gives the city a right to license the owner of a public garage, while the city bylaw demands that a person be licenced before he is the owner."

"The bylaw purports to do what I submit no statute gives it the right to do," he argued. "This bylaw is prohibitive."

Mr. Carley further argued "there is no power to prevent sales—and Goodman might be merely a salesman. The crown has offered no proof to the effect that Goodman is the owner."

Had Not Applied

Three men testified they bought cars from Goodman, and in answer to questions by defence counsel, said they were "satisfied" with the cars.

City Clerk E. A. Outram testified he issued licenses under the bylaw, and that Goodman did not apply for nor get one.

Mr. Bradshaw said the bylaw was drawn on the basis of sections 14 and 15 of the Municipal Act. Mr. Carley said section 15 "deals only with the location of public garages", and not with the city's power to license or regulate them.

Section 14, Mr. Carley went on, defines a "public garage" and deals with the city's power to regulate and license them. He held the city's bylaw was not valid, and asked Magistrate Philp to rule on its validity.

His Worship said he would remand the case until April 17 for judgment.

Milton Hopkins Dies In Hospital Following Crash

Critically injured in a head on car crash last Saturday Milton Hopkins, 30, Lakefield, died at noon today in hospital.

He had been in an oxygen tent since he was admitted to hospital about midnight Saturday after a collision on Highway 28, just north of Lakefield, and he had been unconscious since his arrival.

Earlier today hospital authorities said his condition was "poor" and he was "weakening."

His injuries included a fractured pelvis, cuts on the abdomen, face and ear, as well as internal injuries.

Cecil Darling, 46, the Lakefield taxi driver in the other car is said to be much better. He has a fractured left knee cap and cuts on the neck.

A third Lakefield man, a passenger in Hopkins' car at the time of the accident, was released from hospital Sunday as he had sustained only facial cuts. He is Archie Sterling, 45, who, together with the fatally injured man was thrown from the southbound car after the impact.

Returning With Easter Eggs

Hopkins was returning from Young's Point on Saturday with Easter eggs for his five children. In some manner he lost control of his vehicle and collided with the northbound taxi driven by Darling.

The accident was about 200 feet north of the village. In a few more minutes he would have been home with his family.

He was born in Peterborough, son of Russell Hopkins and the late Ruth Whetung. Later he moved to Orillia, then back to Lakefield in 1939. While still a resident of the village he joined the RCAF as an aero-mechanic, and served for five years.

In 1942 he married the former Estelle Henley of Toronto, and besides her he leaves five children: Sherrin 7, Linda 5, Stephen 4, Arlene 2, and Leslie 8 months.

Before returning to Lakefield in 1946 he lived in Trenton, Toronto and Peterborough. After settling once again in the village he opened a garage and car sales business which he has operated since.

Funeral arrangements are being made with R. K. Tedford of Lakefield.

Visit to Tomb of Napoleon Recalls Glories of France

By JEAN E. STENTON

PARIS — France is a nation with a long memory for both its joys and its tears.

In the streets of Paris, you will notice inset in the walls of a house or building plaques honoring members of the resistance movement who gave their lives.

Jean Stenton

Opposite the gare des Invalides, in the heart of Paris, there is an unobtrusive, oblong piece of stone on the side of the Foreign Affairs Ministry bearing the following inscription:

"In the course of a heroic struggle for the liberation of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs held by the enemy, the tank 'Quimper' was blown up and several French soldiers found a glorious death." Every year in the anniversary of these deaths, the people of Paris place large bouquets of flowers on the sidewalks beneath the inscriptions.

Heartbeat of France

People from the provinces never fail to see les Invalides, the tomb of Napoleon, when visiting the capital. Not only is the crypt to be seen, but many rooms have been set aside with mementoes of his personal belongings and his accomplishments.

The North gate leads into the Cour d' Honneur, which in turn leads into the St. Louis Church. From the graceful galleries near the vaulted roof, hang the now-tattered flags of Napoleon's many victories. They are a sharp contrast to the beautiful white marble walls. On the right side of the church is Napoleon's funeral carriage which was presented by Queen Victoria.

In the small chapel of Napoleon, there is a huge block of stone which has been taken from the original grave on the island of Ste. Helene. Other mementoes have been brought back from the island along with the box which carried his ashes back to the place of his greatest triumphs.

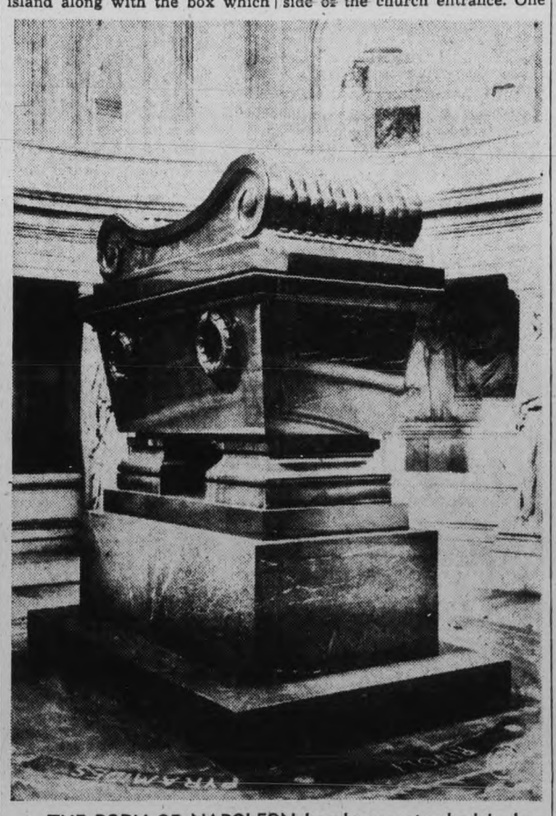
Memorial of Two Wars

There are two niches on either side of the church entrance. One contains the names of all French generals killed in the 1914-1918 war.

There is a milestone ensconced on the other side. Under it, is earth taken from American military cemeteries. On the front, it has the flame of liberty. Many similar milestones can be seen on all the roads leading from the battle areas back to Paris. The names of many of the towns the Americans freed are on one side, the most important being Ste. Mere l'Eglise. In the same niche are expressions of sympathy from other countries for the casualties that France suffered in the First World War.

The building housing Napoleon's crypt is a most beautiful one. The same graceful white marble walls and arches are a fitting background for the elaborate tomb. The crypt is about 24 feet high, the upper piece being in a beautiful dull maroon color and the base a dark green. It is the centre of a huge circle. Around the tomb are written the names of Napoleon's victories. Pointing in from the edge of the circle are lines representing the rays of the sun, believed to be based on the fact that he was often called "the Sun of Austerlitz" after his greatest victory.

There is one odd item hidden away in the Army Museum in the same building. It is the "aigle" (eagle) of Napoleon's 2nd Regiment of Imperial Guards which took part in the war of 1870. It was stolen by the Germans during the Second World War and its wing pierced by a bullet in Berlin. In 1945 it was recovered by the French and returned to its resting place at les Invalides.



THE BODY OF NAPOLEON has been entombed in les Invalides in Paris in a huge crypt 24 feet high. In a circle around the base appear the names of his famous victories. A large gallery above gives an excellent view of the sarcophagus. The body of the emperor lies within six enveloping coffins, two of them of metal.

Charge Youth, 17 Attempted Jealousy Murder

CHILLIWACK, BC, April 13.—(CP)—A 17-year-old youth was accused Wednesday of trying to murder a soldier rival for the affections of a teen-aged girl.

Pte. Al Way, 21, was taken to military hospital in Vancouver, a bullet wound in his stomach, after a shooting on a dark street last night.

Winnie St. Denis, 19, said she and Way were returning to her home from a movie when some one shouted: "Hey, Al, can I speak to you?" As the soldier turned, a pistol cracked. The shot passed through Way's body.

Police said the youth had been going with the girl, but Way had returned to Chilliwack recently and renewed an engagement broken off last year.

More than 10,000 Icelanders have settled in the Lake Winnipeg area since 1872.

"WHITE WAY" TO ST. PETER'S — Addition of 28 modern obelisks, to hold ornate street lamps, to the via Della Conciliazione, main approach to St. Peter's basilica, stirred great controversy in Rome. Anti-obelisk Romans charge the "dignity of our city" is being ruined. Between the 25-foot-high columns are marble benches on which weary Holy Year pilgrims may rest on their way to the church.

Shot, Paralyzed Farmer Dies

KOSCIUSKO, Miss., April 13—(AP)—Thomas Harris, Negro tenant farmer shot and paralyzed in the Jan. 8 massacre of three children by three white men, is dead.

Harris, 27, was carried into court on a stretcher to identify the men accused of slaying his daughter, Ruby Nell Harris, 4, and his two step-children, Mary Burnsides, 8, and Frankie Thurman, 12.

Sheriff Roy Braswell, said Harris' death Tuesday night "undoubtedly was the result of a pistol wound of the back inflicted by Leon Turner."

Turner, described in court as the trigger man in the wild slayings, now is serving three life sentences for murder. Two other white men also are serving prison terms in the slayings.

1,300 Hollanders Arrive To Farm

HALIFAX, April 13 (CP) — The 15,000-ton Holland-American liner Vollendam docked on Wednesday night with 1,300 Dutch farm immigrants, first of a group of 10,000 to be brought to Canada this year under the Canada-Netherlands farm settlement plan.

Some 20,000 farm settlers have been brought to Canada since the plan was inaugurated three years ago.

Hans Ribbink, 54, is going to Perth with his wife and four children to work for the same farm family which employed his two sons and daughter two years ago.

Oldest couple aboard was Mr. and Mrs. Hendrik Veenstra, 69 and 70, bound for a Port Colborne farm where their son and daughter work.

Strong on maintaining family unity, settlers either come in family groups or reunite the family soon after they have become established. Bona fide farmers, they have the financial resources which would normally allow them to purchase land in Canada.

Men often return to the Netherlands to bring back a fiancee or wife or sponsor the trip of their fiancee after becoming established.

Hemka Kugel, 25, is going to Ameliasburg, Ont., to marry Jack Bruining and Anna Reitsma, 24, expects to marry R. Grypma at Napanee, within the next 30 days.

Fake Call, Robbed

TORONTO, April 13 —(CP)—Bruce Draper, 19-year-old drugstore messenger, told police Wednesday that he was lured on a fake call and robbed of $55 by two youths, one armed with a spring-type knife. Police quoted Draper as saying he was threatened by the youths who fled on foot with the money.

US Patrol Planes Should Be Armed

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)—Senator Styles Bridges (Rep., NH), proposed Wednesday that American planes patrolling near Russia's borders are "armed to the teeth" and ordered to shoot back if fired upon.

In a speech prepared for Senate delivery, Bridges asserted that the Soviet air force had "ambushed and shot down in cold blood" a slow and unarmed American patrol plane which drifted into Russian-occupied Latvia last week.

Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinski of Russia contended in a formal protest Tuesday that an American bomber of the B-29 type fired on Russian fighters, one of which returned the fire, and then turned out to sea.

The plane in question is believed to be an unarmed United States Navy Privateer, missing in the Baltic Sea area with 10 men aboard.

The greatest distance at which an object on the surface of the sea, can be seen by a person whose eyes are at a height of five feet from the same level is nearly three miles.

Nationals Shoot Down Russian-Built Plane

TAIPEI, Formosa, April 13 —(AP)—The Chinese Nationalists said today a Russian-built fighter plane has been shot down along the China coast and its pilot captured. His nationality was not disclosed.

A dispatch from Chushan Island said the plane was shot down south of Shanghai Monday while striking Nationalist guerrilla troops operating against the Chinese Communists on the mainland.

SAUERKRAUT IS ONE OF THE WORLD'S MOST HEALTHFUL VEGETABLE DISHES

Recommended for Spring Eating Because It Actually Increases Appetite

Sauerkraut is more than a delicious vegetable; it is a valuable addition to diet. A favourite for centuries because of its pleasantly stimulating flavor, science has found that sauerkraut is among the most valuable of preventive and corrective foods.

EASY TO DIGEST

Sauerkraut has all the beneficial properties of cabbage in a more easily digested form, and it is more valuable as a food. The process which it undergoes produces lactic acid, the same type of lactic bacilli which is found in buttermilk, yahourt and sour milk, all of which are well-known for their health-giving properties.

PRAISED BY SCIENTISTS

Among the many scientists who have been convinced of the great value of sauerkraut is Pasteur, the father of Pasteurization, who placed it first of all vegetables from a health standpoint. Sauerkraut has often been prescribed as an appetizer and an aid to digestion, and is known to have the effect of retarding many diseases of middle and old age.

MODERN METHODS INCREASE VALUE OF SAUERKRAUT

Sauerkraut as made today in Libby's modern kitchens is far superior to that made by old-fashioned methods. Only the choicest cabbages are used, and they are finely cut with absolute uniformity by specially constructed machines. This insures even and uniform fermentation. The correct proportions of salt and cabbages are scientifically maintained and the temperature is regulated. The most scrupulous cleanliness is observed throughout the entire process of manufacture and a uniformly high grade product is the result.

French Farmers Do Battle With Beetles

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, April 13 — (CP) — Fortified by wartime memories, the farmers of France are taking post-war revenge on a symbol of German occupation.

Their campaign is against the Colorado beetle, a yellow-green pest long associated in French minds with the goose-stepping German soldier.

On their efforts depend the future of a once-flourishing export trade in potatoes, banned from Britain for the last 18 years.

Under a new ruling, the ban has been relaxed. France now is free to ship Britain as many potatoes as the traffic can bear.

The only hitch is that shipments must be carefully screened to keep out the Colorado beetle, which thrives on potatoes.

"We're relaxing the ban by way of experiment," said Dr. V. E. Wilkins, a British agricultural official. "If the French can kill off the beetle, there's no reason why shipments should not continue."

The French word for Colorado beetle is "Le Doryphore." During the war, the term was widely used in underground channels as a nickname for the German occupation, forces, whose uniforms resembled the beetle in coloring.

A St. Malo newspaper, Le Pays Malouin, said that the French, having survived occupation by what it called the two-legged beetle, should be able to get rid of the six-legged, insect variety.

The Colorado beetle, common in North America, has appeared in the United Kingdom increasingly in recent years, particularly around London and the Kent coast. British agriculture authorities regard it as a serious threat to crops.

Defeated in 1945 in Lambton-Kent, he won in the 1949 general election in the same constituency. Mr. MacKenzie entered the House of Commons for the first time in the 1935 general election and was re-elected in 1940. He was an inspector at UNRRA headquarters from January, 1946, to October, 1947. He saw service in the Chinese theatre for UNRRA in 1947.

Russia, China Ratify Agreement

LONDON, April 13 (AP) — The presidium of Russia's Supreme Soviet (parliament) has ratified her mutual aid treaty and other agreements with Communist China, the Soviet news agency Tass announced today.

An earlier announcement by the Chinese Communist radio, heard in Tokyo, said the Red China government also had ratified the same agreements.

The agency said the presidium ratified the agreements Tuesday —the same day the Chinese Communist regime took its action.

The agreements were signed in Moscow Feb. 14 after conferences between Prime Minister Stalin and Mao Tze-tung, chairman of the Chinese Communists. Ratification by the presidium—which acts for parliament when it is not in session—would be a foregone conclusion.

TB Ass'n Turns Attention To Rehabilitation of Patients

Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association is devoting its energies during 1950 towards rehabilitation work for T.B. patients after their discharge from sanatoria. Education among the community, the X-ray mass survey last spring and visits to T.B. patients have been the main features of the Association's work in the past and this will continue on the Association's extended program.

Charles Ray, a member of the executive who presided over the annual meeting Wednesday at the YWCA in the absence of the president, Dennis Fitzgerald, mentioned the new focus of attention on rehabilitation work among convalescent patients.

Possibly the most dangerous time in connection with the cure of tuberculosis is the period after the patient has been discharged from the sanatarium, Mr. Ray explained. The time between going home and starting to work was the most precarious.

After two or three years the patient usually had not very much money and was anxious to return to work, often to do a job which was too hard for him. As a result, there was a high percentage of relapses.

The Peterborough Association hoped to be able to help and advise people in the advanced stages of recovery.

Reviewing achievements during the past year Mrs. R. Honey, secretary, spoke about the X-ray mass survey, visits to Sanataria by members of the Association and the Christmas seal campaign.

The total number x-rayed was 20,802, active pulmonary tuberculosis 15, suspects 3, other diseases and abnormalities revealed 410.

Survey Next Year

Mrs. Honey said the Association hoped to hold another survey next year.

Through a grant, provided by the government, every hospital in Ontario was entitled to a camera x-ray and both Peterborough hospitals had received delivery of these machines.

The machines are small and much less expensive to operate that the larger x-ray units. It was hoped that every patient, on entering hospital, would have a chest X-ray as routine. This would not only eliminate the danger of nurses developing the disease but other patients would also be protected.

The camera x-ray was valuable for pre-employment purposes and other uses would probably develop in the future.

During 1949 two sanataria were visited by the visiting committee under the chairmanship of William E. Foley. During the coming year plans would be made to visit all sanataria in this district.

Meet Patients

Through these visits personal contacts were formed and upon discharge the patient had someone to whom he could appeal during his period of rehabilitation.

Mrs. Honey explained that through the Dept. of Health all suspects and contacts were x-rayed at the hospitals by the M.O.H. and the cases were mostly referred to medical doctors in the city. After the survey many more were added to the list for check-ups.

This year the Association assumed the responsibility of prenatal chest x-ray for every expectant mother in the community. This was done under the Dept. of Health. The Association assumed responsibility for X-rays taken at the Red Cross hospital at Apsley.

All this work was financed by the funds raised at the annual sale of Christmas seals.

Money In Reserve

R. B. Arnold, treasurer, reported a balance of $7,183.56. Of this sum $3000 was held in reserve towards the cost of the next mass survey, $3,500 was reserved for rehabilitation education etc which left a balance of $683.56.

Receipts during 1949 were derived as follows: Seals campaign donation $6,672.53, city and county grants for mass survey $1,500, industry donations $2,244.10, fund x-ray survey committee $634.97 and at the beginning of the financial year there was a balance of $6,728.62.

Mrs. M. Biggs, secretary of the seal committee, said the firemen folded the seals and filled the envelopes for the campaign. There was an increase of six per cent of donations received in comparison with the numbers of letters distributed.

The Association received 3,613 letters with donations enclosed and 466 made no reply to the appeal.

Butter Ration Up Bacon Down In United Kingdom

LONDON, April 13 (CP)—Food Minister Maurice Webb announced Wednesday a slight increase in Britain's butter ration, along with a corresponding decrease in weekly supplies of bacon.

He told a press conference that one factor in the reduction of the bacon ration is that supplies from Canada "have fallen well below the program."

Other government sources said later that Britain's 1950 contract with Canada called for 25,000 long tons. So far, one informant said, only about 1,800 long tons are in prospect, although supplies may increase after September. (A long ton is 2,200 pounds).

This official said the decline in Canadian shipments was anticipated because Britain had told Canada she couldn't afford to spend many dollars on bacon.

The butter ration will be increased "temporarily" April 23 from four to five ouces a week.

The bacon ration will be reduced April 22 from the "temporary level" of five ounces a week to four. This cancels out an increase granted last January when stocks were greater.

Woman Watchdog of Funds Taxpayers' Cash Safe

By JAMES CARY

PHOENIX, Ariz. —(CP)—Ana Frohmiller — the trim, greying state auditor of Arizona — has proved women can be a success in a man's world.

She has held her office for more than 23 years. The voters, who like her diligent watch over state expenditures, have re-elected her 11 times in succession.

Energetic, friendly Mrs. Frohmiller has tried in turn to see that the public gets its money's worth from government. She has established a statewide reputation as the "watchdog of the treasury."

But the lively 58-year-old woman feels her efforts (she is credited with saving taxpayers an estimated $100,000 yearly) have only touched a field that needs much more cultivation.

"I have a lot of sympathy for the people paying the costs of government," she says. "They're paying for many things they don't get." With that philosophy, Ana, as she is known affectionately to her friends, has earned the respect of her employees and official colleagues. Most of them are men.

"Being a woman was a handicap at first," she asserts, "but I was reared with four brothers and learned how to get along with men. Besides I like them; they're easy to talk to—down to earth."

When a claim for a questionable expenditure crosses her desk it is Ana's duty to say "no".

Big Responsibility

That she does with alacrity, and no amount of persuasion, desk pounding or threats of reprisals can move her. Only a clarification of the law, or a court order will change her stand.

Ana was born in Burlington, Vt., on July 28, 1891. When she was seven her family moved to Phoenix. She took commercial courses in high school, later worked as a bookkeeper and was appointed treasurer of Coconino county in 1922. She won her first race for state auditor in 1926.

To offset her arduous work she has developed a hobby. At night, or on holidays, she works on the latest additions to her collection of early American furniture. She likes to peel off the old finish and get a good look at the natural wood. "That way I can tell how old it is, and perhaps how good," she says. Ana also collects old glassware and dabbled in ceramics.

Girls Are Leaving Farms Young Bachelors Forlorn

ALTONA, Man., April 13 (CP) —Apparently fair, young spinsters are giving eligible bachelor farmers the brush-off. Don Richmond says so.

Richmond, secretary of the Manitoba Food Elevators, told a meeting here that statistics reveal more and more young women are yearly attracted from farms to town and cities.

"It cannot only be the bright lights, and other facilities these places offer," he said. "Mankind is by and large the same throughout."

Here are some of Richmond's basic reasons for the female exodus:

1. Farm homes are not as attractive as city and town homes.
2. Farm women have to work harder than those living in town.
3. Life is more monotonous on the farm.

He said the trend, however, in recent years has been toward better farm homes and modern conveniences. Better transportation facilities have eliminated much of the isolation; hydro-electric power has cut down the amount of drudgery and monotony.

Richmond says the migration from farm to city can be summed up in one word—security.

"To get security," he said, "the farming community need not increase production, but what it does need is better homes, modern conveniences and a ready market.

"Then in all probability the country will cease to export its 'golden' crop to the cities and towns."

Big 'Career' For Women In Aviation

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON—"The sky's the limit for career women in aviation" seems to be the consensus of women in the industry.

At a meeting of the Women's Engineering Society in London, seven women who have competed successfully with men in "almost exclusive male territory" gave their opinions on their jobs.

"We want to tell young women there is a big career for them in aviation," said Miss I. J. Ferguson of the ministry of supply aircraft division.

Mrs. Beatrice Naylor, principal scientific officer at the Royal Aircraft Establishment, Farnborough, added: "I have found very little prejudice against women in senior jobs. I was determined to be an engineer when I started pulling my bicycle to pieces as a child. I have never regretted it."

A young engineering student who won the first scholarship awarded by the Women's Legion said: "... I would not dream of changing my career. Aerodynamics are fascinating."

A qualified ground and flight engineer, Miss Pat Parker, said: "In my job you must be prepared to work long hours. There are only three or four of us women in the country with licences. The best aircraft to start on from practical experience—the Tiger Moth."

Pat added a tip for aviation hopefuls: "Get the chief engineer of your local flying club to give you some voluntary work."

The only woman controller of fighter planes, Flight Officer Clare Legge, told the meeting: "I am proud that the service has opened its radar branch to women. There con be no better job for members of the WRAF."

Miss M. Douglas, captain of the 1948 British Olympic gliding team, said that while there is no money in gliding, 'it gives a marvellous training in aeronautics."

Mrs. Sheila Roche, 34, technical officer of the Air Registration Board, hates flying but during the war became an engineering instructor with the ATA and says: "I knew then that teaching was my job."

First Airline Stewardess Started Work 20 Years Ago

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—(NEA)—On May 15, 1930, a young woman walked into the office of Steve Simpson, San Francisco airline traffic manager, with an idea which was to create a new career for women and, therefore, jobs for thousands of girls.

She was Ellen Church, a registered nurse, who loved flying. She told Simpson she thought that passenger planes needed another person, in addition to the co-pilot, to take care of passengers and answer their questions. Simpson agreed but explained that they had not yet decided on the type of person.

"What about girls?" Miss Church asked. "Girls who are registered nurses?"

"That's it," Simpson said. "That's just the idea!".

So Ellen Church was hired by United Airlines as the world's first airline stewardess. Air transportation was very different 20 years ago; it was not streamlined. The planes were chiefly single-engined, although some were lumbering, slow tri-motors. Most of the passengers flew on emergency trips only, to save time. The planes went through, not over or around, weather.

ELLEN CHURCH, the world's first airlines stewardess, wears a replica of an early uniform designed for the "sky girls."

Ellen Church, and the seven stewardesses she selected to pioneer with her, heated large pots of coffee helped mechanics start balky engines, and slept on the floors of numerous small weather stations whenever the planes were grounded by reports of storms ahead.

In addition, they were instantly and heartily disliked by the pilots and co-pilots, who felt that a plane was no place for a woman.

Miss Church had her first brush with a pilot on her second flight from Cheyenne to Salt Lake City. One of her passengers suddenly became ill. Miss Church asked the pilot to land at Rock Springs, and to radio ahead for a doctor. The pilot refused to delay the mail over what he felt was a simple case of indigestion. Miss Church assured him that it was acute appendicitis and that unless he landed she couldn't be responsible.

The pilot landed the plane at Rock Springs, where a doctor and ambulance were waiting. An emergency operation saved the passenger's life and the pilot changed his mind about the "sky girls."

From the original eight sky girls, the idea has spread until there are 7,000 stewardesses serving on air carriers all over the world.

"I'll bet the girls flying the airlines today don't have as much fun as we did," Ellen Church says. "We'd get stuck at whistle stops in the Great Salt Lake area of Utah all the time. I'd be embarrassed when I had to take passengers over to the nearest railroad station for their meals. The railroad clerks always found it hilariously funny."

Ellen Church entered the Army Nurse Corps in 1942, served on evacuation squadrons in Africa and England, and later was on the Normandy beachhead shuttle to England. She wears the air medal under her air nurses' wings. At the end of the war she left flying and is now director of nurses at Sherman Hospital, Elgin, Ill.

Mrs Eric Pearse was in charge of the business period and Mrs. L. Wigmore, convener, gave a report of the paper collection and funds on hand. Hostesses Mrs. J. E. Johnson and Mrs. L. DOROTHY DIX

Only Real Love Withstands Hardships Poverty Brings

DEAR MISS DIX: Will you settle this argument for us? I say that a man and a woman who are in love should marry even though they are poor and have no more money than enough to buy the wedding ring, as fighting the battle to success together will make the bonds of affection stronger between them. My friend says that a couple should wait until they can afford to marry. He says that a marriage must have the proper financial backing to make it a success Which is right?

C. C. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: There are those whom poverty knits together closer than any rich husband and wife can ever be because they have suffered together, they have toiled together, they are soldiers who have fought shoulder to shoulder until they have become literally one. The sting is taken out of poverty for them because of their great love.

Few Are Capable

But there are so few capable of a great love that it makes marriage without adequate financial support a risk that few are justified in taking. Human nature is what it is, and we are not sentimental when we are hungry or cold or seedy looking, or when we are worried about where the rent is to come from. When we are uncomfortable and anxious, we are thinking more of our stomachs than we are of our hearts.

Also, we are the creatures of habit. Our happiness depends upon our having the environment, the food, the association, the amusements, the clothes that we have had all our lives. The habit of comfort is stronger than most love and so when a man and woman have to live in a place that is an affront to their every instinct of taste; when they have to wear cheap clothes; when they have to eat poor food and when they have to depend upon each other for all their society and amusement, they are likely to turn upon each other with bitter reproaches.

And so while money is not absolutely necessary to the success of a marriage, it makes it far less of a risk.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Should a wife get up and get her husband's breakfast? My h... works very hard and h... hours. It is my duty to get up and prepare his breakfast? I shall regard your decision in the matter as final.

R. R.

✧ ✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If you do, you will up betimes tomorrow morning and put on a pretty apron, and when your husband comes down to breakfast he will find on the table a smoking hot meal that will send him off to work thanking his lucky stars for having bestowed you upon his as a wife.

To my mind the one and only justification for a woman not getting up and getting her husband his breakfast is sickness, and by sickness I don't mean any piffling ailment. I mean the sort that calls for a doctor and trained nurses

Furthermore, I do not hesitate to say that any able-bodied woman who lies abed of a morning and lets her poor, hard-working husband get up and scramble himself some sort of a makeshift breakfast is a quitter, and he would be perfectly justified in divorcing her.

How any woman can expect to make a success of marriage when she reneges on her part of the bargain, I can't imagine. She must know that her husband has contempt for her as selfish, lazy loafer, and that as he starts to work with something he has poured out of a can and a cup of mean coffee souring on his stomach he is thinking that he got cheated in his matrimonial venture and wishing he could return it to the bargain counter. For what he didn't expect was to have to earn the food and cook it, too

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Here are the virtues I possess; I am good-looking. A good dresser. A good cook. Play a good game of bridge and of golf. Dance well, sing well, sew, make all my own clothes and hats. Read and study all the time Am a good housekeeper. Can make a dollar go a long way. Drive a car. Am well educated. Am easy to reason with. Have a good disposition. Am my husband's secretary. Do all kinds of fancy work. Am very affectionate, loving and kind. Love children and animals. Love everybody. Want everybody to love me. Write poetry and short stories. Play the piano. Am not conceited. What do you think of those virtues, all of them in one human being

ANSWER: I never heard the like of it. Your husband must esteem himself a very fortunate man to have got the one perfect woman in all the world for his wife. Or does he find it a little trying to live up to? I should think that a mere ordinary human show up very well in comparison.

SPRING'S HARVEST—Packing a host of yellow daffodils for air shipment and distribution across Canada is no easy job. But it was nice to know the blooms would bring joy to many a shut-in at Easter time. The flowers are from Vancouver Island bulb farm of William Mattick, near Victoria, and are flown east by Trans-Canada Airlines as special air cargo to ensure top condition on arrival.

Women Put Town on Map

GOODOGA, Australia—(CP)—Women have put this outback town in the far west of New South Wales back on the map. They have instituted an air-mail service, built a race-track and hospital ward and provided the district's main social life.

The yeast at the bottom of all this ferment is the town's Country Women's Association. The group has only 39 members, drawn from the 216 residents of the big farms in this rich sheep and wheat-growing area.

Though their numbers are small, they haven't yet set a limit to their initiative.

It used to take 24 hours to get to Goodoga from Sydney, 623 miles away. The Country Women's Association saw an air service as the solution and got the backing of the whole district.

Working bees cleared an air field on a ranch four miles from town. In a few months an air strip was built, 1,000 feet longer than the main runway at Sydney's big Kingsford Smith airport.

Now it takes only 3½ hours to fly from Sydney, via a feeder line from Tooraweenah terminal.

The Goodoga branch of the Country Women's Association was formed 25 years ago. At that time the town had only a small general hospital, and the nearest maternity hospital was 100 miles away.

The women set as their first objective a maternity ward in the local hospital. Soon after they were maintaining an entire maternity ward.

They next turned their activities to the town's inadequate sports facilities. The result was a race track and tennis courts. The branch always clears at least £250 ($600) from a race meeting.

Some members travel 100 miles to attend the branch's monthly meetings. Visitors travel even greater distances to social functions, dances and card parties held every few weeks.

Teacher "Missing"

St. James' WMS Appealing For ClothingDonations

Easter thank-offering meeting of St. James' WMS was held Tuesday afternoon in Wesley Hall. Opening devotions were led by Miss M. Bowers, president. Mrs. L. Bird acted as secretary in absence of Mrs. E. Hunter.

Members were reminded of the WMS Sunday service, April 16, when Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe, Presbyterial president, will be guest speaker. Decision was made to have a mother and daughter banquet early in May. Arrangements were left in the hands of the executive.

Reporting for supply, Mrs. W. K. Sloane said seven bed jackets had been donated and CGIT girls had given 58 wash cloths. An appeal to the congregation is being made for good used clothing for a bale. Community friendship secretary, Mrs. G. H. Rowe, sent 14 Easter cards to shut-in members and 25 calls were made. A message on Christian stewardship was given by Mrs. H. F. Doig, and a poem on temperance was read by the president.

The service of worship on the theme, "He Is Risen," was conducted by Mrs. E. Johnston, who was assisted by Mrs. G. H. Rowe reading scripture and Mrs. W. Peel offering prayer.

A lovely duet was rendered by Mrs. E. Wood and Mrs. S. Davies, accompanied by Mrs. Doig.

The offering was received by Mrs. J. Dinsdale and dedicated by the leader.

Guest speaker, the Rev. E. W. Rowland, brought an encouraging and challenging message, choosing as his theme, "Venturing for Christ in Canada." WMS groups have become a very influential body across the Dominion, he said. There is opportunity to extend the work further.

Mrs. E. M. Davis extended thanks and appreciation of the auxiliary.

Garden Flowers Timely Topic Mothers Enjoy

Easter meeting of Trinity Baby Band mothers Wednesday evening was in the church parlor, which was attractive with pastel tapers, spring flowers and traditional Easter motifs.

Members enjoyed a timely talk on flowers given by Mrs. E. McWilliam, who used the title, "The Garden — Its Form, Fragrance and Flower."

Worship service was in the form of an inspiring Easter play, "King of the Jews," aptly portrayed by Mrs. A. Legon and Mrs. W. Taylor. Mrs. A. Parker sang, with accompaniment by Mrs. J. T. Stewart, "Were You There When They Crucified My Lord," a fitting conclusion for the devotional period.

Three delightful selections were sung by the members' choir, directed by Mrs. D. B. Gordon and accompanied at the piano by Mrs. O. Jameson.

President Mrs. E. Edmondson presided during the business session at which was discussed fully final plans for the Mayflme tea at the church on May 3. A rally of all Baby Band mothers on Wednesday evening, April 19, at St. Andrew's Church was announced.

After the meeting there was a display of sun suits and sun dresses which have been made for the bazaar table at the forthcoming tea.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. D. Vaisey and her group, who were in charge of the meeting.

Cradle Roll Party Enjoyed At George St.

Fifty children on the Cradle Roll of George St. United Church and their mothers were entertained Wednesday afternoon at a party in the Sunday school rooms. A highlight of the event was when John Dainard presented a gift to superintendent Mrs. A. Clark from the cradle roll and teachers, Mrs. L. Brown, Mrs. W. Woodward, Mrs. S. Sargent and Mrs. G. Dainard.

A short program of music was presented by Mrs. W. Woodward and daughter Margaret, and by Mrs. A. Duckworth. Readings were given by David Mackey. Two children's films, "Adventures of Mother Goose" and "Here comes the duck" were shown through kindness of Mr. E. Ingall.

While the children enjoyed a lunch, specially suited to them, their mothers were served tea from a central table, lovely with a beautiful linen cloth and centrepiece of spring flowers. Past teachers Mrs. A. Ingram and Mrs. M. A. Fitzgerald, and Mrs. Clark filled the tea cups. Tea assistants were Mrs. W. Ward, Mrs. H. Mesley, Mrs. G. Gatfield, Mrs. W. Davidson, Mrs. D. Fowler, Mrs. J. Hanson and Mrs. M. Nelson. The refreshments were convened by Mrs. J. Tinney.

A vote of thanks to the teachers and helpers who provided such a delightful time was moved by Mrs. G. Lang.

Junior Farmers' At Home— Marks End Social Season

A gay event of Wednesday evening was the Peterborough Junior Farmers' annual At Home, their final organized social gathering this season. About 200 dancers attended, at the Club Aragon, and had a thoroughly good time. A few had the added pleasure of winning prizes in the novelty dances.

President Burritt Mann and past president Donald Milburn were on hand to greet early arrivals, and in the receiving line with them were Miss Mary Matchett and Miss Amy Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. Allan B. Mann and Mr. and Mrs. John Kitney. Later their places were taken by Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Gillespie, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. Norman McConkey, Mr. Robert Hall and Miss Mayme Cathcart.

Woman Watchdog

Caught in a reflective mood, she will speak of the things she has learned in watching a new state grow.

"There is so much more we could do if we had the authority," she says. "Government is still wasteful despite improvement over the years."

She thinks great savings could be obtained through a centralized purchasing program, and better control of property. She also feels the tax base could be broadened and the over-all structure of government streamlined to eliminate many duplications. But even with that she offers a word of caution.

"Reorganization is needed, but it's no cure-all. Governments will still have to be run by people. Our needs are for better educated, better trained people in public life."

Jean Agnes Elliott Marries Ottawa Man In Belleville

MARMORA, April 13 (ENS)—Miss Jean Agnes Elliott, daughter of Mrs. Elliott and the late R. A. Elliott, was married last week to Alexander Watt Cunningham, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Cunningham of Belleville.

The ceremony took place in Belleville at the home of the bride's mother and was conducted by the Rev. E. M. Cadigan of Ottawa, formerly pastor of St. Andrews United Church, Marmora. Wedding music was played by Clifford Templer.

The bride lived in Deloro before moving to Belleville.

Given in marriage by her brother Robert, the bride wore a gown of white satin with the bodice buttoning down the back, stand up collar, fitted waistline, long tight fitting sleeves and full skirt. Her finger tip veil was held in place by a braided headdress of matching satin.

She carried a shower bouquet of gardenias, white iris, freizia and white carnations.

Mrs. Hugh Forbes of Kingston, sister of the bride, was matron of honor wearing a rose colored crepe gown with low neckline and headdress of matching feathers. She carried a bouquet of Corsica blue iris.

Mr. Earl Mason of Belleville was groomsman.

After a reception at the home of the bride, the couple left for Ottawa. They will make their home in Belleville.

Guests were present at the wedding from Kingston, Ottawa, Toronto and Deloro.

Teaching Shunned Girls Say It Limits Freedom

TORONTO, April 13.—Teaching is one of the most unpopular professions in the minds of some girls, the urban teachers' section of the Ontario Educational Association was told yesterday.

One of the four speakers in a panel discussion on mental health among teachers, Frances Wiancko, said, "Of the girls I counsel teaching is one of the most unpopular professions." She is senior girls' counsellor at London Central Collegiate.

Miss Wiancko stated that if there was more liberalism in the profession, she felt this would not be the case. "Girls feel that a conservative personality with limited freedom of expression is needed to be a teacher."

Outlining factors that would relieve mental strain on high school teachers, Miss Wiancko suggested classes be smaller and there should be adequate financial security. It shouldn't be necessary for any teacher to work Saturdays or during summer holidays to augment income."

Some teachers did not have adequate training in subjects they taught, Miss Wiancko said. "Geography, history and English particularly, are thrown around like footballs," said the counsellor, and when the teacher has a free period these subjects become her lot."

Dr. C. C. Goldring, Toronto director of education, said that mental health of school teachers is very good, better than mental health in other professions. Principals in schools, Dr. Goldring said, set the pattern throughout the institution.

A principal must have a sense of humor and not be too much of a wet blanket," he said.

"As far as mental health is concerned," said Dr. John D. Griffin, "the teaching profession is no better and no worse than other professions." Medical director of the Canadian Mental Health Association, he stated that teachers are a good cross-section of Canada's mental health.

D. R. Mewhort, principal of Oriole Park School, told teachers the various plans for mental health that exist in the province.

Bomb Explodes

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 13—(AP)—A home-made bomb exploded on a window sill of Harvard University's Thayer Hall early today. The blast injured one student, endangered others and threw 150 freshmen into an uproar. It shattered more than a score of panes of glass and blew out a window frame. Police said they believed the explosion was the work of pranksters.

Teachers Oppose Lower Standards For Applicants

TORONTO, April 13 —(CP)— Toronto's "teachers' parliament" was on record today with a resolution opposing any lowering of the standards required in teacher training.

The trustees and ratepayers' section of the Ontario Education Association convention passed unanimously a resolution that teachers with lower qualifications than required at present, should not be admitted permanently to the Teachers' Federation. It concerned an interim report of the Ontario Royal Commission on education which recently suggested lowering of academic standards in an emergency training program to meet the teacher shortage.

Driving Courses

The same section of the convention heard W. A. Bryce, director of public safety at the University of Toronto, urge development of school driving courses.

Many Ontario drivers, if thoroughly tested, would not be allowed a licence, he said. Youths could obtain driving permits after a cursory examination and then go out on the highway in competition with a host of other drivers.

"There would be just as much sense in sending a youngster out with a professional hockey team and expecting him to skate and trade body checks with the pros as to send a 16-year-old on to the highway and expect him to come off scot free," he said.

Mr. Bryce said a 13-point pattern of driving education had been operating with great success in Kitchener for the last year.

UNKINDEST CUT—Mrs. Rosalie Bruce of Norwalk, Calif., sobs as she displays what was once her crowning glory. Mrs. Bruce was given a crew haircut by her husband, Edward, who was enraged because he believed she had been "running around". Said Edward, after his wife brought charges of felonious assault against him. "She's still beautiful with all her hair off."

Ontario Titles Challenged

Ontario championships contests for seven indoor swimming events will be held at the YMCA Saturday night. The meet is sponsored by the YMCA Swimming Club and is sanctioned by the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association, Ontario Section.

Entries for the events have been accepted from Stratford YMCA, Toronto West End YM, Toronto Granite Club and the Toronto Lakeshore Club. Expected entries are London YM, Hamilton YM, Hamilton Acquatic Club and other Toronto clubs. The events will be: senior men, 40 yards, free style; junior men, 200 yards, free style; boys under 14 years, 100 yards, free style; boys under 14 years, 100 yards, breaststroke; boys under 14 years, 160 yards, free style relay; boys under 12 years, 100 yards, free style; boys under 10 years, 100 yards, free style.

An attempt to break the Canadian record for the junior men's 300 yards individual medley swim will be made by Fred Smith of the Toronto Lakeshore Club. The present record is 3:56 minutes. The event is 100 yards breaststroke 1st, 100 yards breaststroke second and the last 100 yards free style. Two years ago when Smith was 13 years old, he won the Canadian two-mile senior men's event at the CNE.

Bob Easun of Stratford, who was recently clocked at 55 seconds for the 100-yard free style, will be competing in the junior men's 200-yard event. He will be swimming against George Stulock of Toronto West End, present 100-yard free style champion. Donald Wood, Jim Starr and Ralph Wood will be trying for the honors for the Peterborough club.

Police Hunt Thug Beat Cab Driver

OTTAWA, April 13 —(CP) — Police are searching for a heavy-set thug, who allegedly attacked and beat up a taxi driver on a lonely road about five miles southeast of here early today.

The driver, Rheal Marion, 21, of Forbes, Ont., told police he had been knocked unconscious when he was struck about the head and face with a heavy object.

Marion said he picked up his passenger at Forbes and was instructed to "keep going and he would give me instructions later." He became suspicious when his passenger told him to turn off the highway down a side road. As he stepped out of the cab to question the man and ask for his fare he was struck by a heavy object.

At hospital, Marion was found to be suffering deep gashes to the face and head and possible internal injuries. Police were unable to find a motive for the attack as the money carried by the driver was left untouched by his assailant.

The president, Mrs. W. D. Wilson, led the business.

Ten-Year-Old Rescues Three Babies From Fire

LINDSAY, April 13 (ENS)—A ten-year-old girl is heroine today of the village of Valentia after rescuing her two younger brothers and baby sister from their house Wednesday when it was threatened by a blazing grass fire.

The heroine is Mona Grieves, who, unaided, took her brothers and sister from the house to safety, when she saw flames leaping up the wall of the house.

She had the presence of mind to wrap the youngsters in blankets and put them in a safe spot near the road.

All the Grieves' nine children were in the house at the time. Gerald, 13; William, 11; Sandra, 8; Norma, 7, and Peter, 6, made their way out while Mona carried out Glen, 2; Garry, 1, and the infant girl.

Mona Left In Charge

Mona was looking after the three younger children while her parents visited Lindsay.

It was her action which attracted the attention of two Provincial Police officers who happened to be cruising in the region.

Provincial Corporal W. G. Milton and Constable Warner were driving down the county road which leads from Little Britain to Valentia, when they were attracted by dense smoke drifting across the road. At first glance the smoke seemed to be coming from the rear and west side of the house. As they came to a stop they found the small boys which the 10-year-old girl had carried to safety and the grass burning furiously around the house.

Remarkable Courage

"That girl deserves an award of some sort for the way she conducted herself in the face of danger," Corporal Milton said later. "She displayed remarkable courage and presence of mind for a child so young."

Corporal Milton said the fire was making rapid progress in the dry grass and that by the time he and Constable Warner arrived it was already licking at the back walls and before it was checked it had caught onto the roof.

After the two officers had beaten down the grass fire at its point nearest the house, they summoned help from a neighboring home. Quickly a small bucket brigade was organized and after a two-hour battle the fire was brought under control.

Meanwhile Mr. and Mrs. Grieves, parents of the children, had not returned from Lindsay and Mr. John Firmin, along with Mr. Alfred Bannister, volunteered to stay with the children until they arrived.

The family took up residence in the near-Valentia home about two weeks ago, moving there from Lindsay. The house is owned by Mr. Jack Cooper of Toronto.

CORNWALL, April 13 (CP)—Cornwall's new $140,000 civic administrative centre was formally opened Wednesday night by Mayor Aaron Horovitz. Close to 1,000 citizens attended the ceremonies and inspected the modern office quarters.

The two storey brick building replaces city hall as headquarters for Cornwall's civic government. Municipal officials have used the hall, just south of the new centre, since 1862.

Football's Hart Makes Test For Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 13 (AP) —Movie bigwigs today are mulling whether All-America football end Leon Hart will catch a pass from Hollywood.

The Notre Dame athlete underwent an extensive test Monday to determine whether he could star as well on the screen as on the gridiron.

Hart couldn't wait to hear the result. Here with his bride on his Easter vacation, he had to fly back to his classes.

"If I missed a day, I might not graduate," he said. "I'm just a has-been now."

Biggest Anyway

While Hart might never be Hollywood's greatest actor, he could certainly qualify as the biggest. Among most male stars, he would seem like a Great Dane beside poodles.

Size (he's six-feet-five, 270 pounds, mostly muscle) is not his only asset. He has a handsome face and an easy-going manner.

Embarrassed

Hart seemed a trifle embarrassed about the test, and I found out why.

"They have me doing a love scene," he said. "I have to say those four famous words—'Will you marry me?'"

How would he like an acting career?

"Let's put it this way," he smiled. "I understand the money involved in such work is very good indeed." He added that California "seems like a nice place to live."

But he emphasized that he wouldn't give up football for Hollywood or anything else. He is signed with the Detroit Lions professional team.

Football, he declared, "Is the thing I love."

Capsule Review

"Wabash Avenue" (T.C.F.) is pure Grable, from the first shimmy dance to the last production number. The plot is a rehash of an old musical and doesn't matter. What does matter is Betty, and she never was in better form. Victor Mature and Phil Harris battle lustily over her. The result cannot be called something new, nor is it ever dull.

New Son For Rooney

HOLLYWOOD, April 13—(AP) —Mickey Rooney now has three sons. His wife, the former actress Martha Vickers, gave birth to a boy in hospital Wednesday night. His two other sons, Mickey Jr., 5, and Timothy, 3, were born during his marriage to Betty Jane Rase.

Mass Education Said Cutting Pupils Standards

TORONTO, April 13 —(CP)— Mass education in North America has resulted in "a sort of lowest common denominator of dull mediocrity," Dr. W. G. Hardy, professor of classics at the University of Alberta, said in a speech Wednesday to the supervising and training section of the Ontario Education Association. Dr. Hardy said one result of mass education is an under-educated, over-opinionated mass of people.

Dr. Hardy said the firsht aim of education should be to turn out persons who can estimate human beings in social relationships, not merely technically-trained persons.

On the same lines, Dr. Wendell Yeo of Boston University told the guidance section that schools teaching only academic subjects are "failing their educational trust." The personal problems of students must be recognized.

Margaret E. Popham, principal of the Ladies College at Cheltenham, England, said youngsters should be encouraged to create in various media such as art, writing and needle-work. She believed ready-made amusements such as radio, movies and television are robbing children of the capacity to create.

Grim Fortresses

A Toronto architect, John B. Parkin, told the urban and secondary school trustees section that whatever the school of the future may look like, the main thing is to "steer clear of the fetters of stylistic architecture and tradition," to "always think of what we can do next."

Many of Ontario's older schools might be described as "grim and ugly fortresses of brick and terra cotta—super fire traps with high ceilings, oily floors, poor lighting, Victorian sanitary facilities and little play space." But new, modern schools in Ontario are as good as anything in the world. "And it is important that Ontario continue to progress because the rest of the country will follow."

Temperance Teaching

Inspector G. L. Duffin of the Ontario education department suggested a change in rural school board organiaztion. He told the public school section that in many cases two school boards meet in the same building. "One board for an area would result in better co-operation and an improved program for rural pupils."

The Home and School Federation heard Dr. R. G. Bell of Toronto declare that teachers should prepare themselves for introduction of study of alcoholism on the school curricula and that "any teaching regarding alcohol should embrace the parents as well."

EYE TOPICS

SIGHT SAVING GLASS

In certain optical factories there are machines designed for the sole purpose of breaking glass—to save man's eyes. A steel ball of a specified weight is dropped a certain distance onto a lens. If the lens breaks, the batch of glass of which it was a part is rejected.

The purpose is to produce glass that's almost indestructible. The reason is the safeguarding of workers in factories where fragments of metal fly and where molten lead and iron may accidentally splash into the eyes. Protective goggles are made for industrial use—goggles so tough that they can be dropped more than ten feet to a concrete floor without breaking. The lenses for these eye-saving glasses are made quite differently from those used in ordinary eye-glasses.

As soon as molten glass is poured it cools. The surface cools first, while the interior remains soft, and under ordinary conditions a strain is set up between the two parts. A slight change in temperature is often enough to increase the strain. The result is broken glass.

This strain can be prevented, by cooling the casting very slowly, or "annealing." It produces glass that is free from strain, but the process is a painstaking one. All good optical glass is annealed, and it has taken a year or more to anneal the glass mirrors of some big telescopes. But in the breakage-resisting industrial goggles strains are relieved in a different way. The molten glass is cooled rapidly with a jet of air or steam or by immersion in hot oil. An outer crust forms around the still-soft interior.

Why doesn't the glass crack of its own accord? Because this rapid cooling of the casting makes the shrinking of the outer crust uniform. The stresses are symmetrical, and not stronger in one direction than in another.

Family Life Slower When Father Is Pop

LONDON—(CP)—The decline of family life is reflected in the changing nomeclature of the father, Prof. Thomas Simey told a mental health conference here.

"The head of the family lost his status," he said. "Father became 'Daddy', and now is merely 'Pop'."

Simey, who is a professor of social science at Liverpool University, said the Victorian idea of the weaker sex now is merely a veneer.

"Although we have not yet reached the stage where we have to decide to which sex we belong, the behavior of man and woman is changing and will go on changing," he said.

"Both men and women must learn to accept their sex as a fundamental fact. They have got to decide on a new pattern for their lives and the burden of choice is individual.

Weather Forecasting Office Aboard HMCS Magnificent

ON BOARD HMCS MAGNIFICENT—Canada's only weather forecasting office afloat is located in this 18,000-ton aircraft carrier, presently on her way home to Halifax from a two-month training cruise to the Caribbean.

Accurate weather information is invaluable in carrier operations. Prior knowledge of the type of weather that will be encountered by the ship and her aircraft often shows its results in economy of effort, greater efficiency and avoidance of hazard.

To ensure that the Magnificent has the latest and most complete weather information available, her meteorological department maintains an around-the-clock schedule. Three forecasts and four weather maps are produced daily. These are based on weather data received from shore stations and the 24 observations made each day from the ship.

As is the practice in all ships at sea, the Magnificent several times daily sends reports to shore on the weather conditions in her area, to assist in the preparation of ocean weather maps.

The weather maps made up in the Magnificent are taken three times daily to those most concerned in her operations—the commanding officer, navigator, commander (air) and lieutenant-commander (operations)—for individual explanation.

Prior to any flying operations, pilots and observers are given a complete weather briefing. This includes information on the general weather situation, surface winds, upper winds, type, amount and height of cloud, visibility, temperature aloft, freezing level, and sea and swell.

Often, when time has permitted, the Magnificent has gone "chasing weather". The met men's charts having indicated a not too distant area where more suitable flying weather might be expected, the carrier has proceeded to the new locality in order to take advantage of the conditions.

"The Met Department has seldom given us a bum steer," one pilot remarked during the current cruise, after the ship had steamed all night to reach what the meteorological officer had selected as a "good weather area." He proved to be right, and flying stations was the order of the day.

In charge of the Magnificent's "met" office is W. F. Ganong of Digby, NS, a meteorologist of the Department of Transport. He is assisted by A. H. Osborne of Stellarton, NS, also of the Department of Transport, and seven meteorological observers of the Royal Canadian Navy. They include Petty Officer Alexander McLean of Saskatoon, and Able Seamen Donald Ball, Toronto, Andrew Benko, Val d'Or, PQ, L. J. McCallum, Ottawa, W. J. Johnson, Peterborough, Ontario, J. C. S. Switzer, Kingston, and G. D. Murray, Vulcan, Alberta.

The Magnificent's weather office is as well equipped as any meteorological station ashore. A variety of instruments and devices is used in making weather observations, the most intriguing of these being the large red and white balloons that are launched four times daily. These are used to determine the direction and velocity of the wind at various altitudes and are traced either visually or by radar.

Mr. Ganong also has a crystal ball, a farmer's almanac and a bottle of Bermudian shark oil. The shark oil, which is used by the fishermen of Bermuda to foretell the weather, was presented to him on a visit to the island. It is supposed to cloud up when a storm is approaching, and some of its supporters even claim that the oil will first become cloudy on the side of the bottle on which the storm is approaching.

Mr. Ganong would rather rely on the more scientific methods, however. The only sure thing he has found about the shark oil is that it freezes at Halifax when the temperature falls to a certain level.

WINDSOR, April 13 (CP) — Front and rear wheels of a heavy ice truck Tuesday rolled over little David Holden's body, but doctors are unable to find any trace of injury to the three-year-old boy. X-rays have shown no internal injuries.

5 Generations Of Apsley Halls

APSLEY, April 13. — (ENS)—There are few families which can boast five generations living at the same time. That is the record of Richard Hall's family, which has lived in the Peterborough district more than a century.

Mr. Hall, whose home has been at Apsley the past 40 years, celebrated his 93rd birthday Monday. He was born of pioneer parents in Seymour township and farmed there until 40 years ago, when he built the house in which he is at present living four miles south of Apsley.

When Mr. Hall lived in Seymour township he raised his seven children on a wage of 50 cents a day, the sum paid for cutting cord wood.

Mr. Hall's seven children are all living. Alec is a butcher at Lakefield; Albert, who lives in Apsley was at one time reeve of Chandos; Archie is employeed at a laundry in Peterborough and Arthur works on a farm 12 miles east of Peterborough.

Mrs. Alex Ferguson lives in the city and Mrs. Wilson has been living in the city but is now in Apsley. Mr. Hall lives with Mrs. Susie Hammen on the farm home.

TOM GARD'S NOTE BOOK

Was I fooled yesterday! I had been travelling in the Muskoka area and dropped in on an old friend who had just purchased a fairly large summer hotel. As we relaxed before a comforting blaze in the fireplace I began to rave about the large artistic wrought-iron hinges on all the doors of the huge common room. My host chuckled and said "Come on over and examine them more closely". Imagine my amazement when I found my "artistic wrought-iron hinges" were made of cardboard! There's no denying the fact they were attractive.

Step Easy

With these April showers I find it difficult to walk across lawns where there is no sidewalk. Just yesterday, right in my own back yard, I sunk almost to my rubber tops on a dirt path that I intended to surface last fall. I am still in a quandary as to which to use—solid paving or stepping stones. In case some others are in the same dilemma, I've had illustrated two or three of the best methods I have seen used.

There's still plenty of usefulness left in an old bureau drawer. The chap across the street has put some to good use about his home. Two of his ideas are shown and both are practical. Junior's toys are stored in the one that is covered and painted a gay color. The other one, made into strong shelves, is in the basement to hold his partially used paint cans.

Make Your Old Linoleum Smile

When I moved my family into our present house the agent remarked, "Of course, you'll have to lay a new linoleum in the kitchen". Would he be surprised to see the same linoleum five years and several coats of paint later! It is extremely easy to stipple a painted floor and what is even more important at this time of the year—it won't show the dirt!

Africans Riot Over Chief's White Wife

Britain May Change Ruling To Allow Khama To Visit Wife

LONDON, April 14—(AP)—Rioting has broken out in African Beuchuanaland because of the presence of Seretse Khama's white queen, the British government announced Thursday night. Because of a riot occasioned by the presence of former London typist Ruth Williams, the government said in a statement it might have to reconsider its plans to permit Ruth's husband, Chieftain - designate Seretse Khama of the Bamangwato tribe, to join her when she gives birth to their baby, expected in July.

The government barred Seretse from his tribal preserve for five years after he married Ruth. She refused to leave the tribal capital of Serowe and the government later indicated it would let Seretse go home at least for his wife's confinement.

Seretse has been waiting at Lobatsi, in Bechuanaland but outside the tribal preserve, for permission to join his wife.

The government announced that a crowd of Seretse's supporters rioted Tuesday in an attempt to prevent the removal from Serowe of cattle and goods belonging to a member of the tribe opposed to the white Queen.

Police used tear gas and arrested 11 supporters of Seretse in quelling the riot, the government said.

The commonwealth relations office, in a statement, said "intervention by the police and the district commissioner was resisted by a riotous crew, against whom the police, while rescuing the cattle and property, were forced to use tear gas."

The statement added that the ringleaders are "threatening continued resistance to the forces of law and order."

Two Toronto Couples Face 30 Charges, $150,000 Fines, Jail On Rent Offences

TORONTO, April 14—(CP)—Two Toronto couples have been charged with a total of 30 violations of Federal rent control law.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lipton and Mr. and Mrs. Manny Lipman were summonsed today to appear in Magistrate's court April 19. They face a maximum total penalty of $150,000 in fines plus jail terms.

The Liptons and Mrs. Lipman are charged jointly on 26 counts: Receiving "bonuses" of almost $5,000 for rental of 11 apartments during the period 1944 to 1948, lessening service in another 11 apartments without reducing rents, and not applying for rent fixation after signing leases on four other apartments.

Lipman is charged with receiving "bonuses" amounting to $1,400 for rental of suites in an other apartment building during 1947 and 1948.

Crown Attorney Joseph Singer said today a special court may be set up April 19 because of the complexity of the case against the two couples.

Besiege Pair In B.C. Cabin Held Off By Guns, Tear Gas Flushes Couple

Youth 19, Wanted On Abduction Charge But Girl Went Along Voluntarily
Parents Ordered Girl Stop Going With Boy

QUESNEL, B.C., April 14—(CP)—A defiant pair of lovers—a 19-year-old youth and his 16-year-old girl friend—stood off a police posse more than 12 hours before capture today on a high plateau in the northern British Columbia wilderness. Police smoked the couple out of a lonely trapper's cabin with tear gas bombs but the two fled to the bush. The posse finally tracked them to a stony ridge, where a police bullet felled the girl as she prepared to open up a fusilage on police. The girl was only nicked in the leg.

The couple—Bert Lagace was the only one identified by police—holed up in the cabin 18 miles west of here after fleeing their Quesnel homes Tuesday night on a wild rampage of breaking and entering.

Police had a warrant charging Lagace with abduction. They added, however, the high school girl had fled with Lagace of her own will, defying her parents' orders to stay away from the youth.

Wait Till Dawn

The posse waited till dawn before attempting to rush the cabin. Then they moved in with tear gas bombs.

The girl shouted from the cabin to her father as he pleaded with her to come out: "I'll see you in hell first."

The boy yelled to police: "If you want me, you'd better bring a coffin."

Four tear gas bombs were hurled through the tiny windows of the ramshackle log cabin. One came back and hit a game warden on the head.

As police moved in under cover of rocks and trees, the couple ran from the rear of the cabin and into the bush.

Police fanned out in the area—some 400 miles north of Vancouver — trudging through deep snow. There was no snow on some ridges and police were unable to follow them by footprints.

Cabinet Member Pension Bill Passes NS House

HALIFAX, April 14.—(CP).—A government bill to provide pensions for cabinet ministers ran into a barrage of criticism Thursday but was approved in principle by the Nova Scotia Legislature.

Premier Angus L. Macdonald said the bill is "simple justice."

Progressive Conservative leader Robert Stanfield said the cabinet members are "prepared to take care of themselves before looking after the people of th province."

Second Reading

The bill was given second reading after the defeat of two Progressive Conservative attempts to kill it.

Cabinet ministers are eligible for pensions in the United Kingdom, New Zealand and Australia, but the plan is unprecedented in Canada. Such a plan, however, has long been suggested in both Federal and Provincial political circles.

Contributory Plan

The plan provides for contributory pensions for ministers who retire at 60 after 10 years in the cabinet. Size of the pension depends on length of service—after 14 years a minister would be eligible for 70 per cent of his salary. Ministers get $8,000 a year and the premier $9,000.

Mr. Macdonald said the bill simply made civil service superannuation benefits available to ministers and he found it "very difficult" to see any difference between cabinet ministers and civil servants.

Charge US Airman Revealed Secrets To 'Red Spies'

GARMISH-PARTENKIRCHEN, Germay, April 14—(AP)—Two United States Army agents testified today that a 19-year-old American airman told them he volunteered to supply secret military information to Russia because "I believe in Communism."

They said Cpl. Gustav Adolph Mueller of St. Paul, Minn., then gave them secret U.S. intelligence documents while they posed as agents of the Soviet Union.

Mueller, who pleaded innocent, is on trial before a U.S. Air Force Court Martial on charges of attempting to deliver classified information involving defence of the U.S. to a foreign country.

Conviction on the charge in time of war could bring the death penalty. Technically the state of war has not yet ended.

One of the agents said Mueller, son of a Swiss father and British mother, told them at a meeting they had arranged with him:

"I have been looking for a contact for a long time. My father fought in the Communist revolution on the side of Lenin. From my earliest youth I have been interested in Communist doctrine and I believe in Communism. It is the only right way.

Mueller, member of an air force intelligence squadron, was studying at the intelligence school in Oberammergau.

Mueller was placed under arrest last Oct. 7. He has been in custody since. Information on the case was not given out to the press prior to the trial.

But today the army took almost all the wraps off the case. Reporters were asked not to use the names of the two agents because that would hinder their continuing secret operations.

Secret documents allegedly given the agents by Mueller were said to include a report on German sabotage activities and details of the U. S. air force's standing procedure for intelligence interrogation.

Greek Premier Resigns Position

ATHENS, Greece, April 14—(AP)—The government of Premier Sophocles Venizelos resigned today and retired Gen. Nicholas Plastiras was handed a mandate to form a new Cabinet.

Plastiras, a leader of the mildly left-wing National Progressive Union, was expected to organize a broad centre coalition desired by American Ambassador Henry F. Grady.

Venizelos, whose government had included only one minister outside his own Liberal party, submitted his resignation to King Paul at his summer palace at Tatoi. He said he had suggested Plastiras, whose party ran third in the recent national elections, as Premier-designate.

Ambassador Grady broadly hinted early this month that Venizelos should either resign or broaden his government to include other centre parties. Grady said the United States could not continue to extend economic aid to any but a broadly representative government.

Venizelos, whose Liberal party held less than 60 of parliament's 250 seats, had counted on support of the right-wing Populists (Royalists) led by former Premier Constantin Tsaldaris.

False Clues Found In Search

STOCKHOLM, April 14 (AP)—Equipment dropped by aerial searchers raised false hopes today of a clue to the United States Navy privateer patrol plane missing with its crew of 10 since Saturday.

As 16 U.S. planes continued to comb the Baltic area, search authorities identified a piece of wood found by fishermen as part of a smoke-flare box, dropped last Wednesday when a searching B-17 pilot observed what he thought was a life raft.

An inscription in English on the grey wooden piece, half a yard long, earlier led Swedish naval authorities at the Karlskrona base to believe it might be part of the missing plane. The inscription read: "Down or forward when launched floodlight MK G mod 2 lot 4 — 4 LD D — 245 GHB."

The discovery came as thick fog rolling into the North Baltic hampered the search for the missing plane.

Sixteen planes were threading paths south of the fog bank, which reached out toward the Latvian coast region where the Russians said they fired on the American four-engined plane April 8.

In Copenhagen, Danish Foreign Minister Gustav Rasmussen, answering Communist criticism of the use of Copenhagen's Kastrup airfield by the American search planes, said his government had a "human obligation" to give such aid.

100 Germans Try To Beat Woman Witness In Trial

HAMBURG, Germany, April 14—(AP)—A crowd of about 100 Germans today set upon and tried to beat up a woman witness who testified at the trial here of Viet Harlan, German film producer. Persons in the crowd called her "a Jewish pig." Only intervention by the Prosecutor and several court officials saved the woman, Karena Niehoff of Berlin, from angry fists. It was necessary to summon a police squad to disperse the Germans, who came at the witness with raised fists and cries of "You Jewish pig—what are you doing here in Germany. We don't want you here. Go away."

Harlan is the producer of the wartime anti-semitic film "Jew Suess." He is being tried on charges of crimes against humanity and supporting anti-Semitic propaganda. He was acquitted on identical charges last year but a Federal court in Cologne ordered a retrial.

Miss Niehoff testified she had been a secretary in the film department of the Nazi Propaganda Ministry and had seen Harlan altering a previous Jew Suess film to "make it more anti-semitic." This provoked the outburst.

No Corruption In Police Force Hearing Finds

WINDSOR, April 14. (CP) — Windsor's city police force has been cleared of "allegations of corruption" before a police commission inquiry.

A final hour-long sitting on Thursday closed the inquiry after commission counsel A. Douglas Bell, crown attorney of Chatham, said that "if the purpose of this hearing is to uncover evidence of corruption in the police department, it is a failure." Mr. Bell said "no person has come forward to make any specific charges. No one could offer a title of evidence to support such a charge."

But the commission counsel suggested the police commission should consider additions to the force, establishment of some sort of training course and provision of better police facilities.

He said it was up to the citizens to correct their own attitude towards crime and to assume the responsibility for better law enforcement. He blamed Windsor's proximity to Detroit, just across the river, for what he called a casual attitude by residents toward breaches of the law.

The commission chairman, Magistrate Angus W. MacMillan, said the commission would prepare a report on its findings to be published later. Other members are Mayor Arthur Reaume and County Judge Albert Gordon.

Mr. Bell said in his summing up that he had the greatest respect for Magistrate Hanrahan but felt the magistrate's statements were "grossly exaggerated."

Some 30 witnesses were heard in the three half-days the commission sat last month. Another 13 were heard when the inquiry concluded Thursday.

Find Cortisone, ACTH Substitute

CHICAGO, April 14. (CP)—Two research groups seeking possible substitutes for ultra-scarce ACTH and cortisone in treating rheumatoid arthritis reported promising results Thursday with a plentiful synthetic.

The drug is pregnenolone, a hormone-related substance. It is obtained from cholesterol, a fat-like compound found in all animal fats and oils.

Separate research groups tried it on patients. Half of a group of 30 patients receiving the drug in one test reported "striking relief" and 11 others reported mild improvement. Six of seven patients in another test said they obtained relief from stiffness and great improvement in muscle strength.

Children Stage Sect Protest

HULL, Que., April 14—(CP)—More than 250 school children today staged a demonstration against literature being distributed at night by members of the Jehovah's Witnesses.

Under the supervision of Rev. Brother Albert, director of Cauvin school, pupils were given time off to collect the literature — described as anti-Roman Catholic and also denouncing Premier Duplessis of Quebec—which had been distributed from door to door Thursday night.

The pupils, ranging in age from eight to 13 years, collected all pamphlets in sight and later burned them in a bonfire in the school yard.

Brother Albert said the literature will be burned every time it is circulated and that other schools have promised their co-operation.

Petain Will Appeal Treason Conviction

PARIS, April 14 —(CP)—Aging Marshal Phillippe Petain, serving out a life sentence on bleak Ile d' Yeu as a traitor to France will seek a court reversal of his condemnation, his lawyer said today. The 94-year-old Marshal surrendered France to the Germans in 1940 and headed the puppet Vichy government.

CBC Will Spend $10,000,000 Better Coverage

OTTAWA, April 14 (CP)—The CBC, now spending about $7,000,000 a year, contemplates an expenditure of about $10,000,000 a year to improve its coverage and service to the Canadian people.

A. D. Dunton, chairman of the CBC Board of Governors, gave that figure Thursday in testimony before the Royal Commission on Arts and Science.

Mr. Dunton said that there were possibly some good points in the recommendation of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters that the CBC be entirely financed out of the public treasury.

However, the CAB proposal that the CBC receive a grant from the public treasury equivalent to $2.50 for each radio receiving set in Canadian homes and motor cars would not be sufficient to cover the expenditures contemplated in the government-owned radio system's program of expansion and improvements.

Hunt Diamonds In North Quebec

VAL D'OR, Que., April 14 (CP)—Twenty-eight claims covering 2,000 acres have been staked in Vassan township, 15 miles north of here, in the hope that there may be diamnods there.

The staking has been done by James Bay Diamond Syndicate, headed by Norman Vincent, Toronto mining promoter.

It follows the experience of Osias and Peter Allard in drilling on the farm of Alvida Duval in March, 1948. They report that two diamond drills were stopped at 60 feet and that the drill diamonds, when examined, were polished smooth.

This led to the conjecture that the drills may have hit other diamonds. An assay of the sludge showed grains of diamonds, which skeptics say might have been from the drills themselves.

Some geologists have in the past expressed the opinion that it is reasonable that diamonds should occur in the solid rock somewhere north of the Great Lakes. This is based on the discovery of emigrant diamonds within the glacial drift of Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana and Ohio. Some writers have placed the James Bay area of Northern Ontario as the likely source.

Doctor Presents Bill $15,130 For 60 Years

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—Dr. W. Sinclair Bowen finally presented his bill today for treatments he gave a woman patient for more than 60 years.

The bill came to $15,120.

Dr. Bowen presented a claim against the $165,000 estate of the late Mrs. Louise M. Holmead.

For years, Dr. Bowen said, he treated Mrs. Holmead practically for free, because he believed she couldn't afford to pay.

When she died she left him $1,500 in her will—and the rest of her $165.00 estate to the Church of Epiphany.

In presenting his bill, Dr. Bowen said:

"As it now stands, the whole thing is unfair to me and to the whole medical profession."

Jap Youth Charged With $8,000,000 Fire

TOKYO, April 14—(AP)—An 18-year-old Japanese truck driver today was charged with responsibility for an $8,000,000 fire in the seaside resort of Atami, 65 miles southwest of here. Police said he carelessly dropped a cigaret near a gasoline tank Thursday. They estimated the fire, brought under control seven hours later, destroyed 1,600 houses. Five thousands persons were homeless and 500 were injured.

'I'm Going To Kill' Youth Taken In Battle

DALLAS, Tex., April 14—(AP)—A youth who left a note in his hotel room saying "I'm going to kill" was captured in a running gun battle Thursday night after seriously wounding three persons.

Detective Captain Will Fritz said the man told him he was Arthur V. Gittings of Bethlehem, Pa.

Police said the note, written on a picture frame, declared:

"Tonight, I'm going to kill. Who? I don't know. I have communicated with my superior as a deceased individual. I can't help myself."

Urges US Start Social Changes In Poor Nations

PHILADELPHIA, April 14 — (AP) — The United States was challenged today to help bring about a "social revolution" in the "underdeveloped countries of the world."

President Truman's "point four" program is not enough, the American Academy of Political and Social Science was told by George Hakim, counsellor of the Legation of Lebanon.

Hakim was one of a half-dozen speakers at a symposium on point four at the academy's 54th annual meeting.

The point four program, as conceived by the president in his 1948 inaugural address, would supply U.S.economic know-how to the war-ravaged countries of the world. The president called it a "bold new program."

Too Small

Hakim said the program is "too small to provide an effective contribution" to the economic development of poverty-stricken countries.

The masses of the under-developed lands, which Hakim said make up two-thirds of the world's population, "are not interested in concepts of free enterprise, free competition, democracy and human rights. . . . It is necessary first to live and not to starve," he asserted.

And, he said, point four improperly places too great an emphasis on (1) free enterprise and (2) private capital.

"The poverty-stricken, disease-ridden masses of what have been called the under-developed countries of the world," Hakim said, "are slowly awakening to the misery of their condition . . .

New Industry

"What is needed," the Lebanese official said, "is no less than a social revolution involving the transformation of a semi-feudal reactionary social order into a new industrial system under which the forces of production can develop and expand freely so as to raise the standard of living of the people as a whole."

Man Digs Up Limbs, Medical Specimens

WINNIPEG, April 14 (CP) — Police solved Thursday night their one-day mystery of the buried limbs. They said a hand and foot found buried 3½ feet deep in the backyard of a laundry were medical specimens discarded by a clinic. The partly-mummified right hand and left leg were uncovered by Fred Metzler, 57, as he prepared foundations for a new boiler room.

Billy The Kid At Work

CHATHAM, April 14—(CP)—A thief who signed himself "Billy the Kid" stole $500 from the Harry Judah grocery here Thursday night.

Mr. Judah found a note reading "Billy the Kid here stealing. He shot 21 sheriffs." The owner discovered the break-in after a 90-minute absence from the store.

Aid Security By Standard For Fire Hose Couplings

OTTAWA, April 14 — (CP) — The Defence Department and the Canadian Standards Association today announced establishment of a national standard for 2½-inch fire-hose couplings and hailed it as an historic step of great potential importance for Canada in any new war.

The possibility of enemy air raids on cities and industrial targets hovered in the background of what was described as fulfilment of "an objective of nearly 50 years' standing" by W. R. McCaffrey, general manager of the Standards Association.

The standard is not compulsory but both Mr. McCaffrey and Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, coordinator of civil defence, called on cities and industrial firms to adopt it "in the interests of national economy and security."

It was recommended by a committee representing fire prevention authorities "on an extremely broad scale."

Its establishment is a move to relieve a situation in which fire departments use so many different types of hose couplings that emergencies frequently find co-operation between neighboring cities "complicated and often impossible." If fully accepted, it would allow complete interchangeability, possibly extending well beyond neighboring cities in emergency.

Gen. Worthington, chairman of the association committee that reached agreement virtually unanimously, said "special consideration" was given to adoption of the American standard and "three separate visits were made to the U.S." for this purpose. This would extend co-operation under joint defence plans, helping border cities to co-operate.

Twin Boys Born Two Miles Apart In UK

LONDON, April 14 (Reuters)—Twin boys were born in Britain Thursday two miles and 45 minutes apart—and in the general excitement the father fainted.

Ambulance driver Tony Divers answering an emergency call to take 28-year-old Mrs. Jill Wyman to a maternity home, arrived just in time to deliver a three-pound, six-ounce boy.

He found Mrs. Wyman semi-conscious, and her husband, who had fainted, on the floor beside her.

After delivering the baby he whisked Mrs. Wyman to the nursing home two miles away, where she gave birth to the twin's four-pound, 13-ounce brother.

U.S. Will Ask 17 Nations To Slash Duties At U.K. Trade Conference

2 Republican Senators Protest Agreement
Would Swell Unemployment
Democrats Urge Caution In Duty Treaties

WASHINGTON, April 14—(AP)—State Department plans for further tariff cuts brought sharp protests from two Republican Senators today that the effect would be to swell the number of jobless in the United States. At the same time, some Democrats commenting on a 40-country trade conference to be held at Torquay, England, Sept. 28, urged caution in agreeing to new cuts in import duties. The State Department announced Thursday that an American delegation would be sent to the conference to negotiate with 17 countries for a lowering of tariff rates on all sides.

As part of its campaign to help other countries earn more dollars, the Department said it will seek to reduce American import duties on about 2,500 items in return for lowered rates on U.S. exports.

Officials called the program necessary as an alternative to the pouring out of U.S. billions for foreign aid indefinitely in the cold war.

The 2,500 American items down for possible tariff cuts include such controversial ones as wool, fish, clocks, wines, whisky, paper, textiles, toys, china, rayon and dairy products. American business men in these fields have objected strongly to opening up their US markets to more foreign goods.

Canada Pleased

(In Ottawa, Canadian trade officials expressed pleasure with US progress in reducing tariffs. But they questioned whether all of the 2,500 US items would be negotiated at the Torquay conference. Canada would benefit from possible reductions on such items as dairy products, fish, whisky, paper and toys.)

There was strong opposition in Congress against tariff-cutting.

"It means exporting jobs now held by American workmen," said Senator Hugh Butler (Rep.-Neb.)

He added that with the unemployed in the US more than

BRITAIN'S "PLANTATIONS"

The colonial office dates back to 1660 when a committee of the privy council was appointed for "The Plantations" as the colonies were then called.

Can. Traders Pleased But Doubt All U.S. Cuts

OTTAWA, April 14 (CP)—Canadian trade officials expressed pleasure last night over United States progress with plans to make further reductions in American tariffs.

But they questioned whether all items set forth in a 78-page list made public in Washington last night would be negotiated by the U.S. at the forthcoming tariff-cutting conference at Torquay, England.

Any U.S. producer can scan the list and lodge a protest at public hearings which the U.S. Government must hold. If the producer presents a good case why the U.S. should not cut tariffs on that item, then it may be dropped from the list.

However, if no protests are lodged, officials said, Canada stands to gain from the possible reductions on such items as dairy products, fish, whisky, paper and toys.

Nancy Oakes Robbed Of $9,200 In Jewels

LOS ANGELES, April 14—Police early today said burglars took $9,200 in jewels from Nancy Oakes, the heiress who figured in the sensational 1943 Bahamas murder trial of her father, Sir Harry Oakes, Canadian mining millionaire.

Police said the gems were taken from the Donald M. Nelson home in Coldwater Canyon where the former wife of Count Alfred de Marigny is a house guest. Nelson is the former war production board chairman.

The thieves broke a pane of glass near the front door and then unlocked the door. The Nelsons and Miss Oakes were not home at the time.

A diamond clip valued at $5,000 was among the loot taken from Miss Oakes' room.

Cold Halts Smelt Run No Catch At Cobourg

COBOURG, April 14—(ENS)—Bitterly cold nights have put a halt to the smelt run at Grafton and at creek mouths along the lakeshore to the east of Cobourg.

Wednesday and Thursday nights about 60 tried the stream at Grafton but all they got was an assortment of chills.

So far the smelt have not started their run at the factory creek. For one thing the creek has been coursing at a high speed and the water has also been too cold.

Old Landmark Falls To Axeman

One of the ancient landmarks of Ashburnham, the Surveyor's Tree, on Robinson St., beside the Montgomery Brothers cold storage plant has been cut down by the city's Parks department.

Heresay has it that this mighty elm, which was well matured when Peterborough was still a wilderness, was used by the late Col. Richard Birdsall as a survey tying-in point when Ashburnham was "laid out." The late J. W. Pierce said at one time that he was unable to find from any records whether or not this fact was authentic but it was known as the surveyor's tree, nevertheless.

Parks employees brought it down with a four-foot chain saw; the tree butt was 46 inches across and superintendent Armar Butcher estimated that the tree will yield one and one-half cords of sound wood. It was given to L. C. McAuliffe of Mark St., for fuel.

ROBIN'S COLD DIP

There might be some penguin blood in the robin that took his bath this morning in the chill water of the Outboard Marine creek. The dip of the weather to 18 degrees during the night had left a film of ice except at the rills. Mr. Robin found a safe place to wade in a squat, hopped out on the bank and shook his feathers, and then went back for a further dousing. He appeared to rate as a "polar bear" of the thrush family. Out on the bank again he took time to dry himself in the sun, and must have been glowing like those robusts youths—and they can't be many—who start the day with a cold shower. He seemed to be all set for the business of building a nest, or whatever he had lined up in his plans. Anyway he was all set and preened to go places.

Hot Witness

PENZANCE, Cornwall, England, April 14—(AP)—The Judge frowned at the witness in court Thursday, sniffed, then demanded:

"Are you smoking?"

"No, Sir," said the man.

"Then your head must be on fire," said the Judge, judiciously. It was.

Smoke was pouring from the top of the witness' head.

A splinter of red-hot glass had fallen from a lighted gas bracket above him and set fire to his hair.

The witness patted out the fire and the trial went ahead.

China Mata Hari Threatens Island

TAIPEI, Formosa, April 14 — (AP) — A glamorous "Mata Hari" who "has bewitched many men by her beauty and romantic temperament", is building a Red underground to strike at Formosa Chinese Nationalist security officers warned today.

They identified her as Miss Hsieh Hsueh-hung, 50, Communist leader of the February 28, 1947, revolt in which thousands of Formosans were slain.

A former lover, security officers said in a statement, spilled the goods on the beautiful woman. They said he told this story:

Miss Hsieh escaped to mainland China after Chiang Kai-shek's generals crushed the revolt of Formosans demanding self-rule. Moscow-trained, she had been a Communist 25 years. She was sold into concubinage when 19.

Acting directly under Red Leader Mao Tse-tung's orders, she has recruited a fifth column of more than 2,000 men.

Miss Hsieh plans to smuggle her fifth column into Formosa. The Reds have promised to take Formosa this year. But its isolated position, 90 miles from the mainland, makes invasion a tough job. A fifth column is an alternate—and probably easier—way.

Alcohol Shields Some From Insanity—Doctor

MONTREAL, April 14.—(CP)—For a few men, alcohol acts as a shield against insanity and the "Antabuse" treatment for alcoholism might remove their last "safety valve," Dr. J. H. Latendresse of Verdun Protestant Hospital, said here Thursday night. "Antabuse," developed in Denmark, is a drug which creates nausea in a patient who has taken alcohol into his system. There has been considerable controversy as to its effectiveness and the possible dangers it creates to the health of a patient.

Besiege Pair

through the night, gave the couple away.

Police spotted the two on a high ridge. The girl was holding the gun.

As the posse approached, Lagace shouted to the girl: "Shoot them! Shoot them. Let the —— —— have it."

The posse fired first, just nicking the girl below the left knee. She fell, dropping the .22 calibre rifle. The posse rushed in.

Desperate Struggle

"Lagace put up a desperate struggle before we pinned him on the ground," said Staff Sgt. Andy Fairbairn.

Sgt. Fairbairn, in charge of the posse, said: "More serious charges will be laid against both."

For 12 hours the pair held at bay a posse of nine, six provincial police officers and three civilians sworn in as special deputies.

The odyssey began Tuesday night. When the girl failed to return home, her parents swore out a complaint charging Lagace with abduction and police took up the chase.

It was not until Thursday afternoon that two constables found the pair holed up in the cabin. A shot was fired as they approached the hut and they retreated and waited for reinforcements.

Police said the couple broke into two cabins during their flight.

The girl is undergoing treatment in hospital here. Her companion is lodged in the city lockup.

Parents of the girl — a high school student—revealed she had been "going around with" Lagace for several months. They said she had returned to Quesnel after spending some time in Vancouver.

"She is a fine girl," said Sgt. Fairburn. "She comes from a fine family.

"I don't know what happened to her."

Because of her age, the girl's name was withheld.

Police ringed the cabin late Thursday but fear of bloodshed prevented them from making a frontal assault.

Before the attack, Cpl. Earl Sarsiat said: "We don't want any bloodshed if we can help it."

At Perth, they woke up, just in time to miss the train back home. At edition time, they still weren't home.

Spaceships Sure —U.K. Scientists

LONDON, April 14 — (CP)—Successful development of spaceships is "inevitable," Dr. J. G. Porter told a scientific meeting here.

Porter, president of the British Astronomical Association, made his statement within a few days of publication of a book by Professor Auguste Piccard declaring spaceships journeys to the moon are possible in theory.

Porter said spaceships will be developed because of the extraordinary heights to which rockets now can be sent.

Piccard, first man to reach the stratosphere in a balloon, said in his book that spaceship trips to the moon are theoretically possible in rocket-propelled craft wtih aluminum airtight cabins.

But the Belgian scientist foresees almost insuperable difficulties in such a project.

He says rockets bound for the moon would be similar to present-ray rocket weapons but on a greater scale and with a spherical cabin.

Weight-Lifters Test Prowess, Comic Interlude

The Peterborough YMCA Weight Lifting championships were held before a capacity crowd Thursday night in the Y gym. Flyweight, featherweight, middleweight, lightweight, light heavyweight events were held. No one challenged Stan McBride's right to the heavyweight championship which he won last year.

Pat Belsey, 117 pounds, captured the flyweight honors lifting a total of 370 pounds in his three best lifts for the press, snatch, clean and jerk lifts. Gerald O'Rourke, weighing in at 125 pounds, lifted a total of 370 pounds in the three lifts for the featherweight honors.

Ab Blondin, one of Peterborough's top weight lifters, easily took the middleweight championship which he won last year. Blondin, with the press, snatch and clean and jerk lifts hoisted 610 pounds. Nick Collins placed second. Bud Collins is still the light heavyweight champion for the city. Thursday night he lifted a total of 520 pounds for the three lifts.

The last lift decided the championship for the lightweights as Ken Bailey edged out Harry O'Rourke, last year's featherweight champion, to win the title for the second time. Bailey lifted a total of 485 pounds as compared with O'Rourke's 455.

The trophies for the championship are: featherweight, McGillis trophy; lightweight, Morris Duke trophy; middleweight, the Dit Clapper trophy; light, heavyweight, the CGE trophy.

Drop In Bathing Suit

A skit, "Muscle Beach, California," was presented by the lifters mentioned, Cliff McInroy, John Breckenridge, Jack Higgins, John Murdock and Ralph Plumpton. McInroy climaxed the act with a rope drop from the ceiling of the gym in a woman's old-fashioned bathing suit.

Stew Heffernan (Gus Sassafras of the CNE waterfront show) displayed a series of flips, rolls and twists on the trampoline with Mick Magee. Some of the others taking part in the show were given a try-out on the apparatus. Magee also worked on the rings and parallel bars.

Under the direction of Al Clark, physical director of the YMCA, the Junior Leaders gave an exhibition of tumbling. The boys, Allin Scott), Doug Ash, Fred Ash, Lorne Hale, Dennis Hale, Carl Butcher, Jim Heffernan, Doug Livingstone, Ted Rankin, Wilfred Rankin, Newman Olmstead and Ken Johnston, did front and back rolls, double front and back rolls, cartwheels, hand springs, high and long diving. Douglas Livingstone dove over nine boys while Mick Magee displayed the long leap over 10 boys.

Five of the weight lifters, Pat Belsey, Harry O'Rourke, Ken Bailey, Jack Murdock, Jack Higgins, modelled in bronze. The boys took the following poses, build, disc, weight lifting, archery, handstand and classic wrestling.

Stan McBride was master of ceremonies and commentator for the comedy act.

Tells Youth Quit Garbage Dumps

CAMPBELLFORD, April 14.—(ENS). — An assault charge against Jack Parcells of Campbellford was dismissed by Magistrate R. B. Baxter in police court Thursday.

The charge arose out of an incident which took place at the town dump about two weeks ago. Wilford Martin, 16, was searching through the dump looking for anything that might be of value to him, and had selected a couple of old bicycle fenders and an auto horn, when he was ordered off the dump by Jack Parcells, who works for his son, James Parcells, the garbage collector. Martin claimed Parcells threw a box of garbage at him, causing bodily harm.

In court, Parcells denied hitting the plaintiff with the box and testified that he had ordered Martin from the dump on many occasions. Martin had used foul and abusive language, Parcells said.

James Parcells objected to persons searching through the dump and carting away articles, because, he pointed out, he usually had the job of hauling them back the following week. The Department of Agriculture had notified the garbage collector that he was not to allow people to search through discarded articles and carry them off.

Magistrate Baxter advised the plaintiff to secure some permanent employment and not to frequent such places as dumps in the future.

Teach Driving At The Collegiate?

The director of the public safety division of the University of Toronto, W. A. Bryce, says that many Ontario drivers, if they were thoroughly tested, would not be allowed to drive. He urged that driver education courses be established in high schools—a measure which the Peterborough Board of Education has already been considering for Collegiate pupils.

* * *

We entirely agree with Mr. Bryce's statement that many Ontario drivers are unfit to sit behind the wheel of a car or truck, because either they are physically not qualified, or they do not know how to drive well enough to meet the demands and sudden situations which crowded streets and highways and powerful motors have created. We doubt that an effective remedy, or a desirable one, is to make automobile driving a subject of the high school curriculum.

* * *

Young people who have grown up in an automobile age—we might even say who have grown up in a car—are almost instinctively handy with motors and behind a wheel. They are often far better drivers than their parents. They do not need a course of instruction in driving as much as they need checks. They know how to drive, but they do not always apply that knowledge with care. Youth is a heady, feckless time; to give them the reins of a buggy in earlier generations was mild freedom compared with giving them the wheel of a 30-horse power car

* * *

A thorough testing of drivers is required before they are first licensed. In addition, period re-testing, including an assessment of the drivers' physical capacity for driving, should be made. In Alberta the other week an optometrist checked a truck-driver's eyes and found his vision only twenty per cent. of normal in one eye, only thirty per cent. of normal in the other. Yet he was licensed to drive a powerful inherently dangerous truck. Alberta's system of licensing is no shakier than Ontario's.

Smallpox From India To Scotland To Canada

The days of great plagues are over. One reason is that scientists and governments are alert to the inception of epidemics in whatever corner of the world they may occur, and take immediate steps to contain the disease within the affected regions. World health agencies, shipment by air of medicants, antitoxins and skilled assistance, and control of the movements of people, all contribute to the isolation of an epidemic and mastery of plagues.

The efforts are not fully successful, and epidemics do blight sections of the earth, particularly in crowded, ill-fed clinically backward countries of the East. Only recently the Canadian immigration authorities for the first time required that persons entering Canada from Britain show proof of vaccination. (The U.S.A. has long required this safeguard.) The reason is an outbreak of smallpox in Glasgow. Smallpox came to Glasgow from India, having been brought into that port by Indian seamen.

Smallpox is endemic in India—unlike Canada where it has been almost entirely wiped out; there were only two cases in the whole country in 1946. In some parts of India smallpox is now epidemic. But strict control measures (such as Canada has now instituted against visitors arriving from affected Scotland), and, of course, world-wide humanitarian interest, medical skill and the direct assistance of such bodies as the World Health Organization, make a universal plague — bubonic plague, cholera, smallpox, diphtheria—almost impossible. It is well in these days of rapid transit and mass movement of people that modern science, planes and quick communication have been put to preventative medical use. Without these, the modern world would have been indeed plagued.

India and Pakistan are in sorry condition, partly as a result of the recent war between the two countries with the consequent flight of refugees. It is estimated that Pakistan now contains more than eight million refugees from India and Bengal—dispossessed people if ever there were dispossessed. They have neither shelter nor food in any adequate measures, and are ripe for diseases. Smallpox, measles, dysentery and even cholera are spreading. If the world has no other reason for being glad that Pakistan and India have come to some agreement and war has not erupted again, it is that the two countries may be able to turn their attention to the economic plight and disease-ridden misery of their peoples. An epidemic in the Orient can directly affect Britain and even Canada. The Governor-General of Pakistan says that international relief on a very large scale is necessary in his country if the people's condition is to be improved and disease checked. Both India and Pakistan have shown that their own resources are inadequate to cope with the problem, particularly since war has so grievously hurt their national economies and disrupted native life.

The Western Star Beams In The East

Corner Brook is the second largest place in Newfoundland. It is essentially a pulp and paper town—its payroll exceeded thirteen million dollars last year. In fact, so important is pulp and paper to the economy of Corner Brook and Newfoundland generally that codfish take second place to it in the volume of the province's exports. Codfish have been ousted in a relatively short time, for Grand Falls mill did not start operating until 1909, and Corner Brook mills not until 1925. All these things every Canadian editor, and, we are sure, every Canadian reader knows. But the editor of Corner Brook's The Western Star wants a little assurance on the point.

That amiable gentleman sent us a letter—as he did every other editor in Canada—registering his pained opinion that his Newfoundland readers know far, far more about the first nine Canadian provinces than our readers know about the tenth and newest one. What an un-Canadian thought! We strongly defend our readers from such pained opinions, and say with complacency that our readers know Newfoundland, yes, and even Corner Brook, as well as they know the backs of—well, the Western Star editor's hands. We could level the suggestion of an accusation at the Western Star's readers. How many of them know that Peterborough, Ontario, has the largest hydraulic lift lock in the world? For that matter, how many of them know where Peterborough is? (Populations: Peterborough, 36,000, Corner Brook 9,000).

The editorial letter did not come out of thin air; it came wrapped in 42 pages of newsprint—the Western Star's fiftieth anniversary issue. It is a handsome booming job, and we congratulate the Western Star on it and on its first half-century. If we were not so well primed on Newfoundland as we are, we would find the anniversary edition a well of information on western Newfoundland and its chief town, Corner Brook. But we keep up with the times; even as Newfoundland's chief industry switched from being codfishing to pulp and paper making, we switched our diet from cod to newsprint. This explains, of course, why we are so well stuffed with information about Newfoundland.

Are Lumbermen Really Getting Soft?

The Sudbury Star is disgusted with the modern lumberman, who demands good food. "The lumberjacks of a bygone day grumbled over the food—the crawlies in the crackers and the wigglies in the meat—but they ate with gusto, and sent the cook a-packing only when his flapjacks were so tough they could be used for shoe leather." It is thus that the Star remembers the lumberman of the past; the modern article seems to be a sissy in comparison.

We wonder if there isn't a lot to be said for the modern lumberjack. We don't particularly admire anybody who makes a virtue of eating decayed or ill-cooked food; indeed, we think that he is off his head. Nor do we think that a man who ate such rubbish would keep his strength for long. The modern lumberjack, who insists on good food to support him in his hard work, is wiser than the apparently tough but actually simple-minded lumberjack of the past.

We have no statistics to support our case, but we would not mind betting that the modern, well-fed lumberjack lives longer and does a better job than the weevil-devouring giant of the past.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

ALPHA: April is the month of showers, they say. Is it so for Peterborough? What is the average annual rainfall in Peterborough

ANSWER: I believe that in Peterborough as elsewhere in Canada April is not the rainiest month, either in the volume of the precipitation or the duration. Peterborough has an average rainful of 31.7 inches a year, Lakefield has 28.8 inches, Lindsay 32.8 (a whole inch more than Peterborough!). The wettest spot in southern Ontario is London, which has a mean annual precipitation of 38.2 inches. Haliburton has 32.3 inches, Bancroft the same, Belleville 31.2 and Kingston 32.8. The driest place in southern Ontario is Renfrew, with an average precipitation of 26.5 inches a year.

DEAR ALPHA: I'm a farmer and I want to know two things: (1) Has the Ontario Hydro the right to put towers through a man's property regardless of his wishes? (2) Does the farmer have any rights at all? For example can he force the Hydro to cut the weeds that grow under the towers? They tell me the land is still mine and that I have to do it; but damn it I can't grow any crops on those concrete blocks that hold up the towers, nor can I grow anything directly beneath the towers unless I spade it and sow and reap by hand! Can I collect an annual salary for cutting their weeds (if they won't do it), or damages if their weeds infest my property?

RESPONSE: (1) Yes. (2) Am investigating. You yourself will know more about it than I now do.

DEAR ALPHA: A friend of mine in Montreal has joined the Unitarian Church. What is that? Is it Christian?

ANSWER: Your friend will at least have the advantage of sitting under one of the more lucid and intelligent preachers in Montreal, the Reverend Angus Cameron the minister of the Unitarian Church there on Sherbrooke Street, West.

Unitarians do not have a formal creed. I hesitate to say what they believe or whether or not they are Christians. They believe in God, but God as a unity only— not as three in one. Perhaps their conception of the unity of the Godhead is like that taught by Sabellius, a third-century presbyter who was excommunicated for his beliefs in A.D. 261. To Sabellius the three persons of the Trinity were but aspects of one Monad. His favourite image for the mystery was the sun as the Father, the light as the Son, and the heat as the Holy Ghost. However, many liberal and professedly orthodox Christians in full communion with their churches (even some Church of England clergymen) accept a similar analogy.

Some Unitarians consider Christ as a superior great and holy man, purer and higher than Socrates or Zoroaster. Thought among Unitarians is perhaps freer than in any other church, and the thinkers are more independent. There is no centralization. Each preacher ministers to his congregation and teaches without doctrine and according to his own reason and spirit. Unitarianism is a rational faith (if that is not a contradiction of terms). The most convinced have a sincere belief in God, a profound faith in the ability of the soul to commune with Him, combined with a disbelief in the supernatural as commonly understood. They do not believe in miracles, as literally interpreted from the Bible. Unitarians have among them either as ministers or laymen, men of great fervour, great mind and heart, and transparent beauty of character.

Isaac Newton, a layman of the Church of England, was privately inclined to Unitarian views. Milton, Arian in opinion (an Arian believes that Christ is merely the first and noblest of created things), might be called a Unitarian. Many people in England in the last four hundred years privately held Unitarian views, and the beliefs of many Modernist churchmen are indistinguishable from Unitarianism.

Boston, the centre of American enlightenment in the nineteenth century was the home of American Unitarianism, and some of its greatest churchmen, writers and thinkers, were professed Unitarians: Emerson, Longfellow, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Lowell, and all the elite of that intellectual society. Their most eminent representative was William Ellery Channing.

WHAT TO DO WITH THE MILLION DOLLARS: Having taken Good Friday as a holiday, and not producing this column, I am a little behind-hand with correspondence. Will questioners waiting with bated breath for responses please exercise their patience a little further? Here are another two responses to the general question on what to do with a million dollars.

(1) The Tempter (the million dollars) would be buried by buying a farm (cemetery) and making his 'sepulchre' a church-hospital—a sort of glorified non-denominational co-operative combine—in a field of flowers, herbs, and fruits, backgrounded by hills of gamboling goats and lambs, and watered by everflowing springs of cold water. Drinks, fruits and food from such inspirited sources of life would provide for the buoyant white clad pastors, wardens, and psychiatrists who minister and heal the sick of mind, body and soul; and their helpers who attend the refreshment booth for the travellers on the highway No. 7. The matter of tithes to be left to grace of the recipient, reprehensions to the present timocracy where the common, ordinary, and no so common, can not afford to live, be sick or yet die. The fly in the ointment would be to find the 'workers' sufficiently allergic to money and attuned to the Divine to make the scheme workable.

(2) I'd build a colony of small cottages—houses—each with small gardens and fireplaces, in some pleasant rustic property within easy reach of the city buses, and then rent them out at quite low cost to elderly couples without much of the world's means. I am thinking of the charming type of farm cottage that Dr. Currelly, retired curator of the Royal Ontario Museum, built on his Port Hope farm property. These rent for a few dollars a month. They are delightful to look at with their ivy, their casement windows and their flowers and trees; look like stucco but are really cement block, and are comfortable though small houses for couples. Elderly people can live graciously in such houses.

ALPHA: Reference to your column of Friday, March 31st, about an ornament for Victoria Park fountain: There is in front of Picton Post Office a fountain with a metal figure of a little lady in classical pose and draping. I think about two feet high, supporting the spout of this fountain on top. The base is in a small pool surrounded with a low stone parapet, and it is kept clean. The whole affair is a chaste and beautiful design, which I stop to admire any time I am in Picton.

RESPONSE: Thanks for the suggestion.

THE MARXISTS AND THE McCLOYS

Challenge to U.S. Racial Laws

By NORA BELOFF
From Washington

A TRIPLE challenge to the constitutional validity of the laws separating black men from white in the United States was presented before the Supreme Court last week. After years of entanglement in lower courts three test cases involving the social and education segregation of negroes had reached the highest tribunal. Despite the austere dignity of the court room with its lofty marble pillars, red velvet drapings and impressive ceremonial there was no mistaking the dramatic tension which prevailed in the packed but silent hall as the moment approached.

The first case on the court's agenda concerned a dinner which would have been eaten eight years ago by a Government employee called Henderson travelling on official business if he had not been excluded from the dining car by reason of his race. The railroad companies in the South reserve two tables behind screens for negro passengers and when these are filled negroes are turned away, as Henderson was, whether or not places are available elsewhere.

These regulations were approved by an inter-State Commerce Commission, but the Department of Justice, instead of supporting a fellow Government agency, not only disavowed it but assisted Henderson to fight his case up to the Supreme Court.

This week both the Solicitor-General and the Attorney-General in a quite unusual joint appearance, were on hand to support Henderson's claims.

The second hearing involved Heman Sweatt, a veteran of World War Two, who was excluded from Texas University Law School and offered very inferior facilities at a special negro institute.

The third was that of a student named McLaurin who was admitted into the University of Oklahoma after a successful appeal to the District Court, but compelled to sit during lectures in an ante-room adjoining the class to keep him apart from the white students.

In all three cases the negroes, supported by organized associations for coloured people and by the Truman administration, are fighting a doctrine established by the Supreme Court more than half a century ago. In a celebrated case in 1896, the Court ruled that the equality established after the abolition of slavery was compatible with the enforced separation of races. This "separate but equal" doctrine subsequently became the legal basis for segregation as applied today throughout the Southern States, including Washington, D.C.

THE appellants argue that the doctrine is now obsolete, that "separate but equal" is as much a contradiction as "black but white", and that compulsory segregation implies and is intended to imply white supremacy. They also show that the advocates of the doctrine "separate but equal" do not really mean "equal", and that social and educational facilities in the cases in question were manifestly unequal.

Southerners have been so alarmed by these hearings that they have departed from the accepted rule separating the judiciary from the legislature and Sam Hobbs, a Congressman from Alabama, appeared before the Court himself to argue the case for segregation. He pointed out that in recent times Congress had on fourteen occasions rejected legislation introduced to ban segregation and argued that it was the function of Congress not the Supreme Court to make laws. He told the Court that abolition of the existing segregation laws in the South would provoke violence, race riots and anarchy, and claimed that God Almighty was the first author of discrimination "and His creatures have approved His work by consorting together in groups alike".

Several weeks are expected to elapse before the Court hands down its decision on these passionately controversial cases it has heard during the last few days. Legal circles in Washington expect a strong majority of the Justices will condemn the railway company and the Universities for their failure to provide equal facilities for negroes. In this way they may evade the basic and explosive constitutional challenge to the principle of segregation itself.

Just A Music Hall Joke

(LONDON TIMES)

"IT has sunk" the chief scientific officer of the Overseas Food Corporation recently bewailed, "to the level of a music-hall joke." He was referring to the groundnuts scheme.

One sees exactly what he means; but he cannot be held to have expressed himself with felicity. He said "sunk" when he meant "risen." No topic which becomes a music-hall joke can by any stretch of the imagination be said to have come down in the world. It has, rather, reached the very pinnacle of earthly fame so far as this country is concerned.

To get into the headlines, to appear in a news-reel, to be the subject of a discussion on the B.B.C. or a question in the House — these paltry excursions into notoriety can no more be called fame than a sand-castle can be called architecture. It is only when something becomes a music-hall joke that it can be said to have arrived. Sunk, indeed! It is like saying that the Ark was sunk on Ararat.

A joke is something that makes us laugh, and laughter is a sign of happiness. It seems certain that the creation of hilarity was not even a subsidiary objective of the Ministry of Food when it embarked, several years ago, upon its grand design. It was, rather, upon the cultivation of monkey nuts that its ambitions centred.

Now there comes an announcement about more plantings, which we all hope will prosper, but so far fate has willed that these delectable fruits of the earth have not come to hand in any noticeable quantity.

Dame Nature was for many months unkind to the Overseas Food Corporation (and downright beastly to the taxpayer), and it is so far only in terms of by-products that the ordinary citizen can evaluate the groundnuts scheme. So far all we have got for our money is a music-hall joke; but a music-hall joke is a great deal better than nothing, and the Overseas Food Corporation ought, one would have thought, to have accepted full credit for this invisible import instead of trying to disown it.

The by-product is too valuable to be decried.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

In the first year of Darius the son of Ahasuerus, of the seed of the Medes, which was made king over the realm of the Chaldeans; in the first year of his reign I Daniel understood by books the number of the years, whereof the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah the prophet, that he would accomplish seventy years in the desolations of Jerusalem. And I set my face unto the Lord my God, and made my confession, and said, O Lord, the great and dreadful God, keeping the covenant and mercy to them that love him, and to them that keep his commandments; we have sinned, and have committed iniquity, and have done wickedly, and have rebelled, even by departing from thy precepts and from thy judgements....

Yea, all Israel have transgressed thy law, even by departing, that they might not obey thy voice.... As it is written in the law of Moses, all this evil is come upon us: yet made we not our prayer before the Lord our God, that we might turn from our iniquities, and understand thy truth....

Now therefore, O our God, hear the prayer of thy servant, and his supplications, and cause thy face to shine upon thy sanctuary that is desolate, for the Lord's sake....

And while I was speaking, and praying, and confessing my sin and the sin of my people Israel, and presenting my supplication before the Lord my God for the holy mountain of my God; yea, whiles I was speaking in prayer, even the man Gabriel, whom I had seen in the vision at the beginning, being caused to fly swiftly, touched me about the time of the evening oblation. And he informed me, and talked with me, and said, O Daniel, I am now come forth to give thee skill and understanding. Seventy weeks are determined upon thy people and upon thy holy city, to finish the transgression, and to make an end of sins, and to make reconciliation for iniquity, and to bring in everlasting righteousness, and to seal up the vision and prophecy, and to anoint the most Holy. (Dan. 9: 1-5, 11, 13, 17, 20-22, 24.)

How Cornwall Did It

Cornwall's attractive civic administration building, constructed and equipped at a cost estimated at $140,000, is the climax of a movement started five years ago for a new city hall as a replacement for the 88-year-old hall which has just been vacated by the civic administration staff.

It will be recalled that the original planners of city hall had an ambitious program in mind, calling for a $250,000 expenditure for a building which would house all civic offices, the police and fire departments and also would contain an auditorium for use for public events. Plans for a civic centre of this type had to be shelved, however, when taxpayers vetoed the proposal. A year later, the electors rejected another proposal calling for the expenditure of $175,000 for a civic building.

Finally Cornwall's 1948 City Council, realizing the great need for more adequate accommodation for the city's administrative staff, approved a bylaw authorizing construction of the new administration centre. On a ruling from the Ontario Municipal Board, a referendum on the proposed $120,000 building was dispensed with and actual construction got under way in the Fall of 1948. To finance the project, council decided to use $80,000 which had accumulated in a reserve fund during the war years, and to issue debentures for the remainder of the cost.

Bright, roomy quarters are available for city hall staff members and are in sharp contrast to the crowded, dingy accommodations provided in the old hall. A result of this should be increased efficiency all around, in handling of civic business.

Offers Yardstick To Forecast Business Future

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

A yardstick for measuring what is going to happen in business is offered by an American commentator.

He is Frank D. Newbury, retired director, vice-president and economist of Westinghouse Electric Corporation, and he says that business men who would be forecasters should learn as much as they can about the investment plans of business firms and government agencies.

There are, says Mr. Newbury, six types of investment spending to watch: private construction; producers' durable equipment; changes in business inventories; excess of goods and services exported over corresponding imports; Federal government purchases from business, either for new construction or other items; state (provincial) and local governments purchases from business.

If the total of these can be expected to increase "it is logical to expect an increasing trend in general business activity." But Mr. Newbury cautions against opinions based on one kind of investment alone. "It is the total of all six that is significant."

Here and There

Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co., of Canada, Ltd., shipped $4,000,000 worth of fertilizer to world markets from its Trail, B. C., chemical plants in March, an all-time record. It would require a single train 16 miles long to carry it.

The Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy convention in Toronto April 17-19 will devote a full day to the oil resources of western Canada. Another day will be taken up with uranium.

A study of Bowater's Newfoundland Pulp and Paper Mills, Ltd., by Editorial Services, Ltd., Toronto, says the company, an $85,000,000 enterprise, employs nearly 10,000 people and adds $24,000,000 United States dollars yearly to the credit of Canada's foreign-trade account.

United States Department of Commerce experts, as quoted by Wall Street Journal, estimate that between 300,000 and 345,000 Americans will visit Europe this year and spend $220,000,000 there topping the 1949 post-war record.

In an effort to bring Canadian manufacturers into closer touch with United States Customs procedure and distribution factors, the Export Study Club of Toronto is arranging a trip to Detroit April 20-21.

PRIME MINISTER IN BERMUDA—Canada's Prime Minister, Hon. Louis St. Laurent, is shown here at the Mid Ocean Club in Tucker's Town, Bermuda, where he is vacationing until April 15. On his vacation, Prime Minister St. Laurent was accompanied by his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh O'Donnell of Montreal, and another daughter, Mrs. Frank Lasseity, also of Montreal.

Finger-Paintings Now Used To Study Mental Unbalance

MONTREAL, —(CP)— Finger-painting, until recently used as occupational therapy, is becoming more widely used as a method for psychiatric diagnosis and to gain insight into personality.

For two years, the Allan Memorial Institute of Psychiatry has used finger-painting as a means of diagnosis, and research into psychopathology. The work, directed by Dr. Ewen Cameron, is carried out by Drs. Charles Cahn and Bruno Cormier.

The finger-painting method consists in letting the patients work in unobserved groups. Dr. Cormier explained that the patients are encouraged to paint spontaneously whatever they wish and as often as they want. They are later asked to interpret their works for the therapists who keep records of all paintings so they can follow each case.

"Of course finger-painting is supplemented by other tests in many cases," Dr. Cormier explained, "among them the Rorschach test in which the patient is asked to interpret ink blot designs and the thematic a preception test in which the patient tells a story from symbols shown to him on a series of cards."

Dr. Cormier said therapists looked especially at color, composition, perspective, forms and symbols. Color symbols vary with the patients.

Regains Perspective

As an example of the work done at the hospital, a therapist related the case of a 22-year-old student of mathematics who had delusions that he was marked for a special career. He was found completely out of contact with reality.

His first finger-painting was a picture of algebraic figures on a black background with no use of color or perspective. After five insulin treatments, his use of color was orderly but still chaotic with a large red question mark painted across the paper. After further treatment, color was used in an organized way and the paintings showed a sense of perspective.

Another case was that of a young woman who suffered from amnesia and schizoid characteristics, such as seclusiveness and depression.

Therapists Flabbergasted

Therapists were flabbergasted at the first painting showing a black dagger smeared with red. The patient received immediate psychotherapic treatment as her painting was considered a violent projection of suicidal tendencies. Her next paintings still showed a predominent use of black and red, but after two months of treatment her work showed soft greens, browns, and yellows.

A third series of paintings was that of a 20-year-old man with personality disorders and homosexual tendencies. After three months of psychotherapy the patient did an abstract painting faintly resembling a cave with dark colors predominant.

Asked to interpret it the patient said, "the hole in the centre is the entrance of a cavern. The two white spots in the centre are my eyes. I am in the centre and there are walls all around me. I look outside and I feel that the landscape outside is more real than inside."

Therapists said the painting was done at a time when the patient was gaining emotional insight into his problems.

Nurses and doctors volunteer to serve as a "control group." They paint for a period of 10 week and interpret their paintings for other doctors. Their paintings are used for comparison with those of patients.

"THE GREAT FISHERMAN"—The late President Franklin D. Roosevelt went to McGregor Bay in the Manitoulin Island area of Ontario for his last fishing trip. Bill McGregor, the Ojibway chief who guided Mr. Roosevelt on that trip, is shown with his daughter on the anniversary of the president's death. They are looking at a bronze plaque, commemorating the event and placed on a white quartz boulder by the Ontario Department of Highways. The president camped near the boulder while on the trip just before attending the historic Quebec conference.

Empire Meeting To Discuss Jap Peace Treaty

LONDON, April 14 (CP)—Discussion of a peace treaty for Japan is expected to be high on the agenda of a Commonwealth conference to be held in London early next month.

The conference was mapped at the Commonwealth ministers' meeting in Colombo, Ceylon, last January. The talks are scheduled for May 1 or shortly thereafter, a Foreign Office spokesman said.

Reds Blocking

All Commonwealth countries are anxious for an early peace treaty, but Russia presents a stumbling block. The Russians, who entered the Pacific war only after the fall of Germany, insist that any peace treaty be drafted by the Big Five foreign ministers representing Britain, Russia, the United States, France and China. Russia recognizes and is an ally of the Communist Peoples' Republic of China and is boycotting international meetings attended by Nationalist Chinese.

Britain and the western powers hold the view that all 11 countries which fought against Japan should have a say in the peace talks. These are: the United States, Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, India, the Philippines, France, the Netherlands, and the Soviet Union.

Want Say

Australia and New Zealand particularly are insistent that they should sit at the table as peace makers.

Foreign Office sources here have indicated that Britain's final peace proposals will be much more moderate than first anticipated. Her position has softened following Communist successes in China and the Kremlin's growing interest in Southeast Asia.

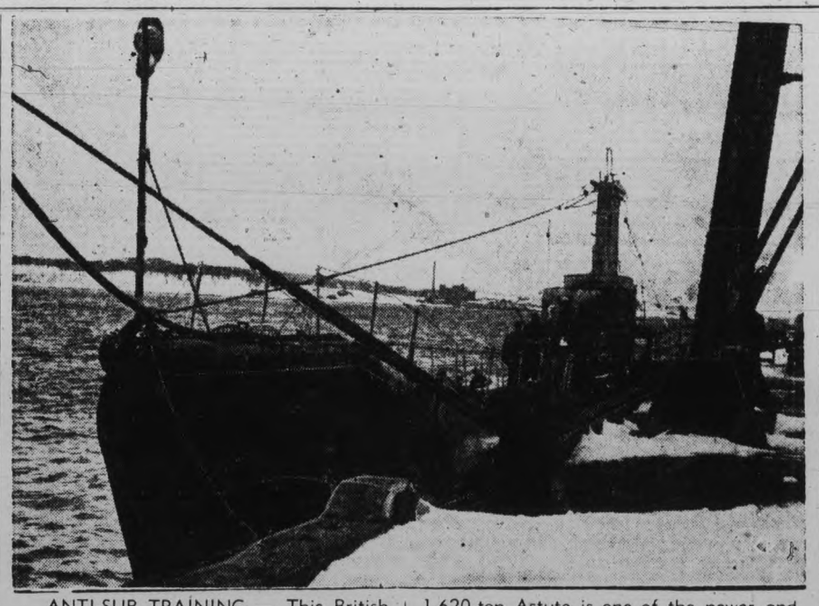
Britain realizes, a Foreign Office informant said recently, that "Japan can't sit out there alone and starve"; that she must export a live and a harsh peace with huge reparations would throttle her commercial life.

Back Yard Forests

NORTH VANCOUVER, B. C.—(CP)—B. C. municipalities should look to their back yards for forest possibilities, forest engineer F. J. B. Johnson told a meeting here. He suggested "multiple use forest farming" for sections unsuited to other purposes.

Hot Pavement

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C.—(CP) — Plans to heat roadways here by electricity are being studied by city council. The plan would provide electric heat in hilly streets to combat traffic tie-ups in winter.



ANTI-SUB TRAINING — This British submarine is shown in Halifax where she arrived for a two-month training period with the Canadian navy and air force. The 1,620-ton Astute is one of the newer and larger types in operation with the Royal Navy. The Astute will take part in anti-submarine exercises off the Atlantic coast.

Union Benefits Meet With Newfoundland Objection

By RUPERT JACKSON
Canadian Press Correspondent

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld.,—(CP)—Canadians for just one year, Newfoundlanders are looking over the advantages and disadvantages of union. Leading the whole discussion is the undoubted benefits of Canadian social security.

Millions of dollars have been poured into the province by the federal government since union—$11,000,000 in social security alone and Newfoundlanders appreciate it.

Charlie Poole, a fisherman since he was a boy of 10, says: "Well, b'y, I don't know how I ever got along without the 'baby bonus,. My children now make nearly as much money as I do."

He has one son and two daughters all under five and twin sons of seven. They get $330 annually in family allowances. In 1948 their father made only $400 during the entire fishing season, working his nets and lines long hours in all weather.

With $27 "cash money" coming in every month, Poole has nearly twice the income and he's living nearly twice as well as before.

Social security has lifted another burden from this grizzled fisherman's shoulders. He no longer has to support his aged mother. With an old age pension of $12 per quarter before Confederation, "Mother" Poole was almost entirely dependent on her son. Now she draws $40 a month and can almost pay her own way.

Other Benefits

Federal welfare cheques were not the only ones welcomed by Newfoundlanders during the first year of union.

Never before able to afford anything but the most meagre social security measures, the island's government now is in a position to do something more for its people.

Special mothers' and dependents' allowances have been implemented. Coming up is an insurance scheme for fishermen, whereby the hardy small-boat men who daily risk their lives will be insured for $2,000 in the event of death on the fishing grounds. There will be a small, token premium payment, but the government will bear the brunt of the cost.

There has been a change of feeling, too.

Black flags of mourning hung damply in the misty rain wafting in through the narrow, rocky gateway to St. John's harbor March 31, 1949. Alerted police stood by in case of trouble as bitter feeling became a tangible force in Newfoundland's capital.

In other parts of the island it was a completely different story. Gay flags and bright bunting waved. Leaping bonfires blazed on high headlands towering over small fishing settlements. Fisherfolk danced old fashioned jigs and reels with delight. Muzzle-loading sealing guns sounded salutes to the sky.

Families Divided

Feeling was running high as the island was split almost evenly on the subject of Confederation. Town was divided against town, families were split, in some cases father fought son. Joseph R. Smallwood, the man who made union possible, walked with a bodyguard.

Now the scene is different. Benefits brought by union have gone a long way toward softening the core of resistance.

But the feeling against Confederation still flares up now and then. Some Newfoundlanders remain sore at losing their independence, and some of them are not backward in showing it.

One mainland Canadian learned this the hard way. Coming into a hotel here one blustery day a month or so ago he shivered and shook his head. "What a climate," he remarked to the elevator girl. "Why don't you give this country back to the Indians?

Cracked the elevator girl: "I thought we did last March!"

But there are only a few die-hard anti-Confederationists left. The bitter feeling has nearly vanished and most of the islanders are co-operating to make union work. Many of them, particularly the older generation, still feel a twinge of sadness as they open a letter addressed, "Newfoundland, Canada" but if a referendum were held on the union question today, there likely would be a large majority for Confederation —much larger than the mere 7,000 voters which turned the tide to union a year ago.

Black's play the Electrics tonight at eight in the YWCA to settle the intermediate hoop championship in the girls' league. Its the third and deciding game. Normals and Nurses have yet to finish up the junior playoffs. At 7.30 Saturday eve in the YW, Stratford and Towne Togs wind up their LOBA intermediate "B" finals. Strats have a 22-point lead from the first game in their bailiwick, but Togs think they can whittle that down here on their own floor and at top strength. It should be a fine fray for provincial honors. The men's City Cage Loop will probably resume playoffs next week at the YM.

Annual convention of the Ontario Baseball Association will be held this week-end in Niagara Falls. Executive meeting Friday p.m. with the general session Saturday morning. Lakeshore League has nominated Hugh Cameron of Port Hope and Ab Walker of Oshawa for executive posts, and we trust that the Peterborough Senior Club has not failed to enter the name of Cy Whatley, who was an OBA member from here last year. Haven't heard of any local delegates taking in the convention. It is time the City Baseball League here got itself re-organized for the season, the seniors being busy now on the matter of lights at Riverside.

But They'll Miss Fitz

St. Kitts scribe thinks the Athletics will be strong this season in senior "A" lacrosse. They'll have Scott, Nelson and McMahon back, this trio being barred last year for playing in the States in the off season. The club has an ice lacrosse game Saturday at Brampton, the proceeds going to aid Carl Madgett, who was stricken with polio late last semester. The scribe admits the loss of Jerry Fitzgerald to Peterborough is a big one, calling him "one of the potentially greatest boxla players in Ontario." He goes to college and is after a degree in physical education and a spot as coach at some Ontario institution. His job here of PMLA coach—as well as senior player—suits him fine and is right in line with his ambitions.

* * * * * *

Of course, the big attraction for puck fans tonight is the game at 8.30 in Civic Arena. Third of the best-of-seven OHA senior "B" finals, with Brantford and Legion tied at one win each. The Ellis outfit will be really hustling in an effort to get a lead in the series to take back to Brantford on Monday. Naturally, the Nats also will fight to gain an edge on the series. If they do, Legion will just have to do it the hard way again, coming from behind. We notice that the Brants are equally good at coming from behind. Husky, fast and with lots of fight, they don't fold up when down several goals. Two scrappy squads in this final series.

* * * * * *

Keep Out Of The Sinbin

If we had any advice to offer Legionnaires it would be for them to stay on the ice. Let the opponents ram their sticks down the homesters' throats, but don't draw penalties. It's too tough on the other chaps out there on the ice. Take some bumps, if necessary, and beat them. However, Legion know this and they also know they've got to give all they have against worthy foes. Strictly a toss-up on the series as far as bets go, but we still like Legion's chances. They can win it as they defeated the powerful Markham pack. The fray here tonight should pack the place to the doors. It wasn't jam-packed last game, some fans evidently afraid they wouldn't get in. The place holds better than 2,200, you know.

* * * * * *

It takes a powerhouse like Yukon Eric to really pack in the pro mat fans at the Brock, and he did it again last night. Also, he showed his tremendous strength in dumping huge Hi Lee twice in a row to take the main bout handily. Hasn't any science, but doesn't figure he needs any—just muscles that stick out like mumps on a midget. He bumps the beam at 282, though he had a big guy in against him this time in 290-pound Hi Lee, and Lee tried all his villainous tactics before finally going down. Warren Bockwinkle won the semi-final over Pat Flanagan, while the redhot prelim between Steve Stanlee and Bob Wagner went to a draw. A good grapple card.

Bond Bowlers Lead Way In City League

Bond Clothes finished the bowling season in the Men's City Five Pin League last night by blanking Tem, rolling high pinnage of 3546 and high single game of 1336. Mike Caccavella of the same squad had high three with 823. Shockey's dropped two games to Esquires but still finished well in front.

Cavanagh's salvaged one game from McGillis to finish in second place just two points in front of the hotel men. Fashion Craft and Charlotte Credit Jewellers took six points from Dunn's Tailors and DeLaval to finish in fourth and fifth places. Tem took sixth place just one point ahead of Esquire's. Four point victories were registered by Empress Old Timers over Sunocos, Babe's Place from Capitol Taxi and Clapper's from Campbell & Best.

Some real efforts were turned in for high single with Fred Martin on top with 374 followed by Mike Caccavella 360, Walter Firth 356, Tom Curvin 321, Bill Harris 317, Roy Suddards and Art Pilling 308 and Nels Routley 305.

Doug Abraham finished with 239 average for 90 games and takes the Dit Clapper trophy held last year by Fred Martin. Prexy Jack Wade finished second with 236 average and Bud Goodson third with 235. Frank McCormack had the year's high three total with a huge 1014 to take the Harold Davis trophy held last year by Clarence Downer. Geo. Walton took second money with 961 and Harold Davis third with 947.

High single and the Ed Riley trophy goes to Ray Clifford with a smashing 416. Fred Martin was last year's winner. Jim Herron took second place with 411 and "Tony" White third, with 408.

Highest pinnage for the year went to Bond Clothes with 3784 and high single game to Cavanagh's with 1455. While the season has been a success in general, the bowling has not been up to other years and averages have dropped. Team scores have been lower. The season will be officially closed next Thursday night when the bowlers attend the annual banquet at the Empress and prizes, and trophies will be presented.

Women's Hockey

NEW DELHI—(CP)—The All-Indian Women's Hockey Association has agreed to send a team of Indian women to England for a series of matches. The game is field hockey, not ice hockey.

THEY'RE AMONG THE HOLDOVERS with the Montreal Royals heading northward for the schedule start at Jersey City next week. Left to right, Al Gionfriddo, Chuck Connors, George Schmees. "G.I." and Schmees represent two-thirds of the outfield and "Casey" a rather lofty one-fourth of the infield.

PCVS Advances To Finals In Tournament

KINGSTON, April 14.—PeterboroughCVS advanced into the final round of the Queen's interscholastic invitation tournament at Queen's gym Thursday by virtue of a win and a default in the "A" section grouping. When Sudbury failed to make an appearance for an afternoon contest, tournament manager John Edwards awarded the contest to Peterborough. A last minute decision to continue in the consolation series of the Toronto tournament forced the cancellation of Sudbury.

In the nightcap affair, the Peterborough club was forced to go all out in gaining a 31-26 victory over a surprisingly strong Kingston CVI squad. As Kingston easily defeated Pickering College in an afternoon contest by a 49-20 count it is altogether likely that the Petes will bump into this local team again in the finals tonight, since Kingston will only have Pickering to play again to win the consolation series.

Both teams set a terrific pace during the first few minutes of play as they traded basket for basket during the first half. Connel and Purcell led the Kingston attack with two baskets apiece while Neil Thompson, Al Northcott and George Hall turned a similar trick for the Petes.

Peterborough led 16-15 at the half. However the Petes went basket wild at the beginning of the second half with Northcott again on the pitching end with three field goals. The game slowed to a walk in the fourth quarter with Peterborough in front 31-18. Kingston came to life briefly in the last few minutes to whittle down the lead to five points at the final whistle on hoops by Purcell and Lyon.

Kingston (26): Anglin, Blair, Connel 4, Esford 4, Gulka, McDonald, Lyon 7, Dardick, Purcell 11, Taugher.

Peterborough (31): Grafstein 4, Young 3, Cranfield, Northcott 10, Taylor, Thompson 8, Armstrong, Bailey, Hall 6, Sergeant.

Indianapolis Wins Cup With Eight Straight

INDIANAPOLIS, April 14 (AP)—Indianapolis Capitals today locked up the Calder Cup after blazing through the American Hockey League playoffs with eight straight victories.

The cup never had been won before on an unbroken sweep of the AHL playoffs. The dazzling young Caps grabbed it Thursday night with a 3-2 victory over Cleveland Barons, their fourth straight in the best-of-seven championship series.

Terry Sawchuk, 20-year-old goalie, was brilliant in the nets throughout the series. He allowed 12 goals in eight games, holding St. Louis and Providence to a goal a game and limiting Cleveland to an average of two.

It was only the second time the Caps had had their hands on the Calder Cup. They won it previously in 1942.

The scrappy Regina Pats at Port Arthur stormed to an 8-5 overtime victory Thursday night to take a 1-0 lead in their best-of-seven series with Port Arthur Bruins for the Western Canada junior hockey title.

Pats, two goals down on two occasions, poured three goals past Paul Morin in the Port Arthur net during the 10-minute overtime period.

Second game of the series will be played at Port Arthur Saturday night.

National Hockey League scouts may be on their way to the Sepoy village of Lucknow any day now. Another Chinn has hit the limelight.

Ten-year-old Jackie, brother of the Chinese trio that were the talk of Ontario hockey circles a few years back, came up with his fourth hat trick in four games Wednesday night as he led Lucknow Pee-Wees to the WOAA championship at Goderich. His three goals a game shone out over all games of the tournament.

Lloyd Roubell, spokesman for a group trying to form a new independent hockey association in Ontario, said Thursday night at Kitchener a meeting for all club representatives will be held on Sunday, April 23, and not this Sunday as had been previously announced.

A star among 200 boys in the Pee-Wee hockey championship tournament at Goderich was a girl.

Audrey McCabe, 12-year-old goalie for Saltford Spitfires, allowed only one goal in her team's two games.

Audrey, who has played hockey for six years, won the acclaim of the crowd with her spectacular net-minding. Saltford defeated Colborne, 2-1, then played Goderich to a scoreless tie. However, Goderich continued in the 12-team tournament because some Saltford players were over the 12-year age limit.

Tory Gregg, of Wingham, president of the Western Ontario Athletic Association, said of Audrey, "never saw anything like this in my life before."

Huge Yukon Eric Too Tough For Hi Lee In Pro Mat Bout

Yukon Eric displayed far too much power for big Hi Lee in the main bout of the pro grappling card at the Brock Arena last evening, and took the event in two straight falls. A large crowd of fans applauded heartily as the villainous Texan took his first reverse in a long time here. Warren Bockwinkle won the semi-final event over Pat Flanagan — who replaced Lord Albert Mills (he missed a train)—while the prelim between Steve Stanlee and Bob Wagner went to a time limit draw.

Weighing 282 pounds to 290 for Lee, Eric gained the first fall in 15 minutes. He got it when Referee Bunny Dunlop disqualified Lee for using a piece of rope in a strangle attempt, after twice knocking Dunlop away when he tried to interfere. Bunny finally got a grip on the big fellow and yanked him loose, and Yukon then chased him about the ring. Lee tried every trick he knew but couldn't face his strong opponent, who shook off punches and grips like powder puffs and kept plodding in with his big arms waving to punish his adversary. It was a popular fall with the crowd.

The second fall came in just eight minutes when Eric used his shoulder back-breaker, hoisting hefty Hi up and bouncing him on his shoulders till the referee stopped it and gave him the fall. Before that, Lee proved unwilling to admit defeat and worked hard to even the falls, but Eric was too strong for him. He lifted him in and out of the ring at will and at one time had both Lee and the referee pinned helplessly. While Eric won it handily, he was sweating plenty from hauling his big opponent around, and again the fans gave him a big hand at the finish.

Scaling 250 pounds, Warren Bockwinkle was a little too husky for 229-pound Pat Flannagan, though the latter gave him a real go of it in the lively semi-final. They both played it pretty cleanly and Dunlop hadn't too much to do. Warren forced Pat finally to concede in 22 minutes with a flying leglock and toe-hold when Pat tried to catch him with a tackle off the ropes. A lot of stuff was dished up by both with Warren a bit too strong and shaking off the drive of Flanagan. While the fans favored Pat some, they gave both a hand when they broke cleanly on orders. Pat hurt a previously injured knee in the final fall and had to have aid afterward.

A Hot Match

Strangler Bob Wagner, at 245 pounds, and Steve Stanlee, weighing 232, staged a smart prelim, which went to the limit for a draw. Wagner opened it up roughly and continued that way, but the Golden Boy got in some licks, too. He even punched the referee near the finish for interference and got away with it. Wagner had a good edge for quite a time with illegal tactics, but toward the end Stanlee cut loose with a barrel of rough stuff to the fans' delight and he more than held his own the last five minutes. For a time it looked like he had Wagner as they threw the book away, but husky Bob hung on and earned the draw decision. He strutted around in his old style, demanding the fall as the crowd booed, after plenty of punches had been thrown just before the final gong.

Port Colborne Wins Third Tilt In Playoffs

PORT COLBORNE, April 14 — (CP)—Port Colborne Merchants made sure of a spot in the Ontario Hockey Association Intermediate A finals Thursday night when they trounced Gananoque Gans 9-2.

It was the Ports third consecutive victory in their round robin championship series with Gans and Tillsonburg. To date, they have defeated Tillsonburg once and Gananoque twice, thus leaving it to the latter two to play off for the other finalist spot.

The Port Merchants took a 6-2 lead in the first period. They led 4-2 when their three major penalties and a minor saw both teams playing two men short and the Ports stretched their lead by another pair shortly after.

They were too much for the plugging Gans to handle in the next two frames, scoring once more in the middle session and twice in the last period.

In all, playing-coach Kilpatrick had two goals and four assists while Bruce Benner notched four goals and one assist. "Tato" Sergnese tallied a pair.

ast and tricky Tommy Tindall accounted for one Gan goal and an assist and together with Bill Hastie and Neil McCarney, presented Gananoque's most impressive efforts.

James J. Jeffries 75 Years Old, Party Planned

BURBANK, Calif., April 14 — (AP)—James J. Jeffries, former world heavyweight boxing champion, will be 75 years old tomorrow.

The local Chamber of Commerce promises that this year's birthday party late today at big Jim's spacious stone house will be the greatest celebration since he won the title from Bob Fitzsimmons back in 1899.

To many, Jim Jeffries is almost a legend, reminiscent of a day when the fight game was glorious, robust and untarnished. At 75, he's an example of what happens to a prizefighter who saves his money.

In 1901, at the height of his career, Jeffries came west and bought a ranch in the San Fernando Valley. That was the year he defended his title in a 25-round grind with Tom Sharkey.

He has lived here since his retirement in 1905. The city of Burbank (population 85,000), literally grew up around him. Now, the Jeffries farm is sub-divided. His old house is a landmark at one of the busiest intersections.

Although age has sapped much of his vitality, Jeffries isn't too feeble to go a few rounds with the boys. Today, his home will teem with sports personalities, friends and political dignitaries.

Mayor Floyd Jolley has proclaimed a city holiday to fete the grand old gentleman of the ring.

NY Rangers Even Series With 3-1 Win Over Wings

By GERRY LOUGHEED

TORONTO, April 14. (CP) — New York Rangers, led by a game centre ice star, came from behind Thursday night to score a 3-1 victory over Detroit Red Wings and even up their Stanley Cup final series at a game apiece.

The underdog Rangers were spearheaded by 30-year-old Edgar Laprade, who notched two third period goals to break a 1-1 tie in the second game of the best-of-seven series.

Laprade—wearing a knee brace because of an accident in the last week of the National Hockey League's regular schedule — was the game's standout player.

He led rush after rush on Harry Lumley in the Detroit nets, beat him twice and broke up numerous Red Wing rushes with his sweeping checks.

Ragged First Period

The first period, which produced only scrambly hockey, was scoreless.

Near the three-minute mark in the second, right-winger Gerry Couture sent Detroit into a 1-0 lead. He picked up a rink-wide pass from Pavelich and drilled a 12-foot shot past Chuck Rayner in the New York cage.

About five minutes later Sid Abel of the Red Wings went off with one of the game's two minor penalties. He had barely returned to the ice when a Ranger ganging attack netted the tying counter.

Defenceman Pat Egan, standing about a foot inside the Detroit blueline, trapped an attempted Red Wing passout and let fly a long screened shot which Lumley didn't see.

Laprade's first counter — and his first goal of the playoffs this year—came early in the first period.

Allan Stanley shot a skimmer from near the Detroit blueline and Laprade, poised near the net, tipped the puck past the surprised Lumley.

Lone Effort

The veteran's second goal near the midway mark was a masterpiece.

He picked up the puck in the centre-ice zone, stickhandled past a lone Detroit defenceman and shot just as he fell alongside of the net. The puck found its mark between the goalpost and Lumley's outstretched leg.

The Rangers, underdogs because of their 4-1 loss in Detroit Tuesday night, were cheered wildly by the 13,866 Toronto fans. Toronto Maple Leafs were eliminated by Detroit in their semi-final series and the fans took the "homeless" Rangers to their hearts.

We honestly believe we've got a motion picture treat that everyone should know about!

In our humble opinion "FRANCIS" is one of the funniest comedies of the past several years.

Because "FRANCIS" has its fun with a war background, you'll probably compare it with Chaplin's Shoulder Arms, Cock Eyed World, Caught in the Draft, or perhaps the more recent 'Private Hargrave' Fear not dear hearts and gentle people because "FRANCIS" will compare most favorably.

We have seen it and please take our word - It's really funny.

Braund's No. 1 Bowlers End Up On Top

Charles Thomas led the men in the Mercantile Bowling League this week as the New Centre trundler rolled 195, 312 and 270 for a 777 total. Bernice Primeau led the girls, this Braund's No. 2 bowler having top single of 271 as Dorothy McAuliffe of Lift Lock was best in triples with 675. She also had a 264 single, followed by Verna Hopkins with 252, Hazel Ascott 250, Helen Mesley 234, Marg Armstrong 223 and Bernice Smith 220. For men, Harvey Staunton had a 255 single, though Harold Mesley beat him with a 275, as Jack Gimblett and B. Donoghue had 236 each and Ken McVeety 234.

City Hall rolled high pinnage of 2842 and Braund's No. 2 had best single game score of 1037. Lift Lock and Braund's No. 1 took four points from A & P and Bond's, the latter defaulting. City Hall, New Centre and Loblaw's took three from Braund's No. 2, Utilities and Prudential. Hazel Ascott won the nylons with 250.

Braund's No. 1 finished the season in first place with 81 points and 32 extra, followed by New Centre with 80 and 20, City Hall 79 and 24, Lift Lock 60 and 9, Utilities 58 and 25, Loblaw's 49 and 8, Prudential 49 and 5, A & P 35 and 5, Bond Clothes 29 and 3, Braund's No. 2 with 23 and 3. Canadiens Blast Bilts In Overtime

MONTREAL, April 14 (CP) — Montreal Canadiens moved into a commanding two-game lead in their best-of-seven final series with Guelph Biltmores for the Eastern Canada Junior Hockey crown Thursday night by dumping the Ontario champions 4-1 in overtime.

It was the Montrealers' second consecutive triumph in the Memorial Cup race. They captured the series opener Tuesday night 4-2. The next game will be played in Toronto Saturday afternoon.

Shifty Dickie Moore turned out to be the big gun for the winners as he rammed home three counters and played a brilliant defensive game as well. Jacques Nadon was the other Canadien marksman.

A highly-partisan crowd of 10,000 fans cheered wildly as the Canucks spotted the visitors a second-period tally by Don Oberholtzer, then tied the count in the last period and finally swamped the Bilts with a three-goal overtime barrage.

Guelph had the play pretty well their own way for the first two periods and only the sensational work of goalie Roger Morrisette in the Montreal nets kept them to a single tally.

Oberholtzer fired his goal on a screened shot early in the middle frame.

Moore netted the first of his three markers while Guelph was playing without Don Ashley who was serving a tripping penalty.

The overtime session was only 53 seconds old when Moore sank the winning goal on a play with line-mate Billy Goold. Nadon made it 3-1 less than a minute later.

Moore returned for his final marker at the four minute mark after he coasted through a wide open Guelph defence and shoved the puck under the Biltmore goaltender.

Sketch Club Has Big Show, 14th Exhibition

The preview of the Men's Sketch Club 14th annual exhibition had the air of a preview; crowds of friends and local notables looked at the pictures, gossipped, balanced tea-cups, and had a good time. And most of the painters were themselves on hand, as is proper to a preview, to listen politely and accept applause with becoming modesty. The review was held Thursday evening at the Richard Hall store; the exhibition opens officially there today for full viewing.

Eleven members of the Sketch Club show the impressive number of a hundred paintings. The level of accomplishment is high and generally an advance on last year in ease of treatment and perception. These gentlemen paint for the fun of it, and their work shows how pleasant the spare-time occupation is. Several of them are veterans of brush and palette and their work commands immediate respect. There are two new-comers to the group: O. C. Simmers, whose "Mill" I liked, and Charles Huffman, who is taking his first strokes.

C. H. Saunders' exquisite craftsmanship in water-colour comes out this year most strongly not in flowers, but in harbour scenes of New England. "Boats at Anchor" has an 18th century detail and charm. There is a new and fresh touch—more a matter of mood and colour—in his sand dune things—Grey Bay and Wingaersheek, both of which go beyond mere technical competence.

Jack Hamer shows his characteristic water-colours and oils, and several which indicate a maturing, warmer palette. His sketch "From Hypocrite Hill" is really first-rate; strong yet sensitive. So is another winter scene, of an afternoon. His large Baptiste Falls has a troubled air, a lack of artistic unity. It is nevertheless a notable piece and it is good to see several large canvases in the show.

Local Scenes

H. Steggles in a dozen pieces displays a good versatility and sureness of brush. His summer sky water-colours are interesting to compare with the same subject in oils — "Evening Sky Over Peterborough." His luminous "Evening on Jackson's Creek" was a focal-point of admiration. J. E. R. Munro's "Wheat Field" with its depth and vista, his Indian River at Rice Lake, with warm summer charm, and his interesting blue water-fall, show this painter's skill and fine perception.

A. B. Burrows has lush colour in his Autumn at Clear Lake, and his Cornfield is distinctive and evocative; he is one of the group whose progress is pleasurable to note. G. N. Howson's most interesting picture of half a dozen shown is "Sunlight in the Northwoods," — a good composition with good control of tones. C. S. Browne's excellent birches, his "Lovesick Lake" quietly busy and in ripe colours, and his Bethany Hills, less formal, more fluent than some of his other work, are notable. C. B. Waite has four scenes from Bermuda and the B.W.I., S. Harris shows great variety. His big "Pasture" is both posh and plush. His two charcoal heads are extraordinarily skilful.

The exhibition will continue next week.—T.J.A.

Utilities Have No Money For Floodlights

"It might be that somebody's giving us the runaround," said George Clarke of Nashua Paper when he and Vern Dawson of Brinton Carpet discovered Thursday afternoon that the Utilities Commission could not finance the flood-lighting of Riverside Park.

That "somebody" in Mr. Clark's suspicion could have been the city council whose suggestion to the Baseball Club's deputation Monday night seems to have been inspired by an exaggerated estimate of the Commission's financial position.

Council's notion was that the Commission might be able to put up the lights and carry the cost for five years.

The Ball Club's executive is canvassing for $15,000, and it was expected that the council could raise $20,000 thereby providing $35,000, which was considered sufficient to get the lights up and on

Bank Overdraft

Just before Mr. Dawson and Mr. Clarke arrived at the Commission's meeting, the chairman read out loud the pith of a bank statement showing an overdraft of $41,000 in the electrical department and $44,000 in the waterworks branch.

Capital expenditure by the Comission, keeping pace with the growth of the city, especially in that 1949 peak year of laying water mains and house connections, plus the erection of new power lines for street lighfing, requires a borrowing program that has been communicated to the council.

The Commission has asked the Council to issue debentures for $165,000 in the waterworks division and $150,000 for the electric department. The story has been published progressively from time to time, and the Council is proceeding to obtain from the Ontario Municipal Board authority to put the debentures on the market.

"We are just operators for the city," Mr. Matthews told the two industrial visitors.

He expressed doubt that the Municipal Board would approve a bylaw to permit Utilities to fill in the financing of the floodlights.

"Our problem would be far worse than the council's to get it through," said the chairman.

"There's not much use of us taking up any more of your time," said Mr. Dawson.

"Let's go and see the Mayor," was the recessional remark of Mr. Clarke.

In the consolation final which preceded the title match, Sudbury Tech edged out Hamilton Westdale 41-38.

The Niagara Club, which had eliminated two teams in the preliminary matches to enter the final, were outclassed by the fiery northern group, and trailed by a slight margin during the game. The Sault five led 11-6 at the end of the first quarter and 25-16 at half time. In the third quarter they still dominated the play 36-26.

Want Good Roles Right Pay -Maria Montez

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 14 (AP) — Maria Montez, back in Hollywood after a two-year absence says she will work in the town only "if they offer me the right roles and pay me the money I am accustomed to."

But, she added, most Hollywood films today are "pretty stinking."

The fiery native of the Dominican Republic is here briefly to attend to her suit against producer Seymour Nebenzal, who she says, owes her money for her services in "Siren of Atlantis." That was her latest Hollywood film and she admitted it was "very bad."

"No wonder I couldn't get any good roles here after that one," she said.

Treated Badly

After finishing the picture, she and husband Jean Pierre Aumont left for Europe. She had concluded a contract with Universal where she starred in many a leopard skin and sarong as queen of exotic fantasies. When she left she felt she was "treated badly for a girl who had made the studio $17,000,000."

In the last two years, Maria has been working almost steadily in pictures in Europe and is booked up for a year in advance.

Different Opinion

Maria noted that the U. S. differs from Europe in the general public opinion of the affairs of Rita Hayworth and Ingrid Bergman.

"People in Europe think Rita is a very smart woman. After all she married a prince, and a very handsome as well as rich one.

"And they admire Ingrid, because she gave up everything for love. Europeans believe that love comes above everything else. In Italy, of course, she is beloved. The Italians are overjoyed to know that she had given up so much for the love of one of their countrymen.

"As for Rossellini, I expect to read any day that a statue is being erected to his honor."

Kilts Very Smart, But Not For Women

CARLISLE, England — (CP) — Mrs. Florence Lesslie of Edinburgh, who taught Scottish country dancing to Princess Elizabeth and Margaret, says women shouldn't wear kilts.

"I know kilts are thrilling to wear and very smart, and that women love them, but they are a man's dress," she told the Carlisle Musical Festival.

"Dresses are more graceful and we are afraid the kilt will become the uniform for Scottish country dancing. The Scottish Country Dancing Association does not want it to be."

Mrs. Lesslie said it is all right for girls under 12 to wear kilts.

Havelock Soloist

Soloist at the special Easter evening service at Havelock United Church was Miss Joan Dooley. Her solo was "It Was For Me" during the cantata "Matthias Ben Ezra". Miss Dooley is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Dooley; Mr. Dooley was tenor soloist in the morning anthem. Charles Carter, leader of the choir, also sang a tenor solo at the morning service.

N.Z. Government Changes Policy Urges Private Capital Develop

By J. G. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

WELLINGTON, NZ, —(CP)— Many more opportunities for investment of private capital are opening up in New Zealand as a result of the change of government at the end of last year.

While the Labor government believed that most major new undertakings should be state-operated, the new National Party government is fostering development where possible by private enterprise.

An example is the $75,000,000 pulp and paper project being developed at Murupara in the huge state-owned pine forests.

The previous government propose to develop the project largely as a state enterprise, including the construction of timber, pulp and newsprint mills, the building of a town to accommodate 10,000 and construction of a railway and deep water port for shipment of the products of the mills.

The new government proposes to construct the railway and port, but believe the production side should be operated by private enterprise. Tests of the newsprint-making qualities of the timber are being made in the United States and extensive surveys are in progress for a route for the railway and site for the port. If all goes according to plan the scheme will be one of the biggest industrial enterprises in New Zealand.

American Inquiries

Numerous inquiries have been received from America recently about the possibilities of establishing new industries in New Zealand. Several large firms have made proposals to the government involving dollar saving.

The government has stated it will extend maximum freedom to firms concerned in the disposals of legitimate profits and is examining the propositions to determine what method of finance would be most acceptable to overseas interests while assisting the Dominion's balance of payments position.

Prime Minister Sidney Holland has announced that the government is anxious to know of all firms interested in investing in New Zealand.

"The Government is very sympathetically disposed to these proposals," he said, "but feels that it would be only fair to other traders to state publicly that they are being considered. Other people may place their proposals before the government, which is anxious to encourage the investment of overseas capital in New Zealand."

Jo-Dee Proves To Be Jumbo-Size Patient

DUNEDIN, N.Z.—(CP)—Dunedin Hospital has just discharged its biggest patient ever—a circus elephant.

The elephant was only a baby—named Jo-Dee—but still far and away the biggest job the hospital has ever tackled.

Jo-Dee fell and broke both her rear legs. She was X-rayed and massive splints were designed to hold the broken bone in place. Then as she recovered ingenious new splints were devised with joints at knee and ankle to enable the patient to walk.

Although she is still wearing the splints Jo-Dee has rejoined the circus and it is expected that the injured legs will soon be fully recovered.

TLC Urges Aid From Gov't For Education

OTTAWA, April 14 —(CP) — Greater Federal Aid to education, changes in the regulation of radio broacasting and improved quarters for national cultural institutions were among the things urged Thursday by three organizations in briefs submitted to the Royal Commission on arts and science.

The organizations were the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, the association of Canadian clubs and the radio manufacturers association of Canada.

The T.L.C. said there should be equality of education for all Canadians and this could only be brought about by more assistance from the Federal Government.

"This congress believes that the mental capacity of the pupil shall be the sole determining factor and not the financial ability of the parents," said the brief. "To some extent this objective has been reached, but the goal set many years ago in this respect has not been attained."

While more financial assistance was needed for many branches of education, the Congress felt that the present focus of aid for education should be upon the universities. The aim should be to make education in universities free.

On broacasting, the T.L.C. said it did not wish to see any change in the present system of regulating broadcasting. It said it could not support a Canadian Association Broadcaster's request for an independent body outside of the CBC to control all broadcasting.

The Congress supported the plea of the national gallery for a proper building and sufficient funds to make it a fountain of art for a great country. It believed the National Museum should be provided with the space and the funds necessary for the efficient carrying on of its important work. A national library should be an immediate project.

Blind Man Building Racing Sailboat

VICTORIA—(CP)— A blind man with only one hand who won international recognition by building an eight-foot yacht tender unassisted, says he's all set to get started on a new and bigger project—a racing sailboat.

Arthur Barnes, who has taken up boatbuilding as a hobby and operates a confectionery store for a living, says the "Stuka" class sailboat will be started in April and he hopes to complete it in October.

Plans for the boat were drawn by Peter Clowes, a navy draftsman and friend of Barnes.

Barnes says the boat will be "deep with a 20-foot mast."

Governor Plans Art Exhibit For Prisoners

BOURNEMOUTH, Eng. (CP).—Governor B. Lamb of nearby Dorchester prison borrowed on the saying about Mohammed and the mountain when thinking about his prisoners' cultural welfare.

Clearly they couldn't take in the exhibition at Bournemouth's municipal art gallery, so he suggested to curator Norman Silvester that some of the pictures go to the prison.

"It was my idea to ask for these there would be no censorship. Nudes would be permitted, "but I shall have them covered with glass to prevent their being defaced," observed the cautious curator.

The governor feels his step represents an innovation in re-education of prisoners, and as well will help cheer up the establishment.

"As was my idea to ask for these pictures. As far as I know this sort of thing has not been done in a prison before.

"The pictures will probably be hung in the main hall."

There are three generations of Pipe Major Anderson's family in the band. They are his father, Robert Anderson, leading side drummer, his daughter Shirley and son Bruce, side drummers. Another family has double representation: Piper Gloria Seabrook is a daughter of Anson Seabrook.

On Easter Sunday the band led the parade of the Havelock-Belmont Canadian Legion No. 389, to Knox church for divine service in commemoration of Vimy Ridge. It already has been booked for six engagements this season and will attend the Highland gathering at Hamilton tthe last of June to take part in the massed band performances on that occasion.

Would Oust Video From State Houses

LONDON — (CP) — A woman who wrote to an evening newspaper saying that people who can afford television sets should not occupy council (state) houses roused a storm of protest.

Wrote Mrs. J. V. Downes, North London:

"Most of these houses have tenants who prefer to stay hame and look after their children instead of going out to the movies and theatres. Surely we may use our savings for homely pleasure in which our families can share.

A "typical working man," said angrily: "If I spent £1 ($3.10) a week on tobacco and beer, I'm O.K. for a council house. If I buy a television set instead, it is suggested I should not be allowed to live in one."

Wrote an office worker: "It is only the lower income workers who can afford television. They pay little or no income tax and live in houses their more heavily-taxed fellow countrymen cannot get."

A suburban housewife went further: "On Sundays these council house tenants eat cream cakes, not black rye bread."

First Literature Found Inscribed On Clay Tablets

By RUSSELL LANDSTORM

PHILADELPHIA, — (CP) — The ancient land of Mesopotamia that is now Iraq has given up new secrets of man's growing pains 4,000 years ago and more.

The evidence rests on inscribed clay tablets hewn out while old testament prophets were yet foretelling the coming of a messiah.

It was brought to light after months of digging and the outgo of more than $50,000, by a joint archaeological expedition from the University of Pennsylvania Museum and the University of Chicago's Oriental Institute The expedition was in the field from last November to March

The full story of these rare findings is not yet known, for the task of translating such texts is measured and minute, indeed.

But enough stands revealed archaeologists say, to establish that these tablets—part of some 750 clay inscriptions in all—which were found in the old city of Nippur are the world's oldest known literature.

Nippur, which lies about 100 miles south of Baghdad, was important as the religious and cultural centre of Sumer, non-semitic nation which flourished before the Babylonians and then the Assyrians took over.

It was the Sumerians who founded the first civilization to arise in Mesopotamia in the fourth millenium B. C.

Scribes In Guild

Many of the tablets exhumed at Nippur were from the private "libraries" of the scribes — an early guild of intellectuals working within the temple or under the patronage of affluent merchants. Some of the tablets were used for teaching or for reference Others recorded exercises in arithmetic, touched upon legal affairs, or recorded the development of vocabulary.

Dr. Donald E. McCown, of the Oriental Institute, field director of the expedition, who has just returned to the United States, said "the oldest known invitation to learning we have is embodied in one of hese literary table s Here the scribe sets forth the advantages of his profession—to others as well as to himself.

Show Spiritual Side

"Here, too," Dr. McCown said, "we have a most unusual opportunity of observing an emergence of the spiritual side of man Mercy, good-will, fellowship were burgeoning along with ingenuity in the mere mechanics of daily existence."

"We still have much to find out, but already we can tell that the Sumerian had a well developed moral sense, for his time The tablets show that he was moving gradually toward a higher concept of society, of the administration of law, of individual responsibility.

"One tablet, for instance, records a hymn to the goddess Nanshe, showing her as the oldest known goddess of justice interested in the social and moral welfare of human beings. Nanshe was a 'divine' symbol of transition — from the old concept that man was made for unremitting service to the gods to a newer idea that the gods were interested in the welfare of man."

Yet another clay document, Dr. McCown said, "Carries the advice of a farmer to his son on what, when and how to plant. You might call this the oldest agricultural bulletin known to man When this is fully translated we shall know how well the father advised."

The joint expedition will start its second full season in the field in October, 1951.

Air Squadrons Aid Battle Against Polio

NEW YORK—(CP)—Speed in treatment is one of the essentials when infantile paralysis strikes.

An epidemic of the disease is like a flood or a major fire — something for which the average community must have immediate outside help says the National Foundation Infantile Paralysis.

The foundation, formed in 1938, annually spends millions of dollars obtained by voluntary subscriptions to fight poliomyelitis, the medical term for the ailment

In the United States, the foundation maintains four flying aid squadrons and six equipment centres ready to handle emergency outbreaks. Doctors, nurses and equipment can be sent by air to the scene of an epidemic when need is urgnt.

In 1940 the United States suffered its worst outbreak of infantile paralysis. Preliminary figures show there were 42,370 cases. The Canadian figure was 2,326 cases, considerably less than the Dominion's record total of 3, 880 in 1937.

Lee Schmid, member of the foundation staff responsible for dispatch of supplies to trouble spots, reported to its New York headquarters a number of incidents involving fast action to meet emergency situations in 1949.

Florida Outbreak

When a number of Florida hospitals declined to release iron lungs for transfer to outbreak points because they feared cases would develop in their own areas, the foundation's equipment pool at Atlanta, Ga., arranged to have respirators flown from Atlanta to Miami and Jacksonville. Within five hours a patient in each city was using one of these iron lungs.

In the second instance, a portable iron lung was sent by air and sea to the liner Parthia in the Atlantis off Halifax to treat a man who developed infantile paralysis during the ocean crossing The ship had only direct current electric power and all available iron lungs in New York were geared for alternating current.

The Cunard line, which operates the Parthia, supplied a converter from the Queen Mary, so the respirator could be used The iron lung and a trained doctor were flown from New York to Halifax and from there taken by cutter to a rendezvous at sea with the Parthia. The victim was reported considerably improved when the ship docked in New York.

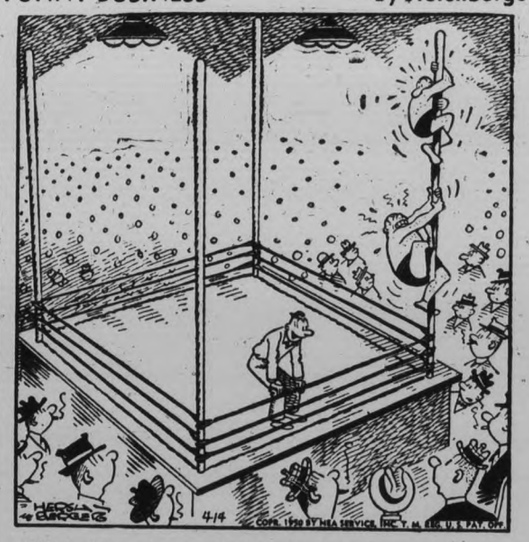
The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis was founded 12 years ago to administer already-existing drives for money to fight poliomyelitis. Its president, Basil O'Connor, was a law partner of the late President Roosevelt in the 1920s, when Roosevelt himself was recovering from polio.

The foundation maintains an epidemic aid reserve fund to use when outbreaks are widespread and severe. Last year it sent out $11,276,756 to local chapters for use when their own funds ran low.

The foundation estimates that approximately 50 per cent of those who catch infantile paralysis recover without after-effects, about 30 per cent recover with slight paralysis remaining; 15 to 20 per cent are left with severe paralysis and 5 to 10 per cent die The figures are based on studies of various epidemics in the United States.

Because the disease is infectious, the foundation lists these as basic precautions in outbreak areas: keep children with their own friends instead of mixing with strangers; don't let them get over-tired by work or play; keep them from getting chilled; keep their hands and all food clean.

FUNNY BUSINESS —By Hershberger



"We had to get more zip into the wrestling matches so we put up the extended posts!"

Cripple Runs Baby-Sitting Agency

KITCHENER, Ont., — (CP) — "Baby Sitters Incorporated" spells time off for "baby-blessed" married couples in the Kitchener-Waterloo area and it means extra funds for middle-aged women in the district. But for 17-year-old Rose Ann Norrie who has been partially-crippled since birth, it is a real thrill as a new vocation

The venture started with Mr. and Mrs. Allen Ritzer who operate a nursery. They received so many calls for sitters that they decided to fill the need with a sitters' agency.

Baby Sitters Incorporated is designed to act as "middle-man" between sitters and "needy" families. But before being accepted applicants are interviewed and screened in an effort to instil a feeling of confidence in the parents. The agency also protects the sitters by refusing requests from homes that have previously been proved undesirable.

Miss Norrie acts as correspondent for the organization and she collects the registration fee and commission from which the bureau derives revenue.

So far the scheme is in its initial stages but already there has been a heartening response from clients. One assignment provided a sitter with work every afternoon for a week and expectations are that demand will grow as the operation wings into high gear.

The Real Yodel

HALIFAX (CP). — Hillbilly singers in North America can give only a pale imitation of the Swiss yodellers, Anton Lendi told a lecture audience here. Mr. Lendi, who came to Canada in 1930, said cowboys "have a range of about three notes. The real Swiss yodel has a tremendous range."

Huge Power Project Planned In Uganda

ENTEBBE, Uganda. — (CP).—The Legislative Council has given the Uganda Electricity Board permission to borrow up to £13,000,000 ($40,300,000) for developing the Owen Falls hydro electric dam project.

The council has also advanced £1,500,000 for the construction of a cement factory 90 miles from the dam.

Work has already started on the project which will have far-reaching effects on the development of East Africa. The dam will harness the White Nile where it drops 65 feet on its way from Lake Victoria.

The scheme, expected to be completed by September, 1953, will provide an estimated 2,500,000 kilowatts annually. And it is believed electricity will cost one-tenth of a penny per unit at the source.

Potential consumers within 100 miles of the dam include the towns of Jinja, Kampala and Entebbe with their sugar factories and cotton ginneries.

COUNTY FARM NOTES

By HARRY THEOBALD

Frank C. Paterson Recommends Increased Use of Nitrogen — By The Way, How's Your Crop of Micro-Organisms? — Junior Clubs Are Promising — Holstein Association Dinner, April 19.

On soil of average fertility seed yields of most of the common grasses can be increased by applications of nitrogen in the spring. An experiment last year by the Division of Forage Plants, Ottawa, with five different nitrogen carriers, applied at different rates, showed nitrogen at the rate of 80 pounds an acre (equivalent to 240 pounds of ammonium nitrate) gave 22 per cent increase in yield. Weight of seed was higher, and there were more flowering stalks per unit.

"Nitrogen should be applied as early in the spring as possible in order that it may be put rapidly into solution by the spring moisture."—is a recommendation of the Federal Department of Agriculture.

Commenting on this advice, Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, also advises a top dressing of ammonium nitrate about 50 pounds to the acre, on wheat that appears to be short of nitrogen.

"Peterborough farmers should begin to try nitrogen as they do in the corn belt. They could use 100 lbs. of ammonium nitrate to the acre on corn when it is about knee high, about the time of the last cultivation."

Mr. Paterson said it was estimated that 30 bushels of wheat take about 50 lbs. of nitrogen. That is the amount in 150 lbs. of nitrate. "Our farmers are aiming more at 60 bus. than 30."

"Nitrogen is an essential ingredient in protein. Its use will pay off handsomely. It makes grass greener and more nutritious, and lusher hay. We are not yet using enough legumes to gather enough nitrogen out of the air for normal crop production."

Mr. Paterson remarked that as human beings "we get four-fifths of nitrogen in the air we breath; but for plants it has to come out of bag to make up the deficiency in the soil."

✦ ✦ ✦

MICROBES ON THE FARM

Practical farmers have been aware for a long time that their industry requires them to know something of bacteriology. It concerns them in the care of milk, the manufacture of cheese, the pasteurization of milk, the making of silage, and even in the management of the soil.

Mr. Paterson picked off his desk a booklet entitled "Microbes On the Farm," produced last year by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

"I wish," he said, "that some of our farmers would get this booklet. It is of real importance to them, and we have copies here and can get more if our people will take it home and read it."

It deals with bacteria, yeasts and moulds. Here is a brief quotation recalling the present day discoveries from moulds which are having a great effect in the treatment of certain diseases. "While moulds cause certain diseases and are one of the chief agents of fruit and vegetable spoilage, they are responsible for certain fermentations, and are becoming increasingly important as the source of antibiotics, such as penicillin."

Further on Mr. Paterson underlined this paragraph, related to his comments about nitrogen: "It has been known since Roman times that legumes enrich the soil with nitrogen, but only within comparatively recent years has it been known that certain bacteria working in conjunction with legume crops, are responsible for the addition of nitrogen."

"Legume bacteria enter the root hairs of a legume plant where they rapidly multiply and become enclosed in swellings called nodules. Here the bacteria "fix" free atmospheric nitrogen and add it to the plant in exchange for food obtained from the plant. This mutual relationship results in increased growth and improved crops. By plowing under such a crop, not only is the soil enriched with nitrogen, but it receives the necessary legume bacteria."

Here is a subject that pertains not only to the "what" of farm practice, but especially to the "why." And that is what the younger farmers of today are delving into to a far greater degree than did their grandsires.

"Before a farmer can produce good crops upon which his livelihood depends, he also must produce a good crop of microorganisms. Too often this phase of agriculture is neglected. Bacteria and other forms require certain conditions for their growth and activities, without which they would die."

The booklet, in that section, discusses moisture, soil organic matter, cover crops, crop residues, manure, composts.

Another section is devoted to micro-organisms in milk, in silage, and so on.

If you are interested in this booklet, Mr. Paterson has a copy for you. In the meantime, how is your crop of micro-organisms?

CLUBS ARE PROMISING

At the beginning of this week Bob Bell reported 74 boys and girls as applicants for membership in the five clubs which he is supervising this year.

The tractor club is closed with 24 boys enrolled; the dairy club has 31 boys and girls; the beef club ten, and the forestry club nine.

Organization of the clubs will not be completed until the third week of this month. In the meantime the lists are open. "Members are still coming in" Mr. Bell says. Parents are urged to encourage their boys and girls to join.

Junior Farmers have the job of sponsoring the clubs, and have promised sustained help throughout the season. Mr. Bell will spend a considerable part of his time on the work, as he has already done in the preliminaries, and Mr Paterson is promoting the whole program.

Mr. Bell is hoping that the forestry club may be centred at Lakefield, especially at the High School where he is receiving substantial encouragement.

THE FORESTRY CLUB

Perhaps the only obstacle to the present success of a forestry club for boys and girls in the remoteness of its returns. The boy who joins a dairy calf club will see the results of his work by the end of the season of endeavor. The young forestry member will have to wait for years to harvest a crop of wood, if that were considered the only reward.

However, if the farm were to become his at manhood, the fruits of his club work would be an asset of his own making. It is the long view that counts in this project, and such visioning can hardly be expected of boys and girls of school age.

A new book entitled "The Coming Age of Wood" by Dr. Egon Glesinger, an international authority on forestry with the Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) of the United Nations conceives the reforestation of millions of denuded acres, and the planned, efficient use of forest products.

"The average person sees the forest not as a source of wealth, but primarily as an encumbrance that must be cleared away. If wood were put at the service of man, it could eliminate want.

Utilization of the full resources of the forest would constitute a major, bloodless, beneficial world revolution. The idea sounds so exaggerated, so incredible. . . Now, however, I know that this revolution is posible."

A children's forestry club is not going to restore forests here or elsewhere, but it can put trees back on land that is fit for no other purpose. And, it can direct the thinking and the knowledge of young farmers of tomorrow to the importance of trees in the future rural economy of this country.

"Once established, the forest reserves would be self-supporting, unlike ores, coal and oil. Moreover, they could be deployed where mineral resources are scant, for trees can be made to grow practically anywhere."

A reviewer says Dr. Glesinger's plea should appeal to the millions longing for the happy day when a simple wooden house can be built without dedicating most of a lifetime to paying for it.

GRATEFUL TO COUNCIL

Keith McIntyre and Everett Macfarlane of Otonabee were members of the graduating class of the first two-year associate course at the Ontario Agricultural College. Their parents and several friends attended the graduation April 6 of this class of 35 which included three boys from England and one from British Columbia.

These Peterborough boys are grateful to the county council for the two scholarships of $100 each which were awarded for the judging competition of the Junior department of Peterborough Exhibition two years ago.

Previously they had not definitely set their minds on going to OAC for the new course opening that fall, but the winning of the county awards fixed their decision. The scholarship was a grateful help toward their first year tuition, and they feel that they owe a special expression of appreciation of the council's practical interest in promoting attendance at OAC.

Mr. McIntyre finished the course in sixth place and Mr. Macfarlane in twelfth, with a margin of three per cent between them. In fact the average marks of the entire class was notably high.

Incidentally, the Otonabee boys played on the curling rink, representing the students of the associate course, which won the college title.

CBC Will Spend

The annual licence fee on receiving sets now is $2.50 and provides the CBC with about $5,000,000 in revenue. Another $2,000,000 is obtained from commercial programs.

Public Funds

The CAB, advocating withdrawal of the CBC from the commercial advertising field, has urged that a grant from public funds replace the licence fee. The CAB said licence fees are not purchased for a large number of radio sets in this country each year. Under the CAB plan, the CBC would receive $2,000,000 a year more than it now receives from licence fees and commercial programs combined.

Turning to the CAB suggestion that an "independent" body outside of the CBC be established to regulate all broadcasting in Canada, Mr. Dunton said parliament had decided to set up a national broadcasting system to take care of the interests of the Canadian people in the use of radio frequencies.

No Preference

If an indipendent body was established, he said, the CBC would have no preference on network operations. It now controls all network operations.

Even if the CBC did not have to worry about finances, there were some commercial programs that, despite their advertising content, were valuable from a listener's point of view. For example, he said, the CBC might want to retain soap operas because of their entertainment value.

Industries May Fold

"It will cause more unemployment and more industries to fold up," he told a reporter. "It simply means American standards of living will fall to world standards."

Senator Paul Douglas (Dem.-Ill.) told a reporter, however, that "if we are to keep up our exports after the Marshall Plan ends, we will have to accept more imports."

Douglas said that "if such reductions are not made, not only will western Europe be weakened but our export industries will be crippled and we will have unemployment in those industries."

Help Solve Problems

The State Department advanced a somewhat similar argument in announcing its plans to participate in the Torquay conference.

"It is the belief in the United States that general acceptance of these principles will help solve the problems involved in United States foreign assistance programs and the 'dollar gap,'" the department said.

Under the reciprocal trade law tariffs can be cut by order of the President as much as 50 per cent below the rates existing Jan. 1, 1945.

Manitoba Mennonites Face Parrots, Bugs In Paraguay

WINKLER, Man., —(CP)—Tigers, swarms of locusts, crop-eating parrots, long treks through rough country to reach market—those are some of the "problems" faced by Mennonites now living in Paraguay.

C. J. Dyck, who returned to his Canadian homeland recently after five years' service with the Mennonite Central Committee in Paraguay, told audiences here that the Mennonite settlers are "learning to cope with their problems and will make better progress from now on."

Mr. Dyck said the rail line ends about 68 miles from the community where the Mennonites are settled. It takes 14 to 18 days to travel the distance by ox-team However, extension off the railway for about half the distance to the community is expected to be started shortly.

The Paraguayan government provided the settlers, many of whom came from Canada, with 100 tons of poison to battle locusts and other pests such as the cotton-leaf worm and giant ants. Mr. Dyck said that ripe kaffir (corn) growing near woodlands is often ruined by flocks of parrots.

Tigers At Bay

He also told of two boys, 11 and 13 years of age, who had been sent to market with a load of kaffir. Just as they were on the point of pitching camp for the night, a tiger and his mate sauntered out of the woods towards them.

One of the boys spent the night in prayer while the other shone a flashlight into the beasts' eyes. The animals slunk away at dawn

On another occasion, said Mr. Dyck, a farmer and his wife were attacked by native Indians on their homestead. They regained consciousness and made their way to a hospital for treatment.

Mr. Dyck said establishment of a spinning and weaving industry would provide a greatly-needed cash income for the Mennonites Paraguay imports all her textiles and Mr. Dyck said an attempt now is being made to obtain the necessary machinery for the project.

Afflicted Pupils Need Help Of Federal Gov't

TORONTO, April 14. (CP) — The Ontario Educational Association was urged Thursday to impress on governments and school boards as part of its program the needs of physically handicapped students.

Dr. John Lee of Wayne University, Detroit, in a closing luncheon meeting address at the Association's annual convention, said public opinion demands that the deaf, blind and crippled boys and girls be given every chance to overcome their disabilities.

"If you fail to meet this obligation, you fail to meet the demands of an enlightened public opinion," he said.

22% Need Help

Twenty-two per cent of children require special aid, he said. To allow a child to do less than his best, was aiding him to be mediocre or to fail. He suggested a complete school program of diagnosis and remedial treatment for the handicapped.

An award for educational service was made to Harold A. Rogers of suburban Forest Hill, by the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Association section.

The award was a silver lamp of learning and was made this year for the first time. It is to be given annually to the person outside the teaching profession who has "performed unusual service in the cause of better secondary school education in Ontario."

Board Chairman

Mr. Rogers has been chairman of the Forest Hill board of education since 1945 and has served on the board continuously since 1939. He is founder of the Kinsmen Clubs of Canada.

In making the presentation, T. W. Mayor, Federation president, said Mr. Rogers has worked continuously to improve teaching conditions and provide the best in educational facilities.

Board Recommends No Wage Increase

Trucks Replace Horse-Drawn Garbage Carts

City Council has for immediate sale: 11 horses, five wagons on rubber, four wagons on steel, eight sleighs, eight sets of harness, perhaps three or four tons of hay, some straw and other barn equipment.

The collection of garbage is to be motorized. Trucks will displace the horses for which the city built a spacious barn about ten years ago. The ousting of the horses and their hay and oats was reminiscent of the Arab and his camel, and of the animal's gradual invasion of the tent until the owner was finally out in the cold under the stars.

The department of which Ald J. E. Gillespie is committee chairman, has four trucks in use now. Two others are on order. Delivery is expected next week. Elmo Pierce, superintendent of sanitation, feels confident that the collection of garbage can be done by the six trucks.

That leaves the council with the horses, tack, hay, barn, stanchions, manure carrier and so on.

It is likely that the comparatively new barn will be converted into a garage. Councils have been talking of that need for the last fifteen years, and they say that garage bills keep their mind on the subject.

The switch cannot be made this year, but it could be planned for next year, and the council would end up with a garage right in the municipal yard, with ample room and solid construction exceeding the dreams of successive boards for years.

Thirty-six new street lights were set in place by the Utilities Commission linemen in March. Present total number of lights is close to 1,525 including: 95 of 60 watts each; 439 of 100 watts each and 976 of 300 Watts. And the work of extending and improving the city's illumination still goes on.

City Filled In Old Raceway

Refilling of old excavations can be a slow job. Elmo Pierce, head of the city's sanitation department, reported to that committee Thursday that the old raceway at the east end of London St. would soon be levelled with the ground surface. A small boy was drowned in its stagnant water two years ago.

The city has been filling it with ashes and cans from the incinerator, and will soon have the job completed and ready to turn back to the Quaker Oats Company.

The next fill will probably be the old street railway circle at the foot of Lock St. It was scooped out partly as a convenience for the street cars in making the loop for the return trip uptown, but mainly for the outdoor skating rink which Peterborough Radial Railway Company operated there. A similar one was at the end of the Jackson Park line, immediately south of the Park Hill Road.

Mr. Pierce is also proposing a fill on St. Mary's Street in the vicinity of the new Timber Structures factory.

To Build P-W School Annex Queen Mary Modern Plan

Plans for the six-room annex to Prince of Wales school have been drawn up and Thursday night the accommodations committee of the Board of Education was authorized to call for tenders. The one-storey building will be a modern junior school erected south of Prince of Wales school on Monaghan Rd. The property was purchased from the CGE and Walter B. Rye for about $15,000.

Its construction will be similar to that of Queen Mary addition with six rooms, complete with offices, and an entrance where children can assemble. There is no basement and the children will be able to shelter there in poor weather.

New Collegiate Plans

G. Wilson Craw, chairman of accommodations, announced that plans are also going ahead for the new collegiate located on Monaghan Rd., immediately south of McKellar Ave.

It is part of the Hughes property—the value still to be decided by arbitration—and amounts to nearly 14 acres.

"I don't think we could get a much better site," said Mr. Craw.

It is suggested to add sections to the new collegiate building as needed, the initial section will likely come to 12 or 14 rooms. On Monday night there will be a meeting with the Peterborough-Suburban High School Board to discuss plans for accommodating secondary school students in the next few years.

Two Men Named To Police Force

Appointment of two new constables to the city police force was made Thursday night at the monthly meeting of the police commission.

The two new officers are E. G. Patterson, Murray St., and G. Moore-Gough, River Rd., Patterson has eight years of service with railroad and provincial police behind him, and Moore-Gough is a veteran of the navy Both are married.

Accounts totalling nearly $2,500 were approved on a motion by Judge Smoke, seconded by Magistrate W. R. Philp. Approval was given for purrhase of two revolvers for the new appointments.

Decision of the commission on the application of Cyril Gerster and Ross Golden to operate a scrap yard on Bethune St. was again deferred.

Increase Output Conciliators Tell To Lock Workers

A conciliation board under Chairman W. S. Lane of Picton has recommended no wage increase for the 180 production workers at the Peterborough Lock Co., member of Local 527 UE.

In fact the majority report of the board supported the contention of the company that a wage reduction was justified. While no reduction was recommended they stated it was with "considerable misgivings" that they did not do so.

As they did not recommend the wage decrease they took an alternative view: that the two parties co-operate and bring about an increase in production.

R. J. Leonard, president of Local 527, announced today that the union membership had unanimously rejected the conciliation board findings. He described them as "totally inadequate" and added that they "ignored the needs of the Peterborough Lock workers."

The union negotiating committee will meet Tuesday with the company and again place their demands for a settlement.

Case for Reduction

It appeared to the board that "on the merits, and strictly on the merits, the company had made out a case for reduction in the present wage schedule."

"It's difficulties, apart from the market, are aggravated by the fact that over the years it has had increasing wage costs with declining productivity and obviously this cannot go on indefinitely."

The report says flatly that the time has come to correct this situation.

"It would appear that the Company is entitled to some reduction in its wage schedule if productivity is not to improve. The other way of adjusting the present situation is to improve productivity and leave wage schedules as they were in the last contract."

And that was the gist of the majority report's recommendations.

Drummond Wren, union nominee on the Board, did not file a minority report but reserved the right to do so later. And he was critical of a number of the other two members' decisions.

The company asked for deletion of the union shop but the board turned this down saying the company should not have posted on the bulletin board a telegram from a rival union (IUE). Were it not for this the request would have been granted.

The Seniority Clause has been rewritten and it is suggested members of the Shop Union which head the Seniority List shall not do so until they have had two year's service with the Company. Also, in the case of temporary lay-off, it is recommended that Seniority shall not apply unless an employee has at least two year's service with the Company.

Board Divides On Proposed Teacher-Trustee Relations Final Vote: No Committee

A proposal to form a teacher-trustee committee for consultation on common problems was voted down Thursday night by the Board of Education. But it was a close thing as the Board split evenly. Chairman Frank Jobbitt had to cast the deciding ballot and he turned thumbs down on the idea. The matter arose when Dr. R. M. Matthews, chairman of the supervision committee, recommended that no action be taken on forming such a committee. It had been referred to supervision earlier this year and Thursday night Dr. Matthews was reporting back to the Board.

Immediately afterwards Murray Irwin, a 1950 newcomer to the Board, rose to move an amendment approving the teacher-trustee idea in principle.

G. Wilson Craw had seconded the original motion by Dr. Matthews and Mr. Irwin's motion was declared out of order. A discussion on the pros and cons of such a committee followed and then a vote was taken.

The motion to take no action passed six to five. In favor were Dr. R. C. Honey, Mr. Craw, W. E. Bannon, Dr. E. M. Crough (separate schools representative) and Chairman Jobbitt. Against were Mr. Irwin, Dr. Russell Morgan, Mrs. Paige Rowell, Stanley Adamson and Fred Agnew (county representative).

Spirited Debate

However there was plenty of spirited debate before the motion squeezed through. It was the lesser of two exchanges that occurred before the three-and-a-half-hour meeting adjourned.

K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, claimed some doubt had been expressed on his right to choose new teachers in consultation with either C. S. Browne, PCVS principal, or Percy D. Windrim, inspector of public schools.

There was also doubt as to the wisdom of his choice by some members of the Board, he felt, until given a definite OK to proceed as before—or some other instructions—he would refuse to hire any more teachers.

A vote of confidence in Mr. Wightman passed unanimously and he was instructed to proceed with the hiring as before. The whole matter was referred to the committee on appointments for consideration.

The general feeling of Board members was that the constitution should be amended to keep abreast with any changes. New members might be misled by referring to the unamended book on Board procedure.

Newcomers Make Request

It was the new members of the Board who led off with the request for a teacher-trustee committee. Only Dr. Crough, representing the separate schools, lined up with the 1949 remnant of the Board.

Mr. Irwin, making his longest and most important speech since taking his seat in January, was strongly in favor of the teacher-trustee committee.

"It follows the modern trend in industry in labor-management relations," he said.

There is no laid-down procedure for the teachers to approach the Board, he contended, and in the past when this has been done it was on "a very highly official basis."

"I feel some of the teachers are not entirely happy and I don't doubt that some of the grievances are due to the inaccessability of the Board."

Avoid Misunderstandings

He said he didn't want to see a repetition of last summer's bad publicity which arose, partly at any rate, through teacher-trustee misunderstandings.

Permitting Miss Mutton to go to England and approving an English teacher to take her classroom here — both moves without consulting the principal of the school concerned — was "a bad mistake."

"We should have consulted the principal," he said. "He is expected to produce the same results and yet we don't ask his opinion . . . You wouldn't allow the same thing to happen in your office."

"In the three months I've been on the Board I don't feel I know any more about the teachers than before."

Four-Point Plan

Mr. Irwin then offered his amendment:

One, to accept in principle the idea of a teacher-trustee committee as a means of improving the liaison between the two.

Two, to call a meeting immediately to discuss the organization and functions of this committee.

Three, permit primary as well as secondary school teachers to have a place on the committee.

Four, representation for all other employees, such as maintenance men and caretakers.

"Your amendment is out of order," said Mr. Craw. "It negates the original motion."

Chairman Jobbitt ruled that this was so. If the motion on the floor was lost then Mr. Irwin could

French Railroad Has Aided In Recovery Made By Nation

By JEAN E. STENTON.

PARIS, April 14.—France owes a great deal of the speed of its national recovery to the miraculous restoring of the French National Railroad (SNCF).

Probably no other country in Europe, with equal rail destruction, has made such a quick comeback. If the men of the Glengarrians, and other units who crossed through France could be here now, they would wonder if they had been dreaming. Gone are the miles of twisted track and shattered coaches. At the time of the Liberation in September, 1944, there were but 2,800 useable locomotives out of 18,000 and but 6,000 passenger cars left of 37,000.

Jean Stenton

One-third of the country's important stations had been bombed to rubble; 2,600 bridges and 77 tunnels had been destroyed. Yet before the end of 1946, service had been re-established on almost every mile of every line. Blocked tunnels were re-opened, stations were rebuilt, temporary bridges were established. Rolling stock was bought abroad and equipment repaired at home.

An example of their rapid rebuilding is the Pont d'Argenteuil (Argenteuil bridge) between Pontoise and Paris. It is a large and important railway bridge over the Seine River completely destroyed during the war.

From Both Sides

In 1940, the Germans bombed it for pleasure. Then the Allies began. In 1944 the Allies damaged everything in the area but the vital section of the bridge. It was a most difficult job because of a hill. Finally a French pilot dropped a bomb and the bridge was destroyed.

At first a temporary structure was fixed up with only one track. But now the huge bridge is again in place with everything running smoothly. One would never guess war has touched this spot.

Fast Trains

One of the most delightful things about French trains is that they are almost always on time — on branch lines or through trains. They make only a few stops and for short periods. The Cherbourg train between Caen and Gare de Ste. Lazaare in Paris makes only one stop on the way —Lisieux—a fast, comfortable trip.

French trains are quite a bit different from those in Canada. The SNCF is divided into three classes—first, second and third. The only difference appears to be in the upholstery and more comfortable surroundings in first than third. Each compartment holds at least six people and some eight in every class. We travelled first class to Caen and had extremely comfortable seats in a six-seat compartment. It was done in an attractive grey and green color scheme with the seats resembling roomy arm chairs. In third class instead of compartments the seats face each other,

Hodge-Podge Of Mail Keeps PM Busy

OTTAWA—(CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent's mail is varied and heavy with requests for everything from one of his old ties to a job as senator.

Recently he was asked to donate a tie or some other discarded article of his wearing apparel for auctioning at a church social. The answer was a polite note of regret—Canada's prime minister dislikes anything that hints of ostentation.

At present there is a steady trickle of letters giving reasons for and against establishments of diplomatic relations with the Vatican; urging removal of the means test and lowering of the eligible age for old age pensions and suggesting new designs for a Canadian flag.

There also are people who want jobs in the government service. These include those who would like to become judges, senators, or to obtain some other federal appointment.

Invitations constitute a sizeable portion of the prime minister's mail. Many are to attend social functions in Ottawa and others are to give speeches in various parts of Canada and the United States.

He accepts only a few of these invitations since otherwise he would have little time left in which to attend to government matters.

Most of the correspondence is answered by secretaries but he handles a considerable acount personally. Sometimes when the letter is from Ottawa he doesn't even bother to dictate a reply — instead he picks up his telephone.

Not a few local residents have exerienced something of a thrill when summoned to the phone because "the Prime Minister wishes to speak to you."

Expect Great Things

MONTREAL (CP).— The public has great faith in the capabilities of the weatherman, K. T. McLeod of the Canadian Meteorological Service told a meeting here. People ask in January about holiday weathr in August, he said, and one woman even telephoned to ask what clothes she should take to Reno, Nevada.

Still Seek Thug

OTTAWA, April 14—(CP)—A heavy-set thug who attacked and beat up a taxi driver five miles southeast of here early Thursday was still at large early today. Police said they were intensifying their search for a man who is alleged to have assaulted Rheal Marion, 21, of Forbes, Ont., after hiring the cab.

Sterling Useful To Canada: Bank Expert

"The transfer of sterling to Canada from the sterling area is a prefectly satisfactory settlement in certain circumstances and is regularly going on", said C. K. Highmoor, superintendent of Foreigh Exchange for the Bank of Commerce, Thursday. Mr. Highmoor was speaking to the Kiwanis Club in the Empress Hotel on "Foreign Exchange and Its Relation to Trade". "Some people in Canada seem to think that sterling is of no use at all, which is an unfortunate misunderstanding", he explained.

The speaker said that foreign exchange problems had four related phases—types of currency, restrictions, fluctuations in exchange rates abroad and their effects in Canada.

The use of the appropriate kind of currency is basic under controlled conditions.

Restrictions, said Mr. Highmoor, are essential to foreign trade. Because so many goods are desired by so many people, who have not got the production available to pay for them, restrictions are a necessity.

Rates of Exchange

Regarding the third major phase of foreign trade, the effects of fluctuations in the rate of exchange on Canada, Mr. Highmoor Highmoor said the recent devaluation in currency of many countries. Mr. Highmoor said the recent devaluation in currency of many countries has diverted some of the trade. He pointed to the fact that Australia is now buying newsprint from Sweden rather than from Canada.

"While the demand for consumer good may be sufficient to some extent, there is definitely an unfilled demand for capital goods in many countris of the world", he said.

On the fourth phase, the effects of luctuations in the rate of exchange on Canada, Mr. Highmoor said they were entirely unpredictable. The effects, he explained, depend too much on the conditions outside Canada.

The Future Good

Referring to the future of Canada's export trade Mr. Highmoore that although the pinch of a slight change is being felt here and there, the general foreign trade situation is good.

"Personally I see no great disaster in the export trade in the next few years."

Mr. Highmoor was introduced by Robert Arnold and thanked by Blake Bell.

Diagnosis Aided By New Devices

EDMONTON —(CP)—What is your eye doing to your heart? How is your stomach for voltage? Can the oxygen in your blood be measured by color?

Devices in the University of Alberta's physiology department may come up with these answers.

Dr. H. V. Rice, department head, is working on a unique theory that relates heart disease to a flickering light, on the chance that circulation through the eye is related to circulation through the heart, and vice versa.

He also has a device to measure the electricity in the stomach with the idea of diagnosing cancer of the stomach in its early stages.

Dr. Rice also is working on a new colormetric technique for measuring the oxygen in the blood. This, he hopes, will enable doctors to diagnose the condition of "blue babies" in two or three minutes.

Another gadget in the department determines the freshness and fertility of an egg by its fluorescence and reaction to a balanced electro-magnetic field.

Spring Lighting

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP).—Young couples found College Street here a good place for spring evening walks recently. Water in the underground lines cut down the street lights to a dim orange glow.

Modern Air Terminal

MONTREAL (CP). — Montreal's new International Aviation Building is believed to be the most modern airline terminal in North America. It consolidates the offices of three major airlines —Canadian Pacific, KLM Royal Dutch, and Trans-Canada.

"You see, lady, that was only a temporary sign—now we're starting work on a more permanent one!"

MYSTERY SNAKE—SPCA man Bill Mulcahy is shown holding the seven-foot snake which died shortly after being beaten by terrified spectators who discovered it on a Montreal street. J. R. Cleghorn, curator of the Redpath Museum, identified the reptile as a Drymarchon Corais Corperi, more commonly known as a Gopher or Indigo snake, which he said was a harmless South American species. Only explanation SPCA officials could find for its presence in Montreal was that it might have belonged to some night club entertainers who brought some snakes here a few weeks ago.

"Follow Through" To Get Sales U.K. Board Says

By E. S. JOHNSON

LONDON, April 14 —(CP)— Proper "follow through," a phrase more common to the golf course or baseball diamond, is stressed as a necessity fof business expansion by the dollar exports board in its largest pamphlet on marketing British goods in Canada and the United States.

Any distributing methods employed by British manufacturers in North America must be based on a "skilful drive for consumer demand and a determination to get into the market and stay there the directive says.

"Before agents will let themselves become dependent on British lines, certainly before chain stores will stock our products, the British businessman has to show personally that he knows how to 'follow through' and that he has the resources and knowledge to do so in North American terms."

Publication of the pamphlet marks the beginning of the second phase of the export board's attack on the dollar market. It will be followed by a series of meetings of industrial representatives, confronted by similar selling problems in North America. They will discuss possibilities of increasing exports to the dollar areas.

Warning against a vague "buy British" advertising, the directive says: "advertising only the fact that goods are British-made is unimaginative and can in fact produce an adverse reaction. We should not expect Americans to 'buy British' merely for the sake of doing so. Canadians too, although many of them have deep feelings towards the mother country, are entitled to more personal reason for buying a product than it is British. The place of origin and the important character of the product should be advertised only when they are known to have general consumer demand."

"Selecting the right audience and then the media that will most effectively reach that audience, is the key to success of your whole venture."

British businessmen are urged to shed some of their traditional reserve and to put emotion as well as their minds to work in selling their goods. More time should be devoted to visiting North American communities and meeting more of the people than may appear absolutely necessary.

Denmark Gets Coal From South Africa

LONDON, April — (CP) — Because Britain is unable to supply coal in sufficient quantity to her overseas customers, part of Denmark's needs are being met by South Africa.

Coal is being shipped thousands of miles from South Africa to Denmark although the mileage between Britain and Denmark is short and 30 shillings ($3.87 and $4.65) a ton more than the rate from Britain.

All Saints Club Capture Honors

"Charity Begins. . ." a three-act comedy produced by All Saints' Dramatic Club, actually was comedy, removed from the usual run of amateur productions.

The work of two of the actresses, Grace Webb and Edith Abraham, made it particularly successful.

Mrs. Webb portrayed a muddled elderly spinster, who was usually three minutes behind the topic of conversation, and who produced quotations as out of place, but somehow as fitting, as rabbits in magicians' top hats.

Edith Abraham was a large, energetic woman who lunged about organizing people, and always arriving inopportunely.

Backing this pair adequately were Joe Gatfield, Florence Townsend, Phyllis Weir and Marilyn Galbraith, as other members of the family.

The plot concerned a stuffy brother and sister who worried over the return of their sister, played by Elsie Bromley, whom they believed to have run away with a married man.

Miss Bromley was quite good as the sister whose family believed she was a fallen woman. She wasn't.

Douglas Weir as a somewhat half-hearted philanderer and Don Ketchabaw as a sincere young man, were also good.

Everything turned out well, and the audience liked the play, too.

Corvettes May Sail As German Whalers

PORT COLBORNE, April 14 — (CP)—Two Canadian Corvettes—the Smiths Falls and Parry Sound—in berth here since the end of the Second World War, may see service again—this time as whalers.

It was reported Thursday the Corvettes, K341 and K345, are to be towed to Port Weller or Port Dalhousie within the next three weeks. If they pass inspection, they will be taken to Kiel, Germany, and converted into whalers.

The two vessels were sold recently to a New York broker who then sold them for fishing service in the economic reconstruction of the western zones of Germany.

ACTH, Cortisone Have Dual Role In Diabetes

CHICAGO, April 14 (AP) — ACTH and cortisone, the wonder hormones of medicine, can play a Jekyll-Hyde role in diabetes, Dr. Charles H. Best of Toronto reported Thursday.

When given in over doses for any disease, the drugs can temporarily produce symptoms of diabetes. This is one of their unpleasant side reactions which disappears when the drugs are stopped.

However, Dr. Best of the University of Toronto said the drugs also can point the way to persons who are quietly developing real diabetes.

Dr. Best, co-discoverer of insulin in 1921, said when laboratory animals in pre-diabetic state were given the hormones the sugar level in their blood rose to measurable levels. They could be ferreted out with standard tests for diabetes.

Toasted Hopper Toothsome Bite On Arctic Menu

OTTAWA — (CP) — Toasted grasshopper, lichen stew, seaweed jelly—the R.C.A.F. has put out a cook-book guaranteed to make any housewife's hair stand on end.

But it may mean the difference between life and death to airmen stranded in the wilderness.

Used in connection with survival training given aircrew during northern flying, the book contains recipes for such tasty dishes as fried lizard and lousewort.

While the average cook might waggle a querying eyebrow, the Air Force coolly explains that the woolly lousewort is "the most tasty food plant in the north."

It even goes farther than that. "Grubs found in the ground or in rotten wood make good food—So do grasshoppers, toasted on a stick.

Anyone interested in preparing the grasshoper dish is advised to pick off the legs and wings before fore cooking. After all "meat is meat when you are hungry."

That is the objective of this Arctic manual, to teach downed airmen the mechanics of finding food when none appears available—and to tell them what to stay away from.

For instance bats, lizards, newts, frogs and snakes "which taste like the white meat of chicken" provide excellent fare. But not caterpillars—some are poisonous.

Seaweed Salad

Seaweed should be put on the menu whenever possible. "Sea lettuce is a pale lettuce-green variety of seaweed. . .." says the manual. "It should be thoroughly washed and may be eaten raw or boiled with a little water to make a thick soup and eaten hot or cold."

Lichens, little grey, brown or black plants, are found in Northern Canada and are edible. However, most lichens contain a bitter acid which should first be extracted by boiling or soaking in water. The dry lichen can then be made into a powder by rubbing between the palm of the hands or by pounding with a stone.

All salt water fish may be eaten raw except the shark. Fresh water fish in the north may contain parasites which could cause sickness— it's best to cook them before eating.

These are only a few of the items covered in the cookbook which forms part of a syllabus prepared for the R.C.A.F. School of Survival at Fort Nelson, B. C.

While neither Flt.-Lt. S. E. Alexander, 37, nor FO. F. J. Goodey, 38 — the authors of the book—claim any special culinary skills, Arctic authorities say the recipes alone could have saved hundreds of men lost in the Arctic in the last 100 years, who perished chiefly because they didn't know how to go about finding their food.

Flt.-Lt. Alexander now is at Air Force Headquarters in Ottawa. FO. Goodey is in charge of the School at Fort Nelson.

Toronto Subway 2 Months Ahead

TORONTO, April 14 (CP) — Still two months ahead of schedule, Toronto's $30,000,000 rapid transit subway project is beginning to look like a subway instead of an ugly hole in the city's main street.

The subway is expected to be completed by November, 1953, from the Union Station north under Yonge Street to Eglinton Avenue. This would take it from near the harbor front to North Toronto.

You can't see the progress from the streets, but a trip underground Thursday showed two 100 foot stretches of concrete flooring already in place, 40 feet below the street surface, and others will be poured next week.

The method is to open up various sections of Yonge Street, Toronto's main thoroughfare, for excavation, from which the subway is tunnelled and paved north and south while the excavation is covered with heavy planking over which streetcar and motor traffic continues normally.

Give X-Ray Treatment Like Barbecuing Roast

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE.

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP)—The American Cancer Society on Thursday reported a new method of giving X-rays which works much the same as barbecuing a roast.

The patient sits on a turntable, which slowly revolves, while a beam of X-rays plays on him. The difference between the X-ray treatment and barbecuing is that the ray strikes only in a narrow zone around the body.

This new method is used to treat cancer deep within the body. The X-ray is focussed so that its principal strength hits at about the site of the cancer.

Such rays, however, burn all the tissues through which they pass before reaching the deep cancer. Frequently the amount of X-rays which can be given the patient are limited by the amount of burning of the healthy tissue.

The burning of healthy tissues sometimes interferes so much that a patient's life cannot be saved.

Arabs Agree To Talk With UN Commission

CAIRO, April 14 (AP) — The Arab countries have agreed — with reservations—to a United Nations proposal for three-way talks of Arabs, Israelis and conciliation commission members on a Holy Land peace.

(Israel Thursday night rejected a conciliation commission plan to negotiate peace treaties based on the 1947 United Nations Palestine partition plan, which would include internationalization of Jerusalem.)

A high Arab source said Arab acceptance of the proposal was agreed on Thursday night with these reservations:

1. Israel must accept formally, in principle, all past and future UN decisions on Palestine.

2. Israel must recognize in principle the rights of Arab refugees to return to Palestine if they choose.

3. Israel pledges not to hamper the conciliation commission's work.

The court was told he covered her with a rug and "every night after I went back to her and slept on the couch."

Mark St. Choir Presents Forest Prince

Tschaikowski wrote a wealth of tunes which to this day are almost popular hits and Mark St. United Church choir reminded its audience of this Thursday at a stage performance of The Forest Prince.

The operetta was more or less on the scale of a complete opera and it was no light task to undrtake such a work. The result was a thoroughly entertaining evening for the audience which packed the auditorium of Queen Mary School.

Transformation from church choir to an operatic group is in itself a feat and it was admirable accomplished.

The setting is the romantic Cossack period of Russian history in the sixteenth century. The entire company fell into the atmosphere of the gay rebel life of the Cossacks and the courtly life of the Tzar. The two scenes in the forest were colorful and the gaily dressed choruses formed a picturesque scene.

There is a good deal of dialogue as Tatiana, a princess of Russia is held for ransom by the Cossacks. This is the situation in the first act when the rousing chorus We Are King, to the famous March of the Tin Soldiers is sung. The chorus, consisting of no more than 40 voices, captured the stirring atmosphere which is the essence of the song.

The second act is a scene at the Tzar's court and through no fault of the performers, the pace slackens. Perhaps it was because of this that the choruses flagged a little.

Highlights of Operetta

Back to the forest again in the third act and to a more rustic life. Perhaps the highlight of the entire performance was towards the end when Fern Brook, Barbara Murray and Alex McLeod sung the humorous trio, The Use of Brain, to Tschaikowski's Italian Song.

Olive Searles, organist at Mark St. Church, took the female lead and successfully overcame an attack of laryngitis which has kept her in bed for all this week. She has a strong voice and was a great asset to the performance not only as general director but also as soloist.

A remarkably fine achievement was the string orchestral accompaniment under the direction of Cecil Searles. There was no "murdering" of the lilting tunes as is all too often the case if there is more enthusiasm than actual ability. The orchestra was master of the situation.

The costumes and make-up were also a most commendable aspect of the production. They were the creation of the cast and a few helpers. Peter McCombe and Bob King assisted with make-up.

Jack Murray was a stately Tzar and Norman Hewitt the prince. Ronald Starr played the jester, Grace Pomeroy the chief Cossacks' foster mother, Glen Hunter a Cossack and Mary Bently Tatiana's lady in waiting.

These principals had mostly speaking parts which were well in keeping with the fine standard of the performance as a whole. Leonard Agnew was director of drama and Phyllis Morwood, director of dances. The operetta will be repeated this evening.

St. George's Afternoon Guild Presents Three-Act Comedy

Wartime, when the girls back home found that men were scarce, and a select ladies' boarding school, where men were forbidden anyway, form the place and time for the entertaining three-act comedy "Sweet Sally Brown," which was presented Thursday night by the Ladies Afternoon Guild of St. George's church. The performance was staged in the Parish Hall of St. Luke's Church, and members of both congregations formed the audience.

The story centres around a rebellious young heiress, one of the students at Haddon Hall, who switches identity with Sally Brown, her accommodating girl friend, in order to escape and visit her soldier fiance at his camp. From then on the fun begins, as Sally and Nydia, a student with a flair for the dramatic, outdo each other in evading tight situations with more and more fantastic prevarication. Mrs W. McGregor as Sally Brown, and Mrs. O. Laderach as Nydia, provided some delightful dialogue in these amusing scenes.

Accompanying the main plot is the general theme of dejection among all the girls in their manless society. Chief among the agitators for males on the faculty is the school's vivacious dramatic coach, Anastasia Cooke. The role was played with charm and a fine vonce by Miss D. Mills. Stealing scenes with her lovable awkwardness was Mrs. W. Firth, as the plum girl who was "always hungry."

Worthy of special mention was the care which had been given by the director to stage positions. They were well thought out, and kept the action always interesting. Because of the church's limited facilities, scenery was merely suggested, although the effect managed to be balanced and colorful. Under the direction of Mrs. Leslie Moore, the play proceeded at a lively pace, and all the ladies performed with enenthusiasm.

In the cast were: Mrs. F. Dorrell, as Ella Dupree, school principal; Miss D. Mills, as Anastasia Cooke; Mrs. W. Hutchins as Brooke Amery; Mrs. W. Firth as Dodie Bundy; Mrs. O. Laderach as Nydia Marble; Mrs. D. McIntosh as Monica Miller; Mrs. A. Green as Mrs. Camila Bond; Mrs. E. McIlwain as her daughter Sylvia; Mrs. W. McGregor as Sally Brown; Mrs. I. Harrison as Delilah, colored maid; Mrs. W. Farr as Ivadel Parker, country girl; and Mrs. F. Hines as Mrs. Jimmy Parker.

Between the acts, novelty numbers were played by "The Harmonica Trio," featuring Ted Elliott, Keith Pilkington and Bill Hutchins, assisted by Walter Farr, violinist.

The performance is being repeated tonight.—J. B.

Warkworth Band Great Success At First Concert

WARKWORTH, April 14 (ENS) —The community band and choir presented a fine concert Thursday in the Town Hall to a full house. It was the first concert since formation of the music group six months ago under the capable leadership of Joseph Minicola of Peterborough.

A 32-piece brass band and a choir of 45 voices played a number of popular marches, waltzes and sacred music.

Perhaps one of the finest achievements was a clarinet solo by 13-year-old Ed. Thompson to Miss Iva Bower's accompaniment.

Mrs. Margaret Goodfellow was a charming vocal soloist with Mrs. Douglas Knight as accompanist.

The concert has been awaited with enthusiasm many weeks and in preparation for the performance the high school students, under the principal, Mr. Buckley, had decorated the hall in silver and blue.

The Rev. J. M. Ritchie of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was master of ceremonies and gave a hort address telling of the formation of the band and choir.

Mrs. Donald Thompson is the president and Mrs. W. Grant Allen, secretary.

The first milestone in the band's history was passed with great success and the enthusiasm with which its performance was received will surely add renewed vigour to its activities.

The concert will be repeated tonight.

Speaker Likens Church To Garden

An Easter message was given by Mrs. Major Everitt of the Salvation Army at the thank-offering meeting of Knox Church WMS, held Thursday afternoon in the ladies' parlor. She gave the title of her address as "I am come into my garden" and likened the church to a garden with various kinds of flowers and fruits blooming and growing there.

The speaker was introduced by president Mrs. E. Mesley and appreciation was expressed by Mrs. W. Brown.

Mrs. F. Milburn, supply secretary, reported collection of 5,890 pounds of paper. She made an appeal for good and used clothing for overseas relief. It was decided on motion of Mrs. H. Lewis and Mrs. R. Hanscom, that three pairs of flannelette sheets will be purchased for a bale. An afghan made for the bale by Mrs. M. Lindsay, Miss S. Summers, Miss F. Pallin and Mrs. T. Williams was on display. Miss Summers reported 12 home and 10 hospital calls made and Mrs. M. Sanderson reported on temperance. Members were reminded of a cabinet meeting Monday afternoon.

Vice-president Mrs. H. Clegg conducted the opening and business session. Mrs. H. Lewis was pianit and also sang in a duet with Mrs. J. Marchen. "It was alone the Saviour prayed." Mrs. G. Hutchinson read the scripture, an Easter thank-offering worship service was conducted by Mrs. C. Gertley, associate members' secretary.

YW Swimmers Entertain At Children's Bunny Party

Swimming Department of the YWCA takes the honors this Easter season with the children's Bunny Party.

It was one of the grandest scale affairs for the young people that could be recalled Thursday afternoon by the alertly attentive grandmothers also in the crowd.

A non-stop program of singing, story telling, fashion show, bunny dance and puppet show went on in the green room and the recreation room. Nearly 200 children, seated at the quartette tables with their mothers, managed not to miss a bit of the entertainment and to consume numerous sandwiches, bunny-shaped cookies, milk and ice cream cones.

Each table offered a basket of colored candy eggs to take home, the bunny dancers presented each child with a fancy paper doll, and the most attractive decoration, bright balloons that hung in clusters on the wall, came down at the end to be taken home with the trophies.

The puppet show was what really and truly fascinated the youngsters and they crowded up to see it, almost knocking over the stage. Mrs. J. G. Campbell has organized the Blue Triangle Puppet Group this winter, and has taught the children to make and operate the dolls. At this first appearance they presented the Dicky Bird, Ding Dong Bell and a solo number. David Andrews was the stage manager, wearing the traditional tuxedo suit, and the children behind the scenes were Sandra McGee, Jennifer Davies, David Munro, Allison Low and Marjorie Coulter.

Miss Audrey Hustwitt, swimmind director, coached the bunnies for their dance, and designed their costumes with tall pink ears and fuzzy tails. Pamela Clements wore a dainty pink sheer frock with matching hat and lace gloves and was the flower girl who was the centre of attraction to bunnies, Marion Weyer, Katherine Porter, Marlyn Monk, Sharon Ferguson, Dona Wade, Anne Gariepy, Lee Allchin and Andy Allchin.

A fashion show of bathing suits proved of most interest to the mothers. All of the young models performed most creditably, but the smartest, most colorful designs failed to hold junior's attention for more than a glance.

Most of the suits were more revealing than the much-talked about styles Big Sister wears. The designer's principal aim is durability and comfort so they are made of washable cottons, with embroidered motifs to attract them to the small child, and of lastex to fit the body nicely. Two little boys were modelling boxer shorts and the type of wool suit that goes into sandpiles. The girls had one and two piece numbers in demure pastel and gay, bright colors. One model carried a white terry cloth beach coat.

Miss Gaynor Galoska acted as a teen age model and wore a bright yellow bengaline suit, shirred at the sides to fit like petals of a rosebud.

All girls in the swimming classes assisted with the party in some way, as did the members of the swimming committee, especially chairman Mrs. Walter Perks. Mrs. Ross Matthews told children's stories. Mrs. Lionel Monk was pianist and Mrs. R. Clements and Mrs. C. B. McKenzie led the singing.

What's Right

Just as you are about to leave your house to keep an appointment, a friend in a chatty mood calls you on the phone.

Wrong way: Talk as long as long as the person wants to, explaining why you were late when you finally get to your appointment.

Right way: Explain to your telephone caller that you were just leaving to keep an appointment and say that you will call back later.

DOROTHY DIX

Love, Respect, Good Meals Few of Wife's Obligations

DEAR MISS DIX: What has a young husband a right to expect of his wife?

YOUNG MAN ABOUT TO BE MARRIED

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Well, first and foremost of all, a man has a right to expect love from his wife. A husband has the right to expect his wife to make him the headliner in their little world. To put him above the baby. Before her family. A man has a right to expect his wife to make him a comfortable home and to provide him with good nourishing, well-cooked meals. It is the man's business to bring home the bacon. It is the woman's business to cook it to a turn.

Dorothy Dix

Must Be A Good Sport

A man has a right to expect his wife to be a good sport and to take the bitter along with the sweet of matrimony. Life isn't easy sledding for anyone. Hard times come. Then it is he has a right to expect his wife not to weaken him with her whines and complaints, or take the last ounce of courage out of him by her reproaches and reminders of the mistakes he has made.

A husband has a right to expect his wife to be a helpmeet. He has a right to expect her to try to make friends for him and to press-agent his virtues instead of advertising his faults. He has a right to expect her to be thrifty and to deny herself the things she wants to help along his business.

A husband has a right to expect his wife to accord him a reasonable amount of personal liberty. No man deliberately marries to get a jailer, or to have someone tell him where he gets on and where he gets off. A husband has a right to expect his wife not to throw away after marriage the bait with which she caught him. He has a right to expect her to keep herself looking neat and attractive.

Finally, a husband has a right to expect his wife to show him some appreciation. The average man spends his life toiling like a slave to support his family. All that he makes goes to his wife and children, and the only way his wife can repay him is by telling him how grateful she is, and that she thinks that no hero has anything on him.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: About six years ago my sister brought a young married woman home with her for a visit. We became attracted to each other and I finally obtained a divorce from my wife and she later obtained a divorce from her husband and we plan to be married. But lately I have been thrown in contact in a business way with a young woman, whom I have always greatly admired and respected, and we have fallen in love with each other. I have tried to give her up and stay away from her, but I can't do it. She is different from any other girl I have ever known and I know we could be very happy together. However, as I feel partly responsible for my financee's divorce I feel in honor bound to marry her. Please advise me what to do.

PUZZLED MAN

ANSWER: Don't marry No. 2. Don't marry No. 3. Don't marry any woman whatever, no matter how much you may think you are in love with her at the time. For you are one of the unstable men who are only capable of a passing fancy and you have no right to mess up women's lives by marrying them.

A man who is lured by every pretty face and to whom every fluttering skirt is a challenge to get up and follow should recognize his own weakness and have enough humanity about him not to make innocent women the victim of his constitutional lack of emotional stability. Such a man could not be loyal and faithful if he tried. And he never tries. He has always a roving foot and a wandering eye and there will always be some woman who will have an allure that his wife does not possess.

You may hurt their vanity a little in forsaking them before marriage, but you won't give them the mortal wound that you will deal them in forcing them to divorce you if they marry you. No woman can have a greater grief than being a philanderer's wife.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: What do you think of secret marriages? Are not the parties to such an affair living in legalized adultery until their relations are publicly announced?

OLD FOGY

ANSWER: The legitimacy of a marriage is determined by its legal status and whether it is made public or not has nothing to do with its being a binding contract.

But personally, I think a secret marriage is always a mistake and that, no matter what the circumstances, it is far better to marry openly and aboveboard and to acknowledge each other in the sight of all men. I think this is best even if the circumstances are such that a couple cannot live together at the time. They have entered into the holiest of all relationships and they should do it in a way that demands the respect of the world.

London Fashions Call for Pleats In Summer Wear

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON—(CP)—Pleats are a forefront fashion-note in Britain this spring.

As a compromise on the hard lines of the Paris "chemise" dress, British designers are pleating from shoulder to hem. This gives freedom and grace to an otherwise attractive style, softening the hard, straightness of the line.

There are pleated spring and summer dresses in light wools georgettes shantungs nylon chiffon and many other of the newest nylon materials

Pleating is carried in all types of silks from the sheerest georgettes to the heaviest satins. This covers a vast range of dresses from evening and cocktail dresses to gay, simple holiday prints and beachwear.

There is small choice in the types of pleating. Generally knife or box pleating is used, the difference lying in the width of the pleat.

No Sleeves

Most chemise dresses are sleeveless, the long shoulder line finished by contrast cuff suggesting a cap-sleeve. Necks or either round or collared, all are high and clean-cut to give emphasis to the straight pleat-line. If a set-in sleeve is used this is generally of narrower pleating than the dress and caught in a tight cuff.

Many designers use two different sizes of pleating to emphasize waist, hemline or yoke.

In pastel-colored shantung a box-pleated dress has cuffed set-in sleeve and tiny collar. Narrower pleating from knee to hemline gives the new hug-look to the knee-line. A chiffon waistband decorated with two bunches of artifical flowers adds a touch of femininity.

Shoulder Line Cuffed

In moss-crepe a knife-pleated dress falls from sleeveless cuffed shoulderline to full swinging hemline. It has tiny round neck with side-button front and narrow waist-belt.

Many shawl-collared, garden-party dresses have unpleated bodice and full, sunray skirts. Tube-look, strapless, cuffs-top dresses may have pleated bolero-top.

Pleating is also used in the backs of loose, swing jackets; in yoke-to-waist panel in suit jackets; in back or all-round pleating of blouses. The new, mannish, shirt-blouse styles with high neckline and bow tie are often softened by minutely-pleated chiffon vest.

Pleating is also used for decoration—is hem panels, shawl collars, cape-sleeves or stole.

Torney-Hamblin Wedding

Daffodils at the altar of St. George's Anglican Church Saturday afternoon formed the setting as the Rev. E. C. Moore heard nuptial vows pledged by Doreen Vivien Hamblin and Donald Robert Torney. The bride is the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Hamblin of R.R. 1, Norwood, and the groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Torney of Kingston.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. T. H. G. Garland who also accompanied Miss Ruth Hircock of Cobourg when she sang "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

The bride's gown was of white faconne crepe, styled with a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves on the fitted bodice and a full gathered skirt. Her veil fell to floor length from a crown of white satin with seed pearl embroidery and she carried a shower bouquet of red roses.

Mr. Hamblin gave his daughter in marriage and she was attended by Miss Marion Brown who was dressed in blue faconne crepe and carried a bouquet of spring flowers.

Mr. Douglas Thurston of Hastings was the groomsman.

The reception was at the home of the bride's parents where her mother received wearing a navy flowered crepe dress, navy felt hat and corsage of red rosebuds.

Also receiving was the groom's mother who wore a pink crepe dress and pink straw hat and a corsage of pink roses.

For her wedding trip to Ottawa and points east the bride chose a navy suit and grey topcoat and wore a pink hat and accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Torney will live in Hamilton where the groom is a member of the Public School teaching staff. Both are graduates of the Peterborough Normal School and the bride had been teaching at a rural school in the Warsaw district.

Churchill Women Busy in Welfare

CHURCHILL, Man., —(CP) — The Ladies' Club in this northern Manitoba port town is one of the busiest on record.

Along with numerous other welfare projects, the club members, numbering 20, found time to put out a booklet on Churchill. Five thousands copies have been sold and it was reviewed over the CBC.

Harsh Parents Receive Blame For Prejudices

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Dictators in the home breed bigots and the kind of persons who would follow dictators in government, a new study finds.

It especially blames harsh and domineering fathers for creating many Americans who are violently anti-semitic or anti-Negro, or who are easy picking for sponsors of intolerant movements.

The five-year study for the American Jewish Committee has just been completed with publication of five books in a series entitled "Studies In Prejudice" (Harper & Brothers). The authors are 11 psychologists, sociologists, psychiatrists and anthropologists.

The purpose was to learn more about what makes humans tick. Specifically, it was to learn why they may have deep religious or racial prejudices, or be swayed by agitators.

Fathers must take a lot of the blame, says Dr. Samuel H Flowerman, co-editor of the series with Dr. Max Horkheimer, and director of scientific research for the committee. Fathers, and mothers, too, may warp their children's personalities by too strict discipline and lack of love, he said.

"The child grows up with a feeling of a world dominated by inexorable power—as represented by his parents.

Need To Submit

"As an adult, he feels the need to submit to power. He sees the world as a war between the powerful and the weak. He wants to ally himself with the powerful

"He doesn't feel secure, and wants to go along with the crowd." He becomes herd-minded He tends to fear and dislike people outside his own group. He takes out his hate upon anyone who differs from his own group

"Having lacked love, he is never really capable of feeling affection. He doesn't have insight or understanding of others."

This type of person often acts mild, even meek, Dr. Flowerman said, but "he tends to demand strict obedience from his own children."

Power V Weak

"In politics, he doesn't look for the deeper economic or social forces." He sees everything in terms of the powerful against the weak.

"He appears to defend Americanism, but he really wants to overthrow it. Inwardly, he fears freedom and wants to escape it."

This type of person is called the "authoritarian personality" — the title of the fifth book in the series. Its findings are based on tests of more than 2,000 persons from a variety of occuupations.

The domineering parents is not the only cause of such a personality, Dr. Flowerman said, it was found to be a common cause. But this personality is almost always traced back to some childhood experiences.

One antidote is to rear children in a more democratic family life and to give them affection. They would then be far more likely to become independent, and to be freer of prejudice. Schools, churches, and labor unions could also help by education.

The other books in the series deal with other phases of prejudice and human emotions.

"Now that's more likely to scare 'em!"

Premature Babies Get Special Care

NORANDA, Que., (CP)—Babies born here before ...y are expected now have a better chance of survival at Youville Hospital. A new department has just been opened in the maternity ward for the special benefit of premature citizens.

Behind the establishment of the premature section was Sister Raymond of Mary, a Boston-born girl who attended school in Ottawa so that she could learn French and join the nursing order.

The new section is only one small room but it is piped with a special supply of oxygen and oxygen tents and incubators have been prepared for infants born ahead of time.

A premature baby may be three pounds under the weight of a normal five-pound baby, said sister Raymond. Their size and lack of energy make them easy victims for disease. Feeding is a problem because often they lack the energy to feed from a bottle and sometimes they are too weak to swallow. In extreme cases food is piped into their stomachs.

The smallest arrival at the hospital so far weighted two pounds three ounces. His weight doubled in thre months and soon he will be allowed to go home to his mother.

"No one is allowed in with the premature babies,' 'said the sister. "It is a job for one nurse. These babies are so frail they cannot fight against infection. The atmosphere must be clean. Even normal babies may infect them."

COST OF LIBERTY

The Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor is estimated to have cost between $500,000 and $600,000.

6—In Memoriams

IRWIN—In loving memory of Mrs. Andrew Irwin, who passed away April 14, 1945.
God knew that she was suffering,
The hills were hard to climb,
So He closed her weary eyelids
And whispered "Peace be thine."
Away in the beautiful home of God,
In that beautiful land so fair,
Some day, somehow, we know not when,
We'll meet our darling there.
—Ever remembered by husband, daughter Loreen and sons Clifford and Laverne.

IRWIN—In loving memory of Mrs. Andrew Irwin, who passed away April 14, 1945.
Today recalls sad memories,
Of a dear mother gone to rest,
And the one who thinks of her today
Is the one who loved her best.
—Sadly missed by daughter Ruby, son-in-law Alex and grandchildren Sharon and Rickey.

IRWIN—In loving memory of my dear mother, Ellen Elizabeth Irwin, who passed away April 14th, 1945.
She always watched for each one of us,
Anxious if we were late
In winter by the window
In summer by the gate
And though we mocked her lovingly
Who took such tender care
The long road home would seem more safe
Because she waited there.
Her thoughts were so full of us
She never could forget
And so we know that where she is
She is watching yet.
Watching till we come home to her
Anxious if we are late
Watching from heaven's window
Leaning from heaven's gate.
—Always remembered by daughter and son-in-law Ileen and Layton Treen.

OWEN—In loving memory of our dear brother, LAC Earnest Owen, killed serving with the RCAF overseas, April 14, 1941.
Sweet memories will linger forever
Time cannot change them it's true
Years that may come cannot sever
Our loving remembrance of you.
—Ever remembered by brother and sister-in-law, Thomas and Gladys.

Mercy Plane Sent For Meningitis Victim

HALIFAX, April 14 (CP) — An RCAF plane has been sent from Goose Bay, Labrador, to pick up a 10-year-old girl suffering from meningitis at Harrington Harbor, Que., 200 miles south of Goose Bay on the shore of the gulf of St. Lawrence. The RCAF search and rescue centre here said the girl will be flown to Montreal for treatment.

French Railroad

holding three people each and they are wooden. For short trips they are fine. Second class is similar to first, except that the trappings are not so elaborate. A good many French people travel second class on long trips.

The trains are clean and attractive. Every train, whether on a suburban line or runing through to Marseilles has the same nicely decorated coaches and huge picture windows, square or oval. They would be twice the size of the large windows on the latest Canadian trains running through to British Columbia. You can get a wonderful view of the scenery.

Stations Easy

It is easy to purchase tickets. There is a wicket for everything and you simply use your eyes. The ticket is bought in one place and the reservation made in another for the small sum of 25 cents. Buying a ticket in France entitles you to get on the train, but does not necessarily mean a seat unless you have reserved one. If it is not crowded, there is no difficulty.

Methods Differ

In France, tickets are not collected till you get off the train and are on your way out of the station. That is the method on short runs because there are so many people. On longer trips, the conductor comes around as in Canadian trains and punches the tickets. The stations are never called. It is up to the passenger to keep informed.

For the one hour journey between Pontoise and Paris, we travel third class. For a short run it is quite comfortable despite the wooden seats; the price is cheaper and it is there that you can really meet and study the average French people. They are very friendly. Another curious thing is that you can take a dog or cat into the passenger coach, if you buy a ticket as for a passenger.

Another thing the uninitiated is wise to know, is that tickets must be bought at the station from which your particular train will depart. For example, going to Caen, we had to purchase our reservations at la gare de Ste Lazaare. For Tours, we had to go to the gare d' Austerlitz on the other side of the city.

More Company Demands

The Board feel it is not feasible for them, based on the evidence produced by the Company, to recommend at this point any action be taken with regard to hospitalization or pension plans as it might very well work out to the detriment of job security rather than be of any assistance to the workers in the plant. The Company already has a Group Insurance plan in effect.

At present the hiring rate for men at Peterborough Lock is 84 cents and the base rate, after 12 weeks is 93 cents an hour. For women the hiring rate is 70 cents and the base rate, after 16 weeks, is 82 cents.

The hearing was unusual from the standpoint of the Board in that the Company made more demands for revision of the existing contract than the Union.

5-Day Work Week

HAMILTON, April 14.—(CP) —If a two-month summer trial period proves favorable, Board of Control intends adopting a five-day work week for municipal employees. A request for a $4-a-week pay increase without a reduction in the number of hours worked was turned down.

Board Divided

bring in his four-point motion afterwards, he explained.

Board Divides

Mrs. Paige Rowell said she had heard the idea of teacher-trustee committees highly recommended while talking with delegates to the Urban School Trustees meeting held in Toronto last month.

There are many new problems in education to be faced and new curricula, she stated, and because of this the relationship between the Board and the teachers should be extremely strong.

"We should use the teachers and every other source available before making a decision. I don't think we can afford to disregard any opinions."

Mr. Irwin suggested that in the building of a new school the teacners, maintenance men and caretakers should all have their opinions solicited.

The architect would know better how to design a school than the teachers, commented Mr. Craw. So leave it to him.

"Wouldn't you want a say in the design of your house or office," asked Dr. Morgan.

Mr. Adamson said one of the main bones of contention between the two bodies would be salaries. He understood, however, that a special committee had been appointed before the last salary schedule was drawn up to discuss the rates with various groups of teachers.

If other grievances existed, as outlined by Mr. Irwin, then he would agree with Mr. Irwin that such an organization was desirable.

Dr. Morgan said he understood that teacher-trustee committees had proved successful in other localities.

At the present time I'm in favor of further investigation of this and possibly for a trial meeting or two with the representatives of the teachers."

Dr. Matthews was chief spokesman for those against forming the committee.

"It would have to be more than a goodwill gesture," he said.

The supervision committee had discussed the possibility of teachers voting on a salary schedule for themselves and turned it down. He thought this matter had been "fairly well covered" last year by the salary committee who had groups of teachers sit in and discuss the schedules.

"And who represents the teachers?" he asked.

Sometimes the public school teachers would have a different point of view than the collegiate ones. He preferred the present method of dealing with them as individual groups, he said.

The same applied to discipline and grievances.

"To by-pass the administration on discipline and grievances is not fair to the administration," he said "and in some respects it is a vote of want of confidence in them."

"We couldn't put our finger on the practical application of the idea," Dr. Matthews concluded. "We must be able to say this committee would be of valuable help, and the majority of the committee were not convinced."

Before making its decision the board heard letters from Boards in Sudbury and Hamilton on the working of teacher-trustee committees.

Dr. Morgan set off another long discussion that neared the point of acrimony at its peak when he queried how teacher appointments are made.

"It's a big mystery to me," he said.

Mrs. Rowell joined in to say that the book on Board procedure was contradictory. Is it the Board or the Superintendent who bears the ultimate responsibility?

Dr. Morgan said he knew nothing of the qualifications of 10 new teachers approved by the Board. What, he asked, is the Board's part in the choice.

Chairman Jobbitt explained that the Board had given the Superintendent the right to choose teachers, in consultation with C. S. Browne, principal of the PCVS, and P. D. Windrim, inspector.

Dr. Honey said he agreed with the present method of selecting a staff but conceded it should have been amended in the book for the benefit of new members. Mr. Craw confirmed this opinion.

"I find it hard to approve the appointment of a person I don't know anything about and haven't seen," said Mr. Irwin.

"You mean you don't trust anyone else," shot back Mr. Wightman.

This was denied by Mr. Irwin, and Dr. Morgan countered with: "I didn't come here to say 'yes-yes-yes.' I haven't the time for that and it's not what I'm here for."

Several of the older Board members interposed to say that they were satisfied with the present method of selecting teachers. The Superintendent was an expert and knew his staff and the time element was often of vital importance in making a bid for a good teacher.

"I think it's a matter for specialists," said Mr. Adamson.

"Are we going to leave this matter up in the air," asked Mr. Wightman. "I refuse to go on hiring teachers unless I have the authority of this Board to do so. If you want to do something else it doesn't matter to me, but let me know."

Mr. Craw then proposed a vote of confidence in the Superintendent and authorized him to go ahead and fill any vacancies on the teaching staff. It was seconded by Mr. Bannon and passed unanimously.

The whole question of appointments will be reviewed in committee.

Doukhobors Set Fire Chief's Home

Will Consult Garson For Way To Control Sons Of Freedom

VANCOUVER, April 15 — (CP)—Doukhobor leader John J. Verigin is homeless, burned out by a gang of youths police identified as radical members of his Russian sect.

And Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer is on his way to Ottawa, for talks with Justice Minister Garson which may solidify a plan to end the half-century of strife and violence in Doukhobor districts of interior British Columbia.

Thirty-six young men were taken into custody at Brilliant, B.C., 250 miles east of Vancouver, after hymn-chanting Doukhobors dragged Verigin from his home and put it to the torch. No charges were laid immediately.

Police said the raiders were from the Sons of Freedom, a group of some 2,000 which broke away from the main body of Doukhobors in protest against acceptance of man-made laws.

Doukhobor Shrine

The Verigin house, once used by the late Peter (The Lordly) Verigin who led the sect from Russia to America, was venerated as a Doukhobor shrine. It burned in 40 minutes, the flames fed by gasoline. The fire spread to nearby houses, doing an estimated $25,000 worth of damage.

Friday's burning was the first act of terrorism in the Doukhobor country since leaders of the Sons of Freedom signed four months ago a solemn pledge of peace.

Verigin said the fire was set by "spiritually and mentally crazed fanatics."

Protect Society

"In my opinion, the immediate point of issue is the protection of society from them and their kind, rather than a discussion of ways and means of punishment or treatment of the culprits."

While Attorney-General Wismer is in Ottawa Justice Minister Garson is expected to make public a report drafted by a two-man commission set up last winter to investigate the Doukhobor problem.

U.S. Soldier Convicted As Spy

GARMISCH-PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany, April 15—(AP)—A United States Air Force court martial today convicted Cpl. Gustav Mueller of St. Paul, Minn., of trying to give secret American military information to Russia. The 19-year-old airman was sentenced to five years imprisonment and to be dishonorably discharged from the U.S. Air Force. Mueller testified in his own defence that he was only trying to trap some Russian spies when he gave away secret documents.

The verdict followed a two-day trial.

The court rejected Mueller's claim that he was trying to catch Soviet spies. U.S. agents had testified earlier that they posed as Russian agents and that when Mueller gave them secret documents he told them he was doing so because "I believe in Communism." They said he asked no pay.

Mueller admitted to the seven-man court that he wired the Soviet consulate in Bern, Switzerland, last September asking to get in touch with a Soviet agent.

He admitted stealing secret papers from the library of the U.S. intelligence school in nearby Oberammergau, where he was a student. He confessed giving these papers to agents "whom I believed to be Soviets."

But the young man said on the witness stand:

"I am not a Communist. I hate Communism. I am loyal to the United States and always shall be."

"I was only trying to fool the agents all along," Mueller testified. "I wanted to trap them. But they struck first.

"I thought they were pretty gullible for Soviet agents, but I guess I was really the gullible one."

STABBED WIFE, BABY

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—William J. Gallaudet, 26-year-old former Marine, stabbed his wife and baby to death in their Brooklyn home today, police said.

Will Fly Hungry Eskimos To New Homes More South

By BERNICE REDPATH MacIVER

CHURCHILL, Man., April 15—(CP)—Fifty hungry Eskimos in the Lake Ennadai district 350 miles northwest of here probably will be flown to new homes farther south. The prospect is the natives will be evacuated to Lake Nueltin, midway along the Manitoba-North West Territories boundary, where there is work and food. They were close to starvation earlier this week. The R.C.A.F. had to take in some emergency supplies.

The move to Nueltin Lake can be made in one day. Ordinarily it would be overland, by dog team. But almost every dog owned by the Eskimos at Ennadai has died—whether from starvation or disease is not known.

The problem of the hungry Eskimo is hard to understand. It seems mental as well as physical.

Won't Fish

There are fish in Lake Ennadai and at Padlei, a short distance farther north, where other Eskimos will fish for the white man (and the men will have to do so to earn a living at Lake Nueltin), but they won't fish for themselves.

The north west territories Eskimo is a meat-eater, and apparently is under-nourished unless he has the meat of caribou. One of the reasons for this year's privation has been an unexplained change in the caribou's migration route.

Bundle Of Flesh Found On Street

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—Missing sections of a human body were hunted by police today after four bundles of carved-up human flesh were found on a Brooklyn street.

Dr. M. E. Marten, Brooklyn medical examiner, said the flesh had been removed within the last week from the body of a man "after death."

The flesh, he added, apparently came from the body of a fairly heavy man between 40 and 50 years old.

Twenty-three sections of the flesh, wrapped in wine-colored drapery fabric, were found Friday on the sidewalk.

The flesh, in which there were no bones, weighed about 40 pounds.

More than 100 patrolmen and detectives, using flashlights, combed the area Friday night in search of the remainder of the victim. The search continued today.

Police theorize that the bundles had been tossed from an automobile, and that other sections of the body may have been strewn about the city.

The cloth wrappings about the body led authorities to believe the victim was slain in a house, then dissected.

Strike Vote Certain Says Mosher

Report 'Unbelievable' Will Stir Up Workers' Resentment

OTTAWA, April 15—(CP)—A strike vote undoubtedly will be called among the 30,000 members of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (C.C.L.), C.B.R.E. President A. R. Mosher said today as he blasted the majority finding of a conciliation board that investigated his union's wage-hour demands on the railways.

Mr. Mosher, also president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, called the report "almost incredible" and "almost unbelieveably reactionary and unrealistic." He said it would stir up maximum resentment among employees.

The report was one of two on the railway-union dispite made public today. In the case of the CBRE and the Brotherhood of Express Employees (CCL), it repected demands for a pay increase, the 40-hour week and the company check-off of union dues. It recommended the 44-hour week with some reduction in take-home pay.

Bread Not Stone

Part of Mr. Mosher's statement follows:

The railway workers of Canada asked for bread and have been given a stone. The report of this board is the worst I have ever seen. It is almost incredible that its only recommendation is one which would mean a wage cut for the vast majority of the workers concerned at a time when the cost of living is the highest on record and still going up.

The Brotherhoods made three demands: A wage increase of 10 cents an hour, a five-day week without reduction in take-home pay, and a check-off of Brotherhood dues from all employees (modified Rand formula). The report rejects all three. No improvement is recommended for hotel and water transportation workers. For the rest the board recommends a 44-hour week on terms which, for most of them, would mean a decrease in take-home pay.

President Truman To Get Scottish Kilt

PORT GLASGOW, Scotland, April 15 (AP)—President Truman of the United States is going to get a Scottish kilt, fashioned from the colorful tartan of the Clan MacLeod.

The President isn't a member of the MacLeod clan, but an unidentified friend has ordered the kilt for him.

Mrs. A. MacDonald of this village on the River Clyde, who has made kilts for the menfolk for 25 years, said she has just finished the President's kilt and mailed it to Truman. The MacLeod tartan has a green ground with wide blue and black bands crossing red and yellow over-checks.

At Dunegan Castle on the Isle of Skye, Mrs. Flora MacLeod of MacLeod, 28th hereditary chief of the clan, said she was "thrilled to think that so distinguished a man as Mr. Truman might wear the MacLeod tartan."

France Vetoes Plan For Ruhr Iron, Steel

BONN, Germany, April 15—(AP)—France has turned down a joint Anglo-American plan which would give the Germans final say in future ownership of the Ruhr's huge iron and steel industries once occupation is ended.

The French veto automatically suspended for 30 days passage of a new Ruhr control law, which is designed to break up the vast State-owned cartels and the giant Krupp empire, which has supported German militarization for the last 100 years.

French High Commissioner, Andre Francois-Poncet, Friday objected to a section of the law's preamble which would give the Germans the right to decide the form of future ownership of the rich idustries. He turned the issue over to his government.

Since You Ask

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 15—(AP)—When an unidentified Youngstown mother of nine children told the census taker Friday she was unmarried, she posed the knottiest problem enumerators in this area have run across. "Who," asked the census taker, "shall I list as the father of these children?" Without hesitation the mother whipped out a little black book—and read off seven names.

Wife Suicides Henry Fonda Carries On Play

BEACON, N.Y., April 15—(AP)—Henry Fonda went back to Broadway Friday night after his wife's hastily-arranged funeral and played "Mr. Roberts" to an audience that whispered the first news of her suicide from seat to seat.

Thirteen hours before—shortly after dawn Friday—the actor's beautiful society wife had cut her throat from ear to ear with a razor blade.

She was in a private sanatorium here, 40 miles north of New York City, and was believed to be recovering from a nervous breakdown that followed her consent to a divorce. She was 42.

Her death note ended:

"I am sorry, but this is the best way out."

Her death came just as Broadway heard rumors that romance had cooled between the 44-year-old Fonda and Susan Blanchard, 22-year-old step-daughter of Oscar Hammerstein II, the libtrettist and producer.

Fonda disclosed plans for a divorce last December, amidst reports of a romance with Miss Blanchard.

Until then, his marriage had been considered for years as one of the soundest in Hollywood and Broadway.

In the 26 months of the hit, "Mr. Roberts," Fonda never missed one of the 382 performances.

But his understudy, Marshall Jamison, was rehearsing the part when Fonda, pale with fatigue, strode into the Alvin Theatre an hour before curtain time and shortly after a simple, private funeral service in Beacon.

Reject Pay Boost Claims Suggest Formula Cutting Hours, Weekly Pay

17 Unions Asked 40-Hour Week, Same Pay
Board's Findings Not Binding
Expect Railways Favorable, Unions Balk

OTTAWA, April 15—(CP)—Railway union demands for higher pay and shorter hours are sliced to a fraction in Federal Conciliation Board findings made public today. Rejecting the 17 unions' claims for outright pay increases, the majority reports of two boards recommended a formula that would give about 124,000 employees a shorter work week, higher hourly rates and, generally, less in the weekly pay envelope.

The non-operating employees—those who do not run the trains—would get on the average an additional 6.8 cents on their general hourly rate of $1.03.

The unions had asked for reduction in the work week from 48 to 40 hours with a five-day week and no loss in take-home pay, plus wage increases above that of from seven to 10 cents an hour.

The Boards estimated this would be the equal of a general increase of 29 cents an hour.

After turning down the straight increases, they settled on a 44-hour week rather than the requested 40-hour period and worked out a compromise on the union's demand for 48 hours' pay for the shorter week.

Not Binding

If the plan went into effect—and the boards' findings are not binding on the unions or the railways — it would mean that the bulk of the employees would take a weekly wage cut to get the shorter hours, though not as large a cut as the reduction in work time.

The only major group that would get a wage increase would be some 20,000 "back shop" employees now on a 44-hour week. They would continue working the same hours with a higher hourly wage.

The board's majority recommendations expected railway hotel employees and water transport workers from its findings.

One of the boards, dealing with the check-off of union dues asked by one of the two groups of negotiating unions, rejected this proposal.

Mother, Son 2 Burn To Death In Ottawa Home

OTTAWA, April 15 — (CP) — A mother and her three-year-old son were burned to death when an early morning fire swept through their three-storey home on Daly Avenue in Ottawa's Sandy Hill district.

Dead are Mrs. Kathleen Saunders, 38, and her three-year-old son, Timmy.

Eight other persons escaped injury in the fire, believed started by a cigaret butt left burning in the groundfloor living room of the Saunders' apartment.

Heroine of the tragedy was 24-year-old Simone Tetu who raced through the building arousing residents as soon as she discovered the blaze. She told firemen that she had been awakened by an explosion.

Damage was tentatively estimated at $20,000.

The fire started shortly after 4 a.m. EST. Firemen were at the scene shortly after and fought their way into the blazing interior of the Saunders' apartment to find the bodies of the two victims.

Mrs. Saunders' body was found sprawled on the floor close to the door of her second-floor bedroom in a position indicating that she had perished while trying to get to her young son's room.

The child was found a short distance away in a back room, stretched lengthwise across his bed. He had apparently tried to leave his bed and run to the safety of his mother.

Mr. Saunders was away at the time of the blaze and did not arrive until shortly after firemen were on the scene.

The building, which stands close to the corner of King Edward Avenue, was one of the oldest residences in the district.

General Will End Search For Plane

WIESBADEN, Germany, April 15—(AP)—Lt.-Gen. John K. Cannon, chief of the United States Air Force in Europe, announced today search for a Navy Privateer plane missing for a week will be abandoned at sundown tomorrow.

U.S. planes roared over the Baltic for the seventh day today with scant hope they still may find the plane and its crew of ten.

Sixteen US air force search planes based at Copenhagen reported the weather was better over the Baltic than any day since the navy Privateer patrol plane vanished a week ago today on a flight from Frankfurt, Germany, to the Danish capital.

The planes today will search every possible water area where the missing plane and its crew might be found, including the waters west of Soviet-held Latvia where the Russians reported firing on a four-engined American bomber last Saturday.

Siamese Twins Have 75% Chance Of Living

BRANDON, Man., April 15 — (CP)—The grandparents of the Tofield, Alta., Siamese twins said Friday doctors give the babies a 75 per cent chance of surviving an operation to separate them. "They'll be wonderful children if the operation is a success," said Mrs. Arthur Townsend. "If it isn't, we have come to the conclusion they are better dead than joined the way they are."

Seretse Khama May Visit Wife

LOBATS I, Bechuanaland, Apr. 15 (Reuters)—Seretse Khama, 28-year-old exiled chief-designate of the Bamangwato tribe, today received permission to visit his white wife in the tribal capital of Serowe—for five days and on conditions.

Seretse's wife, 25-year-old former London typist Ruth Williams is expecting a baby next July. She had sent him a medical certificate that it was "imperative" he should see her at once.

The high commissioner for Bechuanaland, Sir Evelyn Baring said today that the permit covered the period April 16-20.

The statement added that Seretse had given the following undertakings in writing:

1. He would inform the district commissioner in Serowe personally on arrival.
2. He would not himself or through any other agency do anything calculated to interfere with good government.
3. He would neither hold nor attend any meetings or public gathering while in the Bamangwato reserve.

2 German Officials Flee Russian Zone

BERLIN, April 15—(AP)—Two Christian Democratic East Zone officials fled to West Berlin two days ago to evade arrest by Communist-controlled police, it was learned Friday night. Informants identified Dr. Braedel, district Chief of Worbis, on the Soviet-American zonal border, and his deputy Opfermann. Full names were not available.

You Can Use Soda Pop Navy Sinks Ships Old Way

LONDON, April 15 — (CP) — The Admiralty has decided to remain old-fashioned—at least when it comes to sinking ships.

They said today that they still cling to the theory that the best way to sink a ship is to put a hole —a big one—in it, under the water-line.

And, added the Admiralty, they do not—with emphasis on the "not"—think soda pop will do the job!

Lord Fraser, Britain's First Sea Lord, recently told a press conference in Ottawa about a scientist who came up with the idea of aerating water to sink a ship. The idea was tried out on a model and "the damn thing sank."

But as for the possibility of soda-pop now becoming a dangerous weapon of naval warfare . . . well, the Admiralty said:

"Quite obviously Lord Fraser was jesting about the whole thing."

The principle, apparently, was to reduce the density of water, thereby reducing the buoyancy of objects on it.

Experts outlined these difficulties:

1. The means—perhaps effervescing mineral salts might be more effective than soda-pop or beer. But, said another expert, "it's not possible to estimate the number of tons of effervescent salts it would take to sink a battleship. Even if the salts were sprinkled on the surrounding water they'd make little difference since bubbles are buoyant vessels."

2. The conditions—it appeared doubtful that an enemy would allow any potential "HMS Seltzer" within operating range. "Such a course of aggressive action," said nautical wiseacres, "would require the willing and able co-operation of the enemy."

Not Gold—Beer Bottles

TOBERMORY, Isle of Mull, Scotland, April 15 (Reuters) — A hulk hoped to be a Spanish treasure ship in Tobermory Bay today yielded up its first gift to the navy's salvage men. Special new suction pumps were installed in an attempt to clear silt, and sand from the hulk. Up came several empty beer bottles, then the pumps broke down and work was suspended for the day.

The industry will turn the logs into $800,000,000 worth of pulp and paper this year.

Found Guilty Of Operating Slaughterhouse

COBOURG, April 15 (ENS) — Nick Peconi, of Bailieboro, who formerly operated a slaughterhouse at Peterborough, was found guilty Friday of operating one in South Monaghan township without a permit but Magistrate R. B. Baxter deferred imposition of the penalty until May 12, suggesting Peconi take the necessary legal action to see if the township could grant him a licence.

"The Health Act was not designed to prevent a man from running his business. It does stipulate that certain regulations have to be complied with," observed the magistrate in delivering his decision. Peconi last February was tried on a charge of operating a slaughterhouse without a permit from the township council or the health unit. The magistrate at that time reserved judgment.

"Defence counsel objected to the wording of the charge but I find that the evidence showed that an offence was committed at the time and place designated. He requested the township council to grant him a permit and one witness said that a letter had been sent from the township council to Mr. Peconi, telling him that he could not operate a slaughterhouse in the township," the magistrate said.

"Defence counsel," he continued, "said that the township council could not refuse him a permit as he had been given a permit elsewhere. Mr. Peconi asked for a permit and township council decided not to grant one and for some reason called in the health unit. The sanitary inspector made two visits and found that slaughtering was going on. He made some recommendations but at no time did the health unit sanitary inspector tell Mr. Peconi that he would not be given a licence to operate. In a registered letter of October 1949, the township council told him he could not operate the slaughterhouse. In November of 1949 the health unit told him that he could not operate. It appears that Mr. Peconi was led to believe that if he followed the inspector that he would in time recommendations of the sanitary get the licence," the magistrate said.

"It is a fact that he did operate without a permit and is guilty, but I am going to reserve my decision as to penalty until May 12 and I would suggest to him that he might bring an action through the proper channels to have his rights ascertained and find if he can force them to grant him a licence.

"It is not right that he operated in defiance of the by-law but he must have felt that the health unit regulations if complied with would lead to a permit to operate. I will not penalize him for the number of days in which he has been carrying on without a permit."

CALL OF THE CLAN—Flora MacLeod, 28th chief of the Clan MacLeod, stands at one of the entrances to Dungevan Castle, home of the clan for more than 800 years. Mrs. MacLeod will be host to members of the clan from all parts of the world who will gather on the Hebridean Isle of Skye for a huge reunion.

Chief of Clan MacLeod Calls All MacLeods To Scotland

DUNVEGAN, Scotland, April 15 (CP)—Flora MacLeod, chief of the Clan MacLeod, has invited all MacLeods to Dunvegan Castle during a gathering of the clans scheduled for the Hebridean Isle of Skye this spring.

All Scots are invited to visit the island May 19-27 "when Skye welcomes home her scattered children," says Mrs. MacLeod, whose first name is in honor of 1Fora Macdonald who sheltered Bonnie Prince Charley here in 1745.

"I believe that the blood of every clan is mingled in the veins of all those of Highland descent," said Mrs. MacLeod.

This rugged island of Scotland's west coast is the hereditary home of the Macdonalds as well as of the MacLeods. Dunvegan Castle, home of Mrs. MacLeod, is the MacLeod clan's ancient stronghold and one of the oldest inhabited castles in Britain.

Plan Many Events

Duntulm Castle, the original seat of the Macdonalds, now is in ruins but much of the Macdonald land remains in the possession of Lord Macdonald, the present chief.

The gathering will begin at Portree May 20 and will be highlighted by an exhibition of arts and crafts, highland games, sheepdog trials, sea cruises, mountaineering and dances.

There will be evening Ceilidhs, the traditional Highland entertainment embracing folk songs, dancing and poetry reading.

Daily excursions will be run to Flora Macdonald who sheltered and to Flodigarry, where she stayed for 20 years, and to the site of the ancient College of Piping at Boreraig conducted by the MacCrimmons, hereditary pipers to the MacLeods.

The islanders hope to make the gathering an annual event. Special efforts are being made to open private homes to visitors who cannot be accommodated in the island's regular hotels and boarding houses.

Better Contracts

When workers in other industries are almost daily getting agreements embodying shorter work-weeks at the same or higher take-home pay, such a proposal is almost unbelievably reactionary and unrealistic. It is reminiscent of a cruder, less humane, less civilized period in industrial relations which I had thought was a thing of the past. Apparently it is not.

The report adds insult to injury by a long, pontifical sermon on collective bargaining. All I need say of this is that its self-assurance is equal to its ignorance of the subject.

Report Careless

In spite of the length of time the report has been in preparation, it bears evidence of haste and carelessness. Perhaps the most glaring example is in the discussion of average weekly wages in manufacturing, where the report gets its figures a whole year out.

I cannot, of course, say now will be. A meeting of their duly what the decision of our members elected representatives will be held shortly, and a strike vote will undoubtedly be the next move. I find it hard to believe that the railway workers of Canada will tamely accept a report which blatantly rejects all their legitimate demands and virtually recommends reprisal for having made them.

"Are you going to go on?" asked his press agent, Leo Friedman.

"I don't know," said the tall, lanky, boyish-looking actor. "It's awfully hard to say how I feel."

Then Leland Hayward, the show's producer, told him that only a fraction of the audience would know of Mrs. Fonda's death, and that he would bar the press from the theatre.

"I could do a performance," Fonda finally agreed.

As "Mr. Roberts" he is the first mate in an emotionally tense wartime sea drama, relieved by interludes of rowdy comedy.

"He was even sharper than usual," one follower of the play said afterwards.

Leopold Might Compromise

BRUSSELS, Belgium, April 15 (AP) — Premier-designate Paul Van Zeeland, who is trying to form a government which will bring back King Leopold III, announced a message of "capital importance" would be broadcast by the exiled monarch today.

Van Zeeland was silent about the contents of the message. But informed sources said Leopold probably would announce that he is willing to turn over some of his regal powers to his son, 19-year-old Prince Baudouin, in a compromise which would speed the formation of a coalition government.

A military plane left Brussels early this morning for Geneva, Switzerland, to bring back the recorded message.

Leopold has been living in Switzerland in virtual exile since the war's end because the Socialist and Liberal parties objected to his surrender to the German Army in 1940.

The sources said that, despite the probability of a compromise by the King, he is expected to stick to his original position that it is up to parliament to decide whether or not he should be returned to the throne.

Van Zeeland made the announcement of the coming message after returning from a conference with Leopold at his exile home at Pregny, near Geneva.

Will Fly Hungry

(Richard Harrington, a photographer who returned to Toronto recently from the Hudson Bay area, predicted some Padlei district Eskimos may die of starvation if the spring caribou migration, due late in April, bypasses that area).

Two Explanations

Northland experts say there are two possible explanations why Eskimos won't fish for themselves:

1. There may be some primitive taboo against it—something the missionaries haven't discovered.

2. The Eskimos may so exhaust themselves roaming the country in search of caribou that all initiative is gone.

Eskimos will eat fish given to them by a white man and feed it to their dogs. But hungry themselves, and with their dogs starving, they do not fish.

In any case, no fish—and no food of the white man—seems to give them the energy obtained from meat. The record indicates that most epidemics have attacked the natives when there has been a meat shortage. That is the case this year, with some 100 Eskimos so far stricken by measles.

Millbrook Cadets Hold Dance, Euchre

MILLBROOK, April 15 (ENS) —The cadet corps of the Continuation School sponsored a euchre and dance in the Armouries on Thursday evening in aid of their $500 objective for the Millbrook-Cavan arena fund. The ladies' high score prize in euchre was won by Mrs. A. M. Adams of Cavan, and the low score went to Mrs. Ron. Palmer. The men's high score prize went to Delbert Olan and the low to M. Wideman. Delbert Olan was also the winner in the draw for the money doll. He is donating the $25 in which the doll was dressed to the general arena fund.

The school arena fund cleared $70 from the euchre and dance, and $123 from the sale of tickets on the doll.

Laurence Winslow's orchestra played for the dance. The committee in charge of refreshments consisted of Miss Kent, Margaret Aiken and Irene Trick.

Mrs. L. H. Winslow had as guests Dr. and Mrs. Harold Worton, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. O'Toole, and Mr. and Mrs. Allin Winslow, and Martin Winslow, all of Peterborough.

At the 91st convention of the Grand Lodge of the LOBA for Ontario East, held in Cobourg this week, Mrs. David Lunn of Millbrook was elected Director of Ceremonies for the Grand Lodge.

Marmora Chamber Asks For Fish Fry

MARMORA, April 15 (ENS)—The monthly dinner meeting of the Marmora District Chamber of Commerce was held in the Royal Hotel on Thursday with president Alex Fraser in the chair. Young conducted two quiz contests in which honors went to Carl Heath and C. H. Buskard.

Wesley Downs, second vice-president, of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture was to have been the guest speaker. In his inability to be present, he had secured Frank Tummon, field man for the Federation for Hastings County. The latter, introduced by Reeve Irwin McCoy of Marmora township, gave his hearers an insight into some of the work of the Federation and introduced Philip Flagler of the Belleville radio station, who presented a tape recording of a part of a speech given in Belleville recently by V. T. Milburn, secretary-manager of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture.

Offers Traviata At The Centre

Harry Yudin is bringing to the Centre Theatre Wednesday, April 26 Verdi's "La Traviata" with an excellent cast starring the Italian beauty and soprano, Nellie Corradi. On the same program for music lovers of the city and district is the Saddler Wells ballet of England, which toured the main cities of Canada and the United States this winter. The ballet is in technicolor.

Traviata is based on Dumas's romance The Lady of the Camellias. The story unfolds in English. The first showing of this picture of Verdi's melodic grand operas in New York began a series of tributes from audiences on both sides of the border.

Music and chorus of the Rome Opera House provide the background of La Traviata. This is one of the series of grand opera programs which Mr. Yudin offered to the public during the winter on the cultural side of the ordinary business of the theatre. He has seen this program himself and recommends to music lovers with confidence as one of them rather than as the manager of the house in which it is to be shown.

Fire Damage Slight To CNR Work Car

CAMPBELLFORD, April 15 — (ENS). — Fire damaged a work car of the Canadian National Railway on a siding of Charles W. Godden Lumber Company in Campbellford late Friday afternoon. The Campbellford Fire Department responded promptly and with the use of chemicals, had the fire out shortly.

The fire was apparently caused from an overheated stove pipe passing through the wooden roof of the car. Firemen had to chop holes in the roof to get at the blaze. There was little damage to the interior of the car.

Many solutions for the Doukhobor problem have been offered in the past. They have ranged from expulsion from Canada to internment for all members of the Sons of Freedom.

Use As Basis

The reports, received by Labor Minister Mitchell this week, were placed today before the disputants in the deadlocked wage-hour negotiations in the hope that they could be used to form the basis of renewed discussions.

It was anticipated that the railways would be more favorably disposed than the unions to negotiate on the basis of the findings, since in each case the majority report was signed by the railway representative on the three-man board, along with the chairman, Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson of the Supreme Court of British Columbia.

Minority reports by the labor representatives in each case differed sharply from those of the majority.

In the case of the biggest group of unions—15 international bodies representing 90,000 members — the labor member wrote an opinion declaring full implementation should be given to their demand for the same-pay 40-hour week plus a seven-cents-an-hour increase. He was Alfred J. Wickens, K.C., of Calgary.

Shorter Week

The Labor member on the board dealing with the requests of two all-Canadian unions with 34,000 members—James A. Coote, of Montreal—turned down the union demand for a general pay increase but went part of the way with the unions on the shorter week.

He recommended the 44-hour week without reduction in take-home pay. Mr. Coote also approved the principle of the railways checking off union dues as sought by the all-Canadian unions.

The all-Canadian unions involved are the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, with some 30,000 members, and the Brotherhood of Express Employees, with 4,000 members, both affiliates of the Canadian Congress of Labor.

The 15 international unions, all affiliated with the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and some with the American Federation of Labor, have 90,000 members.

While their combined membership is 124,000, the boards calculated that—on the assumption that the railways would extend any concessions to other employees—these would involve about 139,000 workers.

For the union employees alone, they suggested, the proposed shortened working week would involve around $19,000,000 a year, though the unions had contended it would be much less. This stacked up against railway estimates of some $84,000,000 as the cost of the whole wage-increase, short-hour project put up by the unions.

The majority reports suggested that a wage increase of such scope would throw rail wages out of line with those in other Canadian industries.

They declared railway workers who had increases since 1939 of $88.57 a month, noting that the 17-cents-an-hour wage hoist they got in the summer of 1948 had averaged out to $35.36 a month.

Red Chinese Get Foothold On Hainan

HONG KONG, April 15 — (Reuters)—More than 3,000 Communists have gained a foothold on the Nationalist island of Hainan off the South China coast, travellers arriving from Hoichow, Hainan capital, reported Friday.

The travellers included some of Chiank Kai-shek's former officers who said the Nationalist military position on Hainan was hopeless. Military and administrative headquarters were being transferred to Yulin on the island's south coast, they added.

China Nationals Make Plans To Repulse Reds

TAIPEI, Formosa, April 15 — (AP)—Moves to checkmate expected Chinese Communist invasion attempts against Hainan and Chushan islands were believed discussed today at a meeting of Nationalist military chiefs.

(Dispatches from Red Canton to Wah Kiu Yat Po, Hong Kong independent Chinese daily, indicated an early showdown on the fate of Hainan, big Nationalist island 10 miles off south China. It said Mao Tze-tung, boss of Red China, was reported to have set the end of June as the deadline for completing the invasion.

(The paper reported these straws in the invasion wind: Red steamship en route from Canton to Portuguese Macao—the seventh seizure Thursday of a small vessel they have grabbed recently for invasion use; large Red troop movements, including a Manchurian army, through Canton to the south; continued firing practice by Red troops in Canton's suburbs; orders to students of south China university to end their spring semester ahead of schedule to go on active Red army duty.)

Nationalist naval headquarters said its warships played a major role in foiling the latest Communist invasion thrust at Hainan a week ago. It claimed the warships sank 175 Red junks, killed or wounded 3,852 Communists and took 255 prisoners.

Press reports said Feng Pai-chu leader of Red guerrillas on Hainan had been captured by a group of his own men and turned over to the Nationalists. There was no official confirmation.

The session of Nationalist armed forces commanders was with President Chiang Kai-shek. In addition to probably considering his defence of Chushan, Nationalist air and naval base 100 miles southeast of Shanghai, the meeting was believed to consider how to cope with the Communists' fledgling air force.

Dominion Drama Festival Faces Internal Trouble

By ALBERT HUNTER

MONTREAL, April 15 —(CP)— The Dominion Drama Festival, Canada's only major bilingual theatre competition, may have to change the rules to keep peace in its regional "families."

For the second straight year, the regional elimination contests throughout Canada have been marked by dissension and controversies which Montreal drama authorities claim, are traceable to Dominion Festival regulations.

Hostile to Adjudicator

This year, for example the Western Quebec competition was clouded by an open antipathy toward the regional adjudicator, Britain's Maxwell Wray, whose methods of criticism caused much concern in both French and English drama circles.

The hubbub here last month did not assume the scope of the 1949 festival controversy which developed from Saskatchewan's lack of representation in the finals at Toronto. But the effects may be more resounding.

Withdrawal from festival activitiy by les Compagnons de Saint Laurent—one of Canada's top drama groups and probably the country's best French-language company—is indicative of a rift in the unity of the festival's twin cultures.

Montreal Group

Since 1947 when les Compagnons captured the Bessborough trophy at London, Ont., as Canada's outstanding amateur drama group, another top-ranking local company, the Montreal Repertory Theatre, has refrained from entering the Festival, and Miss Doreen Lewis, the personable director of the MRT, says there are "many reasons" for such action.

"The Dominion Drama Festival should be just that—a festival—and not a competition," she said, but declined to elaborate.

The 1950 Dominion festival will be in Calgary May 8-13.

The withdrawal of Les Compagnons was announced recently by Rev. Emile Legault, director of the group and chairman of the Western Quebec Drama Region, one of 13 throughout the country.

In stating that his company has "no further interest" in the Dominion Festival under its present set-up, Father Legault referred to the system whereby eight entries are selected from all regions for competition in the finals. The regional adjudicator recommends what he considers the "best" entries and may, if he so decides, select several from one region and by-pass another.

Ceased to Be Representative

Father Legault claims that, under such a setup, the festival "has ceased to represent a standard of Canadian drama."

There is a strong feeling here that the festival should include one entry from each province, with an impartial adjudicator selecting the play he considers of sufficient merit for the finals.

Father Legault, and other members of the French-English Western Quebec Festival Committee, also contend that regional officials of the Dominion Drama Festival should have "more say" in determining the over-all policies of the major theatre event in Canada's cultural life.

Canadian Actors Making Mark Along Broadway

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, April 15 (CP)— Canada's contribution to the realm of acting has been ably proved on the Broadway stage during this now-waning season of 1949-50.

Several top-flight Canadian-born actors appeared in leading roles. One of them, Gene Lockhart, is still going strong as the central character in "Death of a Salesman."

Lockhart, a versatile stage and screen performer who was born in London, Ont., took over last autumn the part of Willy Loman, the baffled and unhappy salesman who turns to suicide when personal problems overwhelm him. He succeeded Lee J. Cobb, who created the role.

A glance at the records show some of the others who were in the spotlight—some briefly, some at length.

Raymond Massey, originally from Toronto, figured in a double capacity in a revival of Strindberg's "The Father." He directed the production and played the title part—that of a man driven to insanity by a malevolent wife in a battle for control over their only daughter.

Ballet Triumph

In the field of ballet, too, there was acclaim for a Canadian. Toronto-born Melissa Hayden was warmly saluted by New York critics for her work as one of the leading dancers of the New York city ballet.

Alexander Knox, whose birthplace is Strathroy, Ont., played the leading role in a melodrama of which he also was the author. The play, "The Closing Door," had its chilling moments in unfolding the experiences of a mentally deranged man, but failed to catch on with the public and closed after a brief run.

The sprightly revue, "Touch And Go," served as a vehicle for the talents of Toronto-born George Hall. Hall was one of the featured performers in a cast of young and enthusastic players.

Allyn McLerie, a graceful young dancer and a native of Grand'Mere, Que., has just left the New York scene after being around since last summer in the musical, "Miss Liberty." The popular production closed its Manhattan run last Saturday after 308 performances.

Goodbye To "Sleep"

"Now I Lay Me Down to Sleep" closed last Saturday after a run of 44 performances at the Broadhurst Theatre. The comedy-drama, staged by Hume Cronyn was a victim of falling receipts. Adapted from the book by Ludwig Bemelmans and co-starring Fredric March and his wife Florence Eldridge, "Sleep" had its premier Jan. 31 in London, Ont., Cronyn's birthplace.

HARD AGROUND—A 40-mile gale this week drove the schooner-rigged yacht Edna Elaine ashore near Oak Bay in suburban Victoria, BC. Here owner Jack Smith and a companion are seen wedging timber and tires between the boat and the rocks. The 39-foot yacht was badly holed but was refloated later in the week. It was built in Nova Scotia and shipped to the west coast by rail.

University Students Seeking Employment

TORONTO, April 15 (CP) — Jobs seeking begins in earnest next month when 14,000 students of the University of Toronto finish examinations.

Of the total 4,000 are graduates with an eye to permanent employment, and 10,000 undergraduates are listed as potential summer employment seekers. However, placement officers are confident all students who want jobs will get them.

"There aren't as many jobs as last year, but there is no shortage," said Elizabeth Carroll, University Women's Placement Officer of the National Employment Service.

Christian Faith Missions Linked

MILLBROOK, April 15 (ENS) —The Easter meeting of St. Andrew's United W.M.S. was held Wednesday at the home of Mrs H. R. Edmunds. Mrs. Matchett, president, was in the chair. The devotional period was taken by Mrs. Fred Smith with Miss Augusta Clarry at the piano.

The special speaker was the Rev. A. A. Chate of St. Thomas Anglican church. He took as his topic "Why I Believe in Missions" and he stated that it was impossible to be a Christian and to be interested in mission. He said it was never a question of how much money should be given to God, but rather how much of God's money people were entitled to keep for their own use.

Miss Augusta Thornton, supply secretary, reported that three cartons of good used clothing had been shipped for European relief.

Greetings were read from Miss Eva Hansman of Peterborough. Miss Hansman enclosed a $5 donation in memory of her sister Mrs. H. W. Johnston, who had been choir leader of St. Andrew's and member of the W. M. S.

Mrs. Edmunds passed candy assisted by Mrs. Ridge.

Difficult To Catch A Cold British Scientists Find

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, April 15 (CP)—The common cold is in the news again, but its cause and cure still baffle British scientists.

Sometimes, it seems, it's just as hard to catch a cold when you want to as it is not to when you don't.

In one experiment, only one of 19 persons caught a cold when put into close contact with a cold sufferer.

People with the sniffles, therefore, can expect little solace from tests now being carried out by Britain's Medical Research Council. The council is so confused by conflicting reports on the value of anti-cold drugs that it has ordered an investigation.

Wide Experiments

Experiments are being held in factories, civil service establishments and other institutions. Volunteers are asked to report when they have a cold and to take tablets. Research men check on their progress the next week.

Investigation has been going on for several years at the Common Cold Research Unit at Harvard Hospital in Salisbury, where volunteers—housewives, students, even honeymoon couples—receive board, lodging and pocket money in return for the dubious privilege of submitting themselves to the cold virus.

Reports are not encouraging. Dr. W. H. Bradley, Medical Officer at the Ministry of Health confesses the common cold is so cantakerous that "when we want colds to spread for experimental purposes, they won't."

Standard Methods

Chilling by itself won't bring on a cold—not even when the volunteers are given a hot bath, forced to stand in a draughty passage half an hour without drying themselves and then to wear wet stockings.

While the scientists go on trying, the last word has been spoken on the English variety of cold. A British scientist, arriving in London after being marooned in the Antarctic for three years, commented that "we did get colds, but not like those in England."

Which moved the Manchester Guardian to poetry:

"'We did get colds, but not like those in England.'

"Respectfully the pious tribute rings;

"As well it might, for colds as caught in England

"Are unsurpassed and catastrophic things.

"All other kinds are matters for pooh-poohing.

"From long experience, we can tell you flat.

"There are no colds like those of England's brewing.

"We hold the copyright. And that is that."

Honour To Toronto

Whatever hard things we denizens of the provincial cities may say about Toronto from time to time, we all take off our hats to that city as the musical capital of Canada. Toronto has, for more than fifty years, given the most sympathetic and intelligent understanding to music of all kinds, and in its Symphony Orchestra, its Mendelssohn Choir and its Royal Conservatory (which has now added to itself an admirable Opera School) it has the three finest musical aggregations in the country. It is inevitable for these reasons that whatever attention is given in Canada to the bicentenary of the death of Johann Sebastian Bach should have its chief manifestation in Toronto. Next week Toronto is to have a Bach Festival, sponsored by the Mendelssohn Choir, and in six performances a number of representative works by Bach will be given. It is a happy coincidence that the Festival should have the backing of a choir named in honour of Felix Mendelssohn, for no musician was more active than Mendelssohn in rescuing the works of Bach from the comparative obscurity into which they sank soon after his death.

* * *

We shall not attempt to say anything of the genius of Bach here. He was, perhaps, the greatest of all musicians not only in his technical resources but in the power and scope of his inspiration. The spell of his greatness is not felt by all, and understandably so. If we ever feel inclined to look down upon people who do not appreciate Bach we must recall that many of the ablest musicians of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries were deaf to his beauties. His polyphonic style of composition was unsympathetic to the spirit of their time; they demanded, and got, emotion in their music. Sometimes it was great emotion, as in the symphonies of Beethoven, and sometimes it was emotion sliding perilously near to mawkishness and self-pity, as in some of the works of Tschaikowsky. But it was always emotion, with the limitations and the intensely personal quality of emotion. Bach was not, in this sense, an emotional composer. Deep feeling is at the root of all his finest work, but it is feeling which has been refined and also enlarged until it transcends personality. At times he could, in the phrase of our musical columnist Peter Piper, work the "contrapuntal sewing-machine" as mercilessly as anybody, but his off-days were few.

* * *

Bach is pre-eminently worthy of honour. Toronto is about to honour him in a fashion which, if we may judge from the program, is eminently worthy of Bach. Let us, therefore, as Canadians give thanks for Toronto, which gives us some of our best laughs, and also many of our finest Canadian achievements in the world of the arts.

The Bible As A Classic In Literature

The Gallup Poll, which asks so many odd questions, has recently asked one which has brought an even odder answer. The question was: Can you name the four Gospels of the New Testament? In Britain one person in four was unable to name any of them; only 61 per cent. of those asked could name them all. In the U.S.A. two in every four could not name a single Gospel; only 35 in every 100 could name them all. What, we wonder, would the result of such an enquiry be in Canada?

There is no reason to doubt that the Bible is not read as widely in this century as it was in the century past. The nineteenth century was the great age of family worship and private study of the Scriptures. The eighteenth century was less enthusiastic in this respect; the seventeenth—excepting the scripture-searching Puritans—less enthusiastic still. But the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries were ages of church-going; even the gallants of the court of Charles II were fairly regular attendants at church; there they heard the Bible read according to the system of lessons appointed by the Church of England.

Although many churches are crowded every Sunday, this cannot be called a church-going age. Many people profess a high regard for Christianity, but consider it so simple in essence that they need neither Bible nor church to guide them; others profess a frank lack of interest in matters of religion. And it is clear that this is not an age in which the Bible is widely read, for any writer who inserts a Biblical allusion into his work, and anyone who makes a Biblical reference in a public speech, is likely to find that he has not been understood.

It is strange indeed to meet intelligent, seemingly well-educated people who look blankly at a speaker who refers to "the handwriting on the wall" or "the hand of Esau", but even these commonplaces of Biblical reference are strange to many. How they escape some knowledge of the best known parts of the Bible is a mystery, but it is apparent that they do, and without reference to the religious teachings contained in parts of the Bible, this ignorance is a great gap in their general cultivation.

Educators today often lay stress upon the failure of our educational systems to provide us with a solid foundation of traditional wisdom, and a touchstone by which apparently new ideas may be tried. A classical education provides such a foundation, but classical education is out of fashion at present, and few people know Latin or Greek. But the Bible comprises in itself a classical literature, and a treasury of the wisdom of one of the great peoples of the earth—the Hebrews. We possess a translation of this classical literature into noble English. And yet we neglect this treasure. Why?

Partly, perhaps, because too many people in the past have insisted that all parts of the Bible are of equal value, and that it must be read in a state of mind in which all judgement is suspended. Partly, perhaps, because it has been abused by theological disputants who search it for texts with which to knock their opponents on the head. Partly, perhaps, because the modern pampered reader likes larger type than most Bibles show, and is confused by italics, Oriental exaggerations, references to outworn agricultural implements and to ceremonies which he does not understand. The Bible is not for the tender-minded; it does not yield up its sweets to intellects fed upon the condensed milk of modern digests or books-of-the-month. It is a classical literature, and classical literatures are not for triflers; the modern reader has every temptation to be a trifler, and his days on the earth are as a shadow.

To ask that the Bible be taught in schools is not to remedy the modern ignorance of it. School books are not the books we read in later life. To study it as a classical literature, with all the riches that a classical literature can yield, is a task for adult minds.

Beating The Tax

The deadline for filing income tax returns is the last day of this month. As we have already suggested, the tax should not be so painful this year because of tax reductions made in the 1949 budget and refunds possible thereby. The more painful the duty, the more it tends to be put off, therefore this year the returns may be made earlier, without the last-minute rushes.

While we have the subject in mind, we permit ourself to recall the case of a farmer heard last week in a Lethbridge court. The poor fellow had tried to beat the tax-gatherers for some five years; he made false statements on his returns. Despite his now having paid the total of his evasions, together with penalties, he was fined $1,500. It is not easy to beat the tax-gatherers. They may be slow in finding out skulduggery, but somehow (and with the large army of them to ferret) they do uncover the best-laid plots.

Would the Lethbridge farmer have escaped notice had he had a good accountant prepare his tax forms? Well, no honest accountant will draw up false statements for a client; the best he will do is to make sure that all exemptions are applied for, and that the returns are accurately computed. Mr. Cardy of the Cardy Hotels, a millionaire who could hire the best figurers in the country, had a recent expensive bout with the Foreign Exchange Control Board—and lost.

The Marchbanks Correspondence

To Haubergeon Hydra, Esq.
Dear Mr. Hydra:

May I ask you, as Deputy-Chief Licenser of Radio Receiving Sets and Authorizer of Hearing Aids (trumpet, black box and invisible earpiece division) to lend an ear to this plea from a small but noisy minority of Canadian radio listeners? Don't entirely desert the common type of radio as soon as you have perfected television. We like it, just as a few of us still like silent movies.

There is intimacy and mystery about what I may call "blind" radio. During Holy Week, for instance, I listened to the whole of Bach's "Matthew Passion" on my set. Apart from the magnificence of the music I had a variety of other delights. There was, for instance, a good deal of excitable talking in the background, seemingly in Portuguese. Some South Americans who had discovered bananas in a refrigerator? I shall never know. I presume that the microphone was hung directly over the performers, for once I heard an unmistakeable belch of the type which my keen ear leads me to attribute to a double-bass player. There was an odd rhythmic clashing, too, which I think may have been the harpsichordist's dentures. And as usual there were the thumps and bangs occasioned by people turning lights on and off in my own house.

Will television have these added delights? Will South American faces suddenly invade the screen, yammering? Will telecasts of concerts give closeups of instrumentalists in their unbuttoned moments? I fear that a passion for decorum which has not entirely conquered radio will be the ruin of television. For we are, on this continent, far more sensitive to what we see than to what we hear.

Yours for the roughnesses of radio.
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

To Samuel Marchbanks, Esq.
Dear Mr. Marchbanks:

Looking at some gramophone records recently I found one called "Favourite American Songs", and the first one was "Home, Sweet Home". I was somewhat surprised to find this piece, written by Sir Henry Rowley Bishop (1786-1855), annexed by the U.S.A. It appeared in his opera "Clari, the Maid of Milan" at Covent Garden in 1823, and so far as I can discover, was not heard in America until some time later. Personally I dislike the piece very much, for owing to the many calls which my wife has upon her time my home is perhaps the most unpleasant place I know.

Yours for more and better clubs.
WAGHORN WITTOL.

To Raymond Cataplasm, M.D., F.R.C.P.
Dear Dr. Cataplasm:

I really think it is time the Medical Association took some notice of my services to science. My re-discovery of diseases from which humanity no longer suffers proceeds apace.

My latest revival is The Morphew, a disease which appears to have disappeared, under that name at any rate, since the eighteenth century. It is described by those who treated it as "a leprous or scurvy eruption", and sounds rather like the results after a first experiment with an electric razor. I expect it was caused by dirt; so many of the diseases of our ancestors were.

Here is a pretty point: if physical dirt can cause disease, can mental dirt also do so? I recall that the chaplain at my school used to tell us that boys who told dirty jokes would grow to look like dirty jokes. Now it is a painful fact that in all walks of life, and in every profession, one encounters people who look like dirty jokes. Is this caused, do you suppose, by a kind of Mental Morphew?

Your perennial patient,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

To Samuel Marchbanks, Esq.
Dear Sam:

The other day I was looking at the Modern Library edition of Boswell's "Life of Dr. Samuel Johnson", and in the Preface it was said that the inclusion of that book in that particular library of reprints awarded it "an accolade of modernity".

What a base passion our age has for pretending that whatever is good is necessarily "modern". What a depraved appetite we have for mere contemporaneity. How old Samuel Johnson would have snorted at the idea that a classic—particularly a classic about himself—was in some way ennobled by being declared the contemporary of the Wettums Doll, sliced, wrapped bread, and the singing telegram! This is an age without humility.

Your aggrieved,
AMYAS PILGARLIC.

To Amyas Pilgarlic, Esq.
Dear Pil:

I have spent part of Easter Sunday reading "The Great Divorce" by C. S. Lewis. If you haven't read it, I recommend it as an excellent book about Heaven and Hell. But without illustrations. I feel that this is a real lack.

When I was a child there was in my home a strange book, the name of which I have forgotten, devoted to a detailed description of what evil doers and worldly choosers might expect in the hereafter. It was bountifully and imaginatively illustrated with pictures of the damned being fried, grilled, toasted, fricasseed, barbecued, boiled and pressure-cooked by nimble little black devils with tails and disagreeable expressions. Since then I have read many speculations about Hell, including those of Dante, but none has impressed me so deeply. Another childhood book of mine was a Bible with Dore's illustrations including some which I think he made originally for "Paradise Lost". And Dore's Devil will be my Devil forever—the humourless, malignant infinitely sad winged creature; if we should ever meet he will not, I am sure, understand me at all, and to be misunderstood in Hell would be more terrible than to be understood through and through. This is a mighty persuasion to grace, and accounts for my lifelong circumspection.

Yours apprehensively,
SAM.

To Samuel Marchbanks, Esq.
Dear Mr. Marchbanks:

The coming of spring means a new season of activity for The United Female Front, of which I am Perpetual President. The aim of this society is to unite the female front by putting down the two-piece bathing suit, by supplying pieces of fabric to females who appear in same, and by insisting that all advertisements and illustrations showing such garments be altered in accordance with our wishes. The U.F.F. will fight upon the beaches, in the summer resorts, and on the billboards; we shall never surrender. Contributions of money or heavy fabrics for this great work are urgently solicited.

Your affronted,
(MRS.) KEDIJAH SCISSORBILL.

OLIVER WITH A NEW TWIST

Wisdom Of The Ford Company And Its Workers

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

ANY threat to production which existed because of pension demands by unions at the great Windsor plant of the Ford Motor Company of Canada vanished for at least five years with the announcement of a compromise, in which each side gave ground; the workers accepted a slash in both the pension amount and the period of years required for eligibility, and the company accepted the principle of non-contributory pensions, which leaves the union in a favourable position for re-negotiation at the date provided in the agreement, which may be at the end of five years.

Whatever may be thought of the terms of the agreement, there can be nothing but admiration for the manner in which it was reached. Either party, or both, could have precipitated a work stoppage by stubborn insistence on its demands or rejection of demands. That has happened on more than one occasion, in the automotive as well as in many other labour fields. And such occurrences have cost organized labour untold millions of dollars that might have been earned as wages, as they have cost industry untold millions of dollars in lost production. In the great majority of all cases, the loss was incurred futilely, for neither side won all the points demanded or succeeded in rejecting all the points originally rejected.

We have consistently argued that the sensible method of dealing with disputes between labour and management is for the workers to go on working while their agents negotiate with the representatives of the particular industry involved. Except in cases of extreme intransigence on one side or another, results as favourable as those produced by actual use of the strike weapon are usually achieved. Men who are willing to sit down and discuss issues, genuinely desiring to reach an amicable settlement, seldom fail to devise a solution acceptable to both parties.

That was obviously the situation in the Ford discussions. The management clearly desired to go as far as it felt it could in meeting the pension demands of the workers; just as clearly, the workers had no desire to force a work stoppage on management by insistence on their demands. The net result was a compromise acceptable to both, with no loss of revenue to either through suspended wages or production. The incident provides an example which might well be emulated in other labour disputes.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith; who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God.

For consider him that endured such contradiction of sinners against himself, lest ye be wearied and faint in your minds . . . For ye are not come unto the mount that might be touched, and that burned with fire, not unto blackness, and darkness, and tempest, and the sound of a trumpet, and the voice of words.

But yet are come unto mount Sion, and unto the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem, and to an innumerable company of angels, to the general assembly and church of the firstborn, which are written in heaven, and to God the Judge of all, and to the spirits of just men made perfect, and to Jesus the mediator of the new covenant, and to the blood of sprinkling, that speaketh better things than that of Abel. (Heb. 12: 1, 3, 18, 19, 22-24.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Now we know that whatsoever things the law saith, it saith to them that are under the law: that every mouth may be stopped, and all the world may become guilty before God. Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin.

But now the righteousness of God without the law is manifested, being witnessed by the law and the prophets . . . For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God. (Rom. 3: 19-21, 23.)

✧ ✧ ✧

For until the law sin was in the world: but sin is not imputed when there is no law. Nevertheless death reigned from Adam to Moses, even over them that had not sinned after the similitude of Adam's transgression, who is the figure of him that was to come . . .

For if by one man's offence death reigned by one; much more they which receive abundance of grace and of the gift of righteousness shall reign in life by one, Jesus Christ. (Rom. 5: 13, 14, 17.)

'Like A Ghost!

Some senators don't put in much time in the Senate because they can't be bothered, some because they aren't physically able. Missing from the attendance roll most days, for the latter reason, is the name of Sir Allen B. Aylesworth, yet on one or two occasions during the present session he was in attendance. His name appears on the Senate record for February 22, for instance, and is like a ghost from Canada's dim past.

Aylesworth is 13 years older than Canada.

He was a member of the famous Alaska Boundary Tribunal of 1903, which cost Canada a large part of the northern British Columbia coastline.

He was a Federal cabinet minister three years before Mackenzie King.

He represented Canada at the funeral of King Edward VII in 1910.

He pronounced the tribute to Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the Liberal convention in 1919.

He was the author of the Lord's Day Act.

Stock Market Still Bulling After 9 Months

By The Canadian Press

The nine-month-old bull market on stock exchanges received a strong push into new high ground this week.

Business boomed as prices climbed steadily in continuation of an almost uninterrupted advance that started last June.

Buying, however, was more selective. Individual stocks and groups of stocks received most of the market play.

Considerable profit-taking sales had to be absorbed. Brokers report that there are many eager buyers waiting for an opportunity to get into the market and these quickly absorbed offerings.

Some houses say that there is a shortage of offerings in better-class common stocks. Investors are tucking away their purchases into portfolios. The speculative factor to date has had very little effect on the advance.

Buying Carefully

Buyers now are looking carefully to better yields. Many comparatively low-priced industrials have received play at times.

Canadian oil stocks were in strong demand in New York Monday, while Canadian exchanges continued their four-day Easter weekend.

Late selling Tuesday pushed a small list of issues fractionally lower. An upward movement picked up steam steadily Wednesday, carrying the Wall Street board into new high price territory but profit-taking sales held the market in check Thursday and yesterday.

The Associated Press 60-stock average closed yesterday at 76.5, a gain of .5 from a week ago Thursday.

Canadian industrial markets forged ahead of Wall Street in four busy sessions.

Oils Heavy

In Toronto, Imperial Oil, Ltd., held the spotlight early in the week as oil stocks traded heavily but papers, utilities, liquors and constructions soon caught fire and the list rolled ahead for a gain of 5.43 on the exchange's index of representative issues.

Base metal issues climbed into new high ground for the year. Traders picked carefully among the lower-priced stocks and carried the list ahead for a gain of 3.20 over the four days.

Golds bounced down and up closing steady. The penny prospects continued in the limelight. A comparatively large number of option and underwriting agreements for financing development work on small properties were announced giving a lift to streeters' gambling instincts. The index added .06.

Volume for the four days was 11,615,000 shares, the busiest in months and compared with 9,292,000 shares for four days the previous week.

Grain markets showed little change from last Saturday. In Chicago May rye dipped while soybeans gained. In Winipeg, rye was also down with May oats and barley gaining fractions.

Belleville Girl Rushed To Toronto Hospital

TORONTO, April 15 (CP) — The two-day old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Martin was in critical condition Friday night in the Hospital For Sick Children after a 110-mile ambulance trip from Belleville.

Suffering what doctors described as a rare obstruction of the esophagus, the infant was put in an oxygen tent on arrival here. Only one stop was made in the trip from Belleville, at Trenton, where oxygen was administered directly to the child.

Keep Developing Canada Resources

TORONTO, April 15 (CP) — Resources Minister Winters said Friday night that continued development of Canada's natural resources is the best insurance against any possible recurrence of "the depressed 'thirties."

Such development represented "a pillar of prosperity and bulwark against depression."

In a speech prepared for delivery to the Advertising and Sales Club of Toronto, Mr. Winters attributed Canada's present high standard of living to the country's natural resources and to the people who have made use of them.

Summer Hotel Burns Loss Set At $75,000

NORTHBROOK, Ont., April 15 (CP)—Fire Friday destroyed the Hermitage Hotel, exclusive summer resort on Mazinaw Lake 14 miles north of this Lennox and Addington county village, causing $75,000 damage.

William Maloney, retired business man of Niagara Falls, N. Y., and owner of the hotel, lost $800 in cash. The fire is believed to have started in the basement. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Northbrook is 40 miles northeast of Belleville.

TOWN OF DEATH—One of France's saddest mementoes of the German occupation is the national memorial of Oradour-sur-Glane, which was destroyed by fire, house by house, when all but five of the population were massacred. TOP is a complete view of all that remains of the village of 600 after the Germans burned the houses with grenades. The church where the women and children were burned alive is in the upper left corner. A closeup of the entrance to the village, showing the ruined street, is seen LOWER.

Visit to Village of Dead, 600 Massacred By Nazis

By JEAN STENTON

Few people have visited the little village of Oradour-sur-Glane, in the Limoges region, without tears. For it is a pilgrimage to a village of the dead.

Oradour is the Lidice of France. But its difference lies in the fact that the French Government has decreed that the burned ruins will stand completely unchanged as a permanent memorial to one of the most evil and cruel acts the Germans committed in their country. The only thing which has been moved in this stark scene of destruction, are the remains of the 600 residents and refugees.

Jean Stenton

At the entrance to the village is a sign requesting that visitors remain silent in memory of the massacre. But no one who had visited there has any desire for words.

No Warning

Shortly after the Allied invasion in June 1944, the peaceful village of Oradour received an unexpected visit from eight or 10 lorries of Storm Troopers from a neighbouring town. With methodical care, they separated the men from the women and children and asked them to stand on the square. The women and children were moved to the other side near the church.

As the peaceful summer sun shone down on the frightened villagers, they saw their men marched away in small groups to nearby streets and heard the shots ring out that heralded the beginning of the massacre. Today, as one passes through the grim ruins, you can see a sign reading "10 men shot here;" "25 men shot here." Only three men escaped, and they were wounded.

Only The Beginning

They gathered the rest of the population (women and children) and asked them to go into the church. There were an unusually large number of children present that day because they had come in from the neighboring areas for vaccination day. Some were refugees from other parts of the country, who had sought shelter far from the battlefields and retaliation, because of the underground fighters.

All the women and children were locked in the church and then the SS men sprayed the front of the building with machine gun fire. Hand grenades were tossed in and around and even before the flames began licking at the walls, some of the smallest children died from the gas. All the women who tried to escape from the windows were shot down by the squad. One escaped and hid in a garden and she was the sole survivor from that slaughterhouse.

As soon as the church was blazing satisfactorily, the Germans moved on and set fire to the rest of the village, house by house.

When news of the disaster spread to nearby villages, the people came to help. But there was nothing to be done. On one side of the church in front of the confession altar, they found the bodies of two children wounded by machine gun fire. So intense had been the heat that one side of the huge bell had been melted. Yet on the other side of the building, a wooden confessional was still intact. They collected all the bones they could and the victims were buried in a mass grave. The only living thing in the vicinity are white flowers growing wild among the ruins.

Everything has been left exactly as the Germans left it, with the exception that the church has been cleaned. Through part of a house wall one sees a twisted range and a small baby's pram.

This is a translation of the sign at the entrance of the church:

"Silence. Here some hundreds of women and children were massacred by the Germans. When you pass, think on them. If you believe in God, say a prayer for the victims and their families."

The one woman who escaped lost her husband, son, daughter-in-law and grandchildren. It is from her, the three man and one little boy who hid in the school and escaped to the field that the horrible details have been learned.

When news of the terrible act were learned, the Germans shrugged and said "It was all a mistake. We got the wrong village.

But to every Frenchman, it will always be an act of pure evil, quite in keeping with the record of that branch of the Nazi services.

France will remember Oradour.

Peterborough people have done a great job of selling the Kawarthas over the past several years on the strength of our fishing attraction. But they have put all their eggs in one basket. Travel and Publicity people have proven in cold statistics that a far greater percentage than one supposes, come to see the sights, to be entertained in a "foreign" country. We in Peterborough have not taken this into consideration. In consequence we may find other centres attracting and holding tourists unless we do something about it, smartly.

A few long-sighted businessmen have seen this threat and have sounded a warning. So far, it has fallen on deaf ears. I have before me the copy of a letter written by a prominent businessman three years ago to the city fathers which pointed out the fallacy of overplaying our fishing. He listed suggestions that could be readily adopted. None of them are beyond possibility if there is a spark of public spirit in us. Here they are:

• • • •

Other Fish For Tourists To Fry

A shirt-sleeve bonspiel to be held for one week at the curling club to allow both visiting American men and women to participate in the Roarin' Game, as a novelty. At the same time, and in the same building, a flower show could be held using the cool climate of the rink to ensure longer life for blooms. This could be a combined effort of the curling club and horticultural society.

A power and small-craft regatta on Clear Lake, large enough to attract big name racers such as Harold Wilson and Guy Lombardo, could be organized. If Clear is not large enough, Rice Lake has ample room. Picton attracted Wilson, why can't Peterborough?

Let us have golf tournaments for visiting Americans. We have two clubs that could work on this.

• • • •

Band concerts are a great attraction. We have a new shell at Nicholls Oval that would admirably suit the RCAF training command band or the RCMP unit, currently playing here. Both bands are tops and distinctively Canadian.

The Peterborough Summer Theatre is already an established feature and could be further, and much more widely publicized, as a tourist attraction.

The list of what we could do is endless; international swimming meets in the new Lions pool at Riverside, lacrosse at Miller Bowl, a canoe derby.

If we think our Centennial Year celebrations are going to take the place of any of the above proposed attractions for this summer season, let us remember, in Peterborough, that other Canadian centres are holding similar affairs.

A Plug For Symbols of Trees

Unfortunately, a tree is only a tree to most of us. If we were able to distinguish one from another, they might be more widely used as emblems. Prince Edward Island is the only province which has trees in its provincial arms, a large oak with three smaller ones underneath. Even in Army badges, trees have played no great part. Forestry battalions in both First and Second World Wars, showed a complete tree on their badges. The Strathcona Horse uses a tree symbol at the top of His Lordship's coat-of-arms. A single leaf, leaves or sprays of leaves was the most common form of Army badge decoration. Tree motifs are to be found in abundance in English heraldry with the oak most common. The borough of Tottenham, London, uses a crest displaying seven elms. Since Canada is one of the largest forest-covered areas on the globe, we should make more use of our trees in the field of design; wallpapers, fabrics, and so forth.

• • • •

A fitting tribute was paid to the late J. W. Pierce, Peterborough surveyor, in the latest lands and forests news release. It told of the excellent work done under great difficulties in the cutting of the Ontario-Manitoba provincial boundary over the years from 1912 until its completion in 1949. Mr. Pierce's son, John G., worked on the last leg of the work. Although the release points out that the story may never be written, your columnist wrote at least three running features about the project in the Examiner. They appeared about a year before the feat was recognized by metropolitan papers and radio.

Honkers In Snow-Flurry

A novel sight presented itself while coming to work by bus on Wednesday morning. A string of south-bound honkers paced the bus for several miles in a snow flurry. No doubt they turned about as soon as the squall lifted and headed north again to partly-opened lakes in the north part of the county.

• • • •

Fortunate were cottagers who were able to visit their summer estates over the Easter week-end. Many found their floating docks, though anchored to shore by wire, just about ready to take off. When lake ice starts shoving and pulling, they will vanish too. The old back-breaking chore of towing the family dock back into some quiet bay in the fall, and securing it, was a wise move. Cedar docks cost too much to risk losing them because of a careless tying-down job at cottage-closing time.

• • • •

Peterborough Kiwanians have a worthy proposition in mind. Their Harold Rehill suggested at a recent meeting that a bait-casting school be organized. They want 20 of their members to learn the art under Bill Cummings so that they, in turn, may pass the knowledge along to any number of other clubmen. It would seem that this effort is right up the alley for conservation men to jump in and assist where they can. Give Harold Rehill or Ted McKay a ring.

500 Entries For Cedar Lake Name

A contest in city and country schools to name the newly-organizing Cedar Lakes park project drew 500 replies. Although three winners and six honorable mention names were listed, the name is not official. It will be used as a guide-post when the park's board of directors is finally set up. George Davis, grade 8, Warsaw, drew first place with CEDAR LAKES PARK; Jean Veeman, Sacred Heart School, second with "Cedar View Park," and Gail Pulver of Queen Alexandra, third with "Champlain Park". The six honorable mentions chose the following names: Cedar Lake Acres, Cedar Lake Playground, Kawartha Playground, The Kawarthas' Park, Twin Cedar Lake Park and The Cedars' Park. I am in favour of keeping the "Kawartha" name in the project, somewhere.

Ladle In A Pot Of Gold

Health

O greatest of the blessed Gods,
Would I might dwell with Thee all my allotted days;
With Thee, a gracious comrade in my home.
For if one hath from heaven
The charm of wealth or children,
Or kingly power that maketh gods of men,
Or those soft longings that we hunt for with love's secret snares,
Or if in any other shape
Delight shine out upon the sons of earth
And any breathing space from toil,
If only Thou be with us, Blessed Health
All life is spring, aflame with Beauty's flower,
And none is happy without Thee.

Progress of Peterborough: XV

1,900 Irish Arrive At Scott's Plains Scenes of Wild Beauty, Lively Bustle

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M.A.

The day after he reached Kingston, Robinson loaded 500 Irish on a steamer and landed them next day, August 12, at Cobourg, causing great excitement in that hamlet of 100 people. Rev. Anson Green, Methodist preacher at Cobourg wrote: "I saw the beach west of Division Street covered with small white tents filled with Irish immigrants. . . These white tents presented a beautiful and attractive appearance. . ." District merchants, landowners and craftsmen saw a new future of growth and prosperity ahead of them. The steamer made trips weekly to bring the other emigrants from Kingston.

As heavy rains had made the road to Rice Lake impassable over the hills and ravines, Robinson's first task was to repair it so that wagons could carry baggage and provisions to the lake. "In this work I received every assistance from the district magistrates, who gave me £50 from the district funds, and this sum together with the labour of our people enabled me to improve the road in 10 days so much that our provisions and baggage could be sent across with ease; and three large boats were transported on wheels from Lake Ontario to Rice Lake. . ."

Leaving the sick at Cobourg under Dr. Reade, Robinson set off with 500 of the healthiest Irish to tramp to Sully (later Harwood) on Rice Lake, where then was only a tavern and a couple of cabins. At Sully he made the belated discovery that the water was too shallow to float his loaded boats, so that he had to spend another eight days constructing a scow 60 x 8 feet, flatbottomed and drawing only a foot or two of water when fully loaded, propelled by eight or ten men with oars and poles. Perhaps the carpenters, nailors and coopers among the Irish were of value in this work. During the Sully stop one of the immigrants ventured out on the lake in a skiff and drowned.

Robinson reported: "The first party I ascended the river with consisted of 20 men of the country hired as axemen, and 30 of the healthiest of the (Irish) settlers; not one of these men escaped the ague and fever, and two died." With hard rowing the trip to Scott's Plains could be completed in one day, but old settlers tell of an island about five miles below Peterborough, called "Robinson's Island," where some immigrants are said to have stopped overnight on the trip upriver.

Land At Peterborough.

When the scow came to the head of navigation on the Otonabee, they landed at the same spot as the Scott party five years before — at the foot of Wolfe Street, where later there was a steamboat wharf. Just to the north of it was a flat grassy area known as the "Steamboat Green" scene of much early commercial and social activity.

The first party came to Scott's Plains about September 1, and the last group about October 30, there being nearly 60 scowloads of people, provisions and goods. During the chilly autumn delay at Cobourg, in tents on the beach, one family (four persons) deserted to the United States on a schooner, while nine people were permitted to return to Montreal.

I can't help detesting my relations. I suppose it comes from the fact that none of us can stand other people having the same faults as ourselves.

Wilde: Dorian Gray

The citizens of Cobourg in the next winter testified to the Lieutenant-Governor as he passed through on a trip to the new settlements: "to the good conduct of those (Irish) settlers during their residence at Cobourg. . . a valuable acquisition to the province." One man was allowed to stay in Cobourg, and one woman joined the immigrants there, so that approximately 1,900 Irish landed in Peterborough, compared to 2,024 who started from Cork — a creditable record considering all the circumstances.

Appearance of Scott's Plains

At this point we might survey Scott's Plains before construction began in the city-to-be. The ground west of the creek to Rubidge Street and north to McDonnel Street was densely covered with pine trees, among which were a few beech and maple. Between the creek and the Otonabee the flat meadow was dotted with a few pine and oak trees, and small bushes, among which were traces of campfires left by Indians and white hunters. The soil in general was dry and gravelly, a flat terrace about 20 feet above the river, with a creek running from the northwest through the woods to enter the river at Scott's Mill near the southeast edge of the plain.

Wild animals came boldly to the streams to drink, and bears especially were numerous and troublesome to the settlers. The old Indian portage trail was beginning to lose its primeval appearance as the Smith pioneers hewed out their road allowances and travelled down to Scott's Mill with their oxen; this trail began on the bank of the Otonabee where there was a slope at the foot of the present Simcoe Street, traversed northwest to leave the townlot at the western end of Smith Street (Park Hill Road) and continued northwest through Smith township.

HONOURABLE PETER ROBINSON, in charge of the Irish immigration, and for whom Peborough was named.

The courthouse hill had a fine grove of tall oaks, a few of which still remain; the river margins down to Simcoe Street had more of these tall oaks. Willow trees lined the river, and the margins of the mill-creek were low and swampy with more willows. At the southeast corner of the present Hunter and George Streets was a low wet spot which formed a stagnant pool in wet seasons. Toward the northern edge of the townsite were a number of small hills and hedges, most of which have since been levelled off. Stunted trees, huckleberry and other bushes, and wild flowers grew in profusion all over the meadowland, and were especially plentiful on the courthouse hill.

Wild Beauty

Mrs. Stewart was enthusiastic over the wild beauty of Scott's Plains when she came in 1823, and Mrs. Traill found the scene little changed when she arrived in 1832: "I must give you some account of Peterborough, which in situation is superior to any I have yet seen in the Upper Province. . . It is situated on a fine elevated plain, just above the small lake where the river is divided by two low wooded islets. . . . These plains form a beautiful natural park, finely diversified with hill and dale, covered with a lovely greensward, enamelled with a variety of the most exquisite flowers, and groups of feathery pines, balsams, oaks, poplars and silver birches. The view from these plains are delightful, whichever way you turn your eyes. . . The plains descend with a steep declivity toward the river which rushes with considerable impetuosity. Fancy a long narrow valley separating the east and west portions of the town into two distinct villages.

"The Otonabee (east) bank rises to a loftier elevation than the Monaghan (west) side, and commands an extensive view over the intervening valley. . . There are many beautiful walks toward the Smithtown hills, and along the bank that overlooks the river. The summit of this (courthouse) ridge is sterile, and is thickly set with loose blocks of red and grey granite, interspersed with large masses of limestone scattered in every direction; they are mostly smooth and rounded, as if by the action of water. . . The oaks that grow on this high bank are rather larger and more flourishing than those in the valleys and more fertile parts. . ."

Lively Scenes

As scowload after scowload of immigrants landed, the "Plains" beside the Otonabee must have presented a lively colorful panorama. As each group landed, the men and boys were set to work by Robinson constructing rough temporary huts of slabs from the mill, bark, branches and sods, to shelter them until they could be taken to their lots. These huts were built behind the townsite on the "squatters' ground. . . in the direction of the Cavan and Emily roads," as Mrs. Traill mentioned later.

One of the Irish has left a description of the scene, written down by Laura Smithson in 1903: "On the plain beside the river might be seen the older of our number engaged in the 'discoorsin' so dear to the hearts of the Irish, while cheerily mounting to the sky were the thin blue trails of smoke issuing from our cabins, where the pretty colleens were preparing the wholesome food provided by Mr. Robinson for the 'bhoys' busy felling the giant timbers of the encircling forest. Then you might see them tripping gaily down to the river, water pitchers cleverly balanced on their pretty heads. . . Of course they weren't dressed well, they wore just homemade flannel dresses spun and dyed by their own hands; and such merry eyes of true Irish blue. Yes, my wife Kathleen was one of those very girls. . ."

Mulvaney in his 1884 history gave the other side of the picture: "But there were other and sadder sights and sounds: the mother crooning over her fever-stricken child some Irish lullaby; or at the burial of a dead son or brother, that wildest of all human cries of grief, the Irish 'keen' startling the echoes of the lonely hills. . ." All in all, however, the atmosphere must have been full of cheerful exciting activity, characteristic of the frontier boom-town.

Legionnaires Edge Brants On Vitarelli's Goal To Take Lead In Playoffs

Yanking out a 1-0 verdict over Brantford Nationals here last night, the Legionnaires took a two to one game lead in their best-of-seven OHA senior "B" final playoffs. A crowd of 2,200 saw one of the best games of the season between the well-matched squads, a tilt clean and fast all the way, with some first-rate hockey seen. It was a close-checking contest as neither side took chances, but they kept up a hot pace throughout. The next fray is Monday in Brantford.

Dootch Vitarelli got the lone goal of the game at 5.30 in the second period on a passout from Bill Crowley and that one did it. They had gone through a scoreless first frame and it began to look like one goal might settle the game. Legion hung on desperately to their narrow margin and turned in a wonderful display of fore-checking, back-checking and all-around defensive play the rest of the route. Their threats of breakaways kept the Nats worried, and it wound up at 1-0.

Fighting Display

The visitors again played sound hockey and were always a serious threat to the Ellis outfit, but Legionnaires turned in their old fighting display, along with some good hockey, to earn a close decision. They had a little more of the play over the distance and deserved their victory, but it was a close fit. They took their bumps and drew but two of the six penalties in a well-handled tussle though the checking at times was rather rugged, especially late in the second chukker.

Ross Nicholls again was unbeatable in the home cage and he had plenty of help from his defence and the three forward lines. Al Burns caught the eye with some fine blocking and body-checking all the way, and Reg Stewart was one of the best up front at back-checking, also threatening to score on a number of occasions. The whole team clicked well in a hard-fought battle that had the big crowd yelling throughout. McGrattan also turned in a fine effort in the visitors' net, and Smith was strong at the blue line. Holota, Stephen, Hnatiuk and Watson were constant threats on fast-breaking attacks, as all the Brants battled valiantly right to the last bell.

Careful Play

Play was fast, even but careful at first, with the Hill line later giving Legion an edge on the attack. Pigeon drew an interference penalty and Legion tried hard but could not hit the hemp. Later Pigeon tested Nicholls and Freddy Mortimer came close at the other end of the rink. Pigeon drew another penalty for tripping but the Nats checked well to hold off the home crew till his return. Parnell got in to make McGrattan jump, but Coombs drew a slashing penalty and Nicholls had to be good to hold out the visitors. Hill helped a lot with some swell fore-checking, and play was pretty even as the frame finished.

The Big One

Watson almost fooled Ross on an early rush in the middle heat, and then it was up and down fast and even. Finally Vitarelli raced in to bullet home at close range a passout from Bill Crowley who had torn in with the puck and went around the net to slip the disc out in front. That was the payoff right there and they got a big hand. Legion kept pressing and Freddy Mortimer and later Bert Hill had good tries only to be robbed. Stephen went over for elbowing and Vitarelli followed for boarding. All were back when Stewart tried McGrattan and Holota made Nicholls hop as it kept up fast and pretty even. Rochetta and Vitarelli were practically in the clear but out-guessed by McGrattan at the end.

Brantford went on the attack to open the third and Legion checked like leaches. They hung on desperately until Crowley scared the Nats on a breakaway that barely missed. Legion checked hard, with Stemmler coming close once, and then the Legion first line began boring in to even up territorial play more. Montgomery had McGrattan guessing to keep the bootheel out once and, with Watson off for holding, Legion again tore in hard. Near the finish the Brants were fighting into the homesters' zone and battling bitterly right down to the finish, but being checked closely by a team that finished just as strongly as their husky opponents.

Brantford: Goal, McGrattan; defence, Smith and Simpell; centre, Stephen; wings, Hnatiuk and Watson; alternates, Leconte, Campbell, Linn, Pigeon, Holota, Stemmler, Jamieson and Messmer.

Legion: Goal, Nicholls; defence, Godfrey and Burns; centre, Rochetta; wings, Vitarelli and Crowley; alternates, Parnell, F. Mortimer, Greenlaw, Hill, Coombs, Stewart, D. Mortimer and Montgomery.

Referees, J. Crombie and A. Bellemer.

Ray Barry of the Saints, who fired the shot, is seen behind Hollett. Others shown are Marcel Fillion (15) of Sherbrooke, Frank Sullivan, Al Buchanan and George Armstrong all of Toronto.

GOOD CHECKING — Reg Stewart turned in a fine back-checking game as well as fore-checking to help Legion fashion their 1-0 win over Brantford here last night as they took a 2-1 lead in the final OHA senior "B" hockey finals.

PCVS Defeated In Hoop Final

KINGSTON, April 15.—Peterborough Collegiate defending championship team met defeat in the "A" section finals when a fighting KCVI team bested them in a high scoring duel, 72-49 in the game. In doing so they wiped out a five-point lead that Peterborough was carrying from the first game. Kingston also set a new scoring record, breaking the old record of 63 points set by Cobourg in an earlier game.

Northcott was the big gun for Peterborough, hooping 18 points in the losing cause. Thompson connected for eight. Kingston held a 39-20 lead at the half but Peterborough closed the gap to 45-41 as Northcott and Thompson got red hot and Grafstein and Hall controlled the rebounds. Kingston recovered from this to speed to victory as Purcell hooped 26 points for the evening and Ron Esford notched 17. Teams:

Peterborough, 49 on the game, 54 on the round: Grafstein 6, Young 2, Cranfield, Northcott 18, Taylor 3, Thompson 12, Armstrong, Bailey, Hall 8, Sergeant.

Kingston, 72—Blair 2, Connell 6, Esford 17, Gulka 2, McDonald 4, Lyon 12, Purcell 26, Taugher 1, Dardick 2, Anglin.

Hall went out on five fouls for Peterborough and Grafstein had to retire because of his bad knee. Kingston lost four regulars via fouls.

Three cities—Vancouver, Toronto and Hamilton—applied for the 1954 British Empire Games before the April 8 deadline, but there is a possibility Montreal still may make a bid.

Ken Yost of Winnipeg, National Secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, said Friday night he is waiting to hear from Professor Robert Osborne of Vancouver, Union president, as to whether Montreal was given two weeks extension of the deadline date.

Approximately 20 AAU of C officials across Canada will vote to choose the site of the games, Yost said.

Decision is expected to be announced "around May 1."

The Vancouver Daily Province said Friday in a newspage story that Jimmy McLarnin, welterweight boxing champion in the 30s, will join boxing's "Hall of Fame" Saturday.

The story said the Vancouver boxer, now residing in California, "joins 13 ring immortals when he receives his scroll at the 7th birthday party of James J. Jeffries, former heavyweight champion."

The presentation will be made in Burbank, Calif., the Province says.

McLarnin will take his place in the Hall of Fame with Joe Louis, Jack Dempsey, Benny Leonard, and Mickey Walker, and others.

McLarnin, who once sold papers here, won the welterweight crown in March, 1933, at Los Angeles when he knocked out Corbett.

Frank Shea, rookie pitching sensation with New York Yankees in 1947, has been sold outright to Kansas City Blues of the American Association, a Yankee farm property, it was announced at New York Friday.

Shea, pestered by arm and weight trouble, the last two years has failed to live up to the promise shown in 1947, when he won 14 games while losing five. He spent part of the 1949 season with Newark in the International League.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Basketball followers can't do better tonight than take in that girls' playoff game at 7.30 in the YWCA. The provincial final in intermediate "B" between Stratford and Towne Togs, the latter having a hefty deficit to overcome with the crown at stake. They'll make it mighty close and perhaps pull out the decision with an all-out attack. Coach Hy Smith has these players ready for the big battle: Jean Vass, Jean Castle, Polly Stewart, Joan Dunk, Dot Callan, Marg Kennedy, Betty Stewart, Dot Saunders, Marg Freeman and Ruth Stewart. Results of the Black's-CGE and the PCVS games should be in elsewhere, and the men's City Loop resumes playoffs next week.

Sports scribe of London, Ont., writes: "Harness racing men aren't too happy about the new Ontario Racing Comsion. They fear they will be pushed into the background by the running horsemen, who will dominate the new body. It shouldn't be this way, for harness racing has a much more general appeal than running racing and the bulk of those who follow the trotters and pacers do so because of their love of the sport and not just for something to bet on." That certainly is the case here at any harness meets held in Morrow Park. The betting has been practically nil, not any more than occurs at the average amateur hockey game around these parts.

Soccer Entries Close

City and district soccer league entries close at a meeting Monday eve at eight in the YMCA. It is possible that CGE, O'Halloran's, the Petes and UEW will comprise the loop, but that remains to be seen. The UE entry in the Eastern Ontario League has asked for players' forms and for the use of grounds. However, these requests cannot be granted until the local association is organized, otherwise the other entries would have a legitimate kick, saying all teams should receive players' forms at the same time in order to have an even chance at signing the better players. Grounds, too, will have to be allotted equally.

Nothing much wrong with that hockey game here last night, folks, eh? We believe any of you 2,200 fans who saw it will say it was one of the best—if not tops—for this season. A 1-0 playoff victory is always a honey of purest clover, and you couldn't ask for any better than this one. The refs, who see a lot, said it was about tops, even for NHL play. Both sides played careful but fast hockey, and clean all the way, each trying hard for that one big goal as the game wore on. Legion got it and hung on desperately against strong opposition, yet the Ellis outfit finished just as strong as the husky Nats. They now have a two to one game lead in the best-of-seven serial, next one being in Brantford on Monday. Should they lose that one, the scene switches back here next Wednesday.

Dootch Did The Trick

Dootch Vitarelli got the winner in close on a passout from Bill Crowley early in the middle heat, and that was that. Both goalies had to be good as they had plenty of hot rubber to handle. The Brants don't quit, but then they probably never were checked as closely before as last p.m. Jim Ellis had his charges really working and he didn't spare the horses a bit. They had to battle mighty hard, and they did. We liked the work of Ross Nicholls, Al Burns and Reg Stewart among others, but there wasn't much choice as they all fought their heads off. It'll be a tough, tough series yet, but we still feel that Legion will retain their provincial title. The fifth game—if it could be the deciding one—would be in Brantford, as they won the toss, but otherwise it'll be here, and the seventh (if it goes that far) will be in the Western Ontario centre.

* * * * * * *

Manager Able Yamolisky of the Brants got away with a squawk the second last game here, but not this time. He claimed that the starting lineup had to start each period, though that has never been done in these paris. A letter from W. A. Hewitt regarding this point states: "Any players may be used at the discretion of the team for a starting lineup at any time, but once selected no change can be made in players until the game is actually in progress. This rule is to prevent juggling lines by coaches." The referees last night knew this ruling, but Abie didn't do any more kicking, not after Jim Ellis told him: "You got away with that once, but not any more." We may not be Intercounty calibre in ball but we take our hats off up this way to no one in the province in senior "B" hockey. And we do know our rules.

Black's Capture Cage Title Over Electrics

Black's defeated CGE 32-17 in the YWCA last night to capture the intermediate championship of the Girls' Basketball League, taking the odd game in three. It was a speedy game, with some close checking, especially by the winners who drew 15 fouls to 6 for the Electrics. The latter made it a good scrap, but were off in their shooting. The score at the half was 15-5 for Black's, and they had a little margin on play in the driving second half.

Carol Ferguson, Ruth Beard, and Ruth Hewitt stood out all the way for Black's, and their teammates clicked well, also. Betty Stewart, Marg Kennedy, and Marg Batley were the pick of the losers, all of whom toiled hard. Betty Stewart led them in scoring with seven points, while Ruth Beard was the big gun for the victors with a total of 15 points over the route. The teams:

CGE—M. Batley 3, M. Perrin 1, B. Stewart 7, B. Luther, M Kennedy 3, T. Stewart 2, D. Jackson 1.

Black's—R. Beord 15, A. Hickling, M. Beggs, R. McInroy, C. Ferguson 7, M. McKee, H. Naylor, M. McGill 2, R. Hewitt 8.

OBA Opposes Junior Age Shift

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., April 15 (CP)—The opening session of the annual meeting of the Ontario Baseball Association Friday was confined to lower diamond classifications.

Presided over by S. H. Armstrong, Toronto, chairman of the Ontario Minor Baseball Association, the meeting referred to tomorrow's general sessions and the contentious question of "packing" of teams for the OBA playoffs.

A proposed change in the classification of leagues and clubs was recommended for discussion by the OBA executive. W. J. Snyder, secretary-treasurer of the OBA, said there was room for some C classifications in Ontario but "too many breakdowns in each age group would only harm the game."

The meeting went on record as opposing the changing of the junior age limit from under 21 to under 19 years of age.

Rouyn Protest Thurso Player

OTTAWA, April 15 — (CP) — Rouyn Flashes, eliminated from the Eastern Canada intermediate hockey playdowns by Thurso Lumber Kings Thursday, Friday lodged a protest with the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association over use by Thurso of right winger Maurice Gougeon.

F. N. Charlebois, manager of the Rouyn sextet, claimed that Gougeon was ineligible to play because he had not been released by Pembroke Lumber Kings of the Eastern Canada Senior Hockey League until after the Dec. 15 transfer date. He was released Jan. 24.

The protest was lodged before Flashes returned to Rouyn tonight. Thurso is scheduled to leave for Port Alfred, Que., tomorrow to meet Bagotville Allies in the opening game of a best-of-seven Eastern Canada semi-final series.

Coach Gaston Clermont, of Thurso, said Gougeon had been played against Rouyn "in good faith." He said he had an approved playing card from the Ottawa District Hockey Association.

Cecil Duncan, of Ottawa, ODHA secretary, was out-of-town and could not be reached for comment.

FIRST BLOOD—New York goalie Chuck Rayner reaches in vain for the puck after a close-in shot by Detroit's Gerry Couture in the second game of the best-of-seven Stanley Cup finals in Toronto Thursday night. It was the first goal of the game which New York won 3-1.

Protest CAHA Financing Ledgers Open—Secretary

TORONTO, April 15 — (CP) — Complaints about the financial set-up of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association tonight brought from George S. Dudley, of Midland, secretary of the CAHA, the reply that the CAHA has always treated its leagues and teams fairly, and that its books are always open for inspection.

Forest Keene, manager of Sherbrooke Saints, here for the second game of the Eastern Canada Senior final against Toronto Marlboros, had said the Saints have lost $28,000 so far this season. He asserted the CAHA has "too much money in the bank," and predicted "You're going to see a sports commission at Ottawa unless the CAHA makes it possible for a team to operate without a loss in its playdowns."

Take Care Of Clubs

In reply Dudley told the Canadian Press: "We hear this sort of thing repeatedly. The clubs are pretty well taken care of. They get $180 a day on these playdown trips, plus travelling expenses. Last year the CAHA gave a bonus of $625 for each game of the playdowns."

Keene also criticised the CAHA for donating $20,000, made up of $6,000 for music and arts scholarships, $10,000 for the British Empire Games Association fund and $4,000 for the Bisley shoot in England.

Dudley said the grant to the BE Games Association was $5,000, not $10,000. "Our books are open for inspection at any time," he added. "We feel we are treating every one fairly." In the long run the money all comes from the public, he said, and the CAHA has had no complaints from them.

Draw No Salary

Keene, referring to the amounts he said had been donated to other than hockey clubs, said:

"That $20,000 they got from fellows like me who sponsor hockey teams. I leave my business around the first of October, and am with the team all season. I draw no salary. There are hundreds of managers like myself.

"It will cost whoever wins this series between Marlboros and ourselves $15,000 to move the team west for the Allan Cup series. If we're lucky, we'll get about $500 for each of the games out there.

"The CAHA has $150,000 in the bank. Someday somebody is going to put that in the back of a rowboat and go down the river with it. I've seen that happen before."

POAT SOLD

Ray Poat, Pittsburgh Pirate pitcher, was sold to Baltimore Orioles of the International League Friday for an undisclosed sum. Poat, a 33-year-old right hander, was obtained from New York Giants last season, along with infielder Bobby Rhawn, for pitcher Kirby Higbe.

New York's Win Worries Wings Bench 4 Players

TORONTO, April 15 (CP) — The Stanley Cup final between Detroit Red Wings and New York Rangers today unexpectedly assumed the aspects of a grim struggle. The best-of-seven series is tied 1-1 and tonight's third game is the last of two games played in Toronto, temporary home ice of the Rangers while Madison Square Garden is occupied by a circus.

Detroit easily captured the National Hockey League championship, while New York barely made the cup play-offs. Then Detroit was extended to an overtime goal in the seventh game to beat Toronto Maple Leafs in their semi-final, while New York polished off Montreal Canadiens by four games to one in their semi-final.

The first game of the cup final was a 4-1 victory for Detroit, but the second game here Thursday was a 3-1 victory for New York. And that result has the Wings worried.

Bench Four

Four regular Detroit players will be benched tonight, the Wings announced, and five players have been called up from the Wings' farm club, Indianapolis Caps, who beat Cleveland Barons in the American Hockey League finals.

Sitting it out on the Detroit bench tonight will be Pete Babando, Steve Black, Marcel Pronovost and Larry Willson.

Called up from Indianapolis are goalie Terry Sawchuk, defencemen Clare Raglan and Al Dewsbury, and forwards Gord Haidy and Doug McKay. Replacing the benched players tonight will be Dewsbury, Haidy, McKay and Jimmy Peters, Detroit regular who suffered a knee injury in the third game of the Detroit-Toronto semi-final.

Sink Or Swim

The drastic shake-up in the Detroit line-up wasn't explained by Adams, but it was reported that he had asked some of his veteran players Friday to name the men whom they preferred to "sink or swim."

At the same time Detroit coach Tommy Ivan said what his team needed was rest. "The fellows are tired. But they aren't so tired that they can't snap back with a little rest," he said. "We will be all right tonight." Wings, staying at Hamilton, had no practices.

Rangers, who are staying in Toronto, also took a rest cure. Coach Lynn Patrick held a practice Friday for fellows who saw little action in Trusday night's game, and for those who sat it out. But the regulars were excused.

Jim Jeffries' 75th Birthday Big Celebration

BURBANK, Calif., April 15 — (AP)—It's diamond jubilee time today in the life of the last of the world's old line heavyweight champions, James J. Jeffries.

It's big Jim's 75th birthday, and No. 75 finds him still a strapping bear of a man, alert and friendly, but a little on the ailing side.

There have been many large birthday parties for the onetime king of the ring, but this one has taken on the aspects of an official holiday—city and State.

Burbank's official city family has proclaimed it "Jim Jeffries Day," and Governor Earl Warren has extended official greetings to boilermaker Jim.

And the sports crowd, with the boxing delegation in the fore, was invited en masse to Jeffries' sprawling cottage for a birthday party this afternoon.

Born In 1875

Jeffries was born April 15, 1875, in the little town of Carrol, O. The family moved to Los Angeles when Jim was a youngster and it was there that he grew and developed into what many an old timer insists was the greatest heavyweight of all time.

Deeply etched in the annals of boxing, of course, are the highlights of the Jeffries fighting career—his 11th round knockout of Bob Fitzsimmons for the championship in 1899, his two knockouts over "Gentleman Jim" Corbett, his roaring battles with Sailor Tom Sharkey, and yes, his ill-advised, unwise comeback attempt against Jack Johnson in 1910, five years after he had retired, undefeated in 23 major bouts.

Conacher To Leave Chicago Black Hawks

CHICAGO, April 15 (AP) — Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League today were reported due to announce the resignation of manager Charles Conacher.

Unconfirmed reports were that Conacher, manager since December, 1947, when he succeeded Johnny Gottselig, was to resign to devote full time to oil interests. His resignation was hinted a week ago but president Bill Tobin of the Hawks at that time said the club had asked Conacher to remain as manager.

Top candidates to succeed Conacher, if he resigns, were reported to be Ebbie Goodfellow of St Louis Flyers and Frank (King) Clancy of Cincinnati Hohawks.

200-YARD DASH

Historians say the first contest to be held in the ancient Olympic Games in Greece consisted of a foot race of approximately 200 yards.

Soo Algos Grab Canadian Crown

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., April 15 (CP)—Sault Ste. Marie Algos captured the Canadian intermediate A basketball crown Friday night, rolling to an impressive 73-48 victory over Woodstock, N.B., Senators in the second game of two-game, total point series.

Algos won the first game 80-36 to carry a 44-point margin into Friday night's contest.

Friday night's game marked the final year of intermediate competition for the Algos. Next year they turn to the senior ranks after winning the intermediate title twice in three years' play.

L. B. Pearson, Canadian Minister of External Affairs, presented the E. Machum trophy to captain Louis Lukenda immediately following the final whistle amidst the roar of 1,000 fans.

Christian Faith Born In Resurrection Story

By REV. E. R. JAMES

He is risen. He is not here. Behold the place where they laid Him.—St. Mark 16:6.

It is helpful to keep in mind that the early teachers of Christian faith went forth and told the stories of the resurrection. They had no text; they were plain men who had good news to tell. They related these stories with gripping intensity and earnestness so that men could not help listening. Years later these stories were written for the second generation and for us and our children. The Epistles were written before the Gospels. Modern scholars are of the opinion that St. Mark's was the earliest written of the four Gospels. It is brief and very vivid.

WHEN THE SABBATH WAS PASSED. The Jewish Sabbath began at sunset on Friday and closed at eventide Saturday. Then the two Marys went into the city to buy sweet spices "that they might anoint Him." They desired to add their tribute of love to the royal burial Joseph of Armethea and Nicodemus had given Him, pouring on His Body a hundred weight of myrrh and aloes. Truly He made His grave with the rich according to prophetic teaching.

VERY EARLY IN THE MORNING, THE FIRST DAY OF THE WEEK, they hastened to the tomb while it was yet dark. The sun is rising as they reach the tomb. Then only does it occur to them that they cannot move the great stone rolled into the mouth of the cave. Looking up they see the stone rolled away. "They enter into the sepulchre". They had no other thought in view.

THEY SAW A YOUNG MAN SITTING ON THE RIGHT SIDE CLOTHED IN A LONG WHITE GARMENT. They were amazed. The angel answers their unspoken fears and amazement: "Ye seek Jesus, the Nazarene, which hath been crucified: He is risen He is not here; behold the place where they laid Him". The resurrection is an accepted fact. He is risen indeed; you can see for yourself. "But go, tell His disciples and Peter". The Lord knows how broken-hearted Peter is. Do not overlook the "AND PETER". The risen Christ is the same; full of compassion.

The angel's words only produce fear and trembling on the part of the women. They flee from the sepulchre; how true to life. When they came to themselves they did run to bring the disciples word.

A modern scholar teaches: "The grave was the birthplace of the belief that death is vanquished; that there is a life eternal. We base our hopes on an eternal City, of which Christ is the Head.

Church Overcoming World

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

Almost on the verge of His death, when the cross was looming darkly over Him, Jesus had said to His disciples, "Be of good cheer; I have overcome the world" (John 16:33).

But even as he assured them of that victory, He told them that "in the world ye shall have tribulation," and much of that 16th chapter of St. John's Gospel predicts in detail the persecutions that would befall them. They would be put out of synagogues, they would be scattered, the time would come when anyone who killed them would think that he did God service.

But in spite of these things Jesus promised them a deep inward peace, and the strengthening conviction of God's love, and that He himself was the divine messenger come from God.

• • •

It is necessary to know these things, and to feel their full reality, if one would understand the seeming miracle of the growth of the early church, and the faith that sustained the disciples in the face of the immensity of the world's evil, the hostility of the religious who thought they were doing God service in opposing them, and the violence of the persecution that was soon to burst upon them.

Jesus had said, "My kingdom is not of this world." Only the vision of that kingdom, so different in its deep essentials from the kingdoms of the world, and a profound faith in its overcoming, could have inspired the disciples. Only this could have held them firm and unwavering in their mission of making the gospel known to the ends of the earth.

That mission for the time being became largely a matter of the maintenance of faith and fellowship, as the Christian communities took root in the larger pagan communities. "See how these Christians love one another," became a byword descriptive of that fellowship of believers.

But as the church grew and expanded, so persecution increased. The course of Paul and other missionaries was shaped by the violence of the persecutions that drove them from place to place. They fulfilled with exactness the admonition that Jesus had given earlier to those whom He had sent forth two by two. "When they persecute you in this city, flee ye into another" (Matthew 10:3).

The persistent and enduring faith of these early Christians has been manifested, or recovered, by Christians in our own time, who have had to face sufferings and persecutions, even unto death, such as one would never have believed possible in this twentieth century — persecutions that have been inflicted alike upon Jews and Christians, the common inheritors of the faith and religion of the Bible.

The need of the world is that Christians everywhere might attain that faith in Christ and His conquering power, that they be not overwhelmed by seeming defeat.

The world situation today is not unlike that that confronted those early Christians. We are faced not only with great evil, with ignorance, and apathy, and darkness, but with immense forces of materialism and materialistic power. These are reinforced in governments, in armies, in science and technology, concerned almost more with powers of destruction, than with life and human welfare, not to speak of spiritual salvation.

The war between Christ and anti-Christ is upon us as never before since the days of early Christianity. Can we attain the faith in Christ that assures our overcoming, even through tribulation?

Group Insurance Offered Employees of School Board

A group insurance plan has been adopted for employees of the Board of Education. Here is the broad outline of the plan: Male teachers and administrators are covered up to $3,000. Caretakers and maintenance staff $2,000. Female employees $1,000.

Teachers, for example, will pay 60 cents a month for each $1,000 of coverage. The Board of Education will foot the remainder of the bill, but dividends are payable to the Board.

"Why shouldn't teachers pay for it themselves"? queried Mrs. Paige Rowell.

G. Wilson Craw, chairman of finance, who introduced the motion said it was a form of social security and the joint financing of insurance was a regular thing in today's employer-employee relations.

"I'd rather give them a raise and let them pay for it themselves," commented Mrs. Rowell.

Murray Irwin asked why the Sun Life Co. was chosen. It was explained that the choice was narrowed down to three companies and the insurance was taken out with Sun Life because it had given good service previously and did the spade work on the present plan.

It will be necessary to sign up 75 per cent of the employees to make the plan effective.

Board Orders Two Sanders

Purchase of two sanding machines costing $648 has been approved by the Board of Education.

Walter E. Bannon, chairman of property, explained that one sander was light and the other was heavy. Previously the Board had to rent sanding machines for floors and it was felt the Board would make money in the long run by purchasing two.

"They'll pay for themselves," said Mr. Bannon.

Other projects of the property committee include eavetrough replacement, fluorescent lighting and repairs to the roof of the collegiate.

The eavetroughing is for Central school and will cost $355. Lighting is for four classrooms and the library at PCVS and there must be painting and repairs to the roof, the latter costing $450.

Ski Club Names Executives, Present Awards

With skiis and poles stored for the season the Peterborough Ski Club on Friday evening held its annual dinner and election of an executive. The dinner was held in Marino's Italian Dining Room and the election of an executive was the main item of business. The following were elected to the executive: Vic Griffiths, Toby Westbye, Al Metcalfe, Miles Allison, Cyril Monkman, Mary Dodds, Ted McCaig, Ken McIntyre and Rod Reed. The president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer will be filled by the exeecutive.

Competitively, financially and recreationally the past season was fair, according to all reports. Mrs. Tad Ashby, the 1949-50 treasurer, reported a surplus of $260.01. Total receipts were $2,909.14, the general account receipts $1,461.22 and the tows yielded $1,447.92. The general account expenditures totalled $1,428.41 and the tow $1,220.72.

Other reports were given by: Mary Dodds, secretary; Toby Westbye, tow committee; Miles Allison, membership committee; Ted McCaig, competition; Jim Craig, zone meet.

Trophies Presented

Trophies were presented to the club champions and merchandise vouchers to the second place skiers. George Cook made the presentations.

Jumping: senior men's to Kris Olsen and Dave Johnson; Class B—Jim Sharp and Ab Vass; juniors, Peter Bowen and Dave Ward. Downhill—senior men's, Ken McIntyre and Toby Westbye; senior women's, Pat Moyles and Mollie Craig; junior girls', Judy Strickland; junior boys, Peter Bowen and Dave Ward. Slalom—senior men's, Toby Westbye, Peter Camerou nd Ken McIntyre (tied); senior women's, Mollie Craig and Mary Dodds; junior boys, Peter Bowen and Edward Toal. Combined downhill and slalom — senior men's, Toby Westbye and Ken McIntyre; senior women's, Mollie Craig and Mary Dodds; junior boys, Peter Bowen and Dave Ward.

The club voted unanimously to change the system of nominating the executive. In following years a nominating committee of three will nominate a slate of 15 willing candidates. Only one of the committee may be a director of the club. Additional nominations will be taken from the floor at the annual meeting. Up to this year the nominations have been made in writing to the secretary.

Following the dinner, the presentations and the election, a dance was held.

Peterborough Now Benefits Through Gifts To City Of Two Former Citizens

By HARRY THEOBALD

Back of the accelerating progress of the preliminaries to the construction of Peterborough's new city hall is the gift of the citizen wh inspired it.

The will of William George Morrow suggested ten years ago that the bulk of his estate might be used for a municipal building. In that bequest to the people Mr. Morrow was following the example in benefaction of Charlotte Nicholls whose large endowment created the Nicholls Hospital.

Other citizens of equal generosity of spirit but with less means to leave behind them have made bequests to the community of Peterborough. Charlotte Nicholls and W. G. Morrow had substantial possessions, and in disposing of them their wishes were for the benefit of the people among whom they had lived for years, and also for posterity.

Mrs. Nicholls was the founder of the hospital which bore her name for more than half a century. That story has been related at length on other occasions. Briefly, in the present recollection of these two citizens and their good deeds, Mrs. Nicholls paid for the old Cottingham home on the south side of Charlotte St. west of Monaghan Road later the residence of T. Evans Bradburn.

When its accomodation was outgrown, Mrs. Nicholls endowed the larger hospital at the north edge of the city, paying for the site, the construction of the building and also its furnishing. Her will provided for its future maintenance, and Nicholls Hospital continued its service to Peterborough without cost to the people until a few years ago.

Addition Erected

The first hospital financed by Mrs. Nicholls was opened to the sick in 1885. In its later location the first building eventually reached its capacity, and in 1908 a large addition was erected, again without cost to the city. At one time, it is said, Nicholls Hospital was appraised at $700,000, in its property, building and equipment.

When Civic Hospital was proposed, the balance of the Nicholls endowment, plus its earnings, was approximately $250,000 as transferred to the funding of the present new hospital.

It should also be mentioned that Mrs. Nicholls gave Peterborough two of its public parks, Nicholls Oval and Jackson Park. She also distributed part of her estate in assistance to some of the churches of the city.

The entire property of Nicholls Hospital is now owned by the city, a remnant asset to be sold or put to whatever use the council may decide.

That is only a sketchy account of the bequest of Mrs. Nicholls, the extent and value of which in present day financing as compared with the 1880's and later can only be surmised.

W. G. Morrow, twice elected mayor of Peterborough and for some years an alderman, and head of the Toronto Savings and Loan Company, died on March 13, 1939. The announcement of the provisions of his will created a deep and grateful impression of the manifest desire of Mr. Morrow to put his estate not only to good use, but especially to good public use.

There were bequests to Victoria University, Toronto; Albert College, Belleville; the Red Cross Society of Canada; Y.M.C.A., Peterborough Protestant Home, Y.W.C.A., Peterborough Public Library; and also the sum of $25,000 for the establishment of the W. G. Morrow Scholarship Fund.

National Trust Company, Toronto, were appointed executors of Mr. Morrow's will.

Part of the will relating to a city hall project was as follows: "The balance of the residue of the estate is to be held in trust for the relief of poverty, the advancement of education in the city of Peterborough, and for any other charitable purpose beneficial to the community of the city of Peterborough."

"To assist him, the Trustee shall consult the Mayor, Senior Judge of the County Court and the Chairman of the Board of Education. The Trustee is to keep the residue invested, to use the balance of the residue or any part thereof, or the income therefrom, or any part thereof, at such time or times in porportion and so such terms and conditions as it shall be decided upon."

"Without in any way restricting or limiting the general power, authority and discretion herein given to my Trustee, I would suggest to it that if, when the said balance of the residue of my estate becomes available for carrying out the trusts herein contained, the city of Peterborough shall not have erected a city hall or proper municipal buildings, my Trustee should, if it deems it advisable to do so, use such balance of the residu of my estate or such part thereof as it may consider advisable for the purpose of erecting or helping to erect a suitable building to be used as a city hall."

"If my Trustee should decide to carry out this suggestion I do not desire to limit in any way its power to carry out the matter as it thinks fit, but at the present time it is my idea that the cost of erecting a suitable hall would be approximately $200,000 exclusive of the land which should be provided by the municipality."

"It is my desire that if my Trustee pays for or contributes to the cost of construction of such building, a reference to this bequest should appear by a tablet or other suitable indication on such building."

It is hardly necessary to mention that building costs have far outrun the estimate Mr. Morrow considered when drafting his will, prior to 1939, and it is understood that the total amount available eventually through National Trust Company will closely approximate the bid of Eastwood Construction Company at $643,000.

Long Service Badges Given 2 Scouts

Speaking at the father and son banquet in honor of the 21st anniversary of scouting at St. John's Church, Rev. Reginald Howden, of St. Michael's and All Angels Church, Toronto, urged his audience to join with scouts here and abroad in realizing the international scope and importance of the Scout movement.

Mr. Howden, who was born in Peterborogh, was one of the early members of the St. Johns troop. For a time, he was its assistant scoutmaster.

One sidelight of the program was the presentation of long service badges to Fred Ford, assistant district commissioner for cubs and rovers and P. Dominik, assistant commissioner for cubbing and rovering. Mr. Ford has a record of 14 year in scouting, and Mr. Dominik has spent 16 years at it, many of them as scoutmaster at Sacred Heart Church.

Skipper George Groombridge, district commissioner, presented the badges.

In his address, Mr. Howden drew a parallel between the growth of a Scout and the erection of a building "The foundation of Scouting is the scout law and the Scout promise," he said.

Drawing the parallel further, he spoke of "the beams of scouting" — individuality, self-discipline, a sense of honor, self-reliance, and a sense of reverence for God, one's neighbours, and oneself. He paid tribute to "the assistant builders of the Scout homestead", the parents.

He spoke of the tenderfoot, and second class degrees as "storeys of the Scout homestead, and of first class proficiency as "the roof of the building."

"But," he said, "the view from the windows must not be forgotten." He stressed the overall design as envisioned by the "architect", Lord Baden-Powell, who saw scouting as a means of furthering peace.

In closing, he quoted a resolution passed at the World Scout Jamboree in Copenhagen: "Scouting must aim at endowing each nation with useful and healthy healthy citizens."

Zone Commander To Instal Officers

Zone Commander of the Canadian Legion, Cy Hopkins of Lakefield, will instal the 1950 officers of Branch 52 Monday. Oran Varty, sergeant-at-arms in 1949 will assist Mr. Hopkins. The annual election was held in March.

The officers are: F. P. (Paddy) Burke, president; George McNabb, 1st vice-president; H. G Kelsey, 2nd vice-president; executive, Albert Mason, J. B. Chambers, Frank Frape, Frank Bell Robert Graham, John Baldwin, E. E. Heffernan; Harry Gabbutt, sergeant-at-arms. Mr. Baldwin and Mr. Heffernan were appointed to the executive.

Band Of The Mounted Police Presented By City Police

The band of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police delighted a large audience at Brock Ballroom Friday night with a program that ranged in time from Bach to Katchatchurian, and in mood from excerpts from Tchaikowsky's Sixth Symphony to that Wild Goose atrocity of the discs, interjected perhaps as a grim jest.

The concert was sponsored by the Peterborough Police Association, and one of its effects was a lingering envy of Ottawa in the presence of this capital company of musicians under the direction of Inspector E. J. Lydall, L.T.-C.M., A.T.C.M.

Probably this band has some peers across Canada, but they must be few on that level which comes close to perfection. Their tone is compactly knit and richly textured, and they play with a smoothness that comes from years of training and concert performance. Their reputation had preceded them, and they fulfilled it in every detail of musciansship, certainly within the demands of their program.

A sample of their individual ability was heard in the cornet solos by Bandsman J. R. Cameron, the Panis Angelicus of Cesar Franck and Ethelbert Nevin's My Rosary. His notes were placed without a flaw and his tone glowed with warmth and brightness.

That was the only solo, but the same reflections of quality sounded throughout the ranks of brass and reeds. The euphoniums were of grand tone, and that reference to merit was equally applicable to the trombones, and bass and a splendid section of cornets and oboes, backed with saxophones.

The instrumentation of the band is exceptionally well balanced and its ensemble was something to remember with gratefulness to the Police Association for an evening of fine entertainment.

The reeds displayed their ability in the Flight of the Bumble Bee (Rimsky-Korsakoff), and the brass was highly expressive in the transcription of part of the third movement of the Sixth Symphony. A brass band lacks the wealth of color of the big orchestras, but Inspector Lydall's bandsmen were eloquent in their response to the conductor's reading of Tchaikowsky defiance of the fate and effect of melancholy that broods through that movement.

The band sparkled in several marches, the Thin Red Line of the English composer Ken Alford and Semper Fidelis of the American Sousa, and also in the more syncopated march "Castles in Spain".

The instrumentation of the old favorite "Lady of Spain" was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. It was one of three popular numbers that endure, Missouri Waltz and Stardust.

Another of the popular hits was One Enchanted Evening in the medley from South Pacific. Bach's "Jesu Joy Of Man's Desiring", the Strauss overture "Die Fledermaus", and Mozart's Marriage of Figaro overture were other charming details of the program.

PREMIER TO OFFICIATE

Premier Frost of Ontario will officiate at installation ceremonies of a dial telephone system in Lindsay today by placing a long-distance call to an old college friend in Vancouver. Mayor Charles Lamb will place the first local call.

Special Benefits To Jobless Cease

Unemployment insurance claim payments will decrease sharply in Peterborough next week as the jobless persons on supplementary benefits are paid off. The deadline for this type of claim, introduced late in February, is today. As all the claims are held back for a week, the claimants will receive their money for this week next week. In following years the supplementary benefit claims will be paid between January 1 and March 31.

William Mellis, manager of the local National Employment Service office, said today there were 202 on this type of claim in this district.

The funds became available February 28 under changes in the Unemployment Insurance Act. The changes provided money to take care of the employees who lose their employment in the winter months and the persons who have either exhausted the benefits to which they are entitled or cannot yet qualify for it.

Suggests Comparing Prices

Minister of Trade and Commerce C. D. Howe has acknowledged the telegram from Local 524 UE protesting the "dumping" of Japanese fishing tackle in Canada.

He suggested that the firm (Lucky Strike Bait Co. of Peterborough) send their price list to the deputy minister of national revenue together with the corresponding prices of their Japanese competitors.

At the same time he warned "Canada cannot place an absolute embargo on Japanese goods since we must import some merchandise from there or lose our market for Canadian products."

Earlier this week Local 524 UE sent telegams to Mr. Howe and Gordon K. Fraser, MP, pointing out that workers in Peterborough and the rest of Canada faced unemployment because of Japanese competition.

Hard hit is the Peterborough plant where 18 to 40 employees face unemployment and in the Cobourg plant 20 out of 28 are expecting layoffs.

Promises To Investigate

Mr. Fraser phoned the Examiner Thursday saying he had taken the matter up with the department of national revenue and had the promise of the deputy-minister he would investigate the matter.

The Chamber of Commerce has decided to bring the problem before the Foreign Trade Committee of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and the Canadian Manufacturers Association.

At present Japan is seeking membership in the world's low tariff club. If successful Canada could not apply her anti-dumping laws that have already been used against Japanese shirts, pyjamas, and gloves.

True Heart of a Home Fireplace In Living Room

By DeWITT MACKENZIE.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst.

What is a home?

Well, to me it's more than just a place to hang your hat. It's the institution that binds the family into a unit of love and loyalty.

And what physical property of the establishment contributes most to this? It couldn't be golden faucets in the bathroom, could it? I set my mind to backtracking into the homes I have had the privilege of knowing in many lands—and then I got it.

The big fireplace in the living room with the blazing logs or coal or peat. That's it. There's the symbol of the love and loyalty which make the home.

America, of course, used to have plenty of fireplaces but central heating pushed them into the background. Still to you who have experienced them — isn't the fireplace one of the first things you think of when your mind reverts to the old homestead? Isn't it grouped about the fireplace that you see mother and dad and brothers and sisters? Sure it is.

* * *

Early Years Before Hearth

It was while lying on the rug before the blazing logs that you had some of your grandest adventures. Remember how fairy castles and otther wondrous images used to form among the embers? And how mother smiled with understanding as her knitting needles clicked, and dad said sure, he saw them too?

Romance, adventure and dreams of the future. Who knows but that young Abraham Lincoln as he did his lessons before the flickering fire, had his first visions of the White House and of the great work he was to do?

But that isn't all the open fire means. It also is an emblem of hospitality, and has been through the centuries, whether you find it in the mansion of the mighty or in the cottage of the peasant.

* * *

A Night In Ireland

I think back to one of the tense nights of Southern Ireland's "Bloody Easter Week Rebellion" in 1916. As an AP correspondent I all but lost my silly life, and that of my Irish chauffeur, by inadvertently violating British military law at the height of the fighting. As we approached Kingstown at midnight, my driver said:

"It will mean certain death if I drive into the heart of Kingstown at this time of night. The place is filled with troops who will shoot on sight. I live here and I'm going to take you to my cottage by a back way. You can sleep there and give yourself up in the morning."

In due course we arrived at the driver's little two room home. His wife threw her arms about his neck with fervent repetitions of "The Saints be praised," while two small girls clung to him. Then they turned to their guest and, after the manner of the Irish, offered me all the hospitality their poor abode afforded a place to sleep on the couch before the open fire of the living room.

That fire, built of sweet-smelling peat, was a godsend. It brought not only warmth of body but warmth of heart, for it was the symbol of a grand hospitality.

So my vote is for a fireplace—the bigger the better—in the living room. It is the heart of the home and a builder of love and loyalty and character.

Children Excel In Fairy Operetta At St. Andrew's

By HAZEL PAULL

Fairyland has receded regretably into the distant realms rarely visited by present day youngsters, except perhaps, in the kindergarten, but on Friday evening the junior intermediate and boys' choirs of St. Andrew's United Church were there and took their audience of parents and other adults with them. The occasion was a presentation of The Blue Belt, the charming fairy tale of Norway presented as an operetta. Mrs. John A. McColl was director.

For the audience it was a delightful peep into the land of the immortals and the children's sheer delight in the adventure was a contagious reaction.

Such an excellent production and performance, whether by adults or children is indeed a rare occurrence and the subject was a happy choice for a cast of youngsters, few of whom are out of public school yet.

It can be a frustrating experience to form part of an audience, no matter how sympathetically, at a presentation of children on the stage singing "I'd Do Anything For You" or "Kiss Me Once and Kiss We Twice and Kiss Me Once Again."

It was good to see and hear children enjoying the unsophisticated fun of the fairy tale and The Blue Belt is one of the classics which the grown up "children" can enjoy equally well.

The stage portrayed the haunted dell where dwell the fairies—and a prettier group of fairies was never seen. The gnomes are tolerated but they are content in their own disgruntled way to accept the disdainful attitude of their fellow immortals.

Throughout the story the wicked witch, played excellently by Patsy Tudhope, casts a gloom which is eventually thrown off when the unfortunate beggar boy turned prince (John Mann) is regained from his unnatural state as a bear, to marry the princess, Kathryn Magee.

King and Soothsayer

Round this main plot is woven the life of the court of King Gorumpus (Terry Northrop) and his soothsayer (Douglas Ham).

In such an accomplished all-round performance it is more by the greater opportunities presented by some of the characters that the actors can be singled out for special commendation.

The part of the soothsayer offered unlimited scope for drollery and Douglas Ham did not miss the opportunity. He has a clear delivery and a confidence which set a high level of performance.

Terry Northrop thoroughly enjoyed the bumptious character of the king. If his lines were occasionally lost to the audience it was because of stage grouping, when he was sometimes speaking from the front of the stage to someone further back on the stage.

George Putnam carried out his comparatively small, but sprightly part as the jester with alert attention.

Kathryn Magee was a lovable princess with a winning way as she recited her lines, just a little in parrot fashion. Was she making a great effort to overcome shyness?

Mary Lou James' performance as queen of the fairies was surpassed by none other.

Insupressible Fairy

Teddy Wood was the inevitable insupressible fairy who got in everyone's way, prancing happily on and off stage to run errands for his queen and Richard Atkinson as king of the gnomes, whose main contribution depended on his being able to put across a humorous situation without a smile, played his part well.

Russell Cole's only lines as page of the king were "The King!" and Leslie Mann as the prince's page enjoyed himself as an inconspicuous member of the company.

The dances and grouping were excellent and the children are to be congratulated for remembering their individual parts in a two-hour performance.

Mary Tudhope and Mary Jane Vilneff were a graceful pair of moths, dancing a duet.

Amelia Beggs, Sheila Nicholls, and Helen Rusk were maids of the queen and pages were Murray Mann, Robert Hunter and Vernon Chiles, Ronald Brown, Rae Frost and Allan MacNab were the king's barbers.

Fairies in waiting to the fairy queen were Margaret Young and Sharon Hutchinson and other fairies were Leona Davis, Sadie Hatton, Barbara and Bonnie Moffatt and Roxey Rusk.

Roy Bacon, King Baker, Robert Black, Carl Lewis, Leslie Mann and Peter Savage were gnomes and the king's courtiers were Diane Fletcher, Mary Elizabeth Laing, Katherine Lewis, Peter Faulkner, Harold Holman and Brendon Lincoln.

Children Sing Well

The singing, which was yet another creditable feature of the performance, was augmented back stage by Lois Bearne, Jean Black, Shirley Frost, Marie Hughey, Clarabel James, Janet and Anne Merrett, Betty McCausland, Margaret Munro, Betty Murphy, Edythe Nicholls, Helen Rusk, Mary Tudhope, Dorothy Watson and Shirley Wishart.

A great deal of work, doubtless over a long period, brought a worthwhile result in the costuming. Those responsible for costumes were Mrs. Eric Baggs, Mrs. Harold Baker, Mrs. Bishirri, Mrs. Russell Cole, Mrs. E. Faulkner, Mrs. M. Fletcher, Mrs. E. R. Frost, Mrs. Gatz, Mrs. Gordon Ham, Mrs. C. W. Holman, Mrs. A. E. Hutchinson, Mrs. D. V. Ketcheson, Mrs. W. Lewis, Mrs. Roy Lewis, Mrs. R. MacNab, Mrs. A. Munro, Mrs. Nicholls, Mrs. H. Northrop, Mrs. C. Pilon, Mrs. G. E. Putnam, Mrs. F. Rothschild, Mrs. W. T. Savage, Mrs. J. Wharry, Mrs. C. H. Wishart.

The scenery was designed by Miss Dorothy Watson who was assisted by Lois Bearne, Shirley Frost, Betty McCausland and Margaret Munro. The program also acknowledge thanks to Miss I. Collins.

Others who contributed to the production were: Mrs. D. A. MacTavish, make-up; Col. H. C. Ritchie, properties; Walter Morrow, ARTC, accompanist; Miss Marion Chase and Miss Mary Lackey, finances; Major C. Everitt, curtains.

During intermission the intermediate girls' choir sang two negro spirituals.

Tillsonburg Wins Over Gananoque

TILLSONBURG, April 15 (CP) —Tillsonburg Chev Woods Friday night defeated Gananoque 4-3 in an Ontario Hockey Association intermediate A final round-robin game. The visitors now face elimination, with three straight losses and one game to play.

Port Colborne is the third team in the series.

Wolfer opened the scoring at 3.40 in the first period to put Tillsonburg in front. The visitors put on the pressure in the second period and notched two goals but Chev Woods matched them to lead 3-2 at the end of the second period. At 5.38 in the final period McCarney evened the score on a fine unassisted play.

At 14.40 on a great piece of combination Cooper scored the winning goal on passes from Pearce and Gee.

Chev Woods are now in second place in the series and meet Port Colborne Merchants here today.

LONGDEN LEAVES

Jockey Johnny Longden left Sydney, Australia for home on Friday night, carrying with him a letter absolving him from any suggestion of complicity in his victory at Randwick Wednesday. Longden won aboard the Groom, a 12-1 shot.

The next day an Australian sports writer hinted that rival jockeys might have permitted the veteran western Canada booter to win. It was his first triumph in 12 starts here.

Coal Shortage In Australia Slows Steelmills

By ANTONY WHITLOCK

SYDNEY, Australia — (CP) — Australia, which can produce some of the world's finest and cheapest steel, is passing into a deepening crisis in that industry.

Coal strikes since the war have so interfered with steel production that Australia must today import huge quantities of steel from Europe and Japan to keep the wheels of industry turning.

A survey released recently by Research Service, an industrial fact-finding bureau, shows that because Australia is not using her full steel-making capacity, she is losing valuable export markets. As well, she is paying exhorbitant prices for steel that could easily be made here—if there were enough coal.

In 1938 Australia and Canada each produced 96,000 tons of steel ingots and castings a month. Ten years later, in 1948, Canada was producing 237,000 tons a month Australia was producing 106,000 tons a month.

Research Service's survey shows that because of coal strikes, Australia's output of steel fell from 1,697,000 tons in the peak production year to 1942 to 1,129,000 tons in 1949. Australia's full industrial steel-making capacity is, however, 1,750,000 tons of steel a year, which would probably meet all domestic requirements and allow some exports.

Desperate Shortage

The Dominion is desperately short of roofing iron, piping, wire netting to control rabbits and the host of steel articles needed on every side.

But last year, mainly because of coal shortages, Australia went short of these things: enough roofing iron to cover 147,000 homes; enough wire netting to cover 9,400 miles; enough fencing wire to cover 86,000 miles; 22,400 tons of nails and thousands of miles of tubing, wire and wire rope.

The survey blames shortage of labor at steelworks and shortage of coal for this decline in meeting demands.

It says the iron and steel industry is the biggest coal consumer in the big industrial state of New South Wales and for many years has used 20 to 25 per cent of the coal mined. But weekly coal consumption in the industry has declined from 43,800 tons in 1947 to 34,900 tons by the end of 1949.

Stocks Remain Low

Throughout 1948 and 1949 coal stocks at the steelworks were never enough for more than 11 days' production.

The survey found that apart from the obvious effect of big coal strikes, such as the seven-week strike of mid-1949, small "hit-and-run" strikes have disturbed steel production extensively.

From February, 1948, to May, 1949, strikes in the Broken Hill mines alone caused a steel loss of 486,000 tons. In 1948 the average number of days lost through strikes in these mines was 64.3 days per miner. This was 2½ times higher than the average number of man-days lost in all coal mines that year.

One final comparison. In 1938 Australia and Canada each contributed 1.4 per cent of the world's output of steel. In 1948 Canada contributed 2 per cent; Australia 1.1 per cent.

Lewicki Scores 2, Gives Marlboros 2nd Triumph

TORONTO, April 15 (CP) — Sherbrooke Saints have at least one hockey problem today: how to stop Danny Lewicki from scoring payoff goals.

The problem cropped up Friday night for the second time when the 18-year-old leftwinger sniped two goals that paced Toronto Marlboros to a 3-1 victory over the Saints and gave them a 2-0 lead in their Eastern Canada Senior Hockey finals.

Third game of the best-of-seven series is scheduled at Toronto on Monday. The winner of the series will meet either Fort Frances Canadians or Calgary Stampeders for the Allan Cup and Canadian senior title.

Toronto won the first game 7-4. Lewicki tallied two goals in that game.

The Fort William, Ont., product took all the steam out of the Sherbrooke drive in the second period Friday night. He hit the scoresheet just before the 10-minute mark to tie the count at 1-1 and then drove back minutes later with his second.

Holding Own

The Saints were holding their own up until then.

In the free-skating first period defenceman Eddie Bush gave the Quebec and Maritime hockey champions a 1-0 lead when Marlie goaltender Pat Boehmer fanned on a shot from just inside the blue line.

In the second period Lewicki got his first goal on passes from George Armstrong, who also came up from the juniors, and Bobby Hassard.

Fired Through Maze

He got his second at the 16:30 mark when he pulled a loose puck around to the side and shovelled it through a maze of players into the cage.

The Armstrong-Lewicki-Hassard combination carried all the scoring punch for the winners. Armstrong, a 19-year-old hustler who works well with Lewicki, banged in the clincher with two minutes remaining in the middle period. Lewicki and Frank Sullivan assisted.

The heavier Saints found the Dukes had too much speed and the margin of play in the second and third periods was largely Toronto's.

Solar House, It's Principles, Possibilities and Limitations

To most of us, the term "Solar House" means weird geometrical structures of glass that through some mysterious means manage to reduce fuel requirements to practically nil. Its principles, possibilities and limitations are little understood by the average new home builder. Here, in brief, "question and answer" form are some of its most important principles:

First, how can we define "Solar Orientation"? It means, in oversimplified terms, the placing of as many rooms as possible to the south, in a manner to obtain the maximum benefits of sunlight. This requires a good knowledge of the angles of sunlight at different times of the day and at different seasons.

What are some of its advantages? Solar orientation provides: (a) Additional warm inasmuch as the radiant heat (infra red rays) of the sun enters the house through the glass, supplementing mechanical heat during the daylight hours. Whether or not this sun heat results in a net gain for the house depends upon many factors. (b) Daylight . . . solar orientation provides increased daylight in living quarters. (c) Enjoyment of living . . . for many persons extra winter sunlight and broader views of the outdoors are important advantages.

Won't large glass areas allow too much sun into the house in the summer? No. Fortunately the laws of solar mechanics eliminate this problem if major glass areas face south. An overhang, cornice or projecting eaves can be provided over south windows, casting a shadow on the glass in summer, but allowing the sun to enter in winter. The awning is a familiar form of summer sun control.

Should large glass areas be located on east or west walls? Orientation has very little control on sunlight on east or west windows. In winter the sun rises in the south-east and set early in the south-west. Hence, very little sunlight enters east or west windows and they are useless for solar orientation.

In summer the sun rises early in the north-east and sets late in the north-west. A very large amount of sunlight falls upon east and west walls. It cannot be controlled by overhangs; when rising or setting, the sun is low, and its rays enter directly into east or west windows with much unwanted heat. This can be very uncomfortable on a late summer afternoon. Venetian blinds or deciduous trees which will shade east and west windows are reasonably successful.

What is the principle of solar RADIATION? The sun's infra-red rays pass through the glass on a short wave length. These rays strike and warm the objects within a room and are then re-radiated on a longer wave length which will not pass through the glass. All large glass areas must be of more than single pane in thickness. If they are not, any gains in heat from sunlight will be offset by excessive loss of heat through the glass particularly at night.

Does our winter sun justify solar orientation? Official records over the last 50 years disclose that for the months of December, January and February in Toronto, the number of sunshine hours is approximately 33% of the total number of hours possible. Solar heat is available in winter even though the sun is not shining. Assuming the solar radiation on a clear day to be 100%, a hazy day will allow 60% to 80% and a dull day 5% to 50%.

The earth is nearest the sun in December and January. There is also less water vapor in the air during the winter months. For these reasons, in the northern hemisphere about 16% more radiant heat is received (on a surface perpendicular to the sun's rays) in winter than in summer.

How does solar orientation affect the planning of a house? When planning a house for solar orientation, as much of the "living area" as is possible (living-dining rooms, bedrooms, etc.) should be given direct southern exposure. The northern side of the house should be planned to provide a buffer against winter winds and should contain service areas, halls, stairs, garage, etc. Choice of exposure for the kitchen will vary with different homemakers.

Does a solar house require a lot of very large frontage? Obviously, the completely "Solar" plan can be achieved only on a wide lot (75' x 100'). New principles of community planning recognize this fact, and many neighborhoods are being divided into lots which can accommodate "Solar houses."

The basic principles, however, can be employed on any lot quite successfully. On a fifty-foot lot, for example, the living-dining room area and at least one bedroom of a one-storey house can face the sun. For narrow lots a two-storey plan can achieve excellent solar orientation with a little ingenuity in planning.

What precautions should be observed in its use? It is apparent that large glass areas facing south on a narrow side yard would provide an unattractive or limited view, and might even be shaded by the adjoining house. Large windows facing gardens to the east or west should be shaded from the rising or setting sun by trees, ownings or blinds.

It is evident that a house which faces south toward the street would be a "goldfish bowl" if full-height clear glass were used in the front. A wise use of window sizes and sill heights will ensure sunlight without this inconvenience. The best use of full-height clear glass is where the garden is south of the house. Here the occupant is assured of privacy . . . he can control the sunlight and develop the view of his

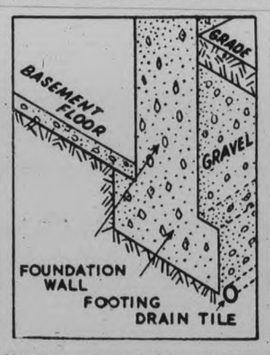
Poor Foundation Ruins Well Constructed House

The foundation walls of a house are of prime importance. A poor foundation wall can result in wet basements, uneven floors, broken plaster and general settlement. All types of foundation walls should be of first grade materials. They must be thick enough to withstand the combined attacks of weight and frost. Generally, solid concrete or masonry walls under a bungalow should not be less than eight inches wide. Two-storey dwellings usually require a minimum thickness of 10 inches. Foundation walls should extend at least 12 inches above the outside grading.

Unless the house is to be built on solid rock the foundation walls should rest on footings. These are concrete pads which form a bearing surface against the soil and help prevent settling. The depth of the footings should be at least six inches. This however, depends on the bearing capacity of the soil and the thickness of the foundation wall. They should extend below soft or sandy soil to a firm bearing.

Besides footings, bearing posts in the basement help support the weight of the house. If there is no basement, piers or inside walls may be required beneath the house. A guide for foundation walls and footings may be found in the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation building standards.



(This is the seventh in a series of articles written in the interest of readers who are contemplating building or buying a house.)

Syrup Imports Won't Hurt U.S.

WASHINGTON, April 15. (AP) —Producers of Maple Syrup and sugar probably won't feel pinched even if tariffs on the two tasty products are lowered to the legal limit, a tariff commission official said Friday.

Both commodities are on the list of 2,500 items which the United State state department said today may be considered for tariff-reduction in the 40-country tariff-cutting conference scheduled to meet in Britain next Sept. 28.

The duty today on maple syrup is 1½ cents a pound, and on maple sugar two cents a pound. In 1930 the two duties were 5½ and eight cents respectively.

Vermont and New York account for more than half the entire US production of maple syrup and sugar. The only competition comes from Canada, but it is considerable. Most of the Canadian syrup, the official said, is of an inferior grade. It is widely used in tobacco processing.

British-Marked Pians Over Ships

TAIPEI, Formosa, April 15 — (AP)—The Chinese Nationalist navy said Friday night that British-marked planes had made frequent low-level flights over Nationalist warships off south China. It said it was trying to learn if the planes were really British or were disguised Communist aircraft.

(An RAF spokesman in Hong Kong said the planes "definitely are not ours." He added that RAF planes make frequent training flights around Hong Kong but keep well within the limits of territorial waters.)

Scene of the latest such occurrence was placed by the Nationalist navy at the mouth of the Pearl River, not far from Hong Kong.

HOUSE No. 164—While modelled along Colonial lines, there is no slavish imitation evident in this home. Built in a neighborhood of fine homes, its sparkling, shadow dappled facade seems to set it quite apart. We can easily understand the owners' enthusiasm over their home; its friendly character charmed us, too! Plans of the house were prepared by Alex Matheson, architectural engineer. Closet accommodation is good throughout the house. There are three bedrooms upstairs, each with cross ventilation. Heating is by warm air furnace, with forced circulation and humidification. Furnace is fired by a bin-fed coal stoker, with fuel costs averaging just under $102.00 for the past five winters. For further information write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Can., U.S. Demand Saves Lumber Co.

OTTAWA, April 15 (CP) — Home-builders in Canada and the United States have helped avert a crisis in the Canadian lumber industry.

W. J. Leclair, president of the Canadian Lumbermen's Association, said Friday in an interview that the high demand for lumber in both countries has taken up the slack in sales caused by a decline in United Kingdom purchases.

As a result, prospects for the Canadian lumber trade this year are "splendid—we can't see anything to worry about."

"Canadian construction requirements," said Mr. Leclair, "will continue to be heavy during the coming summer and there is no indication whatever of any break in the record demand throughout the United States."

Judge Cattle 'On The Rail'

TORONTO, April 15 (CP) — Judging of cattle should be done "on the rail" rather than on the hoof," Prof. J. C. Steckley said Friday at the annual meeting of the Ontario Beef Cattle Producers' Association.

Prof. Steckley, director of the Ridgetown Experimental Farm, said that although the showing of dressed carcasses might "detract from the glamor of the show, it is common sense" and would provide a "record of performance by beef sires."

Ontario Agriculture Minister Kennedy told the gathering that a field man is being appointed to work exclusively on beef cattle and that the provincial grant to the association will likely be doubled.

Resolutions passed by the organization asked that steps be taken toward consumer grading of beef and that the buying public be educated in this regard.

MOVIE COLUMN

Veteran Actress Returns to Films After 34 Years

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 15 — (CP)— Olive Carey, dynamic little widow of Harry Carey, is again pursuing her film career after a 34-year lapse.

Ollie, as her many friends in the movie world call her, is a real pioneer of the film business. She started back in 1912, when actors were just beginning to cavort among the orange groves of Hollywood.

"I was always the gal who had an illegitimate baby in the picture," she reminisced. It was a trifle embarrassing to a girl of 16, but she took whatever part came along.

Started in 1913

As Olive Golden, she had her starring role in "Sorrowful Shore" in 1913. Her leading man was a handsome young broadway actor named Harry Carey.

"But we don't fall in love then," she laughed. "He had a wife in New York and he went back there right after the picture."

After the first Mrs. Carey died, the actor returned to Hollywood and again co-stared with Ollie in "Just Jim". A romance began and they were married.

"We made about six pictures together after we got married," she recalled. "Then I decided just to take care of the ranch and Harry. I didn't miss acting because I was too busy."

Broke Retirement Twice

Her retirement from acting was broken only twice. She played a small role as a missionary in "Trader Horn", for which the Careys travelled 35,000 miles over Africa. And she played in a few westerns with Harry in 1935.

The actor died in 1947—about the same time the film career of Harry Carey, Junior, was getting started. Now Ollie has decided to carry on the family tradition, too. A longtime friend, Ward Bond, suggested her for the role of his wife in "Maid With Much Heart."

MOORISH NAME

The Rock of Gibraltar was settled by Moors in 711, who named it Djebel Tarik after their chief, meaning "the Mountain of Tarik."

Owing to the absence of the Secretary, Mrs. Clarence Hancock, the report was given by Mrs. Archie Ackison. The treasurer, Mrs. M. Dunford reported that $29.74 had been made at a recent bazaar and bake sale held on the market.

The roll call was answered with an Easter card. These were sent to the sick in the community.

It was decided to hold a card party April 27, at the home of Mrs. George Middleton when a draw on cushions will take place. Cards of thanks were received from Mrs. S. E. Moncrief and the Dobbin family.

Mrs. J. A. Middleton gave a reading entitled "Garden of Gethsemane" and Mrs. Roy Hancock one on the "Message of Easter."

Lunch was served by the hostesses.

Easter Program At Regular Meet

FAIRMOUNT, April 15 (ENS) —An Easter program was presented at the regular monthly meeting of the WMS, at which the Easter thankoffering was received. Quiet music by Mrs. T. W. McIndoo opened the meeting and the president conducted the business period. The Easter program as printed in the Missionary Monthly was conducted by Mrs. W. H. Fair of Peterborough, with the worship theme "Christ is Risen." Scripture passages were read by Mrs Montgomery and Mrs. Don Lazure, both of Peterborough. Several Easter hymns were sung.

Centennial Couple To Go to New York

The prize attracted a crowd of 850 to the Club Aragon, making extra seating accommodation necessary. Messrs. Austin Jonah vice-president, and Harold Syvertsen had charge of the dance arrangements.

Need Deaconesses Told St. Paul's WMS

Spring Thank-offering meeting of St. Paul's Senior Auxiliary of the WMS was held Friday afternoon in the Guild room with Mrs. E. H. Howson presiding. Mrs. W. A. Cochrane was in charge of the devotional period. Two solos, "Peace I Leave With You," and "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked," were sung by Mrs. S. McLaren who was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. W. L. McNeil.

Mrs. C. G. Boyd introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. H. Ralston, who has been principal of the Presbyterian Missionary and Deaconess Training School in Toronto for the past ten years. Mrs. Ralston brought o most inspiring and enlightening message. She referred first to the Lord's great commission to his disciples and reminded listeners of the fact it is also their commission. She spoke also of her work at the Training School, tracing its growth and developpment from the early 1890's when it was founded as a home to train women for overseas missionary work to the present splendid status as the church's only training school to which students come from across the Dominion. The supply of graduate deaconesses is never equal to the demand. "There is great need for the right type of girl," she said.

Appreciation to the speaker was expressed by Mrs. H. Tate and the Rev. Mr. Boyd closed with prayer.

Tea was served with Mrs. A. E. Curry, Mrs. W. A. Gray, Mrs. W. A. Hinds and Miss A. Little as hostesses.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Good Looks Are Overrated Some Beauties Never Marry

Is beauty woman's one best bet? Is it the most desirable gift that Nature can bestow upon a woman? Women think so, as witnessed by the fact that they annually spend millions upon millions of dollars on cosmetics and cheerfully go through the agonies of martyrdom to have themselves prettified. For no moral principal would they make the sacrifices they do for the sake of their figures, and they make far more effort to save their complexions than they do to save their immortal souls.

Dorothy Dix

Of course, this belief in the potency of beauty has been taught women by men who put good looks above all other charms and virtues in a female. When you tell a man about a strange woman, apparently the only thing about her that interests him is the amount of pulchritude she possesses.

Girls Mistaken

This inevitably leads girls to think that men are far more interested in what is on the outside of their heads than what is on the inside. But, ironically enough this is not true. For it is notorious that beauties seldom make the best matches. Often they do not marry at all. The truth is that, while men like to be seen out with a living picture, they have no desire to hang it on their own walls for keeps.

When you look at the wives you know who are bound to be convinced that none of them were married for their looks, and so you are led to the inevitable conclusion that in spite of men prating about their worship of beauty, when they go to choose their life companions they pick them out for something else besides their classical profiles and their violet eyes. The plain girl who is nimble-witted, who is entertaining and amusing and who plays up to the men instead of expecting them to burn incense before her, can marry in circles around the beauty any day.

So beauty is not even the best bait with which the girl who is angling for a husband can go a-fishing. Nor does it ensure a woman keeping her husband once she has caught him. Men want their wives to be something more than a parlor ornament, and only too often that is all that the beauty is and her looks are all she has to give. She has been too busy being pretty to develop her heart or her mind.

Neglect Other Charms

Most of the women who weep upon your shoulder and tell you how their husbands reserted them when they got fat and lost their looks, were beauties in their youth and depended on their prettiness to keep their husbands in love with them. But the plain women kn better. They had no beauty to conjure with and so they got busy supplying a lot of other charms—making their husbands comfortable, being pleasant to live with, giving their husbands understanding and sympathy, jollying their husbands along, with the result that the older they got, the mo their husbands admired them.

Nor is beauty the help to a woman in business that it is generally supposed to be. There is a theory that any blonde with cow-like eyes can walk into any office and get a job that has no work and a fat pay envelope. It is only in novels and the movies that these things happen. In real life spectacular good looks are a handicap rather than a help to a girl in getting a job.

And the final tragedy of beauty is that it does not last. It is the one gift of Nature that we cannot keep, no matter how closely we guard it, no matter how frantically we hold on to it. And perhaps there is no other torture greater than that of the beauty who looks into her mirror and sees her good looks slipping away from her and knows that she is powerless to stay them. An agony the homely woman is spared. No one ever says to her: How you have faded! and that is her consola on for never having been beautiful, and should keep her from envying the beauty.

Queen of the Ball To Be Crowned

The annual formal dance of the CGE Test Club is an interesting even of this evening being held at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club. Honoured guests will by Mr. and Mrs. I. F. McRae, Dr. and Mrs. G. R. Langley, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. McMullen of Toronto, Mr and Mrs. G. T. Davis and Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Munroe.

Highlight of the affair will be the crowning of the "Queen of the Ball". She will be chosen from the ladies present by judges who prefer to remain anonymous.

The committee in charge is under chairmanship of Mr. J. (Bud) McClennan who is assisted by Messrs. Ray Jonasson, Bob Boucher, Tod Willcox, Bob Walker, Doug Turland, and Ross Nicholson who will be master of ceremonies.

Art Association Planning Display of Antiques at Tea

Few changes were made in the existing slate of officers of Peterborough Women's Art Association at the annual meeting Friday afternoon. Mrs. F. E. Hooper became third vice president, replacing Mrs. Jas. Turnbull who became a members' representative, filling the vacancy left by Mrs. Charles Allen. Mrs. R. G. Maniece was appointed an assistant treasurer owing to the resignation of Mrs. Grant Miller. Mrs. R. R. Baker will be in charge of exhibition for the '50-'51 season.

Mrs. N. D. Seaton will continue as president for another year in order that she may complete a project on which she has already done considerable work. This is the donation of a painting to be hung in the New Civic Hospital. Selection of an original by a Canadian artist was made by an appointed committee, and with a plaque bearing the donor's name it will cost $343.

To raise the money for this gift the Association is planning something unique and very apt for Peterborough's centennial year — an Old Time Tea on Thursday afternoon, May 11, in the two large rooms at the YWCA. The Home Crafts Guild is in charge of arrangements.

Extending Culture

Annual reports from the Guilds and Study Clubs within this Association revealed the extreme breadth of culture members are covering.

The Music Study Club of 26 members chose as subject for the "Folk music of various countries with particular reference to music in general," and through it learned traditions, customs, and characteristics of uncultured classes through thousands of years, from whose folk songs and dances has been developed every form of vocal and instrumental music now possessed. Club members prepared papers on the music of Germany, Scandinavia, the Latin, Slavic and Oriental countries, Bohemia, the British Isles and America, and gave illustrations (instrumental, vocal and dance.) Mrs. G. N. Moncrief spoke in her report of the understanding gained.

The work of Mexican, Canadian German, French, English and American contemporary artists of recent time proved interesting to the Art Study Club this year. Mrs. E. R. Shirley reported the members found much to admire and more to question in the effects produced. An introductory paper on "Impressions of Italy," and a concluding one on "Murals" rounded out a profitable year.

The Literary Study Club of 24 members had papers on selected writers and their work of 19th century English literature. One evening was devoted to study of "Midsummer Nights' Dream" anticipating its presentation in the city. One social evening was held and it is expected to hold a picnic meeting in June when next year's program will be outlined. Miss Ila Giles prepared the report.

Develop New Crafts

Canadian crafts and outstanding workers, jewellry manufacture, photo printing and early Ontario and Quebec houses were subjects of general study by the Home Arts Guild, forming a background of knowledge on how the craft work they do has been developed. Papers and demonstrations were given by members and by several guest speakers, each a specialist in a particular field. Chief effort was for the annual exhibition when members displayed oil paintings, leather work, rugs, needlepoint, crochet, decorative painting and flower modelling, weaving, pottery and sample of allied arts. One member baked a chiffon cake for a raffle prize. Mrs. L. F. McRae in her report advised that Mrs. W. C. McCreery will be group convener for the coming term with Mrs. O. J. Frisken as assistant.

The Guild of Arts and Crafts was carried on by a committe of Mrs. C. S. Browne, Mrs. J. Hornal and Mrs. F. E. Hooper. Highlights of the program were an exhibition of hand-painted chintzes, talk by engraver Stanley Hayman, papers on "Early decoration of American tin", "Currier and Ives prints", and picture framing. Members' crafts were displayed and demonstrated at the exhibition.

Make Donations

Secretary Mrs. H. L. Bamforth reviewed the studio programs of the year in her report, and mentioned the second successful garden party. She reported $50. donated to the Children's Art Centre at the Public Library, and a contribution to the United Emergency Fund for Britain.

Exact financial standing of the Association was made clear by the report of treasurer Mrs. L. M. Brooks and a credit balance was shown.

Members attribute their excellent position to the good leadership of Mrs. Seaton who has been president five years. Mrs. C. C. Pilon expressed their appreciation to her and thanks for agreeing to remain in office.

GLAMOR ACCENT in chandelier earrings of rhinestone, hand-set in sterling silver. Expansion bracelet, made of famous "Airflex", is also jewelled with Spring tone rhinestones.

Women Take Lead In Yorkshire Town

SKIPTON, Yorks, Eng., (CP)—Skipton husbands may one day see their town run by wives.

If you travel on local busses, a "clippie" takes your fare. At the railway station a woman porter looks after your bags. And if you want to register a birth or death registrar Dorothy Harrison is on the job.

If you go to hospital the doctor who examines you probably will be Dr. Mary Hunter. And if you have a beer too many, you are liable to be arrested by policewoman A Mayor.

6—In Memoriams

IRWIN—In loving memory of Mrs. Andrew Irwin, who passed away April 14, 1945.

In our hearts your memory lingers,
Always tender, fond and true.
There is not a day dear mother,
I do not think of you.

—Lovingly remembered by her daughter Jane.

IRWIN—In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. Andrew Irwin, who passed away, April 14, 1945.

In my heart your memory lingers,
Always tender fond and true.
There's not a day, dear mother,
I do not think of you.

—Ever remembered by daughter Ione and son-in-law Wilfert Kelly.

KENT—In loving memory of a dear wife, Jessie, who passed away April 15, 1943.

Sweet memories will linger forever,
Time cannot change them, it's true.
Years that may come cannot sever,
My loving remembrance of you.

—Ever remembered by husband George, and daughters.

LOWE—In loving memory of Mrs. John Lowe, who passed away April 14, 1941.

When days are dark and friends are few,
Dear mother, how we think of you;
Friends are friends if they are true,
We lost our best friend when we lost you.

—Always remembered by the family.

PEARSE — In loving memory of Charles Pearse, who died April 15, 1948.

Two years ago today, my brother was called
To his eternal rest,
Gone where the angels sing so sweet,
And taken where God knew best.
We miss him here so very much,
His presence oft seems nigh,
But we all hope in heaven to meet,
Where no one says good-bye.

—Always remembered by brother Eric and sister-in-law Ruby.

PRESTON—In loving memory of my dear mother, Hannah Preston, who passed away April 15, 1943.

Seven years have rolled by
Since you passed away,
Yet, it seems like only yesterday
Since you were sitting
In our garden fair,
Amidst the flowers
And beauty there—
How oft I long
For those days we knew,
Peace, contentment,
Just me and you—
Words cannot tell
How much I miss you
Mother dear,
And often long to have you near,
For a glimpse of your face,
The touch of your hand,
For comfort, advice
Or a few words of cheer
When the going's tough
And I'm lonely and blue
With only my horses and pets
To tell my troubles to.
For my cross grows heavy
And at times hard to bear
With no one around,
My troubles to share—
But I try to be brave,
Doing the best that I can,
For no more can be expected
From any man.—
They say that time
Heals all wounds
With the passing years,
But I still find it hard
To hold back the tears,
So come what may,
Be it rain or shine
Your memory will linger,
Till the end of time.

—Sadly missed by Sherman.

WALL—In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. Maude Wall, who passed away April 15, 1932.

Only a memory of bygone days,
And a sigh for a face unseen.
But a constant feeling that God alone
Knows just what should have been.
Sometimes it's hard to understand
Why some things have to be;
But in His wisdom, He has planned
Beyond our power to see.

—Ever remembered by Cressa (Mrs. A. Pilling).

WALKER—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Roy R. Walker, who passed away April 13, 1949.

Please, God, forgive a silent tear,
A silent wish that Dad were here.
There are others, yes, we know,
But he was ours and we loved him so.
One year ago we had to part
With one we loved with all our hearts.
Without a farewell he fell asleep
And only happy memories have we to keep.
We have lost, but God has gained
One of the best Dads the world contained.

—Lovingly remembered by wife and family.

Disease Killers Found In Blood

GALVESTON, Tex., April 15 (AP)—A scientist at the University of Texas medical branch Friday announced discovery of a germ-killer (antibiotic) derived from blood rather than molds or bacteria, source of new wonder drugs.

Dr. Ludwick Anigstein, in charge of the Ricksettial (spotted fever) laboratory, announced initial results of experiments aimed at combatting infectious diseases.

Dr. Anigstein, who several years ago identified the "Lone Star" tick responsible for spotted fever, said that blood may be the source of antibiotic substances. In experiments, specially treated human or animal blood has prevented the growth of disease producing bacteria, he stated.

He stressed that the experiments have not yet reached the animal or human stage but that they are at a phase that has proven promising in other studies of antibiotics.

Such antibiotic agents as penicillin, streptomycin and auremoycin are extracted by costly and complex procedures from cultures of mold or bacteria. The present studies point to the possibility of much simpler procedure from such animal sources as blood, Dr. Anigstein said. He added: "It will mean cheaper and simpler production of antibiotics also.

It may be expected of this experiment that antibiotics derived from the blood source may be more in accord with the natural relation to the human body than those made from molds, fungi and other remote sources."

Scientists Nurse Whooping Crane

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—A helicopter-captured whooping crane, is doing so poorly he has scientists worried.

Nick-named Mac, he's worth his weight in diamonds in the eyes of the United States Fish and Wildlife service because there are only 36 other whooping cranes in the world as far as any one knows. And they're all in one flock.

Apparently the 36 cranes ganged up on Mac, shortly after his recent arrival at the Aransas national wildlife refuge, in Texas, and then took off toward the North Pole. Like people, they were choosy.

Aransas attendants who found Mac, badly bruised and bleeding patched him up but still can't get him to eat much, said Richard E. Griffith, the refuge of the F. and W. service here.

Currently they're force-feeding him. If the big bird's appetite—and interest in life—doesn't revive soon, the world before long may be down to its last 36 whooping cranes.

Wildlife experts captured Mac near Gueydan, La., a month ago by "herding" him to a lake with two helicopters and then forcing him on to the water by the downdraft of the rotors. One 'copter landed on the lake and took the bird prisoner.

The whooping crane is the continent's tallest bird. More than six feet tall when it stands on tiptoe, it has wings almost seven feet long.

Warning Against Street Pedlers

A warning to citizens against buying magazine subscriptions from salesmen peddling them on city streets was issued today by Jim Fraser, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

"We have had trouble with these people for the past two years, and although sidewalk sales are illegal, it is difficult to stop them," he said.

Mr. Fraser mentioned reports he has already heard, indicating the salesmen, most of whom are girls, are trying to sell subscriptions on the street.

"What they do," he said, "is approach a farmer who has a little money to spend and, one way or another, talk him into buying a subscription. The money he spends on a subscription lessens his buying power in Peterborough by that amount."

Mr. Fraser mentioned that two girls this spring invaded one of the city's factories and were trying to sell subscriptions to busy workers. They were thrown out, he said.

Two Trucks Collide Not Damaged Heavily

Trucks driven by Norman Graham, Water St., and Sydney Brooks, Donegal St., collided Friday at Hunter and Aylmer Sts.

Graham said he was driving west on Hunter and stopped at Aylmer. He said he started across and didn't see Brooks' truck until it was in front of him.

Damage was not heavy to either vehicle.

When a reporter told Martin Friday that the Mohawk Valley is thickly populated with white people, the chief said, "they are just looking after it until the Indians return."

Bale Prepared For Arctic

ROSENEATH, April 15 (ENS) —Donations of articles of new, warm clothing were brought in and plans made to pack the annual bale for the Arctic, were the important items of business at the WA of St. James' Church meeting on Wednesday afternoon. Every year St. James' WA packs a bale of new and good used clothing in April. This is forwarded to the WA House in Toronto and is sent on when the boat goes north in June to an Anglican missionary on a far northern outpost for distribution among the Eskimos. The bale will be packed at the home of Mrs. James Brown, the latter part of April.

The meeting was held in the town hall with Mrs. Edgar Braithwaite as hostess. The president, Mrs. Earl Braithwaite, presided. Mrs. Jack Webb was secretary. The treasurer, Mrs. James Brown, reported a balance of $207.63. Mrs. W. J. Robins, extra-cent-a-day treasurer, presented the report of that department.

Mrs. C. R. Spencer gave the scripture reading and a talk on "Anglican Missions."

BWI Letter Of Thanks

A letter of thanks was read from the Rector of St. James' Parish, Layou, St. Vincent, British West Indies, for the parcel he had received from the members of the WA.

Mrs. James Webb and Mrs. Herbert McCracken were appointed delegates to attend the annual diocesan board meeting to be held in Toronto, May 2, 3, 4.

Two quilts that were on order were quilted during the afternoon. Orders were received for more quilts. Mrs. R. B. Nichol donated blocks for a quilt top. Mrs. Elizabeth Coyle also donated blocks for a quilt. Material was distributed among the members to be pieced for quilts on order.

Plans were made for the May meeting when the report of the board meeting will be given by the delegates.

Canon C. R. Spencer closed the meeting with prayer.

Lunch was served by the hostess.

'Eire's Gorgeous Gael' Has No False Modesty

Boxer - turned - wrestler Jack Doyle never beleives in hiding his Irish light under a bushel of false modesty. Handbills announcing a contest with "Aussie the Butcher" from Toowoomba, Queensland, declared forthrightly that customers would see none other than:

"Eire's Gorgeous Gael, Godlike among this Gigantic Grappling Galaxy; a Gulliver among Lilliputians, Idol of Royalty and a King among Man; All Male Film Stars Rolled into one; with the looks of Apollo and body of Sir Galahad, Doyle will forever be remembered when all other British athletes have long since been forgotten."

Even in all this effusioin, however, the broadsheets did not over-look that among the supporting cast was that remarkable character, Jack Pye, "the Doncaster Panther (shaves with a blowtorch)."

BC Union Battle Still Unsettled

VICTORIA, B. C., April 15 — (CP) — The new jurisdictional battle involving 4,000 Trail, B.C., smelter workers remained unsettled Friday after a stormy hearing before the Provincial Labor Relations Board.

The United Steel Workers of America (CCL) which began organization early this year in Trail, has applied for certification still held by the disaffiliated Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

The hearing was adjourned Thursday. It will be reconvened at the decision of the board.

Steel Union officials told the board they would agree to the issue being decided by a supervised vote among the workers. This suggestion, however, was opposed by Harvey Murphy, Mine-Mill regional director.

Might Lose Grants

TORONTO, April 15— (CP) — Toronto and suburban Separate school board trustees Thursday postponed decision on a city request to use several schools as polling places in the Dec. 4 municipal elections. Trustees said the board would suffer a large loss in provincial grants, based on average attendance, if schools were closed for a day.

Plane Search Abandoned, Note By U.S.

Reds Lack Calmness —US Announcement Will Get All Facts

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, April 17—(AP)—The big aerial search for the United States Navy patrol bomber which disappeared mysteriously over the Baltic Sea with 10 men aboard was abandoned today.

The only possible clue to the fate of the plane, last heard from a week ago last Saturday at the same time the Russians said their fighters exchanged shots with an American bomber over Latvia, was a yellow life raft found Sunday floating in the sea.

The life raft, its food containers empty was found by the little British freighter Beechland about 45 miles east of Stockholm, Sweden. The spot is 200 miles north of the Latvian city of Lepaya (Libau) where the Soviets say their fighters chased off a U.S. bomber.

The Beechland continued on its scheduled course to the Finnish port of Kotka where it is expected to arrive this afternoon.

The derelict raft will be flown back to Copenhagen, where U.S. Air Force officials will examine it.

In Washington the United States chided Russia for lack of "calmness and restraint" in dealing with the alleged clash of American and Soviet planes.

The criticism was in a formal announcement that the U.S. will delay its reply to Moscow's note until all possible information about the incident can be collected and "the true facts determined by calm and thorough appraisal."

The statement said:

"This government believes that this careful approach is the only proper one in an important and delicate matter of international relations and regrets that the Soviet government has failed to show equal calmness and restraint."

ELM CREEK, Man., April 17—(CP)—A family quarrel Saturday night resulted in the death of Joseph W. Ouelette, 51-year-old unemployed carpenter, police said Sunday.

Quellette died on his living-room floor from a single .22 calibre bullet.

One of his sons is being held for investigation, but no charges had been laid.

Another son, Norman, leaped through a window of the house to try to stop the shooting. Police indicated Quellette, who had been drinking, was quarrelling with his wife.

Elm Creek is a community of about 200, 46 miles southwest of Winnipeg.

Besides his widow and Norman, Quellette is survived by his daughter Bernice, 13, and sons Raymond, 15, and Johnny, 11.

Young Indian, 19 Sentenced To Chair

BUFFALO, N.Y., April 17 (AP) —Harley G. Le Marr, 19-year-old Cherokee Indian, today was sentenced to die in the electric chair the week of May 21 for the robbery-slaying last February of Mrs. Marion L. Frisbee, 36-year-old Buffalo clubwoman.

La Marr, whose mother is serving 15 years for manslaughter in the stabbing of his stepfather, was convicted Friday of first-degree murder.

La Marr was accused of forcing his way into Mrs. Frisbee's automobile, directing her to drive into the country and trying to rape her before shooting her in the head. He admitted taking $6 from her purse. He claimed the gun went off accidentally as Mrs. Frisbee resisted him.

He needed money to pay for his stepfather's funeral, he said.

Elizabeth Expecting 2nd Baby

Undertaking 'No Further Public Engagements'

LONDON, April 17 (Reuters) Princess Elizabeth is expecting her second baby, an announcement issued tonight from Buckingham Palace indicated.

It read: "Her Royal Highness the Princess Elizabeth, Duchess of Edinburgh, will undertake no further public engagements."

This is the usual procedure for announcing an expected Royal birth.

Princess Elizabeth, who will be 24 this Friday, now is in Malta with her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, who has been serving with the Royal Navy in the Mediterranean since October, 1949.

When she arrived on the island March 28 it was stated she would stay until the end of April.

The Princess also spent a holiday with the Duke in Malta from Nov. 20 to Dec. 28 last year during which time they celebrated their second wedding anniversary.

The Princess' first child, Prince Charles, was born at Buckingham Palace Nov. 14, 1948. Since then the Princess has taken up residence at Clarence House, almost next door to the palace.

Elizabeth married the Duke Nov. 20, 1947. She was then 21.

Whether the new baby is a boy or a girl, it will be third in the line of succession to the throne, following after Princess Elizabeth her self and Prince Charles, and taking precedence over Elizabeth's sister, Margaret.

Rumor had persisted in London for the last few weeks that the 17-month-old Prince Charles would soon have a brother or sister.

People based their belief on new pictures of Elizabeth from Malta.

For the last three months Buckingham Palace has refused to comment on the rumors about another baby.

Vatican Denies Pact Signed With Polish Gov't

VATICAN CITY, April 17 — (AP)—The Vatican press office denied today that the Roman Catholic Hierarchy of Poland has signed an agreement with the Polish Communist government. Warsaw announced such a pact Saturday.

A Vatican press office statement said "nothing is known here of any such agreement. The circumstances and contents of the accord in question (as reported in Warsaw dispatches) preclude any foundation to the news."

Vatican sources pointed out that the accord was announced after Poland's leading Catholic prelate, Adam Stefan Cardinal Saphieha, hed left the country. The Cardinal now in Rome, declined comment on reports of a Polish church-state accord.

A high Vatican source said if such a pact had been promulgated it would indicate that the Polish government had laid down a "way of death" for the church there. This source, who holds the title of Canonical consultant of the pre-war Polish embassy at the Holy See, questioned whether Catholic bishops would sign such a pact.

The Polish government announcement said three bishops had signed an accord in which religious freedom in Poland was promised in return for a church pledge to fight enemies of the Warsaw regime.

The controlled Polish news agency said the agreement was signed by the Suffragon Bishop of Warsaw, Zygmunt C. Oromamsky, as secretary of the Council of Bishops, and two other Bishops.

The Vatican source said that a similar announcement was made by the Communist-led regime in Hungary about a year ago, but that it was later learned that the Hungarian Catholic prelates had not put their signatures to the accord.

Adamo Stefano Cardinal Sapieha, Archbishop of Krakow, now is in Rome on a Holy Year visit. Vatican sources Sunday said it was doubtful that the accord could legally have been signed without approval of the Episcopate and the Cardinal.

The reported agreement, said the source, never could be considered an accord between the Vatican and the Polish government in any event.

"In fact," he said, "the partial terms we have seen treat the Vatican as a third party. The accord has been said to be 'a modus vivendi'—way of life—but it is my opinion that is a "modus morendi" —way of death."

Blood Test Discovered To Reveal Cancer Early

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., April 17—(AP)—A new blood test is 98.6 per cent accurate in detecting the presence of cancer, four researchers have reported. The test is one of six new ones, all based on finding that cancer does something to human blood.

The hope is that this test, or one of the others, will help solve one of the most serious problems in human cancer. This problem is finding the people with cancer early enough to cure them by surgery or X-rays, the two standard cures now.

The new test was described Friday to the American Association for Cancer Research by a team of scientists from the University of California at Los Angeles and the Veterans Administration Hospital in Los Angeles. They are Dr. H. S. Penn, Dr. George C. Hall, Dr. A. H. Dowdy and Dr. A. W. Bellamy.

The test mixed human blood serum with an extract from the livers of people who had cancer. The test indicates cancer if solid particles form and the cloudy solution becomes clear.

It was tested on 4,500 persons. It was known that 830 of them had proved cancer. The test said "Yes" on 98.6 per cent of them.

In this group, nearly 1,000 persons apparently were healthy. The test indicated cancer, maybe wrongly, in only five of them. It still is not known whether any of these five may have cancers not detectable by other tests.

The next step is to learn whether the test will be helpful in cancer examinations of apparently-healthy people, about whom nothing is known so far as cancer is concerned.

Stop Aping Men Bishop Tells Girls

TORONTO, April 17 (CP) — Women who smoke and drink tend to be "more extreme" than men, Anglican Bishop G. A. Wells, said Sunday. He offered this advice:

Stop "aping the men."

If you're under 20, leave the stuff alone.

If you go 20 years without tobacco and liquor, you'll probably never ever use them.

Police, Workers Battle In Paris

PARIS, April 17 (Reuters) — Steel-helmeted police today made a night-stick charge against demonstrating workers trying to force their way into a state-owned aircraft plant which dismissed all its employees after riots Saturday.

About 400 workers, rallied by sirens from the nearby Communist-controlled town of Centilly, hurled sticks and other missles at a detachment of 150 policemen barring their way.

Hand-to-hand fighting began as reinforcements rushed to aid the 1,200 policemen and security guards, carrying rifles and gas-masks, who were already in position inside and around the Snecma aircraft plant.

Communist, Socialist and Christian (Catholic) trade unions had told all members who had been working at the plant to turn up as usual today despite the dismissals.

The demonstrators, carrying two French flags, chanted "we want work."

After the 10-minute scuffle with police, the demonstrators regrouped on the far side of a 100-yard "no man's land" and rearmed themselves with bricks and lumps of coal.

Man Thinks Son Hit Body Tossed In Creek

TORONTO, April 17 —(CP)— The father of a seven-year-old boy, missing since March 24, said today he believed the youngster was kidnapped or struck by a hit-and-run driver who threw the body into a flood-swollen tributary of the Highland Creek in suburban Scarboro.

The boy's body has not been recovered.

Deputy Police Chief Wilfred McLellan of Scarboro said a large-scale search of the district would be conducted next Saturday. Police, firemen, sea cadets, Boy Scouts and district residents will be asked to take part.

Some days after the boy disappeared his tricycle was found in the creek by police.

The boy's father, Einar Einarson, said "There is not a thing in the world that leads me to think Edward drowned in the creek."

Police have said they believe the boy was drowned.

Mother Sees Crippled Boy Stab Father

Father Beat Son, 14 'For No Reason' Boy Went To Police

CORNWALL, April 17—(CP) —A manslaughter charge was laid today against Maurice Leger, 14-year-old cripple who surrendered to police Saturday after his father was fatally stabbed. Police Chief Frank Hunter announced the charge. He said the boy will appear in juvenile court this afternoon before Juvenile Judge T. C. Bergeron.

The boy's father, Morris Leger, 37-year-old war veteran and paper mill employee, collapsed and died in his home from a knife wound after a struggle with the boy. The son walked into the police station and told police: "I have just had a row with my father and jabbed at him with a knife."

Mrs. Leger told police her husband had beaten the boy on numerous occasions for no reason and she had tried her best to protect her son.

The youth has been crippled since birth, with one leg shorter than the other, and he wears a peg-leg on the shorter limb. With the attachment he is active in sports as a hockey goalie, baseball and basketball player.

Mrs. Leger said her husband had been drinking and was lying on a couch when Maurice returned home Saturday after attending a movie. "My husband started to pick on the boy and hit him," she said. "I told him to leave the boy alone; that he shouldn't do this to his own child. He grabbed the boy by the throat. I tried to help Maurice but he broke away and went out."

The father then went to a neighbor's home and found Maurice. "They returned to the house and my husband started to beat him again. I didn't see Maurice grab the knife but I knew what had happened when my husband gave a terrible groan and staggered upstairs to his bedroom. He didn't say a word but lay there gasping for breath."

Another son, Roger, 10, said he saw Maurice pick up the knife. "My father went at him again and Maurice stuck out the knife and then pulled it back again," he said.

Maurice was held at the police station during the weekend.

Greece's King To Make Reforms

ATHENS, April 17 (AP)—King Paul pledged today that Greece's new coalition government will carry out broad financial and administrative reforms recommended by American advisers administering United States aid here.

In a speech opening the newly-elected parliament, the King repeated the American recommendations for Greek recovery which had served as a guide in forming the new cabinet of Premier Gen. Nicholas Plastiras.

The new centre-of-the-road coalition cabinet was sworn in only Sunday. It includes Liberals, Social Democrats and Plastiras' own mildly Leftist National Progressive Union. The cabinet has the backing of 136 members of parliament.

Sophocles Venizelos had formed an all-Liberal party cabinet following the March 5 parliamentary elections. But he resigned Friday after the United States expressed sharp displeasure over the fact that his government did not have the backing of the broad majority of parliament.

Gen. Plastiras, an old hand in Greek politics, was given the mandate by King Paul and promptly formed the new coalition cabinet. Besides his premiership he also takes over the ministry of foreign affairs.

Find Baby's Body Grandmother Said She Drowned

MONTREAL,, April 17—(CP)— —Police said early today that Mrs. Joseph Lacas, 51, likely will be charged with murder in the drowning of one of her two grandsons last Jan. 17.

Detective Capt. William Fitzpatrick, head of the Montreal homicide squad, said that the body of one of the two boys had been recovered from the St. Lawrence River near Sorel, Que., Sunday.

Mrs. Lacas last January told police she had drowned the two boys to keep their unmarried mother, Madeline Lacas, 28, from placing the youngsters in a foster home.

The recovered body was positively identified through clothing by Miss Lacas as Pierre, 18 months.

Pierre and this three-year-old brother, Jean, had been missing from their tiny shack-home here since Jan. 17 when their grandmother took them out for a walk.

Went To Police

That same day, Mrs. Lacas walked into a police station, saying she had drowned the babies. She said she had pushed their baby carriage into the St. Lawrence River.

Police sent divers to probe the floor of the river but no trace of them nor their carriage could be found. The search was abandoned because of the cold weather.

Miss Lacas said she believed the children had been taken to the home of friends and were being kept there.

Tried Suicide

Police arrested the grandmother and charged her with abduction. While in jail, she allegedly tried to take her own life and was subsequently charged with attempted suicide. She has been in jail since, awaiting trial.

Police today said Mrs. Lacas would appear as a material witness at a Coroner's inquest slated for later today or tomorrow.

The two parties are meeting today without Louis Fine, Chief Conciliation Officer of the Ontario Department of Labor.

Larry Sefton, union area supervisor, continued the union policy of no-comment on the progress of negotiations. However, Mr. Sefton did say that both parties would meet again tomorrow with Mr. Fine.

Communist Invasion Force Gets Toehold On Hainan, Think Start Of 'Big Push'

Nationalists Claim Most Invaders Killed, Reds Under Heavy Plane, Ship Fire Used 200 Junks For 10-Mile Crossing

By SPENCER MOOSA

TIPEI, Formosa, April 17—(AP)—A Communist invasion force today gained a precarious toehold on the north coast of Hainan Island after suffering heavy losses at sea, official Chinese Nationalist dispatches reported tonight. Most of the invaders were killed, but up to a late hour tonight fighting was still in progress west of the island capital of Hoihow, dispatches stated. The Reds were said to be under heavy attack by Nationalist warplanes and ground forces.

The Reds attempted the 10-mile overwater crossing from the mainland Sunday night in more than 200 junks, the account said.

More than half of these were declared to have been sunk during the night by Nationalist warships, but some succeeded in landing on the island this morning.

The Communists have made a half-dozen previous small attempts to invade Hainan, but have failed each time, and all reports have depicted them as preparing for a major effort. Mention of 200 junks suggests that the current attempt might be the start of the big push, but details were lacking.

Asked Friend To Shoot Him—Did

KINGSTON, NY, April 17 — (AP) — John Mayr, 18, who says he asked his pal to shoot him so he could keep an emergency room date with a nurse, was resting comfortably today.

His alleged assailant-by-invitation, William R. Pagan, 19, was released in $1,000 bail pending Grand Jury action. Pagan had been held on a misdemeanor charge. Both youths are from Kingston. Police said Mayr told this story:

Last Saturday afternoon he met the nurse on her way to work at the hospital.

"I'll see you at six o'clock in the emergency room," Mayr said.

Then, he said, he got his pal, Pagan, and the pair strolled into the woods with a .22-calibre rifle.

Mayr said he "insisted" that Pagan wound him three times.

He said he braced himself against a tree, pointed to his thigh and told Pagan, "'Shoot me here."

Pagan shot. Mayr cried, "Don't shoot any more."

Pagan went for help and Mayr landed in the hospital and the emergency room.

Whether the nurse was there was not revealed. Authorities also refused to disclose her name.

Chrysler Strike Expected To End On 'Final' Offer

DETROIT, April 17—(AP)— The door seemed open today for an early settlement of the costly 83-day Chrysler strike.

Optimism prevailed although the United Auto Workers (CIO) rejected Sunday what Chrysler Corporation termed its "final" offer in the pension dispute.

As negotiations resumed today, observers said it seemed probable Chrysler would be willing to revise parts of its proposal to get a settlement.

One thing appeared certain — that in principle the two sides are closer than at any time since 89,000 Chrysler workers walked off their jobs Jan. 25.

Walter P. Reuther, UAW president, underlined that point when he said after Sunday's offer.

"We are glad that at this date Chrysler has finally agreed to provide pensions for their workers guaranteed by a sound pension trust fund."

The means of financing $100-a-month pensions for workers who are 65 years of age and have 25 years' service has been the nub of the dispute.

Man Flies Ocean To Get Daughters

SELMA Ala., April 17 (CP)— An American war veteran flew back from London Sunday night with his two small daughters, who had been taken to England by his estranged wife.

The trans-Atlantic tug of war developed when the war-born romance of Hentry Arthur Vaughan, 38, a Selma accountant, and his English bride went on the rocks.

A court order granting a legal separation was issued recently, and Mrs. Vaughan returned to England with the little girls. Vaughan flew to London Friday.

The London Daily Mail said Vaughan snatched his two children from the street in front of his wife's home in a London suburb and left at once for his own home.

The paper quoted Vaughan as having said:

"I went and fetched my own children, whose custody a court had awarded me after a divorce."

At Selma, all Vaughan would say today was: "I have legal custody of the children."

Canadian Industry Gets Jittery

Ask Anti-Dumping Laws Be Used Against US If Necessary

OTTAWA, April 17 — (CP) — Canadian industry is becoming jittery over foreign competition, a customs expert said today.

Fear of what imports may do to business is making the government a target for increasing protests against low-priced foreign-made goods, the expert said.

Many of these protests, investigated by government inspectors, have been found to have no real foundation, other than the fear of opposition by the Canadian producer.

In other instances, the Canadian manufacturer appeared to have a case for protest, "under normal circumstances," but not under the Canadian tariff conditions which now prevail.

Many of these protests, said the expert, call for the application of Canada's anti-dumping law, but except for Japanese goods, the government has found no legitimate reason why it should apply this law.

Representations recently have been made by the Canadian dress industry against imports of Japanese and United States dresses.

"While these representations made a case against Japanese dresses, they did make a good case against American goods," the expert said.

As a result, the country's anti-dumping law has not been applied against American dresses—and likely will not be applied in the future unless the Americans "do something they have not done before."

Generally, Canadian officials have found that the United States makes a sincere effort not to sell goods in Canada at prices l wer than prices in the home market.

However, if the US did—"inadvertently or otherwise"—Canada would immediately protest and apply the anti-dumping regulations which slap duties on to the goods to bring the price in Canada to a level which is fair in comparison with Canadian goods.

Higher Price If Gold Free

Gemmell Urges More Money For Uranium

TORONTO, April 17 —(CP)— Mines Minister Gemmell said today he believes gold would bring a higher price if it were allowed to find its natural level. He also advocated a higher price for uranium.

Welcoming delegates to the three-day convention of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, the Ontario cabinet minister stated:

"We are living in a day when governments, whether for good or evil, have been doing quite a bit of price-setting. You in the mining industry know what the fixed price for gold ($35 an ounce U.S.) has meant, particularly in the past 10 years with the steady rise in the cost of operation and materialsand the increase in wages.

"You know, too, what a shot in the arm the industry received when, by reason of devaluation of the Canadian dollar in September, an additional $3.50 was realized from an ounce of gold. It is my belief that gold would be selling at a considerably higher price if it were allowed to find its natural level. We all appreciate what that would mean in the economy of Canada....

Mr. Gemmell said that "in Ontario, at least two of the more recent uranium finds are regarded by our geological staff as having important commercial possibilities. The same situation exists in other provinces."

He added: "The prospecting fraternity has gone about the task of turning up uranium funds with characteristic vigor and thoroughness. But the fact remains that in over two years of intense activity, not a single uranium mine has been brought in.

20 Deer Starved On Niagara Island

TORONTO, April 17 (CP). — More than a score of deer have starved to death on Navy Island in the Niagara River, it was reported today.

Officials of the Ontario Lands Department and the Ontario Research Foundation visited the island and found 18 carcasses and many starving animals.

Main reason for that condition of the deer was the fact that the island was over-populated. The investigators estimated that the vegetation only can support 25 to 30 animals.

It was hoped that survivors would swim to the mainland. If not, the herd would have to be thinned out before next winter to prevent further starvation.

Plane Crash In Winnipeg Kills One Man

Pilot Tries To Land In Back Yards Loses Right Foot

WINNIPEG, April 17—(CP)—A pilot who tried desperately to bring his crippled plane down without damage in a residential area is in serious condition today.

One man was killed when FO. Vic Barber, power salesman and R.C.A.F. reserve flyer, crash-landed his Air Force jet fighter in the back yards of two houses in suburban St. James. Another man was slightly injured.

FO. Barber lost his right foot just above the ankle.

Conscious when he was dug out of the mud where he hurtled from the plane, his repeated question was:

"Did I kill anyone?"

Nurse Runs to Aid

Mrs. Verna LaRoche, registered nurse who heard the plane whistling out of a clear sky and hurried to the wreck, did not know of the death of Lorimer Fairhall, 41-year-old carpenter killed as he worked in his garage.

She told the pilot that no one was killed, washed his scratched and mud-covered face.

Fairhall was bent over his automobile when the plane, zooming low at about 100 miles an hour, snipped a tree and sent its wing through his garage roof. A falling beam struck him.

The plane slewed around in mid-air, missed one house and crashed into the lean-to on another. One wing crushed the lean-to and the other slashed a garage wall.

Air force officers on the flight sad Barber had reported motor trouble only about a quarter-mile from Stevenson airport. Barber then raised his nose to extend his glide, and take the chance of crashing into houses farther along the street. They said they thought he tried to stall his craft and pancake it in a small clear space behind the two houses.

Slight Injury

The other injured man, Gilbert Hughes, suffered slight head injuries when the impact of the plane's wing knocked a cradle phone from its receiver and it fell on him.

Crowds of Sunday drivers and neighbors flocked to the scene.

Angus Melsted, 14, said he saw the plane coming in low, heading toward Stevenson airfield about a quarter-mile away. He and other witnesses agreed that the motor apeared to be dead. It was almost soundless except for a whistling sound made by the air friction.

Asked About Leg

Mrs. Laroche said that after she reached the pilot he asked me about his right leg, which was severed just above the ankle.

"I told him it was broken. He said his back was sore, adding: 'I hope it isn't broken.'"

"His eyes, nose and mouth were so filled with mud it was almost impossible to see his features. His face was badly cut. They had to cut his parachute away before they could get him in the ambulance."

GUEST SPEAKER at the Peterborough Sales and Advertising Club meeting on Tuesday evening will be William C. Stannard, president of Canadian advertising and sales federation. After dinner and speech, club members will visit Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Company.

Seretse Welcomed On Visit To Wife

SEROWE, Bechuanaland, April 17.—(AP).—Seretse Khama came home before dawn yesterday on a temporary visit to white wife and his black Bamangwato tribes men, amid tears, cheers and kisses.

His wife — the former London stenographer, Ruth Williams — ran 500 yards, half sobbing, half laughing, over rough sand tracks into the arms of the Bamangwato chief. She is expecting a baby this summer.

"Pula, Pula!" (welcome, welcome) cried grizzled tribal elders, as they watched the Khamas embrace under the starry African night sky. Photographers' flashbulbs popped.

Ruth had not seen her husband since he went to London three months ago to hear Britain was going to banish him from his tribal homeland for five years because of the fuss his marriage stirred up.

Seretse had driven 300 miles to Serowe from Lobatsi to be with his wife and people for only five days.

He reached his mud-hut capital about an hour after midnight. He was told by British authorities he would risk immediate expulsion if he sought in any way to convene or address any meetings of his tribesmen.

The young African chief seemed calm as he greeted his wife.

Raft Discovery May End Search

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Apr. 17 (AP)—A little British freighter in the Baltic Sea Sunday picked up a derelict life raft which a U.S. Air Force spokesman considers to be escape equipment of an American Navy four-engined plane that vanished mysteriously April 8.

"We think the raft belonged to the missing plane," Capt. L. E. Curdes said, "but we cannot be completely sure until we have the raft here."

That may be a day or two. But the raft appeared to be the first concrete clue to the fate of the plane and its 10-man crew, the subject of wide speculation since Russia announced last Tuesday there was a gunfight over Latvia, three days before, between an American bomber and a Soviet fighter.

The 1,813-ton Beechland, bound from London to the Finnish port of Kotka, radioed that she found the yellow float, but no sign of life, about 45 miles east of Stockholm.

The spot is 200 miles north of the Latvian city of Lepaya, which the Russians named in describing the purported aerial clash. It is 350 miles northeast of the Danish islands of Bornholm, centre of the air and sea search over vast areas of the Baltic since last Sunday.

The plane disappeared after leaving the north German coast on what was billed as a routine training flight from Wiesbaden, Germany to Copenhagen. United States authorities said it was unarmed.

Chrysler Strike

Chrysler described its proposal, which gives the UAW a choice of three pension systems, "the best pension and insurance offer that any large company in the automotive industry has ever offered the union."

In any of the three plans, Chrysler would pay pensions of $100 a month, including social security.

Chrysler said one of the choices it offered the union was a "30-year level premium funding plan" similar to the one the UAW accepted earlier from Ford Motor Company. Another was establishment of an actuarillay-sound trust fund backed by a $30,000,000 sum, similar to the funding method used in the Bethlehem Steel Company pension plan.

The third, management spokesman said, would follow a system worked out at United States Steel Company, by which the corporation would pay into a fund money to cover years already worked by each employee and future service credits as the employee works toward earning pensions.

MORE ABOUT—
Plane Search

Russia protested last Tuesday that April 8 an American plane of the B-29 type flew over Soviet Latvia. It said the plane fired on a Russian plane and that the Soviet aircraft returned the fire.

An American investigation has indicated that the only possible United States plane which could have been over Latvia was a navy patrol plane, missing since April 8 on a training flight. That plane was unarmed and had instructions to stay clear of Soviet territory.

Formal search for the missing navy plane has been abandoned.

Conservative Opposition Expected Over UK Budget

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, April 17 — (CP) — Britain's budget secrets were outlined today in a political climate turned slightly chilly for the Labor Government.

Sixteen cabinet ministers called at 10 Downing Street for a preview of the four two-hour budget speech which will be unveiled in the Commons tomorrow, opening a new period of strain and anxiety for the government.

All members of the cabinet except Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin attend the traditional eve-of-budget meeting presided over by Prime Minister Attlee. Bevin is recovering from a minor operation.

Ministers outside the cabinet will have to wait until tomorrow, when the speech will be read in the House by Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Make It Hot

For the first time since 1945, the budget will be presented without the safeguard of a sufficiently-large majority to force the government's proposals through, whatever the opposition. This time the two big parties are closely matched and there are signs that the Conservatives plan to make it "hot" for Labor.

Although budget resolutions are usually treated as a formality on budget day, they are generally too technical to be absorbed at one hearing—the opposition could force a vote if it wished.

There were reports of such a Conservative coup during the weekend but they were generally discounted.

In any event, the government has issued a three-line whip to guard against possible Tory "shock tactics" tomorrow.

Two week-end events added to the worries of a Labor government which goes into Budget Day only five seats up on the Opposition.

1—The resignation of Stanley Evans, Parliamentary Secretary to the Food Ministry, who discomfited his chiefs by saying that no other country feather-beds its agriculture as Britain does. Many political writers contended that Evans' only crime was putting bluntly what some ministers probably intend to say when the time is ripe—that high subsidies on farm products will have to come down eventually.

2—The announcement that two Liberal members of the House of Lords, the Marquess of Reading and Lord Rennell, have decided to join the Conservatives.

No More Than 10 Per Cent

The peers said they feel that in another election the Liberals would be unlikely to get much more than 10 per cent of the total vote, even with a change in the electoral system.

Their decision will harm the Liberals, but it will be equally as damaging to Labor, which has been vieing with the Tories for the Liberal vote at the next election. Recent Liberal statements show a tone distinctly cooler to Labor than to the Tories, and there is thus a renewed hope at the Conservative Party office that some form of Tory-Liberal coalition may be finally arranged.

When the next election will come still is a guess, but the Conservatives appear to be in an increasingly challenging mood. In a by-election last week, Conservative Leader Winston Churchill said: "No good can come from prolonging the impotent and precarious life of this discredited government."

Ask To Prosecute Canadian Press

TORONTO, April 17 (CP) — The American Newspaper Guild has applied to the Minister of Labor for leave to prosecute The Canadian Press under the Industrial Relations and Disputes Act.

The Guild charges that CP imposed a condition that no Guild member may serve on the news agency's Ottawa parliamentary staff. It also charges that CP refused to bargain collectively with the Guild, stipulating that the Guild's committee must consist solely of CP employees, excluding specifically an international representative.

Tourney Too Rough As Cobourg Victors

COBOURG, April 17—(ENS)—The hockey tourney which started a week ago, wound up on Friday night at the Cobourg recreation centre and left rather a bad impression on the spectators in view of the fights which broke out during the game between Cobourg and Port Hope. Port Hope had eliminated Peterborough by a score of 5-4 on Friday night and Cobourg defeated Port Hope Eldos. Cobourg and Port Hope juniors paired off for the final tilt.

Fights broke out on the ice during the game in which Clfif Maundrell of Cobourg received head injuries when he was tripped by a Port Hope player. Thompson of Port Hope, who was in the penalty box, incurred a second misconduct penalty automatically when he left the penalty box during a fight on the ice. The game came to an end in the second period when Manager Downey pulled his team from the ice and the game went to Cobourg by default. This gave Cobourg first prize money of $200. Just who will receive the second prize money has not been decided as yet.

Comments from many of the fans followed the same general trend after the game—that it was high time teams played hockey instead of roughhouse tactics which featured many of the games this season.

Here are the injuries suffered this past winter by members of Cobourg and Port Hope teams:

Dick Hart of Cobourg, loss of an eye while he played for Port Hope Eldos against a Cobourg team in the mercantile loop.

Bill Hessin, Port Hope juniors, several broken ribs in a game against Lindsay in which two Lindsay players also were injured.

Jack Buchanan of Cobourg, broken arm while playing last week against OAC in the hockey tourney.

Cliff Maundrell, Cobourg, concussion as a result of head injuries when he was tripped in Friday night's game against Port Hope juniors. Maundrell is being kept under observation in the event of a fractured skull.

And they used to say lacrosse was too rough!

Displaced Youth

Gang delinquency is not new to Toronto and Ontario. Here is an extract from the Weekly Globe of April 24, 1880:

The Grand Jury of Frontenac have expressed approval of the County Judge's remarks in favour of flogging for juvenile offenders.

Another from Truth, Toronto, August 16th, 1884:

There are far too many corners in Toronto infested by young blackguards who make a point of insulting as many as possible of those who pass by. The police should attend to these reprobates much more thoroughly than they do.

Another from the Globe, April 24, 1880:

The police have heard numerous complaints recently about bad boys who have no regard for boulevards, trees, chainfences, etc., but it is almost impossible to catch an offender in the act, and so the trouble goes on.

* * *

These three extracts are a comment on three aspects of a situation now perturbing this province: First, youthful delinquency is not a new thing; adolescence is always a problem to itself and to society. Secondly, the slap-dash method of solving it crops up perennially: "teach them a lesson", flog them, jail them, scare the wits out of them, give them as good as they give. It is an almost instinctive reaction of an outraged society. A third, and contrasting aspect of the present situation compared with the 1880's is this. In the early period there was no popular or oblique glorification of the youthful gangs. They were nonentities, shapeless gangs without a name like "The Beanery Gang".

* * *

Young delinquents of fifty years ago did not get notoriety for themselves as individuals or gangs. J. Alex Edmison, K.C., secretary of the John Howard Society, notes in an article in the Canadian Forum that:

We have seen their pocket books stuffed with the clippings and we have heard their boasted affiliation, authentic or otherwise, with the more notorious area gangs. Other gangs are rather envious of such publicity. One club leader who was trying to do something in the way of organized recreational activity with a street corner group, reported to me that one night, on arrival for his weekly meeting, he found them pouring over an article in a national magazine which dealt with the escapades of one of the locality gangs. He relates that, as the meeting opened, one of the members asked—'What in hell can we do to get some publicity like this?'

* * *

The break-up of family life, the crowded, uneasy post-war home conditions, the instability of life when the father was in the services and the mother in a factory during the war, have contributed to the present problems of youth maturing sourly. There is this to consider, too. Authoritarianism whether of home, church, school, union or management, is becoming ineffective and irritating. Youth cannot be expected unaided, to recognize the difference between the authority imposed by a Hitler (which western society fought a war to frustrate) and the kind of authority which human society must require for its own preservation and advancement.

* * *

There are two bright spots in the present situation which Mr. Edmison refers to. First, juvenile delinquency is under a decline in Canada. His second reference, as a question coming from a person so well acquainted with the problem and methods of meeting it, is an optimistic challenge: "Surely we in Canada have the initiative and the resources to solve, in sizeable measure, the problem of our displaced youth". That last phrase is a lens to view the whole situation in fresh perspective: "displaced youth".

U.S. Tariff Reductions?

American officials are going to the conference in England of forty Geneva trade pact countries, and taking with them a list of 2,500 items on which the U.S.A. may reduce its tariff rates. That is very good news indeed, if anything comes of it. If the U.S.A. reduces its tariff on the goods of one country, it must, under the Geneva Trade Agreement, reduce it for all countries. Therefore Canada would benefit, and Canadian goods could go across the border without the high duties now imposed on many articles.

The question which Ottawa trade officials ask is: will the American official intentions come to anything? Canadian Government trade officials, with the support of Parliament, can go to a trade conference with a definite policy and schedule, do their dickering, and come back with the documents signed, the deed done. American Government trade officials may intend carrying out this or that, but they do not always have the power to do it. Congress may upset the Administration's plans and agreements. In this instance, a further obstacle has to be faced. By statute, proposed changes in tariff schedules must be publicized. Any U.S. manufacturer may study the list, and lodge a protest at public hearings which the U.S. Government is obliged to hold.

There is little doubt that hundreds of items on the proposed tariff reduction list will meet with strong opposition from producers in the United States. A toy manufacturer, for instance, cannot be expected to sit quiet and approve a reduction in the tariff on German or Canadian toys, if these German or Canadian toys might sell, because of the reduction, at a lower price than the American-made toys.

The Canadian way of changing tariff rates of course allows for representations to be made to Ottawa by Canadian manufacturers; but the lists need not be made known ahead of time, and Canadian Government negotiators are not directly subject to the various pressure groups which would hold up or cancel tariff changes considered to be good for the country as a whole, if not for some individual groups in it.

Most Americans by now realize that the U.S.A. must import more goods if its economy, and the world's are to return to even keel. Most realize that U.S. tariff barriers must be lowered—they are higher and more numerous than those of Canada and other countries. But American unions, management and industrial directors want the other fellow to take the possible competition. The soap maker would not object to a reduction of the tariff on toys; the toy manufacturer would not object to lowering the duties on soap; but both go to Washington to oppose reductions on their own products.

We shall have to wait and see how many of the 2,500 items really do get the benefit of tariff reductions.

United States Boundary Again Disputed

Often the subject of litigation and discussion, the famed Mason-Dixon Line of the United States is again in the news. On this occasion it is the State of Maryland which demands a new survey.

The odd thing about the Mason-Dixon line is that despite all the litigation and discussion, no one seems to know exactly where it is. The National Geographic Society, regarded as an authority in such matters, does not seem to know the exact location. However, it was a bulletin of the Society which contained the news of the present demand for a new survey. It appears from the bulletin that many of the Line's markers have disappeared, and that there are a number of people living in the neighbourhood of stretches of the Line who are not quite sure whether they live in Pennsylvania or Delaware. These people may not care very much either way, but the tax collectors of the two States are quite interested.

The Mason-Dixon Line takes its name from two English astronomers, Charles Mason, and Jeremiah Dixon, who surveyed it between the years 1763 and 1767. There had been a controversy of long standing and considerable litigation between the heirs of William Penn, and the heirs of the Barons Baltimore, respectively the proprietors of Pennsylvania and Maryland. For a time, the original Line settled the dispute, and the boundary was marked with special limestone markers, imported from England. About a hundred years later, however, another dispute arose, this time involving the State of Delaware as well. When the survey made then was completed, Pennsylvania was awarded about eight hundred and forty acres which had previously belonged to Delaware, but a later survey restored these acres to Delaware.

Arguments about the Line as a State boundary are not the most common form of argument over the Mason-Dixon Line. Popularly speaking, it is the boundary which separated free and slave states before the Civil War, and it is today regarded as the boundary between North and South. When used in this manner the Mason-Dixon Line extends far to the west of the original survey, and there is even greater argument then as to its exact location.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

THERE is a certain amount of confusion in matters of musical notation and nomenclature. This is not unexpected: in fact, under present circumstances it is remarkable that there is as little confusion as there is. Nevertheless, there is a growing tendency on the part of composers to adopt varying practices to suit their own ends, in the hopes that their ideas may be taken up by others. To take one or two examples, Prokoflef in his orchestral scores invariably writes the parts of the transposing instruments as though they were all in C. Bartokomits naturals which are customary under certain circumstances. There have been several attempts at introducing new systems of notation, from tonic sol-fa to Klavarscribo, but I shall confine my observations purely to the commonly accepted staff notation. Time signatures badly need reform. Many modern composers such as Delius omit key signatures altogether, even when writing purely diatonic music. What is needed is an international body for the purpose of regularizing the practice of composers and music publishers. Music may not be the international language that some claim it to be, but at least its alphabet could be standardized and brought up to date. There is nothing to be gained by dropping Italian as the language of musical directions, but many of its terms are used in vague and contradictory ways. These could be given clear definitions. The distinction between ritenuto and ritardando, so often ignored, should be stressed. It may be argued that we have managed to muddle our way through all right up to the present, but there is a real danger facing us that the present system whereby a Russian or Hungarian score is intelligible throughout the world may disintegrate as a result of the centrifugal forces which are now operating so strongly.

✧ ✧ ✧

TOVEY was a brilliant writer on matters musical, probably one of the greatest of all time. What is more, he is very readable, and enlivens his discourse with paradox like Chesterton and crushes his opponents with massive Johnsonian common-sense. He was also a brilliant talker, though not a conversationalist, for that implies a certain amount of give and take which Tovey (like Dr. Johnson) was unwilling to concede. He was a tall hulking man with light-blue eyes and the look of one who dwells on mountain-peaks. Somewhat shy at first, it was necessary to draw him out with a remark or two, and then he would start to talk. I wish I could remember half the things he said, though when I read his books I recognize here and there some of his sayings. I remember him turning to the Overture to "Die Meistersinger" and showing how the Toreador's song in Carmen could be made to fit in with the other three motifs in the celebrated contrapuntal passage where they are played simultaneously. This seemingly irrelevant piece of information was used to point the moral that the "filling-in" harmonies of the horns acted as a sort of cement to bind the texture together. He was a conservative, reared in the tradition of Brahms and Parry, but he defended conservatism from a new angle and had nothing but contempt for neat little textbook theorizers who conveniently forgot the practice of the great composers when it suited them to do so. Typical of this attitude was his insistence that fugue is a texture rather than a form apart from the exposition, and even the exposition is by no means a cut-and-dried affair, as anyone who has taken the trouble to inspect the Forty-eight Preludes and Fugues can see.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE military band is deservedly popular in parks, beaches and other resorts or on the march. Its origin is distinctly utilitarian, to keep a body of soldiers in step, and at the same time to keep up their morale. The instruments employed should have a good carrying power in the open air; they must be portable; finally they should stand up to rain, wind and sun. This eliminates the string section, so important in an orchestra. In compensation the wind section is much fuller: the percussion, too, is stressed especially in marches, in order to emphasize the step, though this section is lacking in many of the percussion instruments to be found in the modern orchestra. Military bands have existed in some form or other for a considerable time, but it was not until the nineteenth century, when the wind instruments underwent so many improvements, that it was possible to create the modern military band and its extensive literature of marches and other pieces. The greatest figure in the military band is without a doubt the American J. P. Sousa. His rousing marches with their extrovert swagger portrayed the dynamic energy, the cheeky optimism of the New World, far more truthfully than did the mawkish masochism of Gershwin. His own band (which he preferred to call a wind orchestra or a concert band) differed in many details from the standard military band, and he raised it to a very high degree of proficiency. He could fill a hall anywhere, was never indebted to any subsidy or other financial help, and could afford to attract the very best players. Those who played under him testify that he had the gift of bringing out the best in them. His tours took him all over the world, sometimes in Carnegie Hall, sometimes in the most out-of-the-way spots. Peterborough received a visit from him in 1908; there must be some alive today who can remember the concert that he gave. From time to time he introduced "tougher" items into his programmes such as Strauss's "Death and Transfiguration" and excerpts from Parsifal. The lighter side was not missing at times. On one occasion he introduced a cannon shot into a piece at a performance in one of the smaller towns: at the moment of the explosion one of the stage hands dropped a handful of feathers onto the stage! I am indebted for much of this information to Mr. F. W. Sullivan, who played in Sousa's band and was the youngest member.

✧ ✧ ✧

DURING the past few years composers have been writing more and more music expressly for military band, for there is no doubt that arrangements from orchestral scores are often unsatisfactory. English composers in particular, such as Elgar, Holst, Herbert Howells and others have shown themselves alive to the possibilities latent in this medium.

RIGHT BACK AT YOU, JOE

Archbishop Charbonneau

NOTRE TEMPS
(Montreal Nationalist Weekly)

THE resignation of the Archbishop of Montreal has been represented as a victory of the Union Nationale Government because of the attitude taken by His Excellency Mgr. Charbonneau during the Asbestos strike and at the time of the Catholic Teachers' strike in Montreal.

Furthermore, it has been said we could expect the resignation of Mgr. Philippe Desranleau, Bishop of Sherbrooke, also. The latter's denial of this has not put an end to these unmannerly comments. They have been continually repeated, just as in former days political pamphlets were secretly distributed. How are we to combat such propaganda when it is passed from person to person in a supposedly confidential manner?

Such confidences arise in the minds of those who know nothing about it. It is an unworthy proceeding, revealing a total ignorance of Church doctrine, of its well-established attitudes, of its absolute independence of the temporal power in any way, of its whole-hearted devotion to the weak . . . the secret plottings prepared in the shades of political laboratories (for or against such and such a party) quickly meet the fate they deserve: public reprobation.

But. . . .following these rumours, workers have pricked their ears, and. . . .have begun to use the following quite simple argument: 'We had, in our fight against the capitalist system, which is far from being favourable to us, defenders and friends among the bishops. We could count on them to support us in our just claims and to throw the tremendous weight of their authority and prestige in our favour. By their acts and their words we have understood that the Catholic Church was sympathetically inclined towards our miseries and demanded our social betterment . . . .but now, these bishops are being punished for helping us. Because of them, we have resisted communism. But if they leave us, where shall be be? Two forces are attracting the working class: the Church and communism. If we cannot rely on the Church and on its charity, how are we to fight communism?'

This is the tremendous and profound evil which ill-intentioned rumours have caused. But Rome has spoken . . . Let our workers be reassured. Let the leaders endeavour to pacify their union members. Rome is immovable. Rome does not surrender to blackmail. Rome will always defend the poor and humble as it has always protected all classes of society. Rome has a social doctrine which is valid for our country as it is for Italy, Belgium, France, England, and for all continents, countries, peoples and workers of all lands. Under its paternal banner. . . .our workers may have confidence. Let them not be disturbed. Let them be calm and have patience . . . .To use a very fine expression of a great Irish Catholic: 'Let our workers rest in the hand of God.'

Limpid Beauty

There was a day when a vaccination scar was regarded as a mark of health and common sense, and without a trace of self-consciousness a young girl would wear hers on her left upper arm. But fashions changed, and the arm scare became conspicuous, or so it was thought.

It was evening dress, or rather the desire to wear it with regal poise, that led to the search for a new vaccination area. After going to the trouble of getting herself all prettied up for a formal affair, the young woman didn't think it was fitting to flaunt a scar that offered no social prestige at all. So thigh vaccinations became the vogue.

As the bathing suit became briefer and briefer, however, the thigh scar also came into view. It wasn't particularly favoured, but was endured because there seemed to be no hope of finding an alternative. But at last gay Paris has come to the rescue.

Actress Virginia Mayo, returning from France, says the Parisians now are getting vaccinated on the sole of the foot. This expedient may be inconvenient or even painful for a matter of weeks—but when have women spared themselves torture in their attempts to be beautiful?—Windsor Star.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Hear the word of the Lord, ye children of Israel: for the Lord hath a controversy with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth, nor mercy, nor knowledge of God in the land. (Hos. 4: 1.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Thou therefore, my son, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus. . . .Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth. But shun profane and vain babblings: for they will increase unto more ungodliness. (II Tim. 2: 1, 15, 16.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Then David arose, and all the people that were with him, and they passed over Jordan: by the morning light there lacked not one of them that was not gone over Jordan. (II Sam. 17: 22.)

✧ ✧ ✧

So the people went out into the field against Israel: and the battle was in the wood of Ephraim. . . .And Absalom met the servants of David. And Absalom rode upon a mule, and the mule went under the thick boughs of a great oak, and his head caught hold of the oak, and he was taken up between the heaven and the earth; and the mule that was under him went away. And a certain man saw it, and told Joab, and said, Behold, I saw Absalom hanged in an oak. (II Sam. 18: 6, 9, 10.)

Make-Work Gospel

Union bricklayers in central Canada on straight wall work — when they're in good weather and in a good mood — are laying around 650 bricks a day. Some do 350, some 800. On one thing contractors are agreed. This is about half the work done 15 years ago.

Now, an inventor comes along with a gadget which enables a bricklayer to do the job about two and a half times faster. The unions prohibit their men having anything to do with it.

The make-work, stretch-the-work gospel is a tragic delusion which helps keep poor the very people who think it helps them.

If the stretch-the-work theory were sound, the richest workers in the world would have been the people who, with manpower alone, built the pyramids. Under that theory, we should build the Trans-Canada highway with teaspoons.

The purpose of all economic activity is not to make work, but to provide the products of work—food, clothing, shelter, means for the enjoyment of leisure.

The technological revolution is a fancy name for the fact that in the past half century we have found ways of multiplying our output of goods and services with a decreasing per unit content of manpower. That's what puts cars in the garages and refrigerators in the kitchen and insurance policies in the drawers.—Financial Post.

Occupied Or Not? Japanese Don't Feel Much Pinch

By RUSSEL BRINES

TOKYO, April 17 (AP).—The machinery of occupation fits awkwardly these days on a Japan increasingly hopeful of independence.

In recent months the Japanese have been given back so much authority that it sometimes seems the Americans here are the only persons remaining under occupation control.

Major policies, naturally, are still decided in Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquafters, or higher authority. These generally are concerned with Japan's economics, international relations and any basic changes in the occupation blueprint for a "reformed" Japan.

In this category, headquarters recently ordered coal miners to call off a prospective major strike because American officials believe it would hurt Japan's economy.

On the lower operating levels, administration is mainly Japanese, partly American and partly confusion.

Take the problem of entering Japan. A tourist gets in the easy way — through the Japanese — for a limited period. A commercial representative has to use another method. There is a third, and more difficult, procedure for someone who wants to visit a family attached to the occupation.

In the last case, the occupation host has to show a "compassionate" reason for the visit, even though the critical point — housing — has been settled.

Under the occupation there also are three strictly-separated "levels of civilization."

There is the ordinary Japanese, who nowadays pays little attention to the occupation except to note places it keeps him from frequenting, such as American servicemen's movies.

There are two classes of Americans.

The "commercial entrants" live half under Japanese control and half under the occupation. They buy ration-free items at their own stores — and pay top prices. They are denied most of the military privileges, including housing, but they must have occupation permission to buy or rent a Japanese house.

Members of the armed forces and a small number of civilians attached to the occupation remain under tight military regulation, little changed from the immediate post-war months. The Japanese are supposed to govern them on such matters as traffic and customs. Their essentials are rationed and a rule book covers their housing. It is cheaper, but more hectic this way.

The basic aim is to make Japan into a functioning nation in advance of a formal peace treaty. Yet Japanese politicians frequently talk at cross purposes with the occupation's aim.

Sometimes it is hard to figure out who is ruling whom.

Israel On Road To Economic Recovery-Official

By LARRY ALLEN

JERUSALEM, April 17 (AP)—Little Israel is on the road to economic recovery, but there's many rocky stretches yet to be travelled.

That was the news given to the Knesset (Parliament) by Finance Minister Eliezer Kaplan in presenting the government's budget for the three months ending June 30.

Kaplan told Parliament an inflationary trend which developed in 1949 had been reversed and the general cost-of-living index cut 15 per cent. He reported a big expansion of production and a marked drop in unemployment

Defence Budget

The Finance Minister withheld information about Israel's defence budget for 1950-51 "for security reasons." They are geared with the government's intention to develop defences to maximum capacity in view of the "heavy rearmament" of neighboring Arab states.

Kaplan presented what is designed to be a "balanced budget" for the period April 1-June 30.

He estimated ordinary government revenue at £10,601,250 (Israeli) (about $31,500,000) and expenditures at the same figure.

For the further economic development of Israel during the three months, Kaplan offered a spending budget of £20,000,000.

He estimated revenue at the same figure.

Income Taxes

Kaplan cited income taxes as the biggest source of revenue under the ordinary budget. He estimated the levies would bring in £2,150,000.

He said 98,000 job-hunters applied to labor exchanges during 1949 and only 25,289 were still jobless as of Jan. 1, 1950.

The Finance Minister reported that under the £20,000,000 economic revelopment budget for the next three months, the government proposd to spend £5,600,000 for building houses for the tens of thousands of immigrants flowing into Israel.

Mercy Killing Has No Excuse Surgeon Claims

MONTREAL, April 17 (CP)—A leading Boston surgeon said here Friday that there is "no real excuse for so-called mercy killings" because modern surgery can eliminate pain and other distressing factors in cases of uncurable diseases.

Dr. James C. White, chief of the department of neurosurgery at Massachusetts General Hospital, gave his views on the problem of euthanasia in an interview while visiting the Montreal Neurological Institute.

He said that when there is no way to cure the cause of a disease and so eliminate the pain, the pain itself can be relieved by any one of several surgical operations.

"There is no real excuse for euthanasia," he said.

Dr. White said many cancer patients worry about a number of things besides the pain. They are upset about the disease and because they will die from it. If shortness of breath attacks them, they worry about the possibility of dying from strangulation. If they have difficulty swallowing, they worry about starving to death.

The solution to these problems, he said, is frontal lobotomy.

Former Red Food Expert Says Farm System Failed

By ROBERT GEIGER

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP)—A former Russian food expert says the Russian agricultural system is a failure.

Naum Jasny, author of a new book, "Socialized Agriculture of The U.S.S.R.," writes that the Russians have built an industrial system on an agricultural foundation not large enough to take care of it.

As long as this situation lasts it will be a threat to Russian economy, Jasny adds. He sees no signs that the Russians are attempting to remedy the fault and says an attempted reorganization might prove "an extremely painful and prolonged process."

State Takes Share

For one thing, he says, the peasants were forced into the present Russian system of collectivized and state farming. The Russians took away the property of almost 100,000,000 peasants and placed it in a pool, and farm workers draw their earnings after the state has appropriated its share.

"This obviously means permanent hostility; indeed, it means a sort of permanent civil war that may be concealed," Jasny said in an interview here. "This hostility is unlikely to come into the open before a substantial weakening of the Soviet power, but it is going to play a big role when and if the weakening comes."

He said no state except one with strong political and military power could enforce such an agricultural scheme as Russia has.

Weakens Power

"Even a weakening of the political power would inevitably disturb the balance, if not lead to the collapse, of the collective farm system," Jasny writes.

He also contends that Russia cannot go back to older types of farming, with peasants owning or operating many individual small farms, because too many horses have been destroyed or otherwise eliminated, and their places have been taken by machinery.

Machinery is suitable for large-scale collective farming but not peasant farming. Peasant farming won't support more than half of the present Russian city population even if the Russians risked going back to this type of agriculture.

He believes the Soviet Union will have to find some new form of agriculture, based on the collective use of farm machinery on a large scale, but with a better balance between agricultural and industrial output.

His analysis of Russian agriculture is based on Russian and other statistics available in the United States, principally at the United States Department of Agriculture, where Jasny has been employed.

Polytechnic Turns Out Top French Mathmeticians

By GODFREY ANDERSON

PARIS, April 17 — (AP) — France's famed polytechnic school, which once turned out military technicians for Napoleon, today is training atomic scientists and the men who will handle American arms in the re-equipped French forces.

Strictly disciplined and steeped in colorful tradition acquired in 150 years of stormy national history, future French officers are learning that modern war is largely a matter of higher mathematics.

Learned professors lead them daily through the complicated maze of figures and Algebraic symbols which occupy most of their waking hours. The shadow of the greath mathematician Gaspard Monge, who helped found the school in 1799 during the French revolution, is always over them.

Entry to the polytechnic is open to all who can make the grade. But of the 1,800 candidates who apply ever year only about 200 are accepted—the pick of the best brains of France.

The youth who enters the polytechnic makes a contract with his country. He receives his two years' tuition free, but he must follow it with one year of active military service as a second Lieutenant, and then 10 years' service in any department of state to which he may be drafted.

He may express a preference for either military or civil services in any particular branch, but only the most brilliant scholars see their wish fulfilled. The rest are sent where they are needed.

Those who do not end up as technical officers in the army, navy or air force, may find themselves civilian public works engineers, mining inspectors, agriculture or forestry experts, colonial administrators, or meteorologists.

If they wish to go into private business before the 10 years are up, they must repay to the Finance Ministry the 480,000 Francs (about $1,500) the republic has spent upon their education and outfitting.

Napoleon imposed a military regime on the school when he gave it its tricolor flag inscribed "pour la patrie, les sciences et la gloire" ((for Fatherland, science and glory") in 1804. Within a few years it began hatching out a steady stream of military engineers and artillery men to aid him in the founding of an empire.

Cut In Waiting Urged For Unemployment Pay

GALT, April 17 (CP)—Ignoring the advice of Ontario Young Liberal president Vernon Signer of Toronto, the Western Ontario Young Liberal Association Saturday went on record in favor of urging the Federal government to decrease the waiting time for payment of unemployment insurance payments.

Bruce McCullough of Kitchener, retiring president of the WOYLA urged the resolution be adopted after it was proposed by Ken McColeman of Brantford.

At the same time, the association, in its third and annual session, decided against urging the Federal government to increase unemployment insurance benefits.

During the session, speakers divided on the question of immigration. One speaker blamed George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, for contributing to Ontario's unemployment by the "airlift" immigration program instituted while he was Premier of Ontario. But another added that immigration created jobs rather than unemployment.

Ray Turvey of Brantford was elected president.

Drew Blasts Reds' Insidious Propaganda

SHERBROOKE, Que., April 17 (CP)—George Drew, leader of the Progressive Conservative party, Sunday night blasted the "insidious propaganda and organized anti-religious doctrine" of Communism.

In an address at the official opening of the Canadian Legion's 23rd provincial convention, Mr. Drew said:

"The Communism of today is not that of Marx or Lenin, who advocated simple equality of classes. That Communism, and its theoretical form, disappeared from Russia years ago."

"We face one of the most terrible threats of all days and it is all the more so because its form is uncertain. . . Its insidious propaganda and organized anti-religious doctrine seek to destroy civilization."

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

R. S. Hull, president of the Catholic High School athletic advisory club here, is a firm believer in the value of supervised sports to complement high school's curriculum of academic subjects. Hence, his club is out to raise sufficient money for complete equipment required for the athletic program planned for the autumn and next winter in football and hockey, as well as other phases of recreation. Catholics are asked to donate in a coming campaign, and we feel that it is money well spent. This will not be an annual campaign at all, and donors will become club members. It will help make better citizens.

There's an exhibition hockey game at 8.30 tomorrow eve in Civic Arena, between the junior "B" Oddfellows and the senior "B" Petes. Proceeds go to the PMHA, where future OHA stars are being groomed. Dit Clapper has obtained Sid Smith of Toronto Leafs to play for the IOOF-ers, and mayhap Dit himself will don the blades. Petes expect to be bolstered with some of the stars from here who perform in other cities during the winter, like Red Sullivan, Jake Wade and Arn Dugan. However, at this writing we haven't too many particulars, but the proposed skating race, is definitely on. It rates a big crowd.

* * * * * *

It Pays To Advertise

One city that believes in cashing in on sports for some advertising is Sherbrooke, Quebec. Their Saints are now in the Eastern Canada senior "A" finals with Marlboros, and their city clerk is sending out programs and booklets—called "Sherbrooke at a glance" —to practically every newspaper in the east. We received ours Saturday and find it right interesting. The city is a thriving spot of 42,000 population, governed by a mayor and 10 councillors representing five city wards. We have been down that way in the past. The city is smart in getting the advertising, but it looks like Marlboros are taking Sherbrooke "at a glance".

Legionnaires are off today for Brantford and their fourth fray of the best-of-seven OHA senior "B" finals. Up one game, the Ellis outfit will battle desperately to increase their lead this p.m., though they expect a tough scrap on the Nats' small surface. If Legion wins, the next game will be Wednesday in Brantford as they won the toss for a deciding game—fifth or seventh. But, if Legion loses tonight, the teams come back here Wednesday, and the seventh (if it goes that far) will be in Brantford. The local puckists had a stiff workout over the week-end and are hoping to do a ditto tonight on their second trip to the Brants' arena.

But Andy Didn't Agree

Referee Andy Bellemer of Toronto said to us Friday: "You kind of rode me hard on the game Wednesday, eh?" We said no we hadn't, but we did write that he had given a cheap penalty which probably cost Legion the game. Andy grinned and said: "I don't mind criticism, I get it all winter —so does every OHA referee. But Vitarelli first tried to trip the guy and then hooked him, so I figured he rated a penalty." We asked: "When you were playing pro, Andy, wouldn't you have been burned up at a cheap penalty in a playoff game, especially when a lot of worse stuff was let go?" He said: "Sure I would, but I'm a referee now, and we can't catch them all—we just call what we see." You never can win an argument with a referee.

Congrats to Towne Togs on taking the LOBA intermediate "B" title here Saturday. Had to stage a great comeback when down 22 points to Stratford in the final series. But they drove hard to win 55-31 for a 24-point win to capture the crown by two points. Hi Smith's scrappy squad checked well, intercepted and never quit, led by Jean Vass and Polly Stewart as high scorers. Whole team turned in a bangup show to take the big round 74-72. Stratford chances were hurt by fouls, and they complained bitterly about the referees, just as the Togs did in the opener down in Stratford when they figure they got the well-known business. Anyway 'twas a nifty to win before some 200 fans, first lasses' hoop title for the YW girls in years.

James McLeod Re-elected OLA President

TORONTO, April 17— (CP).— James C. McLeod of Owen Sound was re-elected president of th Ontario Lacrosse Association at the annual meeting Saturday. Mr. McLeod predicted a record year for Ontario lacrosse in 1950.

Acceptance of a Toronto entry in the senior bracket of the OLA was referred to a hearing by the 1950 executive. Toronto district teams opposed acceptance of Toronto Ravinas, an intermediate team last year, on the grounds there are not enough top-flight players to support another entry from this area.

Secretary Charles Rowan told the meeting that lacrosse is "flourishing," despite critics of the box game who say rugged tactics have all but eliminated the sport. Mr. Rowan stated that senior and intermediate playoff assessments added $6,000 to the association treasury in 1950.

Perpetuate Memory

Delegates voted untnimiusly to perpetuate the memory of the late Charlie Querrie, noted lacrosse player and Toronto sportsman, by continuing the annual presentation of the Querrie Medal to the senior loop's most outstanding player. The Jimmy Murphy Memorial Trophy is coupled with this award.

A new trophy for juvenile B competition was presented by W. J. Beatty of Fergus. The trophy is in commemoration of his deceased brother, N. J. Beatty.

Other executive members returning to office included: G. Hipkin, Brampton, first vice-president; A. E. Brown, St. Catharines, second vice-president; J. Worthy, Hamilton, third vice-president; C. W. Rowan, Mimico, secretary-treasurer; and E. C. McDermott, Toronto, assistant secretary-treasurer. The executive includes: A. Irvine, Fergus; K. Kingston, Peterborough; W. Cattel, Dundas; V. Gilkinson, Weston, and J. Holden, Toronto.

Sherbrooke Tries For First Win

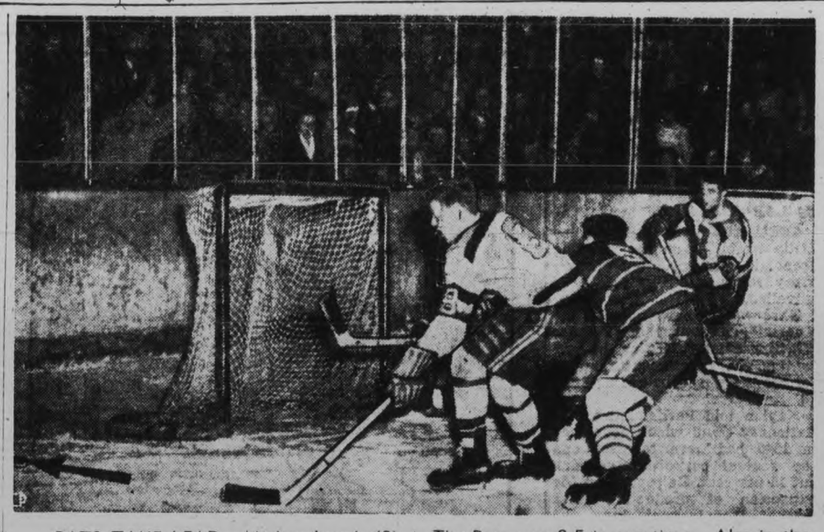
TORONTO, April 17 (CP) — Sherbrooke Saints will be trying to regain the form that won them the Quebec senior league title when they skate out against Toronto Marlboros tonight in the third game of the Eastern Canada hockey finals.

Rated the team to win before the series started, Sherbrooke was treated to a rude awakening in the first two games. The youthful Marlboros sped to a 7-4 win in the opener and followed it up with a 3-1 triumph in the second game.

Joe Primeau said Sunday night he intends to go with the same line-up that brought his club the first two wins. That same line-up caused one Sherbrooke player to describe the red-hot Dukes as "jet-propelled."

What strategy the visiting masterminds intend to use is still a deep and dark mystery. In the second Marlboro win, the burly Saints tried to soften the onslaught with a barrage of heavy bumping which proved useless against the shifty Marlies.

One problem the Saints will have to solve is how to stop dashing Danny Lewicki, the shifty junior recruit. Danny slipped in two goals in each game. Other Toronto juniors who have caused the Saints no end of trouble are George Armstrong, most valuable player in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A loop and linemate Jack McKenzie.



PATS TAKE LEAD—Mickey Lynch (8) of Port Arthur misses a close one in the opening game of the Western Canada Memorial Cup finals between Port Arthur and Regina Caps in Port Arthur Thursday night. The Pats won 8-5 in overtime. Also in the photo are Regina goalie Bob Tyler, Jim McGowan of Regina (5), Leo Boivin (3) of Bruins and, lying on the ice, Morley McNeill of Regina.

Guelph Gets Hot Blasts Montreal In 7-2 Triumph

TORONTO, April 17 (CP) — Guelph Biltmores are making a habit of upsetting the form chart.

The hot-and-cold Bilts were running hot Saturday afternoon and when the smoke cleared they owned a lopsided 7-2 win over the highly-rated Montreal Junior Canadiens.

Losers in the first two games, 4-2 and 4-1, the Guelph players outskated, outbumped and generally outplayed the lighter Montreal team to take their first win in the best-of-seven Eastern Canada Junior Hockey final.

Hit Top Form

In winning, the Ontario Hockey Association champs returned to the form that brought them a six-game upset over the Windsor Spitfires in the OHA finals. Strictly mediocre in the all-Ontario finals against Porcupine Combines, Guelph is now an even bet to advance to the Memorial Cup finals against either Regina Pats or Port Colborne Bruins.

Canadiens were at their best only for a brief spell in the third period after Jaques Nadon scored the team's second goal.

The rally was short-lived however. Penalties to Ernie Rocke and Keven Conway put them in a hole and they never recovered. Conway's penalty was the signal for an outburst from Montreal coach Sam Pollock. The coach was so disturbed over the sentence he threw a puck at referee Bill Morrison, of Oshawa. Morrison ejected him from the game.

Guelph might go into the fourth game—slated here Tuesday night —with a chip on its shoulder. Following the game Saturday, Frank Dilio, registrar of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association, registered a protest with the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association that Guelph was using three ineligible players. They are alternate goaler Cliff Hicks, last year with Ottawa St. Pats; Berry Theberge, formerly with Victoriaville, Que.; and three-goal Bathgate, who lined up with a Winnipeg juvenile team in 1948-49.

Winnipeg Stellars Saturday night at home defeated Windsor AKOS 47-41 to take a one-game lead in their best-of-five series for the Canadian Junior Men's Basketball championship.

Second game will be played today.

A crowd of 1,400 watched the Stellars come from behind a five-point deficit at three-quarter time and turn on the heat in the last quarter to win.

Frank Wansborough's Windsor crew highlighted the game with their lightning passing and forged ahead 12-7 at the first quarter, only to see Martin Terry's mission boys tie it 20-20 at half-time.

Last week an Aussie sports columnist remarked that Longden's only racing victory during his stay "down under" was made possible because rival jockeys held back on their mounts. Longden said he and his wife, who flew in with him, have received "hundreds of letters of apology from Australian racing fans.

Big Ten Football Bars Television Of Games

CHICAGO, April 17 (AP) — The powerful big ten, whose athletic policies usually keynote the trend for the other major college conferences in the United States, has barred television of all its 1950 football games.

In the first concerted move to prohibit on-the-spot videio, the big ten concluded that the entire future of intercollegiate athletics is endangered by TV.

The new policy allows complete films of games to be televised the following day. Movies of Saturday's contests could not be released before 6 p.m. Sundays.

Foresters Play

A hockey game, previously arranged for here tonight between the local COF and the Bowmanville lodge will take place tomorrow night at 10:30 in Civic Arena. Bowmanville have been in an organized league in the lakefront area but the Peterborough Foresters have not been playing regularly together. However, they have some good players in the lineup.

Both these teams are made up entirely from the ranks of the Canadian Foresters, with no imports allowed. No charge is being made for this annual exhibition affair, and fans are invited to see it.

Towne Togs Win LOBA Title By Slim Margin Over Strats

By DON GRANT

A terrific 24-point comeback Saturday enabled the Towne Togs to win the Ladies' Ontario Basketball Association intermediate "B" championship from Stratford YWCA by two points. Down 22 points as the result of the first game in Stratford Coach Hi Smith's Togs battled their way to a 55-31 victory Saturday in the local YWCA gym in the second game of the two-game points-to-count series. This win gave the Towners the championship by two points on the round, 73-72.

Full of checking tricks, the Togs kept the play well in the Stratford territory most of the first, third and fourth quarters. They batted, swiped and snatched the ball right out of the Stratford lasses' hands to begin fast, short-passing attacks which usually ended with a score from in close. Joan Dunk, Jean Vass and Dotty Callan specialized in this type of close checking. Jean Castle was Johnny-on-the-spot on the Stratford field attempt rebounds as she grabbed the rebounds throughout the game. Those she missed, Castle would generally force into jump balls.

The Mainstay

On the offensive, Polly Stewart was the mainstay. At centre she outleaped her rival forwards on at least 65 per cent of the jump balls. Under the basket she snared rebounds which helped her roll up 15 points. Pint-sized Jeannie Vass took time off her checking to be top-scorer with 18 points. She was as effective on long shots as on in close.

Stratford on the other hand were having trouble with their passing plays. The reason for this appeared to be they weren't looking for a receiver. Time and time again the Peterborough lasses intercepted passes which were just headed for a maze of players.

Finding the Togs' checking difficult, the YWCA'ers started taking long field attempts in the second half, Shirley Gladding came close to spoiling the climb of the Togs as she drifted in eight points in the long fashion.

Kaye Johnston, the smallest player on the Stratford team, was also the most effective. With one-handed corner shots she flipped in 14 points to lead the Western Ontario club. Unfortunately for her squad, she left the game with seconds to go for five personals.

Stratford jumped to an early 3-0 lead in the first, but after the lead changed hands several times, it finally ended with the Togs at the close of the quarter 12-10. Peterborough climbed quickly in the second to a 23-14 score but faded near the end of the half which ended 25-21.

Led The Attack

Dotty Callan, Polly Stewart and Ruth Hewitt led the Towners in the important third quarter as they pulled up 12 points on the YWCA'ers 37-25. With six minutes to go the Togs were up 17 points; with two minutes to go 20 points. Jean Vass, on a breakaway, made the score 51-29, thus tying the series. A double foul was awarded to Kaye Johnston and Joan Dunk. Dunk dinted the cord while Johnston missed. From there to the end, a minute and a half, the Togs added three points on foul shots to win the honors.

Most of the fans, and definitely the Stratford cagers, believed the refereeing to be off par. Three of the nine Stratford players were sent from the game with five personals against them. Dot Gladding left early in the third, Doreen Mulford early in the fourth and star Kaye Johnston in the dying moments of the game. Joan Dunk was the bad girl for the Togs with three fouls.

This season, the first time in five years that the Togs have reached the finals, has been a breath-catching season. They took the final series by two points and the semi-final series with St. Catharines Merry Macs by one point. In their regular league games along the Lakeshore Hi Smith's crew played solid basketball winning all their games with Trenton, Belleville, Cobourg and Port Hope.

Lineups:

Stratford YWCA—Shirley Gladding 8, Kaye Johnston 14, Doreen Mulford 4, Dorothy Gladding 2, Dorothy Johnston, Rita Butler 3, Helen Pogson, Vivian Sandey, Lois Hope.

Black's Towne Togs—Dot Callan 8, Marg Kennedy, Joan Dunk 5, Jean Vass 18, Dot Saunders, Jean Castle 5, Polly Stewart 15, Betty Stewart, Marg Freeman, Ruth Hewitt 4.

Wings Take Second Win Lumley Earns 3rd Shutout

By FRASER MacDOUGALL.

TORONTO, April 17 (CP) — If Harry Lumley spent the weekend in rosy dreams of the Stanley Cup and the bundle of cash that goes to players who win it, he had the best of reasons.

The apple-cheeked goalie from Owen Sound staked a claim to another large chunk of hockey's top trophy Saturday night when Detroit Red Wings blasted New York Rangers 4-0 and took a 2-1 grip on the best-of-seven series for the Cup and the world hockey championship.

Lumley, at 23, a veteran of six National Hockey League campaigns, was a key figure in the victory. He blocked 24 New York shots to achieve his third shutout in this year's playoffs, the first two against Toronto Maple Leafs.

Move To Detroit

He and his team mates have by no means reached the rainbow's end. But their chances are bright. They play the rest of the series on Detroit ice where the Rangers were able to win only one and tie one of seven scheduled NHL games this season. The fourth game is Tuesday night and the fifth Thursday.

With Lumley's faultless goaltending to back them up, the Red Wings had a comparatively easy time fashioning their triumph before 13,781 fans, most of whom were pulling for the Rangers to win. The Wings struck for two first-period goals when the Rangers were shorthanded through penalties and then added another goal in the second and one in the third to make it certain. The penalty picture—they had seven to the Rangers' six—gives an idea of their defensive strength.

The first scoring break came on the fifth penalty of the game—the third to the Rangers. Allan Stanley went off for crashing Joe Carveth into the boards. Gerry Couture was the payoff man for the Red Wings.

Penalties Count

Centre George Gee and defenceman Al Dewsbury, the latter called up from the Wings' Indianapolis American Hockey League farm club, teamed up on the second goal. New York's Gus Kyle was in the penalty box for the second of his three trips in the game when Gee tipped in Dewsbury's bouncing shot.

Sid Abel, veteran centre and captain, broke the Rangers' hearts in the last minute of the second period. He let go a blazing 40-footer from outside the New York defence and Rayner couldn't get in front of it. Marty Pavelich finished the scoring, by blasting home a pass from Kelly on a breakaway play with only one New Yorker to beat.

Coach Lynn Patrick of the Rangers still has hopes that his team may win the cup for the first time in 10 years. Their last victory was in 1940 when he was a player. "We played badly," he said, "but I still think we have a chance."

OPENING GOAL—Danny Lewicki, star forward of Marlboro Seniors, pushes the puck past goalie Paul Leclerc of Sherbrooke Saints to open the scoring in the second game of the Eastern Canada Allan Cup finals in Toronto Friday night. He also scored the second goal and assisted in the third. Marlboros won the game 3-1 to take a two-game lead in the best-of-seven-series.

16 Teams Ready To Play Ball In U.S. Tuesday

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, April 17—(AP)—Big league baseball returns tomorrow with all 16 "contenders" poised for the opener after healthy talent turnovers.

Now we'll get first-hand proof on who outslicked whom in the New York Giants-Boston Braves deal. We'll see if Detroit is as good as it looks. If the "experts" were right in predicting a Brooklyn Dodger-Boston Red Sox world series.

It will be a strange opening day. No Hal Newhouser pitching for Detroit. No Bobby Feller for Cleveland. No Rip Sewell for Pittsburgh.

Newhouser is out with arm trouble. Feller has been bypassed for Bob Lemon. Sewell, winner of 10 straight openers, is managing in the minors.

Joe DiMaggio, usually a hospital patient at this stage of the game, will be in centre field for the New York Yankees. The Yankee Clipper mised nine of 14 previous openers.

Sid Gordon, Willard Marshall and Buddy Kerr—three boys who never played for any big league club except the Giants—come to the Polo grounds as enemy Boston Braves. Alvin Dark, hoisted from a college campus by the Braves, will be playing on the other side for the Giants.

Connie Mack still talks "one more pennant" as he starts his 50th year as Philadelphia A's manager at the age of 57.

Two old friends are back as mauagers. Bucky Harris at Washington and Luke Sewell at Cincinnati. Both are consigned to last place or thereabouts.

Here's how they'll line up tomorrow with the probable attendance.

American League

New York at Boston, 32,000; Detroit at Cleveland, 60,000; Philadelphia at Washington, 26,000; St. Louis at Chicago, 18,000.

National League

Brooklyn at Philadelphia 32,000; Boston at New York, 50,000; Chicago at Cincinnati, 32,000; Pittsburgh at St. Louis (night), 30,000.

Pittsburgh will play its opener against St. Louis at night. That's something new. Never before has a major league club opened the season under the lights.

That is only the first of many, many night games listed. The Cards will play practically all their weekday games after dark. So will St. Louis and Washington. In all, 409 night games have been scheduled, a new high.

Advance ticket sales indicate continued high attendance. Last year the majors drew a total of 20,215,365, only three per cent behind the 1948 high.

In the long run, the attendance depends on the races. The way things have been going, if the pennants are decided before the last day, the fans will be demanding their money back.

The inly club that could possibly make a runaway of the American are the Boston Red Sox. They missed twice after slow starts and have pretty much the same club with Ted ($125,000) Williams as the key. This year Joe McCarthy has his Sox home in Fenway Park for 22 of his first 30 games. They were practically unbeatable at home last year once they started to roll.

Tillsonburg Ties Port Colborne, Grab Finals Spot

TILLSONBURG, April 17 (CP) —Tillsonburg Chevwoods battled Port Colborne Merchants to a 7-7 overtime tie Saturday night to reach the finals of the Ontario Hockey Association Intermediate A section.

Tillsonburg travels to Kingston today to meet Gananoque in the round-robin semi-finals but the game has no bearing on standing. Gananoque has yet to win a game in the series and tonight's contest winds it up.

There may be a hitch, however, in plans for the final. It was reported that Gananoque was ready to protest the Ports' use of goalie Rafferty. It is claimed he does not have proper release from Pittsburgh Hornets of the American League with whom he was signed until last Jan. 15. Port Colborne officials did not comment on the charge.

Port Colborne took an early lead in Saturday night's game. They were ahead 1-0 at the end of the first period and had a 2-0 lead before the locals poked home their first goal in the second. Then as penalties began to mount the tilt became a free-scoring affair with the Ports up 4-1 at the 6.20 mark. But their lead was short-lived and Tillsonburg potted four goals in the next eight minutes to take a 5-4 lead. The Ports came back to make it a 5-5 tie at the end of the frame.

In the third period, Chevwoods clicked twice only to have the visitors tie it up each time. The overtime produced no scoring.

75 Ways For Feet To Go Wrong -Health Council

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, April 17 (AP). — There are 75 ways your feet can go to the dogs.

Dr. Joseph Lelyveld, chairman of the National Foot Health Council, Rockland, Mass., says feet are subject to 75 different ailments.

There are corns (five varieties), callouses, warts, ingrown toe nails, inflammations, bursitis, frostbite, ulcers (five kinds), bunions, varicose veins, hammer toes, athlete's foot, flat feet, sprains and fractures, shortened calf muscles, fissures . . . and that just begins the list.

One survey showed 82 per cent of industrial workers, and 80 per cent of department-store workers, complaining of foot and leg pains

School Children

Seventy-six per cent of a group of high school children had minor foot defects. Most children are born with the makings of perfect feet, but at the age of 10 half of them have the beginnings of defective feet, Dr. Lelyveld says.

Sore feet cost American industry $600,000,000 in 1949 from workers' lost time, lost motion, errors, accidents and lowered efficiency.

Sore feet are one reason why store clerks snarl at customers.

"One in every four workers get afternoon fatigue, because of foot troubles. Tight shoes, or the wrong type of shoes, are the main reason."

Watch Shoes

Dr. Benjamin Kauth, director of the American Foot Care Institute, New York, says carelessness about children's shoes and feet can turn the country "into a nation of limpers and lurchers."

He warns against hand-me-down worn shoes that may warp young feet out of shape, against prolonged wearing of tennis or sports shoes, and failure to keep up with the growth of feet.

Ninety per cent of foot trouble in women is in the forepart of the foot, or the region of the big toe, says Dr. Harry Budin, New York. High heels, pitching body weight forward, are a major factor.

Foot and leg troubles may come from occupational habits.

Secretaries, wearing high heels and pulling the lower leg back while sitting at the desk, may suffer from weakening and shortening of the calf muscles.

10 Health Rules

Dentists, barbers, and others who stand all day may develop neuralgia of the feet and legs; delivery-truck drivers, jumping out onto hard pavements, may get painful enlargement of the first ball joint.

The Foot Health Council lists 10 rules for feet. These include daily bathing of the feet, not wearing the same shoes two days in a row, cutting toenails straight across, wearing shoes that fit and are suited for the occasion, exercising the feet and toes, keeping the feet dry, cultivating good posture, and not neglecting foot ailments and aches.

Euchre Aids Fund

CAMPBELLFORD, April 17—(ENS). — Ten tables of euchre and cribbage helped raise funds for the cancer, polio and tuberculosis fund of the Oddfellow and Rebekah Lodges Thursday night, when a party was held in the Oddfellows' Hall in Campbellford. The Oddfellows and Rebekahs have teamed up to raise funds to fight the above mentioned diseases, and a large amount of money has been secured in this manner. This will be the last party this season.

About a busload of members of Loch Lomond Rebekah Lodge are expected to travel to Kingston in the near future, to visit the Lodge in that city. A program put on by the Ottawa Lodge will be the highlight of the evening.

Marmora Guild Meets

MARMORA, April 17 (ENS)—The regular monthly meeting of St. Paul's Ladies' Guild was held in the rectory on Friday evening. The president, Mrs. D. Robertson, was in the chair. It was reported that more than $60 had accrued from the recent progressive dinner. The matter of redecorating a section of the interior of the rectory was fully discussed and a sum was assigned for that purpose. Refreshments were served.

Inmate Killed

HAMILTON, April 17—(CP)—Coroner Dr. Isaac E. Crack announced Friday that Lawrence Stevens, 31, of Waterloo, an inmate of the Ontario hospital here, was killed Friday in an elevator accident at the institution. An inquest will be held April 21. Details of the accident were withheld by the coroner and hospital authorities.

Attempted Rape

TORONTO, April 17 — (CP) — Ross Burnett, 19, of Belleville was convicted Friday by an assize court jury of attempted rape of a young East York Township mother. Evidence was that Burnett forced his way into the woman's isolated home and attacked her while she held her year-old son in her arms. He will be sentenced Thursday by Chief Justice J. C. McRuer.

Barbershoppers Get Charter At Songfest

Spontaneous close harmony paid off handsomely in the Collegiate auditorium Saturday night when "barber shop" quartets and choruses accompanied the presentation of its charter to the Peterborough chapter of the SPEBSQSA. There was a large audience which nearly filled the auditorium; there was abundant enthusiasm both before and behind the footlights; and everybody sang. It looks as if the club's motto which decorated the bright backdrop on the stage: "Keep Canada Singing", will be fulfilled if other chapters in Canada are as vocal and enterprising as the new Peterborough chapter.

The performers included almost the whole Toronto chapter which sponsored the Peterborough chapter, and four Toronto quartets: the Torontones, the Tune-Twisters, the Cowling Brothers and the Four Flats. It included a chorus and quartet from Hamilton, and the widely-known Buffalo Bills, from Buffalo, N.Y.

Beside all this galaxy from outside, the Peterborough group shone amazingly well. The Four Hoarsemen (Bob Baldwin, Ed. Murphy, Vic. Farrant, and Hal Coulson) had the audience chortling with their costumes and their popular and special songs, including a take-off of local flavour, The Lift Lock Four, (Ashton Fife, Adam Sands, Bill Coulson and Jim Ridyard) nattily attired and with idiosyncratic harmony and pointing, held the audience's ears with Deep River, Dry Bones, and other songs of perennial interest.

Antics Wow

The antics of the Hamilton Little Chorus are beyond description; they galloped and capered on and off stage, and let their hair down as their voices rose. The audience was wowed.

The Buffalo Bills had a professional command of their stage and the ease of practised entertainers. Incidentally, they had good voices.

Before the charter-giving proceedings started Bill Coulson led the audience in singing old favourites. It is a tribute to the warmth of the whole show that the audience sang heartily and unselfconsciously, and the harmonies which had been presented from the stage found satisfactory echo from the pit.

A. C. ("Chappie") Chapman of Toronto, district president of the SPEBSQSA, emceed the show affably and presided over the more solemn charter-giving proceedings, when Ted Boyd, president of the sponsoring Toronto chapter, "Si" Johnson, area governor, and Ed. Murphy, Peterborough chapter head, spoke briefly. The Code of Ethics was recited. And so the Peterborough chapter was officially inaugurated as a fully-constituted chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc. The only hitch in the affair was that the actual scroll of the charter had been forgotten.

After the presentation ceremonies, the Peterborough Chapter chorus of 25 members, conducted by Bill Collison, sang Cherry Blossom Lane and other favourites. The second part of the program ended with a packed stage when all participants appeared and sang together.

That ended the set-piece evening, but singing continued in the Empress Hotel, where an "afterglow" was held for all who wished to attend, when coffee and sandwiches were served and all unbridled their stores of tunes and harmonies.

The Peterborough group is the 650 chapter. And, if it is true as Ted Boyd of Toronto said, that "no community is complete without barbershopping", then Peterborough is on the song-road to completion.

Two Liquor Charges

Harold Redman, Hunter St., charged with being drunk, was fined $10 and $2.50 costs on a plea of guilty in police court today.

Hubert Allen, Douro, was given three months in jail when he pleaded guilty to being drunk. It was his third offence.

THE CITY OF CAEN IN FRANCE is well known to members of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders for it is where they fought one of their bitterest engagements of the early invasion days. The city was practically destroyed and the task of rebuilding has been a tremendous one. The scenes above were taken last week by Miss Jean Stenton, Examiner Telegraph Editor, who is at present in France. TOP LEFT, what was once Caen's main street, with only the St. Jean Church still standing; TOP RIGHT, Orne River crossing with Caen in the background which was captured by the British Army and where the Germans fought a bloody battle; LOWER LEFT section of a new apartment building going up in Caen and LOWER RIGHT, St. Pierre Church badly damaged but is undergoing repair.

City Lad Takes Ontario Champ In Swim Meet

Michael Triggs of the Peterborough YMCA Swimming Club captured the honors for boys under 10 years, 100 yards free style event at the Ontario championship meet Saturday. The meet was held in the local YMCA sponsored by the YMCA Swimming Club and sanctioned by the Ontario section of the CASA.

Triggs turned in his fastest time for the 100-yard swim, 1.32 minutes, to outdistance L. Bell of the Toronto YMHA Club and Robert Bannerman of the Toronto Granite Club.

Other championships went to: Toronto West End YMCA in the 160 yards free style relay, junior men's 200 yards free style, the boys under 14 years, 100 yards breast stroke, and the boys under 12 years, 100 yards free style; Toronto YMHA, boys under 14 years won the 100 yards free style. Seconds went to the Peterborough relay team, Jim Hefferman, John Boorman and Ross Dobbin and thirds to Donald Wood and Bob Malby of the Peterborough Y.

The Toronto West End YMCA relay team, David Thompson, Bill O'Hara, John Cusimano and Malcolm Black, swept the Ontario honors from the local squad by slightly over three seconds. The Peterborough swimmers spashed through the 160 yards in 1.39.2 minutes.

Ontario Champion

Tom Verth of Toronto West End YMCA became an Ontario champion as he edged Ross Dobbin in the boys under 12 years 100 yards free style even. Verth swam the distance in 1:16.5 minutes to place first, Dobbin placed second ahead of Bob Welsman of the Toronto Granite Club.

George Stulac of Toronto West End YMCA set a new local pool record for the junior men's 200 yards free style event, 2.08 minutes.

The old record was set in 1939 by Stan McBride at 2:14.6. Bob Easun of the Stratford YMCA was second in the event with Donald Wood of the local club third. In the afternoon Easun broke McBride's record during a practice swim, 2:11.6 minutes. Donald Wood recorded his fastest time for the event in the evening and a Peterborough swimmer since the fastest time for the event for McBride at 2:28 minutes.

Jim McKenzie of the Toronto YMCA club took the Ontario honors for the boys under 14, 100 yards free style, as he drifted home in 1:06.6 minutes of the final heat. He was first in the second heat to qualify for the final with a time of 1:06.8 minutes. John Boorman of the local club placed second in the final heat and Malcolm Black of Toronto West End Y third. Stratford Team Protests Win

An official protest is being lodged over the Stratford YWCA's defeat in the second game of the Provincial Ladies' Intermediate "B" basketball finals at Peterborough Saturday. Miss Grace Dand, manager of the Stratford team, said today.

The Peterborough Towne Togs won the second game of the points-to-count series 55-31 Saturday night in the YWCA to win the Ontario championship by two points. Western Ontario cage team won the first game in Stratford two weeks ago by a score of 41-19.

Miss Dand said the Stratford loss was solely due to the inefficient handling of the game by the Peterborough officials, Irving Cinin and Richard Burrows. She added that Mrs. Fred Bibby, of Toronto, Ladies' Ontario Basketball Association president, attended the game in Peterborough and was equally disgusted with the manner in which the home town officials handled the game.

Stratford is requesting that the two games be tossed out and that a sudden death game for the title be played in Toronto with neutral Toronto officials in charge.

"I have never protested before but I know we have a better team," Miss Dand added.

Meridew Heads Navy Club

Charles (Pete) Meridew is the new president of the Peterborough Naval Club. He succeeds Fred Kiff who held that post for the past three years.

The full slate of officers elected at the last monthly meeting follows: C. Meridew, president; C. P. Colins, vice-president; Bob Graham, sec'y; Art Pilling, treas.; Bob Natteras and Andy Brown, entertainment; Percy McNamee, membership; James Hamilton, publicity.

A cheque for $10 was donated to the Rotary Club to help it in its work among crippled children.

The ex-navy men also set aside $30 for scholarships—$15 each to St. Peter's High School and PCVS. Basis for the awards will be worked out later with secondary school authorities.

Specialized Program For Junior Farmers

A full program of instruction and fun has been promised the Junior Farmers meeting Tuesday at 8.30 p.m. in the Peterborough Normal School.

Boys and girls will hold separate sessions.

Boys will hear Roy Ormiston, field man for the district Holstein Breeders, speak on Herd Improvement. Don Stewart will be host.

Personal Grooming will be dealt with by the girls in their session. Six speakers will deal with different aspects of personal grooming—hair, face, hands, posture, feet and clothing.

Mary Morrison will be hostess.

The two groups will meet later for a recreational period.

Grass-Covered Fields Found Where Once City of Caen

By JEAN E. STENTON

CAEN, April—Amid the ruins the people of Caen are waging a crusade, struggling to rebuild their shattered city. It is a battle that has to be seen to be believed, and after five years, they have only begun. Only the Normans with their cheerful and invincible spirit could have undertaken such a task.

The sight of this city of 63,000 is a frightening one. It is unbelieveable that one city could be so completely shattered and still have any hope left for the future. But not only have the people begun the task but they are planning carefully for the years ahead. After what they have suffered, the difficulties of 1950 do not worry them.

They have recalled 70-year-old Yves Guillou, a giant of a man about 6 feet, 3 inches tall, to lead their crusade for a new city. And he is a man worthy of the job. As soon as the Germans were cleared from the area, he was brought back from the Loire valley where he had escaped from the Gestapo, to lead them and he has been returned as Mayor of Caen in two elections since then. A builder of several of the city's previous public buildings, it was felt he was the man for the job, and he has answered the challenge.

Nothing Left

In two raids of one hour each, Allied bombers destroyed Caen after the invasion. Block after block was wiped out completely. All that is left of the main street of this city are the gutted ruins of St. Jean Church. For blocks on every side, nothing remains but grass covered fields with an odd stone here and there. The rubble has been cleared away and one would never guess at first glance that it had been the heart of a thriving metropolis.

In streets branching out from this desolate area are ghastly ruins with one or two walls still standing, but with wide gaps between them. Some have been gutted inside by fire. Some have hole-pocked roofs with the front of the buildings blown off or with huge holes. There are no windows left, only gaping spaces. In every direction that the eye can see, everything has either been completely levelled by the bombings or there are rows and rows of parts of walls . . nothing habitable. The only big building relatively untouched is the old Abbaye Aux Hommes, where part of the 20,000 people who remained in Caen found shelter. The Allies were warned and they refrained from bombing that building. The Germans shelled it, but only damaged one small section.

The people of Caen lost everything. . homes, clothes, schools, stores and churches. They have struggled along and are operating on a temporary basis. The strangest thing about it is that they do not hate the Allies for doing this to them. They were LIBERATED and to them that was worth every bit of suffering. And how they have suffered.

Housing Shortage

The most urgent problem was and still is lodgings. There are 3,000 people still waiting for a home in which to live. Out of 15,000 houses in the city prior to the war, 9,000 were COMPLETELY destroyed; 5,000 damaged and only 1,000 without damage. Coventry was 23% destroyed, but Caen was 75% destroyed. They are rebuildng homes as fast as possible. Vast apartment blocks are being erected with an eye to

Barber Shop Quartettes Take Over At Hotel Sing Whenever The Spirit Moves Them

At the Empress Hotel this morning they were still raving about the unscheduled, impromptu, and almost continuous concert of the visiting harmonizers Saturday night. They say you really missed something that was off the program.

From the time the first of the Barber Shop Quartettes arrived until after the post-concert lunch the gentlemen who have assumed a special mission of music were giving off whenever the spirit moved them. And the first four to break into song wound up with close to 200 when they were altogether for lunch in the Kawartha Room after the concert at the Collegiate.

In the coffee shop for instance, if you were not aware of the event of the invasion of the harmonizers, you were surprised to see four men at one table stand, gather around and break into "In the Evening by the Moonlight". When they had done their voluntary turn, another group across the room took up the cue and went into "Down By The Old Mill Stream", "Carry Me Back To Old Virginny".

That's the way it went from afternoon tea hour, through supper and up to the time the visitors took off to the concert hall.

Admission to the "afterglow" in the Kawartha Room was by ticket, and the music fans of the audience could ask for any number they wished to hear. The Buffalo Bills, for instance, repeated the quartette from Rigoletto, "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling", and various other numbers. They were there till after midnight, although the Toronto men's chorus had taken off earlier.

These were "congenial men of good character who love harmony in music and have a desire to harmonize". They have found an outlet of expressionism that is as much a delight to them as it was to the audience. It appears to be a form of escape from the ordinary frustrations of life, for the vocalists revelled in their music. That was the impression they left on the Empress staff.

Morris Black President B'nai B'rith

MORRIS BLACK

At a highly impressive ceremony, Saturday evening, in the Beth Israel Synagogue, Morris Black was installed as the president of the Peterborough B'nai-B'rith lodge. This was the annual installation meeting of the local lodge.

The meeting was opened with an invocation by the local Rabbi, J. Mayer, followed by a report of the past years' operations of the lodge, its activities and achievements, as outlined by the outgoing president, Fred Pulver. In this report, it was noted that the local B'nai-B'rith lodge had a membership of 68, and that donations were made to the Civic Hospital, St. Joseph's Hospital, and the Denver Colorado Hospital, and in addition a further $1,000 was expended on the local B'nai-B'rith playground on Turner Park.

The installing officer, Leon Weinstein, of Toronto, president of the Eastern Canadian Council of B'nai-B'rith (which includes all of Canada), and past president of the Toronto lodge of B'nai-B'rith, was introduced by Harry Silver. Mr. Weinstein was assisted by Irving Moldaver as assistant installing officer. Mr. Weinstein installed the following new executive: Morris Black, president; Fred Pulver, chaplain; Harry Silver, vice-president; Hy. Smith as second vice-president; Zimmel Levine as warden; Joe Rogow, treasurer; Irving Moldaver, secretary, and trustees H. Schwartz and Dr. L. Zacks.

Awards Made

Certificates of merit for the most outstanding work of the year, among all the local members, were extended to Joe Rogow, Isadore Black, Fred Pulver, I. Moldaver and H. Silver by Mr. Weinstein. In his concluding remarks to the incoming president, Mr. Weinstein said that the latter had a more than usual undertaking, if he wished to follow in the steps of his brother Isadore, who is a past president of the local lodge, and who had a most successful year during his term. Mr Isadore Black, who is a very active B'nai-B'rith member, is at present a member of the Eastern Canadian Council of B'nai-B'rith.

Mr. Black expressed his honor and pleasure in his new appointment, and extended a welcome to the several visitors from out of town. He then presented an overnight bag to the outgoing president, and a corsage to Mrs. Pulver on behalf of the lodge. A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Joe Rogow, who was in charge of the arrangements for the evening.

The guest speaker, Rabbi Zigmond, of Cambridge, Mass., was introduced by Hilly Yudin. Rabbi Zigmond is at present director of the Hillel Foundation at Harvard, a professor at Yale University and associated with the Radcliffe College and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The Rabbi is also a past Hillel director at the University of Connecticut. The main theme of his address was the place of B'nai-B'rith in Jewish life, and especially the influence of the Hillel Foundations. The first Hillel Foundation was formed in 1923 at the University of Illinois. In the past 27 years, 199 new foundations were opened on various university camouses in both Canada and the United States, and in the very near future the 200th was to be opened in Jerusalem at the Hebrew University.

Among the out-of-town visitors were Mr. and Mrs. M. Starkman, Beverly Starkman, Mr. and Mrs. J. Nyman, Mr. and Mrs. Levy and Mrs. Leon Weinstein, all of Toronto. Following the meeting tea was poured in the adjoining community hall by Mrs. Morris Black and Mrs. Fred Pulver.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

AN OPEN MEETING

Citizens are invited to attend the meeting of the University Women's Club in the Empress Hotel this evening at eight o'clock when Vicomte du Parc, Belgian ambassador to Canada, will speak on the Benelux reconstruction.

ONE CHIMNEY FIRE

Firemen had only one call to make over the week-end. That was to the residence of L. E. Blackwell, 64 Aylmer St., where a chimney fire was reported. A hand pump was sufficient to douse the blaze.

HIT BY CAR

Fred English, of Indian River, suffered a small cut to his head and a bruised leg Saturday when he was struck by a car driven by William Brown of Keene. Brown told police he was driving west on Lansdowne Ave. when English walked out from behind a car parked near Lock St.

GUESTS OF POLICE

Student nurses of Civic Hospital were guests of the Peterborough Police Association at the splendid concert here Friday night by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Band. Some of the elderly people of Anson House and the House of Providence were also remembered.

RICE LAKE CLEARS

Ice went out of Rice Lake on Sunday and observers at both Bewdley and Trent River ends report water in all directions, even much ice has moved from the rat marshes. Trapping on the marshes north of Bewdley is reported to be fair for the last two days, but experts forecast that if present weather continues, the run will be very short.

INFANT'S BODY FOUND

The body of a newly-born infant was found today behind a store on the main street of Lindsay. Roy Price, an employee of Adams store, was cleaning out garbage when he discovered the body in a paper shopping bag. Coroner Dr. W. R. Crowe is performing a post mortem.

Spring Comes Farmers Wait

In the reckoning of several farmers in town this morning this was the first "real" day of spring. You might have heard its heralding Sunday morning by robins and song sparrows in Elmwood Park, that southend beauty spot developed by A. Wander Limited.

A mistiness in the air appeared to be a promise of "a warm rain" that is needed for early growth in the meadows and fields of fall wheat. When growth begins farmers will be able to estimate the effects of winter on the grain they planted last fall.

Although spring strayed from its calendar dating, one of the definite changes in the schedule of the seasons is Daylight Saving time, only a week from next Sunday.

And when the clocks are set forward an hour, it will seem that spring was only a brief span of a couple of weeks.

PCVS Classroom Back To New-Old Tables

Table desks are being used as an experiment in a classroom at PCVS. During the Easter holidays 42 of the new-type desks replaced the old fashioned desks in Room 205, occupied by Dr. Eldon P. Ray, history teacher. Instead of the old system of desks along the length of the room, the desks are placed in rows across the width of the room.

During last summer the large double desktables were placed in Room 4, used as a lunchroom and a classroom.

Principal C. S. Browne said today that parts for the repairs to the old desks are difficult to obtain. By replacing the desks in this room with tables parts will be made available for the old type desks. An advantage of the new tables, said Mr. Browns, is that the tables can be arranged to suit the wishes of the teacher.

Car Lot Bylaw Partly Invalid, Crown Case Lost

The city's used car bylaw was today declared invalid in one respect by Magistrate W. R. Philp.

"It is invalid in that it exceeds the powers given it by the Municipal Act," said His Worship.

The ruling came in connection with a test case against Harry Goodman, Peterborough used car dealer, who was charged with the breach of the bylaw. The crown alleged he had not applied for a license for a used car lot, as required by By-law 4664.

Magistrate Philp found invalid section 2 of the bylaw which states: "No person shall in the city of Peterborough own, keep or operate a used car sale lot unless he has first obtained a licence therefor and paid the fee for such licence required by this by-law."

To License Owner

"The Act gives the city power to license the owner of a used car lot, but not to license the person who keeps or operates one. The only persons subject to licensing are the owners," said His Worship.

A section of the Municipal Act states that cities may pass bylaws for licensing and regulating owners of public garages and for fixing the fees of such licenses.

Last Thursday, T. J. Carley, K.C., acting for Goodman, attacked the bylaw, saying: "The bylaw purports to do what I submit no statute gives it the right to do. This bylaw is prohibitive."

The charge against Goodman was dismissed.

Retroactive Pay Swells Envelopes

Local merchants experienced an extra pulse of business this weekend as CGE hourly-rated employees began to spend their back pay.

The back pay was for 19 weeks and union estimates have the workers receiving anywhere from $35 to $80. It was based on Conciliation Board formula advocating a 4.77 per cent increase on the hourly rate.

This extra money came from the agreement between Local 524 UE and the company. It was signed March 27 and was retroactive 19 weeks.

Today CGE production workers began their second 43-hour week, beginning at 7:24 a.m. Residents in the district who previously used the 7 a.m. whistle as a waker-up have had to rely on a new form of alarm or change their schedule.

Optimist Club Boys Had Full Week

Parties, tours to local industries and a weekend camp to Oshawa filled the Easter holidays for the boys of the Optimist Club's Boys' Town.

The week's events included: Monday, a party and hat parade, winning hat to Bill Payne, refreshments supplied by the boys; Tuesday, in the afternoon, a visit to the Quaker Oats Company, in the evening the show at the Collegiate; Wednesday, in the afternoon a trip to the Western Clock Company, in the evening the show at the Collegiate; Thursday, in the afternoon a tour of the Canada Packers Company, in the evening the show at the Collegiate; Friday, 16 boys accompanied by director Walter Bent went to Oshawa for a weekend camp.

Top Can. Miners Meet In Toronto, Swap Old Yarns

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

The $1,000,000,000 Canadian mining industry got together today in the persons of 1,000 delegates from across Canada to the annual convention in Toronto of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy.

These are for the most part the technical men concerned with the taking of mineral wealth out of the ground and putting it through the processes which finally take it to market and put it into everything from armaments to door knobs.

But they are also men who go, or who have gone into the wildernesses where minerals are found. Perhaps their story can be told briefly through two men, their retiring and incoming presidents.

Frederick Victor Seibert, of Winnipeg, retiring president, product of Ontario's Bruce County first saw the west in summer holidays while learning civil engineering at the University of Toronto.

Joined Federal Service

He joined the Federal Department of the Interior in 1912, and, with the exception of two years with the Royal Air Force, spent the next 15 years in survey and related duties on the prairies. He saw Prince Albert and Edmonton grow into cities. He travelled fastnesses by canoe and packtrain where now there are roads, and still likes to swap yarns with old friends in frontier posts.

He specialized in minerals and helped in the transfer of mining resources from the Dominion in the western provinces. He joined the Canadian National Railways in 1929 and now is superintendent of natural resources and development for the western region.

Made Inspector

The career of Dr. A. O. DuFresne, native of Montreal, parallels the growth of Quebec into a great mining province. As a young mining engineer he was made inspector of mines with the Provincial Bureau of Mines, and when a separate department was formed in 1941 he became its first deputy minister, a post he still holds.

He has lectured mineralogy, geology and mineral economics at Laval University, Quebec, and in 1946 the University of Montreal conferred on him the degree of Doctor in Applied Science for the part he has played in Quebec's mining development.

Another man attending the three-day sessions is the Institute's oldest living past president, Arthur A. Cole, who recently retired as manager of the Ontario government's Temiskaming testing laboratory at Cobalt after nearly 60 years in the mining industry.

He was with the Geological Survey of Canada in Quebec in 1891 and 1894; became familiar with the Cobalt region before the great silver camp was dreamed of; spent eight years in British Columbia as chemist, assayer and surveyor; and from 1906 to 1941 was mining engineer for the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway.

Fire, Stabbing Claim 3 Lives During Weekend

By The Canadian Press.

In Eastern Canada as a whole there were a total if eight deaths the addition to those in Ontario being three in Quebec and one in Nova Scotia.

The deaths in Quebec and Nova Scotia were caused by traffic accidents and a strangling.

At Ottawa, Kathleen Saunders 38, and her son Timmy 3, burned to death in a house fire. A cigarette butt was blamed for the blaze that swept through their three-storey home.

Question-Asker Keeps Quiz Programs Going

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK, April 17—(AP)—Joseph Nathan Kane is a scholarly, grey-haired man whose occupation is thinking up questions.

It isn't a job that keeps him in the limelight—and he's glad People who go on quiz shows and flub the $4,000 or $5,000 question are likely to be bitter. Frequently they claim they knew the answer all the time, but complain that the way the question was framed was inadequate or confusing.

Joe Kane now is devoting all his time to a radio quiz show called "Break the Bank" (NBC). The pay-off in this is strictly cash and the formula involves a series of eight questions of progressive difficulty.

By instinct and affection, Kane is a chaser of facts. He has written a number of books with titles like "One Thousand Facts Worth Knowing" and "Famous First Facts." From dusty archives he has dug out evidence that Walter Hunt was the inventor of the sewing machine; that someone was flying before the Wright brothers took off, and the name of the doctor who performed the first appendectomy.

What's Hard

The most perplexing problem for a question propounder is to decide what is a "hard" question and what is an "easy" one.

Kane says it's as hard to answer that question as the most difficult he can invent. Actually, any question a contestant can answer is easy. One he can't answer is hard.

The scholars with a broad fund of general information aren't the people who show up at programs, Kane says. They are the easy chair listeners at home who can answer all the questions and think the contestants are dopes.

"You have to remember in making questions that they are going to be answered by extroverts—people who like the sound of their voices," he said. "And plenty of them are phonies who don't know anything about anything."

Lot Of Baloney But Get Paid Says 'King' Gable

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 17 (AP) —How does the king feel about being called king?

I put the question to Clark Gable, long the head man of Hollywood's heirarchy. About the "king" business, he replied: "that's a lot of baloney."

But he added with a grin: "I don't care what the heck they call me as long as I keep getting paid."

The king is back at work on his first picture since his surprise wedding. The new film, "To Please A Lady," is probably closer to what is known as "a Gable picture" than any of his post-war efforts.

Gusty Story

Producer - director Clarence Brown, who also directed many of the star's pre-war films, described the current film as "a good, gusty story about basic characters with plenty of action; there's nothing subtle in it."

The vehicle seems to please Gable as well as the lady (Barbara Stanwyck). It's a story of auto racers. Dressed in the white uniform of a midget auto driver, the actor seemed more at ease than in the army uniforms and tailored suits he has worn in his other post-war films. He loves speed and proudly displayed his latest foreign car (capable of 132 m.p.h.).

I asked Gable about reports he was going to produce his own pictures. He is reported to have won the chance to do one movie a year outside his M.G.M. contract.

"The deal hasn't gone through yet, but that's what I'm after," he said. "I'd like to get on that gravy train."

No Ulcers

He said he would be able to make more money and keep more by participating in a production deal (he has always been on a straight salary at M.G.M.). But what about the ulcers that go with being a producer?

"Oh, no," he smiled. "You won't see me worrying. I'd have someone else do that."

Gable currently is marking his 20th year in the movie business. It was in 1930 that a dark slick-haired young man made his debut in "The Painted Desert," which Gable reports now is playing on television.

Boost Imports Of Newsprint Briton Urges

LONDON, April 17 — (CP) — Sir Eric Vansittart Bowater told shareholders at the annual meeting of the Bowater paper corporation that Britain should permit importation of enough Canadian newsprint to enable resumption of an eight-page newspaper.

The average size of British "national dailies" now is seven pages. The pre-war average was 2' pages, and Sir Eric said "something akin to a famine in newsprint" would immediately develop if British newspapers were permitted to return to more normal size.

As a dollar-saving measure, Britain recently declared an embargo on imports of Canadan newsprint. Sir Eric said this decision leaves the free press of the world, outside North America, dependent on Scandinavia.

Political Reasons

"On political grounds, it seems to me there are grave risks . . in relying on that very vulnerable area known as Scandinavia for the basic raw materials of so important an industry," Sir Eric said.

"At any moment a situation might develop where those supplies were again placed in jeopardy—thus the wisdom of allocating sufficient dollars to allow for at least a trickle of supplies reaching this country from North America, thereby keeping open that vital pipeline of supply."

Sir Eric, chairman of the Bowater group, said he was not at liberty to discuss with shareholders the company's dispute with the Canadian government over taxation of its Newfoundland properties, because the matter now is before the Supreme Court of Canada.

Before Newfoundland joined the Canadian confederation, Bowater's had an agreement to pay the Newfoundland government a flat sum of $150,000 annually in lieu of taxation. The Canadian government claims confederation nullified this agreement and made the company subject to Canadian income tax.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

If I ever throw the rule book at anybody, it'll be at the man who goes around inventing strange "rules" to confuse canasta players. The trouble is that there are probably five or six such people, and I've never been fond of mass mayhem.

The result of all this invention is that about a hundred people each week write to me to check up on one single canasta rule. Here is a typical question that came to me in the mail a few weeks ago.

"The deck is not frozen. I have a closed canasta of fours. A four is discarded by the opponent at my right. Am I allowed to pick up that four to put it on my closed canasta?"

I made my stock answer in such cases:

"Yes. You are allowed to pick up the previous discard when it matches your closed canasta. You must then add that discard to your canasta. That has always been the rule, and nobody is even dreaming of changing it. In other words, your closed canasta is just like any other meld for the purpose of taking the discard pile."

A couple of days later, back came another letter from the same small town:

"You told my friend that she could pick up a four that matched her closed canasta. Now the other night I had a canasta of kings. What is the rule on kings?"

I had an answer for that kind of question too:

"You may pick up a king that matches your closed canasta. If your canasta is in aces, you may pick up an ace; if it is in queens, you may pick up a queen; and so on. In short, the rule applies to any canasta at all. If you had a canasta of lollipops and the player at your right discarded a lollipop, you could pick it up and add it to your canasta.

That was a serious mistake on my part. A rumor got about that some new game was all the rage, with new cards called lollipops. All the best people were playing it. Oswald Jacoby thought it would take the place of television . . .

You see how it is? This article will probably start a whole new batch of false rumors, all of which may be good clean fun. But I hate to think of the weird questions I'll have to answer!

Q—Is there any difference in play between a deuce and a joker?

A—None at all. You can use a deuce instead of a joker for any purpose, or vice versa. The only difference is in their point value. The deuce is worth only 20 points; the poker is worth 50 points.

Q—When both sides go over 5000 point, who wins? We claim that the winner of the last hand is the winner of the game.

A—Correct procedure is to add up the score at the end of the hand. The side that has more points—in total—is the winner. It doesn't matter which side wins final hand.

Apple Crumb Dessert Good When Barrel Almost Empty

By MARY MOORE

The mayor of one of our Ontario cities said to me (when I was introduced as a food columnist): "Ah, I never read food columns. I'm just one of those plain fellows who still likes a bowl of porridge for breakfast. I don't like pink chiffon cakes or blueberry velvet muffins, or any of that fancy stuff."

Everybody whooped and hollered over that chiffon and velvet wisecrack. I did not want to spoil his joke by saying I eat porridge too,—but I do.

So to erase any vestige of suspicin that may remain with some of you I reiterate that I am just a plain cook—you know "Plain Mary."

If I break out with some party food once in a while it is either because I have been asked for it or to relieve the monotony.

My barrel of apples in the basement is nearly used up, thank goodness, and the numbers of apple pies and dumplings and betties and bowls of applesauce that I have made this winter from it are unnumbered. I have been asked to repeat the apple crumb, and it is a popular dessert that does not suffer from being made from stored and slightly shrivelled apples.

Apple Crumb Dessert

Four cups sliced apples (preferably taft), ¼ cup boiling water, ½ cup butter or margarine, 1 cup flour, ½ to 2-3 cup sugar. Arrange apples in deep pie plate which has been buttered or in shallow baking dish. Pour the water over. Cream the butter or margarine very well, then cream into it the flour and sugar until thoroughly blended and smooth. Press over apples. Bake at 400 deg. F. for 40 minutes. Serve with pouring cream or soft custard.

Has everybody forgotten about the Apple Porcupine we used to make at domestic science? They are delicious, attractive and easy on the grocery money.

Apple Porcupine

One and one-quarter cups sugar, 1½ cups water, 6 medium sized apples (preferable tart), 1 table spoon butter, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, blanched, slivered almonds, cream.

Boil the sugar and water 5 minutes. Pare and core apples and cook gently in syrup 'til soft, but not broken. Carefully skim out of syrup onto baking dish. Add the butter and cinnamon to the syrup. Slice blanched almonds into slivers and stick halfway into apples. Bake at 350 deg. F. until tips of nuts are brown and apples glazed looking. Chill until very cold. Serve with unsweetened whipped cream with dot of bright red jelly in centre.

DOROTHY DIX

Girl Seeks Conduct Code That Will Please All Men

DEAR MISS DIX: What do men want? How can a girl know how to please them? You go out with one man and let him kiss you and he calls you cheap and easy and doesn't date you any more. You go out with another man and don't let him kiss you and he does not date you any more. What are we poor girls to do?

Dorothy Dix

PUZZLED ONE

ANSWER: You might try just being yourself and establishing you own code of conduct and living up to it. Then you would attract the men that like your type and you would be much more apt to make a hit than you are when you attempt to be whatever you think a man wants you to be.

A girl saves a lot of wear and tear on her constitution by not trying to be a yes woman and changing her morals and her manners to correspond with those of every boy who comes along.

Loses Individuality

When she does this she throws away the most attractive quality that any human being can possess, and that is personality. She becomes nothing but a rubber stamp, with nothing to distinguish her from thousands of other girls. There is nothing distinctive about this mass-production type of girl that makes a man feel he prefers one above another.

But the girl who doesn't pretend to be what she isn't, who has her convictions that she abides by, who has views that she holds to has individuality. She stands out from the herd. She makes a man notice her because she is different. She makes a man feel that she is worth while and worth having. She isn't just a rag doll that he will throw away as soon as he is tired of playing with her.

So my advice to you is not to try to please every man. Please yourself. You will find that it pays better in every way. And don't forget that not every man likes the same kind of girl. There are plenty of men who prefer girls who refuse to pay for a date by letting men paw them over.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been engaged for almost three years to a man who has splendid principles but a disagreeable disposition and I live in constant dread of doing something that he can find fault with or be suspicious of. Sometimes I think he is wonderful and at other times I almost hate him, but I can't seem to break with him.

My father died recently, leaving my mother and little sister dependent on me. I have a splendid position; in fact, make more than my fiance, although he has a good substantial income. As things stand, I will have to keep my position for the next ten years if I want to be independent of outside help. Of course, no man would wait that long for me. My fiance urges me to marry him, saying that he can support all three of us, but I know better.

What do you think would be the best thing for me to do, considering that the young man's disposition has already made me doubtful of the wisdom of marrying him?

INDEPENDENT

ANSWER: The man whose mind is filled with petty jealousies and suspicions, who is so evil-minded himself that he attributes his own unworthy motives to every one else, will be doubly and trebly suspicious of his wife and make her life a burden to her with his spying upon her.

I can see no happiness in a marriage with a selfish, jealous, grouchy man, and if anything comes up to keep you from marrying such a one, regard it as the work of your guardian angel and return thanks accordingly.

It is highly desirable, of course, that a man should have good principles and be a go-getter, but the thing that makes or mars his wife's happiness is his disposition. That's what she has to live with, and whether a woman is happy or miserable depends upon her husband's attitude about the little common, everyday affairs.

As for your not being willing to dump you mother and sister down on your husband to support, that shows the right spirit; and, while your fiance may say now that he would be willing to take care of them, the chances are that he would regard them as a burden and make you very unhappy over the situation.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR MISS DIX: In a recent class discussion the subject of adopting children came up. We were unable to decide whether an adopted child should be told of his or her adoption or not. What is your advice on this matter?

THE CLASS

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: An adopted child should always be told of its adoption and told while it is so young that the knowledge makes no particular impression on it. It just becomes a familiar fact. No sense of degradation goes with it. The child may even be proud of it, as in the case of one little fellow who boasted to his plamates that, while they were wished on their parents, his mother and father picked him out.

Gray-Goselin Wedding

In Sacred Heart Church Saturday morning the marriage took place of Theresa Audrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Goselin, 66 Ware St., and Robert William Gray, son of Mrs. Gray, 151 Stewart St., and the late Mr. Robert Gray. The Rev. J. Weis officiated.

The church was decorated with Easter lilies, tulips and fern. Music was played by Mr. J. Armstrong, organist, and during the signing of the register Mr. Anthony DeNoble sang "On This Day O Beautiful Mother."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white brocaded satin with nylon yoke. The sweetheart neckline was edged with French lace and trimmed with pearls, the skirt, slightly hooped, was edged with tiers of French lace and extended in a long graceful train. Her veil of nylon mist was caught to a pearl tiara and she carried orchids and a mother of pearl prayer book.

Miss Yvonne Goselin as her bridesmaid wore pink brocaded satin with matching gloves and headdress, and Miss Mary McCabe as maid of honor was in pale blue taffeta with headdress and gloves of the same material. They carried similar prayer books, given them by the bride and groom, and pink and blue forget-me-nots.

The groomsman was Mr. Jack Gray and the ushers were Francis Goselin and Robert Brightman.

A reception and wedding breakfast following the ceremony were at Marino's dining room. The bride's mother received in a gown of black silk and wore white and black accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother, who also received, wore a wine gabardine suit with navy accessories and a bouquet of white roses.

The bride and groom left later for Toronto and points west. For travelling the bride chose a suit of paddy green gabardine and grey accessories and wore a black top coat and corsage of orchids. On return they will live on Romaine Street.

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

Question: First of all I must tell you how very much I enjoy your column. I only wish that it was in the paper every day.

I would appreciate it very much if you would kindly send me a recipe for an apple pie with French pastry. I have not been able to find this anywhere in my recipe books.

I would also like a recipe for the real McCoy—Chinese Chicken Chop Suey.

I know it is rather late but could I have the apple pie recipe before Easter, as my husband just loves apple pie and I know he would enjoy it doubly if it had French pastry.

I especially like reading about the low calorie meals. By the way could I also have a calorie chart? MRS. J. A.

Answer: The lower crust of the apple pie would have to be made from plain pastry. The upper crust could be

Puff Pastry (French pastry)

Two cups flour, 1¼ teaspoons salt, 1 cup shortening. Mix and sift flour and salt. Cut in 2 tablespoons shortening with a knife. Add just enough water to bind. Knead for 5 minutes. Cover. Chill. Roll on slightly floured board to ¼-inch thickness in a rectangular shape with squared corners. Slightly soften the remaining shortening and lay out in a flat circular shape in the centre of ½ of the dough. Fold other half over it. Press edges tightly together to hold in air. Fold right side over and left side under the enclosed shortening. Chill. Roll out again in rectangular shape. Fold ends toward centre making three layers. Chill. Repeat this chilling and rolling and folding process four times. Chill. Paste should be made 24 hours before baking and should be kept ice cold. When ready to bake pie, line pie plate with plain paste, fill with sliced apples and about ¾ cup sugar to 9-inch pie, have oven hot. Remove pastry from refrigerator and working quickly cut out top crust and slash centre and seal edges of pastry and bake at 500 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes, reducing heat to 350 deg. Fahr. to finish.

(To be sure you receive your recipe in time I am mailing you a carbon copy of the above part of my answer to you direct.)

I was told by a Chinese chef that in China there is no such thing as the chop suey we know, but the felicious Chop Suey he serves is made as follows:

A Chinese Chef's Chop Suey

Two tablespoons butter or salad oil, 1½ lbs. veal or pork or lamb or chicken cut into 1-inch strips about ½-inch square, salt, black pepper, about 1 cup boiling water, 2 more tablespoons butter, 2 cups cooking onions cut in ½-inch slices, then cut the slices into quarters, 2 cups celery cut ½ inch wide and 1 inch long, ½ cup green pepper or green onion tops, ¼ cup canned pimentoes cut ½ inch wide and 1 inch wide and 1 inch long, ¼ lb. sliced mushrooms sauteed in a little butter, ¼ cup cornstarch mixed with ¼ cup cold water and 2 teaspoons molasses and 1 tablespoon soy sauce. Melt the butter, and when pan is hot add the meat and salt and pepper and saute until meat is golden brown and seared on all sides. Turn into a saucepan and add just enough boiling water to barely cover meat, put on lid and let simmer 30 minutes. Stir two or three times, and add a little water if needed.

Melt 1½ tablespoons butter in saucepan and add prepared onions and celery and green pepper (if used) and about two tablespoons hot water. Cover and let simmer until Crisply tender — about 5 or 8 minutes. Then combine with tender meat, pimento and mushrooms. Stir in the moistened and flavoured cornstarch until thick, and let simmer over very low heat until clearn—ot more than 10 minutes.

It is now ready to serve. Pass additional soy sauce at table. Meat may be reduced and vegetables increased—but secret of Chinese handling of vegetables is the undercooking.

Question: I read with interest your letters and answers; like Mrs. Robert P.'s husband I have to take off about 30 lbs. of weight. I too have been very discouraged; having a family to cook for, it seems I can't lose. May I have your calorie chart with some menu ideas for myself. May I also have your recipe for making soap from fats? Is carnation milk used in coffee fattening. Thanking you for all of your help through the paper. MRS. H. L.

Homemade Soap

Five pounds lukewarm melted fat (lamb and beef drippings make the hardest soap), 1 lb. can lye, 1 quart cold water, 3 teaspoons borax, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, ½ cup cold water, ¼ cup dry ammonia. Carefully pour the cold water on the lye in a porcelain crock or unchipped enamel basin, and stand with your face well back while stirring with a stick. Very slowly add the liquid grease stirring constantly. Mix all of the other invredients together and stir in slowly, and stir for about 15 minutes, or until the mass becomes thick and too heavy to stir, and light coloured. Pour into a wooden box lined with heavy cloth. Mark into squares or bars. Set away to harden. When very hard, cut into bars, and pile log fashion, so that soap may dry out well. The cloth in bottom of box facilitates lifting out bars when hard.

The milk you mention is whole milk evaporated to half it bulk. It is like using concentrated whole milk, and good for reducers — much beter than cream in coffee for reducing. I have mailed you the calorie chart.

Attention Mrs. V.E.G.—Would you please send me your address in order that I may send you the the literature you requested?

Question: Could you send me your recipe for the fish batter (for deep frying) such as they use in the fish and chip shops. I would like to try it, and neglected to clip the recipe when it once appeared in the paper in your column. The column is so interesting! LILLIAN D.

Cover Batter for Deep Fried Fish

One beaten egg, ¾ cup milk, 1 teaspoon melted fat, 1 cup sifted flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 1½ teaspoons baking powder. Combine egg, milk, and fat. Add flour, salt and baking powder sifted together. Let stand 30 minutes before dipping well-dried fish into it. Plunge into deep fat at 385 deg. Fahr. for about 8 minutes, turning once. This applies to pieces of fish of averape thickness of about ¾ or 1 inch.

6—In Memoriams

GRIFFIN—In loving memory of Mrs. Fred Griffin, who died April 18, 1946.
No one knows how much we miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered since we lost you
Life has never been the same.
In our hearts your memory lingers
Sweetly, tender, fond and true,
There is not a day, dear mother,
That we do not think of you.
—Ever remembered by Helen and Fred.

ILLINGWORTH—In loving memory of Sarah Anne Illingworth, who passed away April 16th, 1938.
The rolling stream of life goes on,
But still the empty chair
Reminds us of the face, the smile,
Of one who once sat there.
—Lovingly remembered by husband, daughters and families.

JOHNSON—In loving memory of Sidney Johnson, who died April 16, 1944.
Six years have passed since that sad day
When one we loved was called away,
God took him home—it was His will,
Within our hearts he liveth still.
—Sadly missed by Jean, Ken and his wife.

TAYLOR — In loving memory of my dear husband, David Taylor, who passed away four years ago on April 17.
When evening shades are falling
And I am sitting alone
In my heart there comes a longing
If you only could come home.
'Tis lonesome here without you
There is such a vacant place
For we never hear your footsteps
Nor see your loving face
As we loved you so we miss you
In our memory you are dear,
Loved, remembered, longed for always
Bringing many a silent tear
To those who have a father
Cherish him with care
There will never be another
To fill his vacant chair.
—Sadly missed and always remembered by his wife, Harriet and daughters Mabel and Vera, Mrs. David Taylor.

making the new city beautiful, but they are very expensive. The citizens are living in terribly crowded conditions, in spite of the efforts of officials and citizens alike. But the people are more important. Their unbeaten spirit has made everyone, old and young, turn in and help with the rebuilding.

The work has only started in the last two years because it was very difficult to make an agreement over the new location of buildings, in the older sections of the city. Many of the old houses had been held from the Middle Ages. They had not been changed and never modernized. It made the situation more difficult because they had to make individual agreements with each owner to rebuild in the same spot.

With merchants, there was the same problem. If a man had had a prosperous shop on a corner, he was unwilling to be placed in a store further down the street because business would not be so good. But the Norman temperment made things easier and officials told me that the people have co-operated wonderfully.

Practical Plans

The first step in restoring the life of the city after the rubble was cleared was to erect temporary barracks to shelter the people. In one undamaged house meant for six people, 22 were living. Prefabricated houses and stores were erected on the streets and squares so that trade could begin again. There was neither water, electricity or gas for 12 months after the bombings. The people had to carry all their water in pails from one of the squares where the British set up a distribution point. To reach it, the citizens had to climb over piles of rubble and huge holes because the city equipment was not heavy enough to remove it. Eventually, several bulldozers were brought in and the roads were opened up.

All schools were destroyed, as was the University of Caen. They were completely levelled. The town has bought books and they are operating both schools and the college in a few of the buildings which were comparatively undamaged. The people, 20,000 of them, who remained in Caen during the terrible bombings, are proud of their battle scars and they are tremendously grateful.

Magic Words

Canada and Canadian are magic words in Normandy. The Canadian soldiers made a wonderful impression on these people. No matter where I went in the city or partly destroyed villages the people told me how wonderful our soldiers were. From the humblest to the highest, they have said, voluntarily: "We want you to tell your people that we love them. If any of them come to France, there is a room waiting in our homes. We don't want their money. We can never repay the freedom they gave us and their kindness."

This from a people whose homes and lives we blasted to bits.

They have special thought for Edinburgh too. When the desperate plight of these people became known, the people of Edinburgh rallied to the cause magnificently. They sent food and clothing and today many of these people are alive because of this aid. The welcome and gratitude of these people would bring tears to your eyes. And there is no doubt of its sincerity. I just wish every man, woman and child in Peterborough could meet and talk to these folk. It is something you can never forget.

There is special square in Caen that I like to visit. It is small and unpretentious at the end of one of the cobbled streets. But the Canadians passed that way and to show their thankfulness for their arrival, the people of this city have named it "Canada Square." It was undoubtedly a familiar spot to the Glengarrians and they will perhaps like to know that they have been remembered.

City Lad

took the first heat with a time of 1:10 minutes.

Jim Heffernan and Bob Malby of Peterborough were second and third respectively in the boys under 14 years 100 yards breast stroke. Malcolm Black won the event in 1:36.6 minutes for West End YMCA.

Record-breaking Attempt

An attempt to break the Canadian record for the junior men's 300 yards individual medley swim failed. This event was not for an Ontario championship. Bob Easun of Stratford won the event in 4:02.5 minutes. The record is held by J. Portelance of British Columbia, 3:49 minutes. Fred Smith of Toronto Lakeshore Club placed second and Donald Wood of Peterborough third.

Officials of the meet were William Harwood, president of the Ontario Section of the CASA starter, James Bishop, Toronto judges, Gordon Dobbin and Don Harwood of Peterborough, Fred Smith Sr., of Toronto; chief timer, Fred Jennings of Peterborough; timers, Ross Thompson and Rick Cochrane of Peterborough, Burt Worth and Allen Eagleson of Toronto; recorders Mrs. Edna Worth of Toronto; N. C. Munro of Peterborough, master of ceremonies was Gordon Minty, coach of the Peterborough YMCA Swimming Club.

Humane Society Elects Mrs. S. O. Shields

Annual report of the Peterborough Humane Society was read at the society's meeting and showed society representatives had handled a total of 1845 animals during 1949.

One of the noteworthy achievements of the society as reported was the closing out of the Hetherington case, whereby a number of horses were sold. Deer at Chemong Park, found in a starving condition, were removed to natural surroundings. Delivery horses have been carefully inspected, livestock taken care of, in transit and the society was instrumental in having the intolerable condition in which horses were being shipped to North Africa for canning investigated and cleaned up.

There were 695 dogs picked up, 100 of which had been killed on city streets and 658 cats were also picked up by the inspector. Other animals coming under the society's attention were one fox, 29 skunks, two racoons, one rabbit and four pigeons, all of which were destroyed. Thirteen dog cases were successfully prosecuted in court and seven cruelty cases prosecuted in which convictions were secured in five. There were 1,063 dog tags sold and 31 farms visited.

The following are the officers elected:

Patrons—His Worship Mayor Swanston, G. K. Fraser, M.P., Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Kerr and W. G. Ovens; president, Mrs. S. O. Shields; 1st vice, M. Powell; 2nd vice, Mrs. R. S. Martin; treas., Miss E. Wood; sec'y, Miss Jean Fraser; cor.-sec'y, Mrs. W. A. Young; memberships, Miss M. Denne and Miss E. McFadyan; hon. auditor, F. Holmes; inspecto, G. Dunford; publicity, Miss June Fraser; representatives to: Local Council of Women, Mrs. W. T. Fanjoy; Kennel Club, Miss E. McFadyan; Red Cross and Community Fund, Mrs. S. O. Shields; executive, Mrs. M. Burnham, Mrs. N. Cole, Miss M. Collins, Miss B. Garside, Mrs. F. Holmes, Mrs. S. Hamilton, Miss H. Lytle, Mrs. E. McDonald, Mrs. M. V. Powell, Mrs. C. Pilon, Mrs. R. N. Stuart, Mrs. T. Smith, Miss J. White.

Dr. R. W. Ford spoke of the care and training of dogs, and J. Shooke of the Kennel Club spoke on obedience training for dogs.

Two films, "Puppy Troubles," and "Glacier National Park," were shown.

Takes Over Cemetery

TRENT RIVER, April 17 (ENS) —Mr. Revoir has purchased the rights from Mr. John A. Ruttan and is now caretaker and superintendent of Maple Grove cemetery.

The name of this world-famous aperient, Mrs. Withers, is KRUSCHEN. And the word aperient is a medical term for the mildly laxative action of Kruschen. In Kruschen you get a unique blend of saline minerals similar to those found in medicinal waters or springs. Kruschen offers you these four advantages:

EASY TO TAKE—Dissolves quickly in water, or your morning coffee, tea or fruit juice. Most folks find the small morning dose is best.

WORKS FAST—Usually within the hour. Does not spoil your day.

GENTLE ACTION—Its formula is balanced to act gently, without discomfort.

TIME-TESTED—Over 300,000,000 packages sold throughout the world.

Next time your system needs help, due to common constipation, sluggishness or the effects of over-indulgence—try Kruschen for prompt, gentle relief. Take it regularly—get that grand "Kruschen feeling". 25c and 75c at all drug stores.

GOLF IMMORTAL—Mrs. W. G. Fraser, of Ottawa, is one of six outstanding North American golfers who have been selected for charter membership in the Ladies' Professional Golfers' Association Hall of Fame. As Alexa Stirling she won the U.S. women's amateur crown three years in a row and the Canadian championship twice in the 20's.

OBA President, Executive Named

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., April 17 (CP)—Fred H. Young of Chippewa was elected president of the Ontario Baseball Association at the closing session of the group's 33rd annual meeting Saturday.

W. F. Nichol of Stratford was elected first vice president and James Millman of London, second vice president. Secretary-treasurer W. J. Snyder was returned for the ninth consecutive year, his 23rd as secretary. Elected to the executive were: Garrett Franklin, Toronto; M. L. Gregg, Windsor; Otto Manske, Waterloo; and A. E. Stirling, Chatham.

The Intercounty Baseball League won in their defence of the packed all-star team idea. The OBA rule stating that "a winning team and not a selection from all teams from any league shall represent the league in playdowns" was deleted from the association's constitution.

The association also changed the deadline date for players to qualify under the residence rule. Formerly May 1 for all players, the general rule was changed to June 15 while students have until July 15 to qualify.

The association ruled that the zone system of playoffs will remain in force with the executive empowered to add more zones when necessary. It was also decided that on player be able to revert back after playing in a higher series.

4,000 Whoop It Up At Toronto By-line Ball

TORONTO, April 17 (CP) — The fifth annual by-line ball, staged by the Toronto Men's and Women's Press Clubs, attracted a crowd of 4,000 Saturday night.

One of the many highlights was the crowning of Thelma Brewis, 18, of Toronto, as "Miss By-line." Winner of 10 other finalists, Miss Brewis won a complete wardrobe and a free modelling course. In a lucky draw Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lyons of suburban Leaside won an expense-paid trip ticket by air to Washington, D. C.

Cash awards totalling $1,000 were presented to Toronto news reporters and photographers who turned out the best fire stories and pictures during 1949. The money was donated by the Toronto Fire Fighters' Association.

Sees Ball Leafs In First Division This Season

By JACK SULLIVAN

DAYTON BEACH, Fla., April 17 — (CP) — Toronto's five-year drought of first-division International Baseball League teams will end this season "for sure." That's the way freshman manager Jack Sanford feels about it and he could be dead right.

"We'll be up there in the first four. There's no doubt in my mind about that," he predicted shortly before the club started its swing north for opening of the season at Syracuse April 20.

There probably will be many old faces around but the Leafs, with help from the parent Philadelphia Phillies of the National League—particularly the pitching corps—should have a good blend of veterans and rookies who won't run out of gas in the stretch of the 154-game schedule.

Leafs haven't hit the first four in the season's-end team standing since 1945, and Sanford, up from Wilmington of the Inter-State Class B League, has piloted eight first-division clubs in his nine years as a manager.

Final weeding-out process hasn't started yet, but 1949'ers likely to be around to start the season are: first-baseman Bill Glynn; second-baseman Al Roberge; short-stop Alex Garbowski; third-baseman Vic Barnhart and outfielder Johnny Welaj.

One, or even two, of these infielders may lose out to Ralph (Frenchy) Lapointe, bought from Rochester Red Wings in a straight-cash spring-training season deal who can play second, short or third, and Joe Buzas who has shown well at second in exhibition games.

The outer-garden and catching spots still are uncertain. Fighting it out for the two catching jobs are Vince Plumbo, a former Leaf who was with Sacramento last year; Harry (Bud) Heslet, who hit .228 in 140 games for Newark last year; an Eddie Oswald, a class-B team catcher in 1949.

Welja may be joined by two other Leaf outfielders — Eddie Sanicki and Johnny Blatnik — who went to the Philly spring-training camp. It is doubtful if either will catch on with the Major-League club.

Other outfield candidates are fleet-footed Johnny Mayo in centre whose hitting has been weak, and Chuck Hood, a class-B League player with Portland in the New England circuit, in right field.

Veterans of the pitching staff are Lou Possehl with a wobby 4-10 won-lost record last year, and Nick Strincevich with an 11-15 record. Max Peterson, starting his sophomore, had a 6-4 1949 record.

Newcomers, and likely to catch places, are Buzz Bowers, 20-year-old righthander starting his first year in organized ball; Paul Stuffel, another right-handed thrower, had 288 strike-outs with Terre Haute in the three-eye league in 1949; Jack Brittin, a 217 hurler with Wilmington, and Bill Fogg, who wrapped a 7-1 record with Wilmington before injuring his arm.

Sanford's type of play is strictly offensive, which should win many close ball games.

Toronto Entertainer For Holstein Dinner

"Farmers are not buying dinner tickets as readily as they did two years ago," says Stan Wood, secretary-treasurer of the Peterborough Holstein Breeders' Club.

"They are inclined to hesitate and think twice about it, but that doesn't really apply to our Club members and friends, because all the signs are pointing to a big attendance at our annual dinner at Club Aragon Wednesday this week. It starts at seven o'clock.

"We are bringing Tom Hamilton of Toronto, a clever entertainer, and the evening will wind up with dancing."

That's the prospect for Wednesday night. It is the last affair of the long winter season, and with May approaching farmers will soon be bound up in their work again.

Car Swerves Into Fence Man Cut, Above Eye

Eugene C. McCormick, 111 Rubidge St., was cut above his right eye when his car swerved on Wolfe St. Saturday night and struck the fence on the north side of the CGE property.

Police say McCormick had been driking. They found half-a-dozen empty beer bottles and a bottle of wine in his car.

They say his car swerved to the north side of the Wolfe St., then to the south side, where it hit the fence, and became jammed halfway underneath it.

McCormick claimed a friend of his was driving the car.

Medal For 35 Years

BLIND RIVER, April 17—(CP) —External Affairs Minister Pearson Saturday presented Mrs. Foster Morris with a service medal in recognition of her late husband's 35 years' service as a lighthouse keeper in the marine service. Mr. Morris died in February.

Deputy Grand Master Orangeman 58 Years

HAVELOCK, April 17.—(ENS). —Richard Sanderson of Havelock, was honored at the Provincial Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East at Cobourg last week, when he was re-elected Associate Deputy Grand Master.

Mr. Sanderson has been a member of the Orange Order for 58 years, his first connection being with the Orange Young Britons at Hexton. Three years later he took out membership with Edwardsburgh L.O.L. No. 143.

In 1908 Mr. Sanderson moved to Havelock and transferred his membership to Havelock L.O.L. No. 326 in 1912. He has served as Master of the local order for two years and also as District Master and County Master.

Mrs. Jack Adams, a member of Lady McGill, L.O.B.A. No. 471, Havelock, attended the Grand Lodge of the L.O.B.A. in Cobourg last week and was the winner of the Dominion Regalia lucky draw, the prize being six white tams and six sashes.

Windsors May Ranch Three Months Of Year

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., April 17 (CP)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor said Saturday they are considering making their ranch in Alberta their permanent home for at least two or three months of each year.

The Windsors were greeted by more than 150 citizens when they made a 40-minute stop here while en route by rail to Ottawa.

Later, at Winnipeg, the Duke said he hopes to have his memoirs out in book form this fall.

"I am working on the memoirs now," he said. "It's hard work."

Connecticut Cousin Dies

Vice-president of an American investment firm, Richard Neithercut, 74, who died earlier this month at Bridgeport, Connecticut, was a cousin of O. S. Matchett, of Maude St., Peterborough. The late Mr. Neithercut was a graduate of Yale University and prominent in New England. He leaves his wife, Harriet Bigelow, two daughters, Mrs. John F. Windsor and Mrs. Frank J. Jones, and two granddaughters. The funeral was held from the Congregational Church at Bridgeport on April 4.

3 Tugs Race, Rescue Freighter In Atlantic

HALIFAX, April 17 (CP) — An Atlantic salvage race in which three ocean-going tugs took part ended at midnight Sunday night when the tug Foundation Vera arrived alongside the disabled freighter Federal Trader 40 miles northwest of Sable Island.

The freighter sent out a call for assistance early Sunday when her engine failed and she drifted toward the island, known to mariners as "the graveyard of the Atlantic."

The Vera was to put a line aboard the Federal Trader at down today, taking over from the RCMP cutter MacBrien, which reached the 2,861-ton freighter's side a few hours ahead of the tug.

Coldwell Urges More Religious Freedom

OTTAWA, April 17 (CP)—CCF leader M. J. Coldwell Sunday night called for "greater personal and religious freedom" in Canada.

He cited the treatment of the Christian Brethren at Shawinigan Falls, Que., as an example of religious intolerance, and said members of the Jehovah's Witnesses had been "run out of town" in Quebec and Northern Ontario.

"I disagree with what the Witnesses say," Mr. Coldwell said. "But I think they have the right to say it. To have them arrested, as has been done, is the very negation of that right for which we have fought for many centuries."

Israel People To Celebrate Freedom Day

By LARRY ALLEN

TEL AVIV, Israel, April 17 — (CP)— Israel government authorities are putting the finish touches on a big celebration program for the little Jewish State's "Fourth of July" next Sunday.

That's been designated as "Independence Day." Israelis actually proclaim their independence May 14, 1948, but the date of the annual celebration varies according to the Hebrew calendar.

Th government wants everyone who can to celerbrate the holiday. The great majority of festivities will be in open air.

There'll be plenty of dancing in the streets of towns, cities and villages.

Five open air stages are being built in Tel Aviv, four in Jerusalem, and four in Haifa for popular shows.

There'll be free movies in more than 30 cinemas throughout the country. The Israeli army will put on a fireworks display in Tel Aviv and Haifa.

J. Sprinzak, speaker of parliament will start the ball rolling Saturday night when he lights a bonfire on Mt. Herzl in Jerusalem.

Member of the Gadna Youth Organization will light over bonfires on hills and mountains all over the country. This is in accordance with a custom started 2,000 years ago when bonfires announced the new moon and the start of the month to isolated villages.

President Chaim Weizmann will formally open the holiday celebration with a broadcast proclamation. Premier David Ben Gurion then will make a nationwide radiocast.

Sunday will be a "bank holiday" with only communications, post offices and restaurants remaining open.

Gold Midas Finishes Race 22 Hours Late

BALTIMORE, April 17 (AP) — Gold Midas' time in the My Lady's Manor Steeplechase Saturday wasn't too good. He finished Sunday.

The nine-year-old gelding threw his rider at the 15th jump and galloped off across the countryside.

When his mount didn't cross the finish line with the others, Tracey Bedsworth began canvassing the district. But he had to give up when darkness fell.

He began looking again early Sunday. At 1 p.m. he spotted Gold Midas standing cold, stiff and sore in a meadow about two mile from the jump that put him out of the race.

Bedsworth led him back to the finish line which Gold Midas crossed 22 hours after the start of the race.

Open Campaign Sports Funds Catholic High

Final plans were completed at a meeting of the Catholic High School Athletic Advisory Club for their two-week campaign to raise at least $5,000 from Catholic families in the city. Campaign chairman Rollie Hull has organized a team of canvassers who begin their calls today.

Team captains are D. J. Fitzgerald, St. Peter's parish; Fergus O'Connor, Sacred Heart and St. John's parishes; Don Hull, Immaculate Conception parish; John Russelle, St. Anne's parish.

Purpose of the campaign, as outlined by Mr. Hull, is to offer financial support to an athletic program at the Catholic High School. For many years, the High School lacked an organized athletic program to round out its curriculum. Last year an athletic director was appointed and immediately the school spirit became revitalized.

"We feel," said Mr. Hull, "that all working Catholics in the city should have an interest in the education of youth attending the school. It is actually an investment in the future of our country. Athletics contribute in a large way to character moulding."

Proceeds from the campaign are expected to carry the program for the next three years; it will not be an annual campaign, he said.

Book Migration Got Start In Graveyard

By RENE J. CAPPON

BALTIMORE, Md., April 17 — (AP)—Penguins, King Penguins, Pelicans, Ptarmigans and Puffins have come to roost in a Baltimore warehouse by the hundreds and thousands.

They are books—not birds—and their job is to make profits for dollar-hungry Britain, and British publisher Allen Lane.

Lane's export manager, Harry F. Paroissien, is directing the invasion. An amiable, pipe-puffing Briton, he set up the United States subsidiary, Allen Lane, incorporated, in January.

Penguins and [illegible] priced, compact British pocket-size volumes on everything from "common sense in the nursery" to the "size of the universe."

Britain and the world bought some 10,000,000 of them last year. The United States, where distribution depended on individual importers and was somewhat haphazard, absorbed about 300,000.

During three months of operation from their warehouse-office Paroissien and his staff of four have "done as much business as we did in this country all last year."

A large measure of his briskly-developing trade is with institutions of learning and book stores in college towns.

There are classics, modern novels, mystery stories, scientific and children's books—which incidentally are slowest to move so far—illustrated art books and just about everything else, selling for 35 cents to $1.

Sixty per cent of the Lane books are written for Penguin and Pelican editions. The rest are reprints.

Penguin books themselves started out in a graveyard—literally—in 1935, when most experts figured they could stay there.

But from the weird warehouse [illegible] in the crypt of Holy Trinity Church, where empty tombs were used for additional office space, mushroomed one of the most successful publishing ventures of the century [illegible] tion with the American low-priced reprints," he declared, "and we don't intend to cater to the drug store trade."

Range of the Penguins is vast.

Pittsburgh Clears Smog After Eight-Year Battle

By JAMES L. HOLTON

PITTSBURGH, April 17 (AP). —Like a great blind giant whose eyes have been stripped of a lifetime veil, this industrial metropolis today stands blinking in unbelievable sunlight.

Pittsburgh's emergence from the atmospheric gloom which inspired the "Smoky City" tag has been gradual, costly and unobtrusive—but miraculously near complete.

The city's pioneer Bureau of Smoke Prevention totes up these results of its eight-year struggle for clean air:

1. The atmosphere today is 65 per cent more free of dirt of all [illegible].

2. No smog (mixture of smoke and fog) for two years.

3. Visibility conditions for aircraft improved 75 per cent.

4. Atmospheric dust reduced nearly as much last year as in the 10 previous years.

Citizens' Comments

But the most eloquent testimony to the great air purge comes from housewives and visitors.

Sumner B. Ely, who heads the Bureau, said he has received scores of letters from Pittsburgh housekeepers telling how much less cleaning is necessary now than a few years ago.

Many former residents write of their amazements at the big change they noticed during recent visits.

[illegible] popular subject in Pittsburgh, but it was not until the formation of the Smoke Prevention Bureau in 1942 that anything really constructive was done.

The project's initial efforts met skeptical opposition from industries as well as smoke-hardened citizens, but by 1947 the smoke purgers finally had started to tub the great blanket from the skies.

Those first meagre results tipped the scales in favor of the clean-air battlers. Skeptics, including the big industries, swung their weight behind the campaign.

The Bureau's first task was collecting research data.

It learned, for example, that Pittsburgh's great grey pall was generated by 122,613 exhaust outlets ranging from towering mill stacks to simple chimneys on homes.

The clean-air crusaders helped draft laws that provided:

1. All heating equipment must be of the anti-smoke type, such as stokers, down-draft double grates, or smokeless magazine stoves approved by the Bureau; or

2. Smokeless fuels, such as coal mixtures, coke, gas, oil or anthracite coal, must be used in hand-fired furnaces.

Policing the city's furnaces to insure compliance was relatively easy. The Bureau has 12 inspectors who watch for tell-tale smoke.

Most effective, however, is the control of coal sales. Inspectors maintain careful watch over the city's 30 [illegible] coal yards.

Pittsburgh [illegible] cerely [illegible] almost city in the country, but it definitely has lost claim to the "Smoky City" title.

Man Plants Bomb In Plane To Kill Wife; Explodes Prematurely Being Loaded

Wanted To Marry Red-Haired Girl Friend
Lost Nerve, Shouted Warning
His Two Children, 13 Others On Aircraft

LOS ANGELES, April 18—(CP)—A man's plot to destroy his heavily-insured wife on a plane loaded with passengers including his two small children, was blamed today by police on John Henry Grant's passion for a pretty redhead whom he wished to marry. The plot, strangely reminiscent of an air tragedy in Quebec last summer, was foiled by premature explosion of the gasoline time-bomb as it was being loaded on an airliner, and by Grant's simultaneous confession.

A suicide watch was placed on Grant after it was found he had torn strips of cloth from his cell mattress in an attempt to make a noose, Detective Jack Guldstone said.

Police Lieut. C. E. Ream said that Miss Betty Suomela told him that she was in love with the 32-year-old Grant. Monday, while he was placing the bomb on a United States Air Lines twin-engine DC-3 carrying 16 passengers to San Diego, she thought he was appearing in court to get a divorce from his wife.

The air trip was to have been a birthday treat for Grant's five-year-old son, Bobby.

The near-disaster and its motives had a strange parallel to the time-bombing of a Canadian Pacific Airliner 40 miles from Quebec Sept. 9. J. Albert Guay, 32, a jeweler, was sentenced in Quebec March 14 to be hanged June 23 for murdering his wife and 22 others aboard the plane.

Girl Not Implicated

Ream said questioning convinced him the stewardess was in no way implicated in the Grant case.

Unlike the Guay murder, Monday's plane bomb plot failed because Grant lost his nerve at the last moment. No one was injured.

Just as the plane was about to leave Los Angeles International airport for San Diego Monday, Grant ran to the ticket counter and screamed:

"Don't let that plane take off! I just put a bag on it full of gasoline!"

Man Singed

At the same moment a baggage handler loading the plane out on the field dropped a heavy suitcase. It exploded and flames flared up, singeing the man's eyebrows and hair.

The baggageman, Harold Mayer, quickly extinguished the flames and tossed the suitcase out on the ground. He opened it and

CCF Member Hits Red On Nose In Toronto Hotel

OTTAWA, April 18—(CP)—Clairie Gillis, C.C.F. member of Parliament for Cape Breton South, doesn't like Communists.

He gave physical shape to his dislike when he smashed into a Communist sympathizer with both fists Saturday night in the back-alley of a downtown hotel.

The way Mr. Gillis recalls the chain of events that led to the tussle was when he went into the hotel tavern for a bottle of beer.

Next to him sat a young man about 28 years old who hailed an elderly patron to come and have a drink. Mr. Gillis could hear the young man selling the "old Commie line" to his guest and the older man objected.

The Communist called to waiters to throw him out because he was interferring with the Communist's freedom.

"I quietly got up," said Mr. Gillis, who is 55, "and told the waiters they were throwing out the wrong man . . ."

The Communist then began picking on Mr. Gillis and Mr. Gillis' fist shot out and connected on the nose.

"Thereafter, I told the Communist that if he wanted a battle he had better come outside."

In the alley, Mr. Gillis "tossed in a couple of rights to the Communist's jaw."

"The Communist sat down rather suddenly," said Mr. Gillis. "I guess he didn't know that I have been digging coal for 26 years and was welterweight champion of the Canadian Corps during the First World War."

General Strike Ties Up Brest

BREST, France, April 18 (AP)—A general strike tied up this western France port city today as labor unions mourned a worker killed in Monday's bloody two-hour riot.

Non-communist and communist unions joined in the 24-hour walkout which made idle 15,000 workers in the arsenal, building and metal industries, on the docks and in shipping and transport.

The dead worker, 24-year-old Edouard Maze, was killed by a stray bullet fired by police, who also hurled tear gas bombs to disperse a howling, rock-throwing communist mob.

Maze's body lay in a coffin draped with a French flag and carrying the inscription: "With arms furnished by Washington, the government opens fire on Frenchmen."

Thousands Flee South-West Flood

BISMARCK, N.D., April 18.—(AP).—Thousands of persons in North Dakota and Western Minnesota were made homeless today by raging flood waters.

Overflows from scores of rivers, creeks and ditches spilled over lands in the disaster areas.

The American Red Cross, declaring an emergency as it estimated 1,280 families were homeless, set up relief centres in four cities.

Scores of communities were isolated without power, light or telephones. Railroad and highway traffic was halted.

JET CRASH KILLS ONE—Lorimer Fairhall of Winnipeg was killed when an RCAF Vampire jet crash-landed in a residential district of St. James in suburban Winnipeg. Fairhall was in his garage tuning up his car. The plane's pilot, FO Victor Barber, 27, was seriously injured when catapulted 20 feet from the plane. His right leg was severed and he suffered numerous other injuries as well as shock. A third man, Gilbert Hughes, was slightly injured when the plane hit the rear of his home.

Plastic Valves In Heart Can Replace Damaged Part

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., April 18—(AP)—Plastic valves for bad hearts were described today by four Albany, N.Y., medical college physiologists. Several dogs are living with the artificial valves in their hearts now.

Drs. Rehmi Denton, Curtland Brown, Benedict Mastrianni and Harold Wiggers told the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

Within two years it may be possible to put the plastic valves into human hearts, substituting them for living valves damaged by heart diseases, they said.

The valves are tiny, one-piece affairs, with no moving parts. They are circular and funnel-shaped on one end. Each is about half an inch wide at the funnel-end, and is little more than half an inch long.

They are sewed into the heart. The heart muscle, by its movement, opens or closes the valve. In contraction, it pushes up against the plastic valve so no blood backs through it. Resting, the heart muscle relaxes, coming out of contact with the valve to let the heart chamber fill with blood.

The valves can be designed to imitate the faulty valves of living hearts damaged in any of several ways by diseases, or by malformation before birth. This kind of knowledge may itself help save human lives.

Missing Boy Turns Up Walks 20 Miles Home

TORONTO, April 18 (CP) — Ian Bruce, 10, of Hamilton, reported missing Monday from De La Salle College here, wasn't really missing, he said today. He was homesick.

He walked into his Hamilton home today, said he'd hitch-hiked half the distance from Toronto to Hamilton—and walked the last 20 miles.

Bolivian Trial Aid Begins

Pattern For UN Help To Backward Areas

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., April 18 —(CP)— A Canadian heads the United Nations "test tube" project which may show the way for large-scale technical aid to backward areas.

Dr. Hugh L. Keenleyside, 51, Canada's Deputy Resources Minister, is preparing to fly Friday to Bolivia with a group of 13 experts in a variety of fields.

Bolivian Administration

They will survey Bolivian economy during the next four months and make recommendations in the fields of fiscal administration, taxation and public finance, transport and communication, electric power development, mining production, irrigation, agriculture and forest development, education, labor legislation and social welfare services.

The project is part of the UN's technical assistance program, expected to be expanded soon in connection with President Truman's "point four" program of aid to under-developed countries.

Keenleyside said in an interview that the Bolivian program may set a pattern for future projects under an expanded assistance program.

Trying 1,000 Years

"For 1,000 years, the Bolivians say, they have been trying to make their country rich and haven't got very far," Keenleyside said, "Now they are calling on the UN to see what it can do."

The aid program is part of the UN effort to sweep away the basic causes of war by raising living standards around the world.

Keenleyside will have experts from United States, Europe and South America in his team. Mrs. P. R. Kidd of Ottawa will be his secretary.

Uranium Prices Scaled Up To $6

TORONTO, April 18 (CP) — A graded price for uranium running as high as $6 a pound for uranium oxides as compared with the present price of $2.75 was announced today by W. J. Bennett, president of the government's Eldorado Mining and Refining, Ltd.

Mr. Bennett outlined the increases to the annual convention of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy. It works out this way in the case of ore of 0.25 per cent of five pounds per ton:

Multiply the five pounds by the present $2.75 and get $13.75. Add a milling allowance of $7.25 and get $21.

Then if you recover 70 per cent of the five pounds you get 3.5 pounds. The price per pound to be paid for the U308 content of the concentrates is $21 divided by 3.5, which is $6 a pound.

The increase comes from a milling allowance of $7.25 in each case, rather than a change in the $2.75 price itself.

Mr. Bennett commented in part: "During 1948 and more particularly 1949 there have been important discoveries of radioactive occurrences, but their grade and location are such as to make a mining operation prohibitive at the minimum price of $2.75.

"There is reason to believe that these new discoveries could produce substantial tonnages of uranium but it has become apparent that they are not likely to be worked unless additional price incentive is offered."

Killed One Brother Jailed By 2nd, Freed

MAYNARDVILLE, Tenn., April 18.—(AP).—Carl Graves, 33, who slew his brother Earl, 53, with a pistol in connection with a "family affair," and was jailed by brother Leslie, the sheriff, was acquitted of a murder charge today. A jury took only four minutes to find him innocent.

Charge Reds Shot Down Patrol Plane

United States Asks Indemnity For Lives Of Men Lost In Plane

WASHINGTON, April 18 — (AP) — The United States charged today that Russian fighters shot down the missing American Navy patrol plane over open waters of the Baltic Sea. It demanded that Russia punish those responsible and pay appropriate indemnity for the lives of the 10 men lost in the plane.

The charge and the demand were made in a formal reply to Russia's protest of April 11 that an American plane had flown over Latvia and exchanged gunfire with Soviet aircraft April 8.

The American note, delivered in Moscow by Ambassador Alan G. Kirk, demanded also that "the most strict and categorical instructions" be issued to the Soviet Air Force to prevent any new incident "so clearly calculated to magnify the difficulties of maintaining peaceful and correct international relationship."

The note flatly rejected Russia's claim that the American plane flew over Russian territory in violation of international law.

It charged the Soviets with a "violation of international law and of the most elementary rules of peaceful conduct between nations."

The 600-word counterprotest said the American investigation determined that the U. S. plane involved was the navy four-engine Privateer patrol craft which has been missing in the Baltic area since April 8.

It said investigation convinced the U. S. government that the navy plane did not fly over "any Soviet or Soviet-occupied territory or territorial waters adjacent thereto."

Unarmed Plane

In view of the findings, the note said "it must be concluded that Soviet military aircraft fired upon an unarmed American plane over the open sea following which the American airplane was lost."

When the text of the communication was released here, a State Department spokesman, press officer Michael J. McDermott, also made a formal statement which rebuked Russia for failing to

Farm Labor Terms Goes To Provinces

OTTAWA, April 18—(CP)—The Labor Department announced today that 1950 farm labor agreements between the Federal government and the provinces have been forwarded to Provincial labor ministers for their signatures.

The farm labor program, first started early in the war, provides for Dominion-Provincial co-operation in moving labor to meet heavy seasonal demands.

Last year 2,150 tobacco workers from the United States came to Ontario as one of the movements authorized.

DARLING OF THE PRESS—Miss Thelma Brewis, 18, of Toronto, was chosen "Miss By-Line" at the fifth annual By-Line Ball of the Toronto Men's and Women's Press Clubs April 15. Her prize was a complete wardrobe and a free modelling course.

China Nationals Claim 2,000 Reds Destroyed

TAIPEI, Formosa, April 18 — (AP) — Chinese Nationalists claimed today their planes killed more than 2,000 Red invaders of Hainan Island on invasion craft and beaches.

Air headquarters said the toll was counted only until evening of Monday's fighting.

Nationalist defenders of the vital South China island, fighting back on the ground, sea and in the air, continued the battle today against more than 7,000 Red invaders who have established two beachheads.

Nationalist ground forces claimed they have contained the Red invaders who stormed ashore early Monday. The Nationalists asserted the Communists succeeded in landing only about half of a 15,000-man force hurled in the greatest amphibious operation against the big stronghold off South China.

(A Hong Kong dispatch said the Chinese Communists have attacked and presumably occupied tiny Lintin Island five miles west of Hong Kong and only three miles outside British territorial waters.

(The Lintin action is believed to be the start of an all-out campaign against the Mansan group of about 30 islands between Hong Kong and Macao, Portuguese colony. Nationalist launches and gunboats based on these islands have blockaded tightly the Pearl River approach to Canton and slowed junk trade between Hong Kong and Macao. Lintin, largest of the group, is nearest Hong Kong and was the chief Nationalist blockade base.)

Married Couple Live 7 Years Not Speaking

LOS ANGELES, April 18. — (AP).—Mrs. George H. Stoll, 78-year-old wife of 63 years, has refused to become reconciled with her 84-year-old wealthy husband. Judge Elmer D. Doyle awarded her $1,300 monthly temporary alimony Monday after he failed to bring the couple into agreement.

Austerity To Continue; Some Income Tax Cuts, Beer Stronger, Gas More

Workers Get Biggest Relief From Budget
Cripps Keeps Wages, Profits Down
Trims Gov't Spending In Food Subsidies

LONDON, April 18—(CP)—Sir Stafford Cripps today tossed British taxpayers some crumbs of income tax relief but otherwise promised them a continued diet of austerity in the coming year. Bringing down the annual budget in the House of Commons, the Chancellor of the Exchequer announced a minor Income Tax cut in the lower categories and promised beer drinkers stronger but not cheaper beer. The tax reduction appeared to be the Chancellor's answer to trade unionists' demands for relaxation of the government's wage - freezing policy. More than 5,000,000 trade unionists at present are clamoring for pay increases.

The car-owning public was given a doubled gasoline ration, enough for 180 miles monthly, but at the same time Cripps boosted the price of gasoline by one-third.

The modest income tax cut will benefit all taxpayers but the largest proportionate relief will go to workers earning less than £600 $1,860) annually.

The single man earning £6 weekly will find 2s. less tax deducted from his weekly earnings. On £8 the reduction will amount to about 3s 8d.

Instead of paying 3s (45 cents) in the pound for the first £50 ($155) of taxable income and 6s in the pound for the following £200, the rate will be 2s 6d and 5s respectively.

Holds Down Wages

But Cripps clung firmly to his policy of holding down wages and profits.

"It is vital that the policy of wage, salary and profit restraint should not be broken down," he said.

Such a policy was necessary to stave off the continuing threat of inflation and to keep down export prices.

Cripps clamped down on governmental expenses by trimming food subsidies, used to keep down

Followers Honor "Father's" Wife

VANCOUVER, April 18 (CP)—About 50 of Father Divine's followers are expected to charter an aircraft here and fly to Philadelphia when the religious cult leader celebrates the fourth anniversary of marriage to a Vancouver girl.

Father Divine's proclamation invites the faithful to "come to the country seat of the world" April 29 where the father and the former Edna Rose Ritchings of Vancouver, his "spotless virgin bride," will be hosts.

Mrs. Anne C. Harvie, a "true follower," believes 50 will make the trip from here.

"It should not cost more than $150 each," she said. "You can stay at the father's hotels there for $2 a week if you do not drink or smoke. Meals can be bought for 15 cents each if you are a true follower."

Jet N. York Trip Takes One Hour Average 400 mph

NEW YORK, April 18—(CP)—A silver-colored Canadian-built Avro jetliner landed at New York's Idlewild airport at 10.33 a.m., EST., today after flying from Toronto's Malton airport in one hour and three minutes.

The four-engined jet-propelled aircraft took off from Malton at 9.30 a.m. for the 365-mile flight and was over Idlewild exactly one hour later.

It circled the airport three minutes before coming in for a landing.

Normal flying time by commercial air liners between Toronto and New York is one hour and 50 minutes.

The plane is powered by two jet engines on each wing and bears the word "Jetliner" lettered in red on its side.

The plane, capable of carrying 60 passengers, was built by A. V. Roe Canada, Limited. It carried the first mail ever flown by jet.

Mayor Hiram McCallum dispatched on the plane an invitation to Mayor William O'Dwyer to attend the Canadian International Trade Fair at Toronto May 29-June 9.

Captain Donald H. Rogers, chief test pilot for the Avro firm, said he averaged 400 miles an hour at an altitude of 20,000 feet. He gave the official time from Malton tower to Idlewild tower at 59 minutes and 56 seconds.

The jetliner carried three passengers: Gordon McGregor, president of Trans-Canada Air Lines; James Floyd, designer of the plane, and Fred Smye, assistant general manager of Avro.

Germans Sing Old Nazi Song

BERLIN, April 18— (AP) — Several irate Berlin Socialists stalked from the platform today as Christian Democrat Konrad Adenauer, West Germany's chancellor, asked a political rally to sing "Deutschland Uber Alles."

Allied commandants in the balcony remained in their seats while 1,500 Germans in Titania Palast Theatre stood and sang the former national anthem of the Kaiser's Empire and the Nazi Reich.

Franz Neumann, chairman of the Berlin Social Democratic Party, led the sudden walkout from the theatre stage.

Adenauer had just completed a one-hour speech appealing for fewer Allied controls for the Bonn republic and equal rights in the Euorpean council. He had told the throng that Communist pressure on 18,000,000 East Germans "will one day end."

Socialist City Councilman Otto Bach said afterwards:

"We have nothing against the song itself but we know what use the Nazis made of it."

Boy 4, Sets Fire, Kills Baby Brother

MIAMI, Fla., April 17—(AP)—A four-year-old boy today set fire to the clothing of his four months old brother, already dazed from a blow or fall, then put the baby in a wastebasket and set fire to the paper, the sheriff's office reported. The baby, identified by Deputy Sheriff Thom Ford and Joseph Wilson, died en route to a hospital. The four-year-old brother, Rudolph, could give no explanation for his action.

Speculate On Russian Purge

15 Top Communists Reported Dead in Past Half Year

NEW YORK, April 18—(AP)—Moscow has announced, in the last half year, the deaths of 15 Russian generals and admirals—some of them rather young.

The appearance of such obituaries so frequently in the Soviet press naturally arouses speculation in the west over the possibility of a new purge in the Soviet Union. However, there has been no hint in the advices which pass through Moscow censorship that a purge actually is under way.

Civilian Deaths

The Russians also have reported the deaths of a considerable number of civilian, as well as military, officials. The latest obituary of this type published by the Soviet press was that of N. V. Egorov, 48-year-old official of the Council of Ministers, whose death was announced today.

Other high-ranking Soviet functionaries also have passed away recently. They include Peter Anurov, a counsellor first class in the Soviet foreign ministry, and Anatoli Kopytov, minister of cinematography, who died March 10. He was only 43.

Once Criticized

Alexander Petukhov, deputy chief of the Communist party central committee organization bureau, died April 13. His age was not given. Scientist Nikolai Luzin died suddenly March 3. He was once under fire on a charge of being servile to the ideas of western scientists.

Last week the Berlin newspaper Tagesspiegel published a report that Maj.-Gen. Pavel Kvashnin, former railway chief in Germany, killed himself and his family when he was caught trying to escape from Poland to Sweden.

Last Purge In 1930s

Russia's last big purge was in the mid-1930s, when a large number of generals and admirals were whisked off to firing squads.

Why might there be a purge today? Stalin is aging—possibly even ill. In the not distant future the mantle of power must be passed on.

Aggressive, ruthless Georgi Malenkov, boss of the Communist party's apparatus, is a likely bet. And being a seasoned opportunist, Malenkov might not hesitate to put out of the way anyone who might thwart him.

Bulldozers, Dynamite Halt Flames

$60,000 Wood, House Destroyed Before Firemen Quell Blaze

PEMBROKE, April 18—(CP)—Fire raged for almost five hours Monday in the lumber yard of Pembroke Shook Mills Limited, destroying an estimated $60,000 worth of lumber and a two-storey frame house.

Breaking out about 3:30 p.m., the fire raced through piled lumber, spread to an adjacent home and threatened the entire Bronz Street section of the town. The lumber was mainly pine used for constructing boxes.

No one was injured in the blaze, the origin of which is unknown. A number of buildings in the area were set afire by wind-blown sparks.

Pembroke fire department fought the stubborn blaze, aided by volunteers from Petawawa military camp and equipment from the neighboring township of Westmeath.

Wind Fans Flames

Exploding from one pile of lumber to another, the wind-whipped flames ignited a nearby house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Belaire and Mr. and Mrs. John Henry. The house was razed but the occupants made their way to safety, saving most of their household belongings.

Other homes in the vicinity of the fire were saved. In addition to the regular firemen from Pembroke and district many townspeople turned out to assist in quelling the blaze.

Bulldozers and dynamite came into play early in the fire. The dynamite was used to make a fire-break between the blazing lumber and that still untouched by fire. The bulldozers pushed unscathed lumber piles out of the way of those burning.

People Moved Furniture

At the height of the blaze many householders in the Bronx street section moved their furniture into the street. One house on Pembroke street caught fire three times but each blaze was brought under control.

Late Monday night firemen were still pouring tons of water on the glowing embers of more than 75 piles of pine logs, but the danger of another outbreak seemed slight. Firemen maintained an all-night vigil.
